SUPERIOR COURT

The Testimony Taken in the Mehan Case

In the cases of Mehan vs. Lowell Electric Light corporation, before Judge Bell at the superior civil court yesterday Clarence Armstrong, an employee of the defendant company, stated that on the night preceding the accident he looked at the switchboard and noticed that the ground indicator was indicating a ground of between 2200 and 2300 volts. The only men on duty at the time were witness, Mehan, Quinn and Livesey.

Livesey took a reading of the voltage every half hour. Continuing, witness said:

"When I saw the ground, I asked Livesey where the ground was. Mr. Livesey went to the switchboard and touched something and the hand on the indicator went back. Then he touched it again, which put it back where it was, and it showed the ground again. The regulator was taken out after the accident."

In describing the accident witness said that he saw fire and smoke and Livesey picked up sand and threw at the regulator. Then they saw Mehan, and Livesey dropped the sand and went toward him. Witness noticed that there was a burn on one of Mehan's hands and the tip of his nose was blackened.

Dr. Patrick F. Sullivan, the ambulance doctor, testified that he was called to the station about 7 o'clock in the morning and that the condition of Mehan was such as would result from a shock of electricity.

William Brophy, an electrical expert, was called and testified that in connection with this case he visited the electric light works, and examined the construction of the gallery. The whole iron framework of the gallery supporting the switchboard is electrically connected. Found on one side a chain resting pretty firmly on an "I beam." If a current of electricity was put upon any of those chains it would be carried to this chain and would charge the framework and be carried to the gallery providing there was no escape into the ground. There was a pressure of about 2300 volts. The minimum amount of voltage that would kill a healthy man is 1000 volts. It was an alternating current going through those wires. If too many lights were put on the circuit outside, it would overload the regulator. To produce a condition such as was produced there, there would have to be a ground outside.

Further testifying Mr. Brophy said: "I saw a lead mat in contact with the frame of the engine. The frame of the engine was in contact with the condenser of a boiler. The boilers, I presume, are connected with the city mains. That would connect it with one of the best kinds of grounds."

Undertaker Charles H. Molloy testified to preparing the body for burial and described the different marks on the body.

Howard C. Forbes, a consulting electrical engineer, testified long the same lines as Mr. Brophy.

The plaintiff rested its case at this point.

By agreement of counsel, it is now understood that the case which was brought by the administrator, and which alleged that there was conscious suffering on the part of the deceased, is not to be presented, but the trial proceeds on the suit of the father and mother of the deceased, which alleges that the man was instantly killed and that the father and mother were dependent upon him for support.

It is contended by the defence that the plaintiffs were not dependent upon the deceased for their support and are not therefore entitled to maintain this action; that the machinery was purchased from a reliable company and installed by an expert of that company and that the corporation had a right to rely on its efficiency in taking care of any current that might get on; and that Fred C. Mehan, the deceased, who was an oiler, was out of his place at the time of the accident; that he was a volunteer, was not entitled to be there, and that therefore the corporation is not responsible except for wilful injury to him.

Norman T. Wilcox, manager of the Lowell Electric Light Corp., was the first witness. He testified to the grounding in use at the power station and stated that about 24 hours before the accident his attention was called to a ground, indicated on the ground detector.

A PRODIGAL SON

Who Stole Fatted Calf From Father

AND SOLD IT TO GYPSIES

Drunk Threw Weapon From the Van

The session of police court occupied only 10 minutes of Judge Hadley's time this morning as there were only four drunks. Two of the latter were placed on probation after sentences of four months each in the house of correction had been imposed.

STOLE FATTED CALF.

William L. Ferris, a Dracut man, was in for drunkenness, and at the request of the Dracut officer the case was continued until tomorrow to permit the officer to communicate with Ferris' father.

Ferris, it would appear, reversed the story of the prodigal son by stealing the fatted calf from his father's farm. The elder Ferris is a respectable Dracut farmer, and, one day last summer the son went to a field owned by his father where the latter's cows were grazing and took one of the cows away with him. He led it to a camp where a band of gypsies were camping and sold the animal for $10. The Dracut officer expects that the father will prefer a charge of larceny against his erring son.

HA DA BLACKJACK.

On Sunday afternoon a man named Winslow was arrested for drunkenness in Merrimack square, and while riding through Prescott street in the patrol wagon drew something from his hip pocket and threw it into the street.

A short time later a boy called at the police station and gave the police a vicious looking "black-jack" such as are carried by highwaymen and footpads, which he states was thrown from the wagon in Prescott street. When questioned about the weapon Winslow denied that it was his property.

GENERAL BADGER

Formerly of 6th Mass. Regiment Dead

NEW ORLEANS, La., May 10.—Gen. Algernon S. Badger, United States appraiser for the port of New Orleans, and for many years prominent in the political history of this city, died here yesterday. Gen. Badger was a native of Boston, where he resided until the outbreak of the Civil war, when he enlisted in the 6th Massachusetts volunteers, in response to President Lincoln's first call for troops.

Later he was appointed a lieutenant in the 26th regiment, and came with his command to Ship Island, the brigade to which he belonged later occupying the forts below New Orleans; and being sent to this city at the time of its surrender to Farragut. He was one of the organizers of the first regiment of white soldiers organized at New Orleans. This command served until the close of the war, and after its muster out Gen. Badger was appointed warden of the port. Later, he served in the metropolitan police, and was in command of that force during the fight which resulted in Kellogg's overthrow, being seriously wounded.

In 1878 he was appointed postmaster of New Orleans, and in 1883 was made collector of customs, serving until his successor was appointed by President Cleveland in 1885. On the election of President Harrison he was appointed appraiser of merchandise.

FIELD DAY

PATRIARCHS MILITANT HELD ENCAMPMENT AT CONCORD.

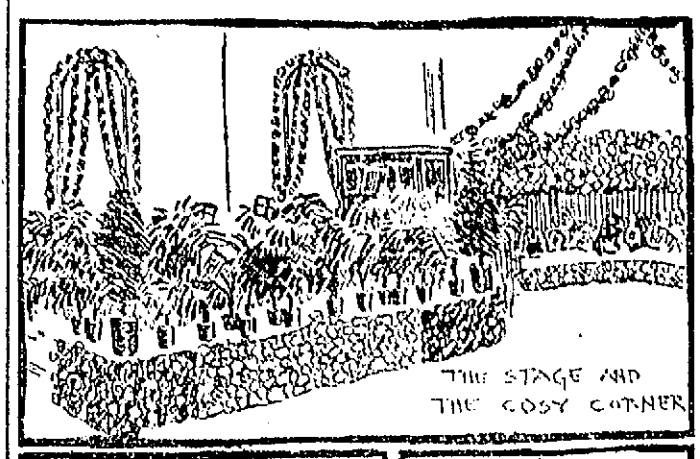

CLAREMONT, N. H., May 10—Patriarchs Militant from all parts of the state were here today to attend the annual encampment and field day of the state department. A parade through the principal streets opened the day's proceedings and was a brilliant affair. The annual encampment meeting was then held in Masonic Temple, being followed by banquet in Odd Fellows banquet hall. The remainder of the day was devoted to informal entertainment of the visiting delegates by the local canton.

GRAND COTILLION

SKETCH OF THE STAGE DECORATIONS AT PRESCOTT HALL LAST EVENING.

Brilliant Affair Managed by Two Young Ladies

Prescott hall, decorated in lavish style and beautified as it has never been before, was the scene of a most novel and enjoyable party held in Lowell. It was the third cotillion under the management of Misses Josephine Ward and Madeline Crevier, and like the two preceding ones it was a brilliant success. In response to the invitations issued by the young ladies 100 took part in the several figures and the merry dancers were afforded entertainment never excelled here. The decorative feature of the hall was something unique and catchy, being confined entirely to floral effects which were very striking. Roses, violets and wisteria were used in abundance and banked the stage and walls, and curtained the great windows. From the center of the hall was suspended a huge floral bell which later contributed to the success of the second cotillion.

During the evening three cotillions were given, the first one having for favors a pair of tiny roller skates which were made by the young lady managers. Each pair of skates was numbered and one skate was given to each lady and each gentleman.

After receiving his favor the gentleman went around the hall looking for the young lady who held "his number." Then they were partners for that figure.

The second cotillion consisted of a snow storm, and a snow ball scene which certainly provided no end of amusement. The large bell attached to the center of the ceiling and containing bushels of confetti was automatically made to revolve and showered its contents on the heads of the dancers. The favors for this cotillion were snow balls made of confetti and cotton. The object of this feature was to have the participants snow ball each other. The way in which the Textile school boys "threw their arms out" in this favor was certainly amusing.

The third cotillion which was the "greatest of them all." Everybody marched around the hall and into the reception room. On the return to the hall the ladies received large summer hats elegantly trimmed in all the different colors. The hat was in the form of a poke bonnet and would have done justice to any of our swell milliners. The gentlemen's favor was also a hat in the shape of a becoming sailor with different colors of ribbon on each. One should see this favor to appreciate its effect. It assumed proportions of a grand march, the participants coming down the hall in fours and eights to the inspiring music of the orchestra playing the latest rag-time music thereby making the figure somewhat of a burlesque "cake-walk." One of the laughable features of this "parade" was the comical antics of Purchasing Agent Donnelly who wore a policeman's costume and had for his "prisoner" his friend "Billy" Purcell.

It was one o'clock this morning before the final number was danced and congratulations were heaped on Miss Ward and Miss Crevier for their tact in arranging so unique an affair.

The cotillions were led by Miss Josephine Ward with Mr. Chas. Woodruff, of Alabama, Mr. George Burke and Mr. William McDonald.

The matrons were Mrs. Charles Crevier, Mrs. Thomas E. Ward, Mrs. Frank Brady, Mrs. John H. Coffey and Mrs. Lawrence J. Smith.

Among the out-of-town guests present were: Mr. Michael Cotter, Mr. Lawrence Cotter and Harry L. O'Leary of Somerville; Dr. Alfred Southgate and Dr. Pin Chase, both of Harvard college; Mr. Thomas O'Connor of Westford; Mr. Edward T. Wirth, New York city; Mr. W. J. Burns and John Killaky, both of Andover; Miss Bella Wrenn, of Somerville; Miss May Hannigan, of Fitchburg; Miss Kate Manley, of Roxbury; Miss Alder Chapman and Miss Blanche Chapman, of Cambridge; Miss Gertrude Downing of Dorchester; Miss Minnie Muria, of Holyoke; Miss Catherine McDowell, of South Boston; Mr. Lincoln Beddick, of West Chelmsford; Mr. James R. Allen, of Groveland. The following were the names of the Lawrence people who graced the occasion with their presence: Mr. Thomas Collins, Mr. John Daly, Jr., Mr. John Dineen, Mr. James Dineen, Mr. John Gallagher, Mr. George Herbst, Mr. William Herbst, Mr. Thomas Garry, Mr. Martin Kilcourse, Mr. Ashton Lee, Mr. Neil Webster, Mr. William Mahoney, Mr. William Maloney, Miss Helen O'Brien and Mr. Frank Arundel, and Mr. Edward Maguire of the Boston Post.

Music was furnished by the Middlesex orchestra.

DEATHS

PLOURDE—Joseph W. Plourde died last evening at his home, 458 Merrimack street, aged 45 years. He leaves a brother, Adelard Plourde, and three sisters, Helene, Elizabeth and Mathilda Plourde, all of this city.

LINANE—Mrs. Bridget Linane, wife of Michael Linane, died this morning at her home, 46 Blossom street, aged 61 years. Deceased has been a resident of Lowell for the past 35 years, and was a well known and much respected member of the Sacred Heart church having been a member of that parish since its inception, also of the Holy Rosary sodality connected with the church. Besides her husband she is survived by one son Patrolman John Linane, a daughter Miss Margaret Linane, and a sister, Mrs. Martin Flanagan. The funeral will take place Friday morning at 9.15 from the house. Solemn high mass of requiem at the Sacred Heart church at 10 o'clock.

THE COSSACKS

Blamed For Ill Treating Russian People

BYELOSTOK, South West Russia, May 10.—The town council has entered a complaint of brutality against the Cossacks here declaring that their ill-treatment of the populace is arousing a spirit of revenge and increasing the danger of the situation. The municipal authorities also complain that the chief of police will only allow the publication of accounts of disorders when the Jews are the aggressors.

LATEST

SPOTTED FEVER

Another Death and One More Case Reported

Rose Geary, aged 5 years and six months, child of Jeremiah and Mary Geary, is the latest victim of cerebro-spinal meningitis, her death occurring this morning after a few hours' illness, at the home of her parents, 15 Bassett street.

The little girl was out playing last night and retired at the usual time, not complaining of any illness. This morning, however, she complained of feeling sick, but little was thought of it by the folks of the house until the girl became noticeably worse and then Drs. Boyle and Welch were summoned. They did all in their power to save her life, but without avail, however, death resulting at 8.30 o'clock.

The funeral took place this afternoon and the interment was in the Catholic cemetery under the direction of Funeral Director John F. Rogers.

ANOTHER CASE REPORTED.

Another case, that of Thomas Daly of Auburn street, was reported to the board of health this morning.

FIRE ON ARCH ST.

Lively Blaze In a Carriage Shop

What might have proved to be a disastrous fire was discovered in the carriage shop of John H. Swett in Arch street about 10.30 o'clock this morning. Owing to the timely arrival and good work of the firemen the building and those in the vicinity were saved. At one time it looked as though the entire building as well as those adjoining would suffer badly from the flames.

The building is a two and one-half story wooden affair and was well filled with carriages and wagons, some new and some old, while others were under the course of construction.

The fire was caused by a spark from a nearby chimney dropping on the roof. The blaze managed to work its way under the shingles and in a short space of time began to spread, going through a blind attic where other carriages were stored.

An alarm from box 72 was sounded and when the department arrived the whole roof was ablaze while the smoke was pouring out of the building in huge volumes. Owing to the number of carriages in the way the work of the firemen was considerably retarded but several lines of hose were soon laid and in a short time the fire was under control.

Outside of destroying the roof and scorching a few of the carriages the damage was slight.

Fred C. Church had the insurance on Mr. Swett's property.

SMALL-POX CASE

Health Board Expects a Few More

There is no new development in the smallpox case, although Agent Knapp of the board of health says he would not at all be surprised if some few new cases were reported in a day or two. No epidemic is feared by the authorities. The agent says that undoubtedly there has been some infection because there is no doubt that there have been at least two cases if not more in the vicinity of the Salem street house, where the present case was found.

The premises on Salem street have been fumigated and are now quarantined. The report from the contagious hospital indicates that the patient is getting along as well as could be expected.

FUNERALS

KITTREDGE—The funeral of the late Adna Kittredge, a former resident of Lowell, who died in Waltham, took place yesterday afternoon and services were conducted in the chapel at the Edson cemetery by Rev. Robert F. True, his friend for many years. There were many beautiful floral tributes. The bearers were Charles Wheeler, Frank D. Russell, George W. Putnam and Francis Appleton. Burial was in the family lot in the Edson cemetery.

WHITE—The funeral of Frederick A. G. White took place yesterday afternoon from the rooms of Undertaker P. H. Savage and was largely attended. Rev. William Jenkins officiated. The bearers were Charles Hand, Hugh Maguire, Thomas McDonough, John Kennedy, Thomas Sheehan and John Spencer. There was a delegation from the Building Laborers union. Burial was in the Edson cemetery. Undertaker P. H. Savage had charge.

FORTIN—The funeral of Joseph Fortin took place yesterday from his son's home, 312 Moody street, and funeral services were held at 8 o'clock at St. Joseph's church, Rev. Fr. Desroches, O. M. I., officiated. The bearers were Edmond Caron, George L'Heureux, Odilon Bernard and Geoffroy Caron. Burial was in St. Joseph's cemetery, and Rev. Fr. Brullard, O. M. I., officiated at the grave. Undertaker Albert had charge.

TAX DODGERS

Committee to Meet This Evening

It Contains About 8000 Names

The tax investigating committee will meet this evening at 7.30 o'clock when a conference will be held with the city treasurer. Thursday evening the committee will also have a session when it is expected that further probing will be done. It is more than probable that the committee will take a look at the assessors' office.

This morning City Treasurer Stiles filed with Clerk of Committees Frank M. Dowling the list of the delinquents for the year 1902. This list contains about 8000 names. Each page is numbered and at the bottom of each page the exact number of names contained on the page is given, so that the members will have no trouble in seeing at a glance how many delinquents there are on each page.

WATER BOARD

Visited Lawrence on a Tour of Inspection

Mayor Casey was not at his office in city hall this morning. His honor accompanied the members of the Lowell water board on their trip to Lawrence, where they are being entertained today by Mayor Lynch and the Lawrence water board. During the stay in the down-river city the Lowell people will inspect the filter gallery and new stand pipe. After the inspection the party will be given a complimentary dinner at the Franklin house by Mayor Lynch.

FOR PAVING BILL

Union Paving Company Against City

MAY ENTER SUIT TO RECOVER

For Repairs Made on Westford Street

It looks now as if the city of Lowell and the Union Paving company of Worcester would get into a legal battle. The paving company claims that the city owes it $1000 for work alleged to have been done on the streets of Lowell. This bill is for repairs, and the city refuses to pay on the ground that the work was guaranteed for five years, and that the said repairs were made within this limit. The work in question was done on Westford street.

AUDITOR CHASE

Arrangements For the Funeral Made

The funeral of the late city auditor, David Chase, will take place tomorrow afternoon. City Messenger Pattee said this morning that he had communicated with the family of the departed official, and that by this afternoon all the arrangements would be completed. It is probable that Arthur Salmon will have charge of the funeral. City Messenger Pattee, clerk of committees Dowling, together with the mayor and the committee from the city council, will attend the funeral in a body.

TO SAVE WOMAN

Italian Government Will Spend $100,000

NEW YORK, May 10—The Italian government has come to the assistance of Mrs. Anna Valentina, who is condemned to be hanged at Hackensack, N. J., on Friday, for the murder of Rosa Salga, and has instructed its representative in this city to spend $100,000, if necessary, to prevent the sentence being carried out.

Gustavo Tosti, consul general for Italy, said yesterday:

"I have received instructions from my government, both from Rome and through Washington, to spend $100,000, if necessary, in the defence of Anna Valentina, and prevent, if possible, the death sentence being carried out.

"This woman didn't get a fair trial. We think this woman committed homicide in self-defence.

James M. Trimble, counsel for Mrs. Valentina, in the application for a writ of habeas corpus, contended that the woman had not received a fair trial under the constitution of the United States, and that there had been in her trial a violation of the treaty of 1871 between the United States and Italy.

He said that the question of the guilt or innocence of the woman had never been tried. She had admitted the killing, but by the instructions of the court a plea of not guilty had been entered and the evidence had been taken to ascertain the degree of guilt. This was done under a section of the criminal statutes of New Jersey which was repealed in 1893 and superseded by a section under which no plea of guilty is accepted in capital cases.

Counsel Trimble also called attention to the fact that the word "acquittal" did not appear in the judge's charge to the jury, but that, on the contrary, the court told the jury that it must find the woman guilty at least in the second degree of murder.

Mrs. Valentina when informed in the jail later that there was hope for her, expressed her joy by saying:

"Ah, then it is true. My prayers have been answered. I am not to die on Friday. The white dove that rested upon the window of my cell was a bird of good omen."

CONGRESS OPENS

Bishop Brewster Addressed Episcopalians

NEW YORK, May 9.—The Episcopal congress of the United States opened in the Holy Trinity church in Brooklyn today with religious services and will continue until Friday afternoon. Holy communion was celebrated by Bishop Burgess of Long Island and Bishop Chauncey B. Brewster of Connecticut delivered an address.

Bishop Brewster said in part:

Largeness of liberty within the church the American church congress has always recognized. The church congress has offered a generous hospitality to ideas, and done much to moderate the rancor and to elevate the tone of the theological and ecclesiastical by bringing representatives of different schools and parties together on its platform and there bringing them to a better understanding of each other. The church congress is an illustration and evidence that this church is at once Catholic and free and that here, within the limits of loyalty to the simple, historic faith of Jesus Christ, thought is free.

So it ought to be. The liberty wherewith Christ set us free includes freedom to know all the truth for which the mind was made. The true faith of Christ is no padlock upon the mind to close it up against the intrusion of any fresh and living conviction.

On the threshold of these discussions it is well to remind ourselves that the liberty wherewith Christ set us free includes the intellect, that his faith fetters no thinking that is according to fact and life, and that his claim on men always means emancipation.

It is interesting to note that out of subjection to Christ comes freedom in the spirit. We see it in the apostolic age.

Men submitted to the Master of Christ, and the result was a large liberty. Elementary forces of the soul were set free in ecstacy. In strange phenomena of your trance and interpretation that would have astounded certain of our prayer book church men.

Christ's truth is not to be apprehended in selfish isolation. Truth cannot be an individual possession, like a private pond. Rather is it like the ocean, wide and vast, washing many shores. The spirit of Christ's truth is the spirit of the Holy Catholic church. In this Catholic spirit, large and generous, let us consider the social questions to be at this congress discussed.

NEW ROAD

DIRECTORS WANT A BOND ISSUE OF $100,000,000.

NEW YORK, May 9.—At a special meeting of this city the directors of the Colorado and Southern Railway have, according to the Herald, adopted radical measures for the carrying out of the program they contemplate in making the Colorado and Southern a through line to the gulf.

To this end they decided to incorporate the road in another state and ask the stockholders to authorize a $100,000,000 bond issue at their meeting in Denver on June 15.

Of the $100,000,000 in bonds, $37,000,000 are for the purpose of refunding underlying bonds and $17,000,000 are intended for taking over the Fort Worth & Denver city railway, buying the Trinity & Brazos Valley railway and building 155 miles of new road to Houston, Texas. Among other acquisitions contemplated is the Colorado Springs and Cripple creek railway. These plans, which have been frequently alluded to recently will, in a measure, cause a regrouping of railroad interests over a large territory in the southwest.

STATE TROOPS

WILL BE MOBILIZED AT WESTFIELD.

BOSTON, May 9.—Orders have been issued from the adjutant general's department for the mobilization of the state troops at Westfield on July 5 to 12. Under the mobilization order, all of the state troops except the first heavy artillery, will go into camp at Westfield.

MAILS LATE

ABUTMENTS OF BRIDGE AT SAYBROOK SUNK.

BOSTON, May 9.—By reason of the sinking of abutments at the Saybrook, Conn., bridge over the Connecticut river last night, the through train service from New York today was considerably delayed. Instead of going over the shore line division, New York trains were obliged to go by way of Willimantic, Middletown and New Haven, and Willimantic, Hartford and New Haven.

Superintendent of the railway mail service stated that the New York, Philadelphia and Washington mails are all indefinitely late.

Salicylic Acid Used in Jones' Ale

THE NEW ENGLAND BREWING CO.

Ordered to Pay Fine of $200

BOSTON, May 9.—The Frank Jones Brewing Co., Ltd., was fined $700 by the Suffolk county superior court here today on a charge of using salicylic acid in ale.

The New England Brewing company was fined $200 for placing the same substance in beer.

These cases are part of a number which were recently taken out of court by the board of health.

WALL BLOWN OUT

Big Fire in Deering Centre, Me.

PORTLAND, Maine, May 9.—Hoegg hall at Deering centre, containing four stores and several offices was burned today. The losses which will be total are estimated at $22,000 with about $15,000 insurance. The building was a three-story wooden block owned by Harley J. Gilman of Fredericton, N. B. The fire started in a bakery and in ten minutes the walls were partially blown out by an explosion of hot air. No one was injured. The ground floor was occupied by F. L. Winship, druggist, J. W. C. Roberts, grocer; Frank K. Lamb, barber; and Fred N. Flye, baker. The offices were located on the second floor together with a large hall. The Central Square Baptist church society had a room in the block.

THE GAS BILL

Several Amendments Have Been Suggested

BOSTON, May 9.—In the Massachusetts house today the committee on bills in a third reading recommended several amendments to be made to the Boston consolidated gas bill. These amendments, with one offered at the same time by Chairman Cole, of the committee, were laid over until tomorrow. Mr. Cole said that his amendment had been suggested by one of the gas commissioners and that it provided that the debts of the various gas companies to be merged should be paid by the new concern.

JUDGE LANNING

Refused to Grant a Habeas Corpus Writ

TRENTON, N. J., May 9.—Judge Lanning, in the United States district court today refused to grant a writ of habeas corpus applied for by counsel for Anna Valentina, who was to have been hanged at Hackensack on May 12 for the murder of Rosa Silca.

Counsel for the condemned woman claimed that she had not had a fair trial, but County Prosecutor Koester denied the allegation, saying the trial had been impartial.

Judge Lanning then said it was not the custom of the federal courts to interfere with the state courts by issuing writs of habeas corpus. An appeal to the United States supreme court was thereupon taken upon the refusal to grant the writ.

The appeal will probably postpone the execution of Mrs. Valentina for some time.

FIRST ANNIVERSARY.

Thursday, the 11th, will be the first anniversary of the successful business career of the White store at 114-116 Merrimack street. A year ago this firm started in a proper manner and after remodelling the store and providing every convenience for the comfort of customers and the despatch of business they stocked their store with the most complete line of ladies' wearing apparel to be found in this city. When the doors were thrown open for public inspection and patronage everything that a customer might suggest in this particular line of goods could be found in great variety. They "caught on" immediately, and each succeeding month the volume of business was greater and today it is one of the most successful mercantile houses in the city. A feature that the management intends to carry out tomorrow shows their sincerity in dealing with the public. Any person who has made a purchase within the past year and is not thoroughly satisfied with it can return the same no matter how severely used it may be, make known the defect and they will be cheerfully given a new article. This is certainly positive proof of their sincerity in keeping their promises to their patrons. We wish the White store greater success in the future. Honorable dealings and true statements will always prevail, and these are the business maxims lived up to at the White store.

THE HEAVY RAIN

Drowned Out Fire at Wells Beach

WELLS BEACH, Me., May 9.—The rain early today was sufficiently heavy to drown out the extensive forest fire which was burning near here. It was not expected to break out again. The loss was not so heavy as was estimated at first. In addition to the damage to the land burned over it was confined to the town hall, about 50,000 feet of sawed lumber in the vicinity of the hall and one or two lumber camps.

MORE RAIN

NEEDED TO CHECK THE FIRES AT PLYMOUTH.

PLYMOUTH, Mass., May 9.—A brisk shower early today greatly cheered the weary fire-fighters who since last Friday have been working night and day and using every possible method in an endeavor to check the flames which have raged through the forests of Plymouth, Plympton, Kingston and Carver, destroying thousands of dollars worth of cut and standing timber and endangering many buildings. The continuous work finally made some impression into last night and this morning's shower enabled the men to come more nearly to securing control over the fire than at any time since it first gained headway. It seemed probable that more rain would follow during the gained headway. It seemed probable tonight would see the end of all danger and practically the end of the conflagration.

TIMBER BURNED

THE LOSS AT SOUTH WEYMOUTH IS $10,000.

SOUTH WEYMOUTH, Mass., May 9.—The fire which burned over a large tract of woodland here yesterday and which was well in hand late last night, was completely extinguished by showers early today.

No buildings were burned. A loss of about $10,000 was caused by the destruction of timber.

$15,000 LOSS

FOREST FIRE AT HARWICH UNDER CONTROL.

HARWICH, Mass., May 9.—The forest fire which started yesterday noon in North Harwich and burned over 1700 acres had been brought nearly under control early today when a heavy rain began to fall and completed the work of the fire wardens and their assistants. It continued to rain throughout the forenoon, effectually quenching the embers in the burned district. The loss caused by the fire is estimated at about $15,000.

A RECEIVER

ASKED FOR THE UNITED SHOE MACHINERY COMPANY.

NEW YORK, May 9—Lacombe in the United States circuit court today granted an order to show cause why a receiver should not be appointed for the United Shoe Machinery Co. of New Jersey. The order which is returnable on Friday was granted on application of Robert C. Beatty, receiver of the United Shoe Machinery company of Maine, who alleged that the United Shoe Machinery Co. of New Jersey is insolvent and is about to transfer its assets to a new corporation in order to defraud the creditors of the old Goodyear Shoe Machine company of Hartford, Conn.

BIG INCREASE

AMERICAN IMPORTS JUMPED FROM $1,000,000 TO $8,000,000.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 9—The American consul general at Auckland, N. Z., Frank Dillingham has arrived here on a vacation trip. He has been the American consular representative in Auckland for eight years. During that time American imports there have increased in value from $1,000,000 to $8,000,000.

"Just how New Zealand's new tariff will affect American imports into that country, I am not prepared to say," remarked Mr. Dillingham. "Under the new tariff England is given a distinct advantage over all other foreign countries. Still New Zealand will have to buy heavily from the U. S All of their agricultural machinery and most of their mining machinery comes from the United States as well as all of their tobacco and many lines of manufactured goods, like boots and shoes."

REPORTS READ

AT CONVENTION OF THE PAPER MAKERS.

HOLYOKE, Mass., May 9.—The annual address of Pres. Mackey was read at the Paper Makers' convention today and among others who reported were Vice-Presidents Frank E. Mace and Joseph Papointe and James F. Fitzgerald, representing the Pulp Workers' branch of the Brotherhood. The reports dwelt wholly with the internal affairs of the organization and were considered as showing satisfactory conditions. All industrial troubles were referred to as of being of minor importance at the present time. Transaction of routine business was continued this afternoon.

PANAMA ROUTE

Should be Made More Advantageous

FOR MOVEMENT OF FOREIGN FREIGHT

San Francisco Men Submit Report

SAN FRANCISCO, May 9.—A matter of great commercial importance to the Pacific coast is discussed in a report that has been prepared for the information of President Roosevelt, Secretary Taft of the war department and J. W. Bristow, special commissioner appointed by President Roosevelt to visit this coast and acquire facts. The question refers to the utility of the Panama route for the movement of freight between San Francisco and the Atlantic states. The report was submitted by W. R. Wheeler, W. J. Dutton and Rufus P. Jennings. It was adopted by the chamber of commerce and forwarded to Washington in printed form by the chamber. The chamber finds that "there is really but one object to be attained and that is the adoption of such a course as will make the Panama route more advantageous for the movement of freight than under the conditions heretofore existing."

The report after referring to the present freight schedule via Panama says:

"Under government ownership of the Panama railroad and the sea route to New York, from Colon, the only question to be considered would be whether freight rates could be made sufficiently low to make the saving on transportation expense an object to the shipper and enough to offset the additional time required in transit.

"There are reasons why the Panama route cannot be utilized with advantage in the commercial interchange of commodities between San Francisco and the Atlantic states and with the steady development of transportation facilities between nations as well as between our own states those reasons are becoming more potential every year. In brief, there are but two in number:

"First—loss of time in transit.

"Second—Increased freight cost, made necessary by transhipment from steamer to car and from car to steamer."

"These two factors are the obstacles; they are permanent for the time being and cannot be overcome until the Panama canal is completed. At present all freight shipped from San Francisco to New York via the Panama route has to be handled at least six times in transit, thereby increasing the risk of damage or breakage, while by overland railroad, it is handled only two times and makes the journey in less than one half the time consumed via Panama."

THE PRESIDENT

IS ON HIS WAY TO CHICAGO TODAY.

DENVER, Col., May 9—The presidential special train, consisting of a baggage car, buffet car, sleeper, private car of the general manager of the road and the president's private car "Rocket," pulled by one of the new monster engines, left the Union depot here over the Union Pacific railroad for Chicago promptly at 1 o'clock this morning. The curtains in the president's private car were closely drawn and all was quiet within. Quite a crowd had assembled at the station to see the president off but no demonstration was made when it became known that the president was sleeping.

The huge engine was piloted by Engineer Hockhiberger and was in charge of Conductor Clark. The engine itself was literally smothered in decorations consisting of tri-colored effects in bunting. Several large portraits were displayed on the sides of the engine cab.

Preceding the president's special train by 10 minutes went a pilot train of one coach. The pilot train will lead the special to Julesberg, when another pilot will take its place and lead to Omaha. Track walkers and inspectors were ordered out at daylight all along this division of the Union Pacific and every precaution was taken to insure the president's safety on his eastward journey.

THE CHINESE

PLAN A GREAT ORGANIZATION OF MERCHANTS.

NEW YORK, May 9.—With the sanction and help of the imperial government, the Chinese merchants of New York are organizing the commercial association to which every Chinese merchant or property holder will be eligible.

It is said the idea was originated by former Minister Wu Ting Fang who, since his return to China, has taken great interest in the commercial relations between his countrymen in China and those in the United States. He is in favor, it is understood, of forming a great association, with branches in every large American city to further commercial relations between the two countries. The objects of the organization will include efforts to prevent certain applications of the exclusion laws and customs regulations which Chinese consider unjust.

THE REBELS

CAPTURED THIRTY GUNS AND TWENTY THOUSAND RIFLES.

HODEIDA, Yemen Province, Turkish Arabia, May 9.—The spoils captured by the rebels at Sanaa on April 20 included 30 guns, 20,000 rifles and much ammunition. The garrison and the Turkish officials were permitted to leave the city.

Riza Pasha, commander of the Turkish troops in Yemen, has been superseded by Marshal Ahmed Fezi Pasha, who has been reinforced by eight battalions of Albians.

NEW SENATOR

BRANDEGEE ELECTED BY CONNECTICUT LEGISLATURE.

HARTFORD, Ct., May 9.—Frank B. Brandegee of New London, member of congress from the third Connecticut district, was this afternoon chosen U. S. senator to succeed the late O. H. Platt by a majority vote in each house in the general assembly.

HUMAN SKELETON

Was Found in Rangeley Lake Today

RUMFORD FALLS, Maine, May 9—Information reached here today from Bemis that the skull, breast and leg bones of a human being had been found nine feet below high water mark on Toothakers island in Rangeley lake. No clothing was found other that a belt fitted with rings such as lumbermen wear. They were believed to be the remains of one of two river drivers named Ouilette, who went out four years ago in a canoe and were capsized. The bones were discovered by Jas. Kreman, foreman of a Berlin mills company crew, while taking a boom to the lee of Toothakers island. A man named Knight employed at Portland Springs, disappeared about four years ago, but it is considered improbable that the skeleton was his.

MASS MEETING

WILL BE HELD BY THE CHURCH ASSOCIATION.

BOSTON, May 9.—No forenoon session of the Church Association for the Advancement of Interests of Labor, the Episcopal church organization which is holding a two days' convention in Boston, was held today. Tenement house problems were on the order paper for consideration this afternoon. The principal speaker was Clinton Woodruf of Philadelphia. The feature of the closing session will be a mass meeting in Huntington hall tonight. Among the speakers will be Rev. Dr. Floyd Tomkins, rector of the Church of the Holy Trinity, Philadelphia, Miss Vida Scudder of Wellesley college, Henry Abrahams, secretary of the Boston Central Labor union, Miss Harriette A. Keyser of New York; secretary and organizer of the association and Rev. Thatcher R. Kimball, president of the Boston chapter of the organization.

$5000 BAIL

REQUIRED IN THE CASE OF SCOLLANS.

BOSTON, May 9.—Thomas J. Scollans, who was brought here from New York last week in connection with alleged city teaming frauds, seven years ago, appeared in the superior court today and was allowed to have bail. Scollans, it is alleged, defaulted when he was arrested several years ago and when he was brought from jail on a writ of habeas corpus, Judge Crosby removed the default and placed bail in the old case at $10,000 and on a new case charging bribery at $5,000.

UNION MEN

PREVAILED ON ITALIANS NOT TO ACCEPT JOBS.

ROCKLAND, Me., May 9.—Fifteen Italians intended to replace the striking lime kiln men, arrived on the steamer from Boston today. They were met by a delegation from the Rockland-Rockport Lime company, also by President Harriman and a number of his union men. President Harriman with an interpreter immediately went aboard and informed the Italians of the condition of affairs here. Several heeded his advice to go away but the others were taken aboard a tug, which had fastened to the other side of the steamer during the controversy. The aid of the police was called to prevent a conflict. The lime syndicate had 12 out of 40 kilns in Rockland and the full complement of nine at Rockport burning today, and is hopeful of operating a majority of them in a few days.

DIED SUDDENLY

MAN EXPIRED AFTER FUNERAL OF HIS WIFE.

ROCKLAND, Me., May 9.—James R. Farnsworth president and general manager of the Rockland Water company before the plant was purchased by the Camden and Rockland water company died today a few hours after the funeral of his wife. He was 64 years of age and one of the wealthiest citizens of this city. Some years ago he kept a general store and for the past five years has been engaged in the manufacture of lime.

GREAT ALARM

FIRE BROKE OUT IN THE HOTEL REGENT.

WASHINGTON, May 9.—A fire that broke out in the kitchen of the hotel Regent at the corner of Fifteenth street and Pennsylvania avenue at a quarter of four o'clock this morning, caused great alarm to the large number of guests in the house. They hurriedly rushed down stairs into the office and street while some got out of the hotel by the fire escapes. The fire department promptly responded and the flames were extinguished without much difficulty.

The loss was nominal and no one was injured.

WILL RACE FOR THE KAISER'S CUP.

NEW YORK, May 9—The 11 yachts entered for the Kaiser's cup race across the Atlantic from Sandy Hook lightship are being given their final preparations for the contest. By the end of this week, all will be ready for the start, on May 16, and a day or so before that time the majority will be at anchor inside Sandy Hook awaiting the official send away. Most of the yachts already have been docked and their auxiliary propellers removed, leaving no means of propulsion except by sail and from now on the crews will be busy taking aboard stores for the long voyage.

FINAL DIVIDEND PAID.

MILFORD, N. H., May 9.—Assignee Carl Knight of the Milford Savings bank today paid a final dividend of four per cent. to depositors, thus closing out the affairs of the institution. The bank had assets of $1,500,000 in 1893, the year of the panic which forced the bank to close its doors. Depositors received in all, 59 cents on the dollar.

RAILROAD RATES

Pres. Roosevelt Explains His Policy

GIVE POWER TO THE NATION

Fix and Put Rates Into Force

DENVER, Colo., May 9.—President Roosevelt discussed railroad rate legislation at a banquet given him by the Chamber of Commerce in the Brown palace hotel last night. The president finished his speech after midnight and this morning left for Chicago.

"I want to say a word as to governmental policy in which I feel," he said, "that this whole country ought to take a great interest and which is itself but part of a general policy into which I think our government must go. I have spoken of the policy of extending the powers of the interstate commerce commission and of giving them particularly the power to fix rates and to have the rates that they fix go into effect practically at once. As I say, that represents in my mind part of what should be the general policy of this country. The policy of giving not to the state but to the national government an increased supervisory and regulatory power over corporations is the first step and to my mind the most important step. In the days of the fathers of the older among you the highways of commerce for civilized nations were what they had always been; that is, waterways and roads. Therefore, they were open to all who chose to travel upon them. Within the last two generations, we have seen systems grow up and now the typical highway of commerce is the railroad. Compared to the railroad, the ordinary road for wheeled vehicles and the waterways whether natural or artificial, have lost all their importance. Here in Colorado, for instance, it is the railroads which are the only highways that you need take into account in dealing with the question of commerce in the state or outside of the state. Therefore, under this changed system, we see highways of commerce grow up each of which is controlled by a single corporation or individual; some time several of them being controlled in combination by corporations or by a few individuals.

"When such is the case in my judgment it is absolutely necessary that the nation for the state cannot possibly do it, should assume a supervisory and regulatory function over the great corporations which practically control the highways of commerce.

"As with everything else mundane, when you get this supervisory and regulatory power on behalf of the nation you will not have cured all the evils that existed and you will not equal the expectations of the amiable but ill regulated enthusiast who thinks that you will have cured all those evils. A measure of good will come. Some good will be done, some injustice will have been prevented, but we shall be a long way from the millenium.

"Get that fact clear in your mind, or you will be laying up for yourselves a store of incalculable disappointments in the future. That is the first thing.

"Now the second step. When you give a nation that power, remember that harm and not good will come from the giving unless you give it with a firm determination not only to get justice for yourselves, but to do justice to others; that you will be as jealous to do justice to the railroads as to exact justice from them. We cannot afford in any shape or way in this country to encourage a feeling which would do injustice to a man of property any more than we would submit to injustice from a man of property. Whether the man owns the biggest railroad or the greatest outside corporation in the land or whether he makes each day's bread by the sweat of that day's toil, he is entitled to justice and fair dealing, no more and no less."

THE BAKERIES

Are Feeling Effects of the Strike

CHICAGO, May 9—Shortage and delivery of flour to groceries and bakeries was threatened by a fresh spread of the teamster's strike today. The latest recruits are the drivers of the Wenig Teaming company, a large concern chiefly engaged in delivering flour for milling companies. All of the men quit work when one of them was discharged for refusing to deliver to boycotted department stores. A direct result of the strike will be a shortage of 15,000 barrels of flour a week according to George K. Wenig. "Unless we can get the Employers' association to help us out the strike means an immediate shortage in the flour supply," said Mr. Wenig.

SNAKE'S NEST

LINEMAN FOUGHT HIS WAY OUT OF IT.

WARE, May 9.—Robert Rennison, employed by the local telephone exchange, had an experience with snakes while working on the suburban telephone line in Enfield and Belchertown that gave him something of a scare. The warm sun had brought them out in full force. His first experience was in Enfield, where he got into a nest of the striped adders, and before he could make a dignified retreat several had wound themselves about his boots and spurs, and it was several minutes before he had killed or driven them away.

He killed several more in the Enfield town limits, and hoped when he reached the Belchertown line, where they had recently voted no-license, the pests would disappear, but instead they were larger and more numerous.

Mr. Rennison says he was obliged to carry a club and his pockets full of stones all the time, and he killed several species of snakes during the day, while many escaped.

JUDGES CHOSEN

By General Assembly in Rhode Island

PROVIDENCE, R. I., May 9.—The state general assembly convened at noon today in grand command house of the representative chamber for the election of the new superior court bench which is instituted under the provisions of the new judiciary act which received its final endorsement by the legislature last week.

Contests for the position developed in almost every instance. Both Wm. H. Sweetland and General Charles A. Wilson were nominated for the chief justiceship, Mr. Sweetland finally being elected unanimously upon the withdrawal of General Wilson from the contest.

For the second position on the bench Willard B. Tanner of this city was opposed by Judge Elmer J. Ruthbun of East Greenwich, the former being elected by a vote of 66 to 44.

Darius Baker of Newport was elected to the third place on the bench defeating John W. Sweeney of Westerly 63 to 47.

Charles F. Stearns of Providence was elected by a similar plurality over John S. Murdock, also of this city, as the fourth member of the court.

VALENTINA CASE

Courts Still Open to the Woman

WASHINGTON, May 9.—Acting Secretary of the State Loomis is in receipt of a telegram from Governor Stokes at Trenton stating that so far no application for a reprieve in the case of Mrs. Maria Valentina, under sentence of death for the murder of her husband, has been made to him; that it appears that the courts are still open to her, but that if that should not be so, he will give weighty consideration to the application of the state department based on a request of the Italian ambassador, that the execution of sentence be postponed. The governor stated further that his power to grant a reprieve was only for a limited time.

GETS MENINGITIS

Doctor Got It From a Patient

PHILADELPHIA, May 9.—Dr. Walter Safel, of Carmel, a well known physician is now dying as the result of his devotion to a young girl patient, the daughter of old friends, who was stricken with cerebro-spinal meningitis. The girl is already dead of the terrible disease.

Florence Benjamin, a pretty sixteen year old girl, robust and happy became affected and died yesterday within four days of the time the illness seized her. When she first became ill no one believed she had cerebro-spinal meningitis, but when the truth was known, Dr. Safel, who had been her father's friend for many years, was summoned.

The two old friends talked it over. The doctor said it was hopeless, but the father with tears in his eyes begged him not to give up, and they clasped hands, the doctor promising to do everything within human power to save the girl.

He went at his task heroically. Every treatment known to science was resorted to, and the physician never left her bedside. He watched every new development in the case, and tried to combat it. His own heart was as much affected as the father's, as he saw the beautiful girl writhing in agony, and then becoming rigid.

Night and day he remained with her, at the same time keeping other physicians, friends of his, busy trying to learn of new treatments that might be effective. He devoted his entire time to the one girl patient, turning the rest of his practice over to a brother doctor.

Then the strain began to tell on Dr. Safel. He took stimulants to keep up, and finally resorted to drugs to prevent sleep overcoming him. He became ill, and another physician was called in to look after him. He was told that he was breaking down under the strain, but only, after about eighty hours of constant watching, during which time his patient was rapidly growing worse, could he be induced to give up his vigil, and Dr. Wainwright was called in to look after the girl.

Dr. Safel insisted that he was to be awakened after a few hours, and to humor him this was agreed upon.

The heroic physician had scarcely left the girl when the signs of her approaching death became even more apparent. When it was seen that she had only a few hours to live, the suggestion that Dr. Safel be called was made but was not acted upon.

The girl died early yesterday, but Dr. Safel was permitted to sleep until late in the afternoon. When he was called he was told that Miss Benjamin had died, and he began to weep from nervous exhaustion.

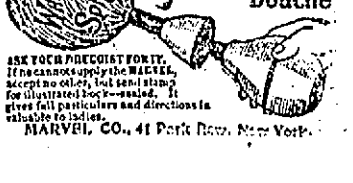

Then he decided to go and see his old friend and try to console him. He arose and lighted a cigar, ordering some luncheon sent to his room. While he was dressing he was suddenly seized with a violent trembling.

He staggered to a chair, his face became ashen and in a few minutes his body was rigid with the disease. There is no hope of his recovery.

RIOTING BROKE OUT

Police Called Out to Disperse a Mob

CHICAGO, May 9—Rioting broke out at Lake and Clark streets this afternoon when a fruit laden truck belonging to the Employers' Teaming company and driven by Henry Scott, a colored non-union teamster, was surrounded by a blockade of wagons and a mob estimated by the police to have numbered 1000 persons. A riot call brought the police to the spot and after a half hour of active work, the police dispersed the crowd and the blockading wagons drove away.

Stones and missiles were thrown and one shot was fired. The police were unable to learn who fired the shot or whether any person was wounded.

The commission appointed by Mayor Dunne to investigate the strike started work in earnest today. Attorney Seymour Stedman, representing the Chicago Federation of Labor appeared before the commission and make a plea for public hearings, the commission have previously decided to hold secret sessions. The commissioners took the matter under advisement.

LIST OF DEAD

Victims of Tornado in Marquette

MARQUETTE, Kansas, May 9.—When daylight broke over the town it found the entire population in a state of panic. Business was entirely suspended and every one who escaped injury from the tornado last night turned his attention toward aiding the wounded.

The tornado seems to have formed three miles south of Marquette and did not spend its force until it had passed many miles north of the town. In Marquette the residence portion west of the main street suffered the principal damage. The houses in the course of the tornado were all with two or three exceptions completely wrecked. In this section there were a number of modern residences of which only one, the home of R. A. Thompson, was left standing. The Swedish Lutheran and Methodist churches were among the first buildings struck and they, together with the parsonage adjoining the Methodist church, were demolished.

Yesterday afternoon was hot and oppressive. Late that evening a terrific rainstorm broke over the town. The rain continued to fall in torrents until midnight when the tornado struck. Within less than five minutes it had wrought its terrible work and passed on. Telegraph and telephone wires were carried down and it was several hours before the outside world could be apprised of the plight of the city.

It was not until 8 o'clock that physicians and surgeons began arriving from surrounding towns. In the meantime volunteers began to extricate the dead and injured. The Swedish Lutheran parsonage and several private residences were turned into temporary hospitals. The dead were taken to a store room near by.

An Associated Press reporter made the rounds of the different places. In one room in the Lutheran parsonage he found six injured and in an adjoining room were five bodies of persons who had died from injuries after they had been brought in. In half a dozen other houses similar conditions were found. Dr. Lund, the Lutheran pastor, ministered to the comfort of the suffering, while thirty or forty other persons, under his direction cared for the injured at other points.

When the missing in Marquette had been thoroughly accounted for the searchers directed their attention to the surrounding country. Soon half a dozen wagon-loads of dead and injured had been brought to town from the district adjoining Marquette on the south.

There were many narrow escapes from death. The infant daughter of Charles Sallon was lifted in her bed and carried to the middle of the street, receiving only a few scratches. Sallon and his wife were seriously injured.

The mattress upon which the baby daughter of the Rev. Mr. Smith lay was so doubled up as to cover the child and protect it from falling timbers. In spite of the destruction of the Smith home the entire family escaped uninjured.

Mr. and Mrs. Elvin were carried on their bed a distance of 500 feet and laid down without being seriously injured.

THE BOSTON MARKET.

BOSTON, May 9.—In sympathy with the improved tone of the New York list, the Boston market was fairly strong today. Trading however, was on a small scale. Copper Range advanced from 70 to 71¼. Osceola advanced 1 and other copper stocks made fractional gains.

BIG SHRINKAGE

In Assets of the People's Bank

HALIFAX, N. S., May 9—A shrinkage of a one quarter of a million dollars in the assets of the People's bank of Halifax, a large institution which has twenty seven branches throughout Eastern Canada, was disclosed at a meeting of shareholders here today, when a proposition to merge the Bank of Montreal, the most influential banking concern in Canada, was ratified. The basis of amalgamation is approximately 115 per cent. of the issued capital stock, which shareholders of the People's bank are to receive. The total amount to be paid by the Bank of Montreal is about $1,000,000. Most of the shareholders expected to receive more for their stock and some of them were surprised to learn that the Bank of Montreal had agreed to pay a sum which is less than the combined capital and surplus of the People's bank by $250,000. When inquiry was made concerning this shrinkage the president informed the shareholders that a number of old accounts which had been carried for several years had turned out to be of doubtful value. The bank of Montreal, he said, would not take these old accounts. The stockholders at the meeting were unable to ascertain what particular accounts had contributed to the loss of the banks funds.

After a brief discussion it was voted unanimously to ratify the terms of the transfer. The present value of People's bank stock is about 118. Before the proposed sale was quoted at 140.

The People's bank of Halifax was established in 1864. Its capital was than $100,000 which was increased from time to time to $1,000,000 and at the last statement the reserve was placed at $440,000. The bank has 27 branches, ten of which are in Quebec, nine in Nova Scotia and eight in New Brunswick.

MORE STOCK

FOR THE ARLINGTON MILLS OF LAWRENCE.

BOSTON, May 9—At a special meeting of the Arlington mills stockholders here today it was voted to increase the capital stock from $3,000,000 to $5,000,000. Of the new stock $1,000,000 will be given as a stock dividend from earnings, while the remaining $1,000,000 will be sold to stockholders by subscription. The corporation which makes cotton and worsted goods at Lawrence, recently began the enlargement o fits plant.

BANK CASHIER

HAS ABSOLVED HIS ASSISTANT IN THE BANK.

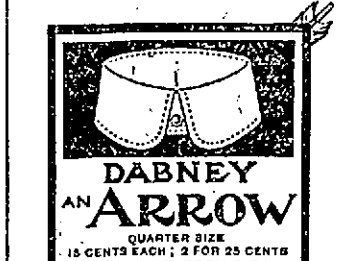

WAVERLY, Mo., May 9.—Investigation into an alleged shortage in the funds of the Middleton bank yesterday revealed a note signed by Cashier E. H. Lewis, which, referring to Assistant Cashier Warner, said:

"You must not accuse Mr. Warner of wrecking this bank. He had nothing to do with it. I did it all myself."

The police have been searching for Lewis since April 24, but have no clew. The auditors state that $62,000 is missing.

TOWN OF DRACUT

Is in Need of a Water Supply

Tewksbury and Dracut were both on the water wagon at the state house today. The hearing for the extension of Lowell's water service to Tewksbury was a long one and when it had been declared closed an act to establish the Dracut water supply district and to provide to supply the same with water was introduced by Representative Stevens.

Mr. Stevens explained that the bill to annex a certain portion of Dracut to Lowell had been referred to the next general court and as the essence of the prayer of the petitioners who asked for annexation was contained in their appeal for water he said that the petitioners dropped the annexation proposition for the present and made the bill to apply to water supply.

Representative Stevens submitted a map on which was outlined the territory that prayed for water. He said that the petition would have been presented sooner but for the fact that the engineers were late in preparing the plan.

Mr. Stevens said that, up to within a few weeks ago, Dracut had every reason to believe that she could buy water from Lowell, and not until the hubbub over the extension of Lowell's water supply to Tewksbury did the folks in Dracut realize that they would have to offer an argument.

He explained that in fear of the town of Dracut being unable to take a water trade with Lowell the bill was made broad enough to allow the town to establish its own water supply.

Mr. Morrison owner of the woolen mills in Dracut spoke in favor of the petition as did all the members of the board of selectmen.

FUNERALS

THIBEAULT—The funeral of Joseph Thibeault, who was accidentally killed while driving, Saturday, was held yesterday from his home, 213 Cheever street. A solemn funeral mass was sing at St. Jean Baptiste church, Rev. Fr. Gratton, O. M. I., being the celebrant, and Rev. Frs. Brullard and Diss, O. M. I., deacon and sub deacon. The bearers were Joseph Deniers, Calixto Champagne, Felix Albert, Pierre Marchand, Treffle Julien and Joseph Lemay. Burial was in St. Joseph's cemetery, and Rev. Fr. Brullar, O. M. I., officiated at the grave, Undertaker Joseph Albert had charge.

CAHILL—The remains of the late Owen E. Cahill were consigned to their final resting place in the Catholic cemetery yesterday morning. The funeral which was largely attended by sorrowing relatives and friends of the deceased took place from his late home on South Loring street. The funeral cortege proceeded to St. Peter's church where a high mass of requiem was celebrated at nine o'clock by Rev. Fr. McDermod. The choir was in attendance and sang the Gregorian mass and during the service appropriate selections were rendered by the members of the choir.

There was a profusion of beautiful and appropriate floral offerings showing the esteem in which the deceased was held by his personal friends and acquaintances.

The bearers were Messrs. Thomas F. and Joseph Kelley, Patrick and Harry Farley, Edward Cahill and John Morris.

There was a delegation present from the Boiler Workers Association consisting of Messrs. Walter Kenney, Jas. Durkin and Joseph Powers.

The interment was in the Catholic cemetery where the committal prayers were read by Rev. Fr. McDermod. The funeral was under the direction if Funeral Director Peter Davey.

JAPAN'S THREATS

Are Not Taken Seriously in Russia

ST. PETERSBURG, May 9.—The Japanese threats against France are not taken very seriously here. The Russian authorities continue to maintain that Admiral Rojestvensky has not overstepped the limits of neutrality. In view of the excited state of the Japanese over the possibility of the fruits of their previous land and sea victories being swept away Japan's protests are considered quite natural, but her minatory attitude toward a chivalrous country like France is regarded as a blunder. While Great Britain is expected to support her ally and secure fair play, should Japan press France too far Great Britain, it is said, can be counted upon to use all her influence to calm the statesmen at Tokio. The interests of Japan could not be served according to the opinion here by an extension of the hostilities unless Admiral Togo is beaten, in which case it is not doubted that Japan will use the pretext of French violation of neutrality to demand the fulfillment of Great Britain's obligations as her ally.

The opinion is held in some quarters that it is exactly this contingency which Japan has in view. All the newspapers discuss the subject, the Novo Vremya proclaiming Japan as the great dominating power of the world, laying down the law, issuing orders and making Rojestvensky a veritable outlaw, driven from place to place at Japan's bidding.

"And poor Rojestvensky," the paper continues, "wearied and not knowing where to go, remains where he is. But why does not the great Togo who knows so well where his enemy is anchored attack him and thus end all the complications? That would be better than placing an embargo on French ships and more simple than bombarding the ports of French Indo-China. Japan has grown very pompous. Her frown inspires the world with awe but it is passing strange that Rojestvensky has not been seized with the universal fright."

The Novosti says France did well to come to an understanding with Great Britain in view of the danger which threatens Indo-China which the paper insists is not imaginary.

"From the beginning of the war," continues the Novosti, "Japan has done everything in her power to exhaust France's patience and force her to take a dangerous step, and until now France has shown tact and moderation."

Japan may desire to draw in France but this is impossible in view of Great Britain's reserve."

The Sevit warns Japan against offending French pride and says the French fleet would not leave a trace of Togo on the sea. The paper accuses Great Britain of being behind all these machinations.

The Russ insists that the situation is in no sense critical, saying:

"Great Britain fears nothing, so much as war. She sees the terrible spectre of Germany which impatiently awaits a false step by Great Britain so Great Britain can be relied upon to counsel her ally not to draw in a third power."

The Slovo prints a rumor of the discovery of enormous defalcations in the commissary department of the army.

Count Von Vorontzoff-Dashkoff is expected to inaugurate his reign as viceroy of the Caucasus by reopening the question of the American church funds.

Maxim Gorky has received permission to live anywhere in Russia except in St. Petersburg and it is said that he has already leased a country place near the capitol.

RUSSIAN CREWS WERE RESTED

PARIS, May 9—Orders have been sent to the civil and naval authorities in French Indo-China not to permit the junction within French waters of the Russian naval forces under Admiral Rojestvensky and Rear Admiral De Jonjieres, the French naval commander to see that Rojestvensky fully observes the promise he has already given to leave French waters. These orders resulted from the receipt of a detailed dispatch giving an account of Admiral De Jonquieres' meeting with Rojestvensky. The dispatch says that the Russian squadron made a four days cruise on the high sea, outside the three mile limit and then returned last Saturday anchoring at Konghai Bay southward of Honkohe Bay, coast of Annam, for the purpose of taking on provisions and fresh water. When Admiral De Jonquieres was informed of the Russians' return he proceeded to Konghai and requested Admiral Rojestvensky to immediately withdraw outside territorial waters. The Russian admiral gave De Jonquieres his word that he intended to leave his anchorage and take to the open sea. He also informed De Jonquieres that in his communications with the land he had not violated any of the neutrality regulations and that the steps of the Russian squadron along the Indo-China coast were for the purpose of resting the crews. The Russian admiral said he would depart the following day.

The French admiral then returned from Konghai to advise the French government of the result of the interview. He returned to Konghai yesterday for the purpose of seeing whether Rojestvensky's promise to go to sea had been carried out and found the Russian warships still at their anchorage but preparing to depart. Admiral Rojestvensky assured him that the entire squadron would leave during the night.

FRANCE'S NOTE TO ENGLAND

LONDON, May 9.—The situation arising in the far east by reason of the alleged violation of French neutrality in Indo-China by Admiral Rojestvensky's squadron and the possibility of Great Britain becoming involved, formed the subject of a question to Premier Balfour in the house of commons this afternoon.

Mr. Balfour in reply read a statement supplied to the British government by the French ambassador, M. Cambon, as follows:

"So soon as the French government was aware of Admiral Rojestvensky's presence at Ramranh bay representations were sent to St. Petersburg with the result that under the orders of the emperor himself instructions were telegraphed to the admiral desiring him to leave Kamranh bay at once. The Russian squadron subsequently was reported to be at Hon-Kohe bay, a few miles north of Kamranh bay. Admiral De Jonquieres, commanding the French station, was sent there to report. He found Admiral Rojestvensky's squadron there though not inside French territorial waters. Thereupon the governor of French Indo-China who had received instructions to see that French neutrality was duly respected sent the French resident at Nha-Trang, the nearest point to that place, with directions to ask the Russian admiral to leave. The admiral promised to do so May 3.

"As regards the reports that the Russian squadron received valuable assistance from the French authorities at Kamranh bay I am informed there are only two Frenchmen there, neither of whom is an official but they are holders of concessions from the French government in that place."

In this connection Baron Hayashi (the Japanese minister) said today: "Although the situation is very difficult there is no crisis at present. At the same time it would be unwise to allow popular feeling in Japan to be further inflamed as it might become uncontrollable. This undoubtedly is fully appreciated in France and there is every reason to suppose that France will see the way to relieve public anxiety and render the possibility of an extension of the sphere of the conflict out of the question."

Baron Hayashi added that he was in a position to absolutely deny the reports that Japan was violating the neutrality of the waters of Borneo.

Foreign Secretary Lansdowne, in the house of lords, made a statement to the same effect as Mr. Balfour made in the house of commons, adding with respect to the assurances of Admiral Rojestvensky that he would leave Hon-Kohe bay May 3, that he, the secretary, was unable to say whether the Russian squadron actually departed on that date.

OLD FIGHT

SETTLED BY THE SUPREME COURT.

WASHINGTON, May 9.—The supreme court of the United States yesterday decided the case of Harris vs. Balk, involving $180, which has been in litigation for nine years and three times decided by the supreme court of North Carolina.

In 1896 Balk loaned Harris $180. Both are citizens of North Carolina. When Harris visited Baltimore he was compelled by the Maryland courts to pay the money to one Eppstein, to whom Balk was indebted. The North Carolina courts refused to recognize this payment, and Harris carried the case to the supreme court of the United States and won, the court holding that the refusal is a failure to give due faith and credit to the findings of the court of another state as required by the federal constitution.

The litigation has cost many times the amount involved.

ROUGHLY USED

SENATOR DOLLIVER GOT MIXED UP WITH MOB IN CHICAGO.

WASHINGTON, May 9.—Senator Dolliver of Iowa sat most of the day at the interstate commerce committee's rate hearing with a handkerchief bound around his head. It was explained that the senator was suffering from neuralgia, but incidentally it became known that he had been pretty roughly handled in Chicago last week by riotous strikers. He got mixed in a crowd of 2000 rioters, who used clubs and stones and fired pistols. When he succeeded in extricating himself from the crowd Senator Dolliver was so badly battered that he had to get medical attendance.

WINS $20,000

WOMAN WAS WEDDED BY CONTRACT.

NEW YORK, May 9.—Mrs. Kathleen N. Kainer obtained, on default, a judgment in the supreme court yesterday against her husband, Otto H. Kainer, for the sum of $20,620.

The plaintiff claimed that, in 1903, she agreed to marry the defendant, and he agreed, in consideration of her marriage to him that he would on the day of their wedding, give her $10,000, and would, one year afterward, give her $10,000 more.

She alleged he never had carried out either of his promises, although she performed her part of the agreement, by marrying him in October, 1903.

SUES HER SON

Property of a Methuen Man Attached

LAWRENCE, May 10—Mrs. Helen A. Clark of Methuen has attached the property of her son, Frank A. Clark, in the sum of $1000, in an action of contract. Mrs. Clark's husband died a few months ago, leaving to his family, two farms in Methuen valued at $3500. In order that the homestead might remain in the Clark name, she desired that it be deeded to her oldest son, Frank, who she said had agreed in turn to care for her during her life. The deed was made and the mother refused to make any reservations whatever, saying she had implicit faith in her son.

Soon after the transfer was made her son, who is 35 years old, announced that he was to be married. He was married soon after to a Somerville woman. The couple settled on the farm in Methuen.

Later, Mrs. Clark, the mother of Frank left the house and said she had been driven out by the young people in violation of her son's oral agreement to take care of her. The young people say the mother left on her own accord.

Papers in the attachment were filed here yesterday by counsel for Mrs. Clark.

RAPID GROWTH

IN EXPORTS OF LEATHER AND MANUFACTURES THEREOF.

WASHINGTON, May 9.—Exports of leather and manufactures thereof from the United States during the calendar year 1904 amounted to 35 1-5 million dollars, as against 23 millions from the United Kingdom, and during the first quarter of the present calendar year those from the United States amounted to $9,128,837, as against $6,125,911 from the United Kingdom during the same period. A statement just compiled by the department of commerce and labor through its bureau of statistics presents the statistics of leather exportations from the United Kingdom and the United States, respectively, during the past decade. They show that the United States is exporting leather and the manufactures thereof at the rate of about 30 million dollars per annum, as against about 23 million dollars for the United Kingdom. Of the exports of leather from the United Kingdom, amounting, during the past year, to $23,146,383, the largest portion was unwrought leather, tanned or dressed, the exports of which amounted to $8,320,000; the next largest item, boots and shoes, amounted to $7,689,000; miscellaneous manufactures of leather, $4,790,000 (of which $3,655,000 represented the value of gloves exported), and harness and saddlery, $2,320,000.

Of our own exportations of leather in its various forms the principal articles are for the calendar year 1904, upper leather, $18,025,204; sole leather, $3,685,130; boots and shoes, $7,319,775; and miscellaneous manufactures of leather $1,794,323.

The United Kingdom exports boots and shoes principally to her own colonies, viz, British South Africa, New Zealand, the British East Indies, Australia, and the British West Indies, while a comparatively small amount goes to other countries. To British South Africa the exports of boots and shoes from the United Kingdom during the calendar year 1904 amounted to $3,887,000, being $1,695,000 less than those for 1903, when the total was $5,582,000, and $2,133,000 less than those of 1902, when the total was about $6,020,000 in value. To New Zealand, Great Britain's exports show a steady increase, the total for the three years named being $338,000 in 1902, $436,000 in 1903, and $525,000 in 1904. There is also an increase in Great Britain's exports of boots and shoes to British East Indies, the respective totals being $630,879 in 1902, $739,017 in 1903, and $876,058 in 1904. There is but little increase, however, in her exports of boots and shoes to Australia, the total being $592,774 in 1904, as against $585,775 in the preceding year, while for 1902 there was a total of $703,243. In the total exports there is a steady decrease, the total having been $9,229,523 in 1902, 38,980,642 in 1903, and but $7,692,019 in 1904.

The United States exports boots and shoes to all parts of the world, about one-half going to North America, about one-third of the total to Europe, about 10 per cent. to Australia and the Philippine Islands, and the remainder to South America, Africa, Asia, and various other countries. The United Kingdom and British possessions are by far our largest customers for boots and shoes. To the United Kingdom our exports during 1904 amounted to $1,767,724; to the West Indies, $1,685,902; to British Australasia $844,270, and to British Africa, $220,841. Mexico ranks fourth as a market for American boots and shoes, and to that country our exports show a steady growth, having been $878,535 in 1904 as against $659,331 in 1903 and $680,607 in 1902. Canada and the other British North American provinces also offer a growing market for American boots and shoes, our exports to that section of the Western hemisphere having been $344,247 in 1904 as against $744,290 in 1903 and $591,829 in 1902. Our total exports of boots and shoes have increased from $880,179 in 1894 to $6,470,412 in 1903, $7,214,726 in 1903, and $7,319,775 in 1904.

From Germany the exports of boots and shoes average a little over 2 million dollars per annum, from France about 3 1-2 millions, from Spain about 3 millions, from the United Kingdom about 7 2-3 millions, and from the United States about 7 1-3 millions. During March, 1905, the latest month for which figures are available, the exports of boots and shoes from the United States actually exceeded those from the United Kingdom, being $802,861 in value as against a total of $786,892 for the United Kingdom, the United States thus occupying first rank among the world's exporters of boots and shoes. In 1893 our total exports of boots and shoes were about three-quarters of a million dollars in value, or less than those for the first three months of the present year, while in the calendar year just ended they were $7,319,775, or within less than $400,000 of the record made by the United Kingdom.

This rapid growth suggests a comparison of the exports of boots and shoes from the United Kingdom and the United States during a series of years, and the table herewith presented illustrates the growth in exports of boots and shoes from the United States and the stationary character of the trade in this commodity from the United Kingdom during the past twelve years.

SUMMER WORK

PLANS FOR THE NORTHFIELD CONFERENCES.

EAST NORTHFIELD, May 10—The plans for the Northfield summer conferences, as just announced by Mr. W. R. Moody, son of the evangelist, D. L. Moody promise one of the liveliest seasons in the history of the work. Six main assemblies are under way, including the well known college conference, which has met at Northfield since 1886, a similar conference for young women, a summer school for S. S. workers, under the direction of the Massachusetts State S. S. association, a summer school for missionaries, managed by the Women's Boards of Foreign missions of the United States and Canada, a general conference for Christian workers, the oldest assembly of the kind in America, and a series of post conference meetings lasting until September 15. Most of the gatherings will be of an international nature and the missionary school is expected to bring together one of the largest delegations of foreign workers ever assembled in this country. Many methods of religious work will be brought up and discussed during the summer, the first four assemblies dealing specifically with different branches of Christianity, and the general conference combining and energizing them all by the inspiring power of the Holy Spirit.

Nearly all the foreign speakers who took part in the conferences last year are again scheduled to speak, and in addition, an unusually strong corps of men are on the program. The list as announced includes Prebendary Webb-Peploe, of St. Paul's Cathedral; Dr. G. Campbell Morgan, of Westminster, London; Prof. R. A. Falconer, of Halifax; Dr. S. M. Zuemer, of Arabia; Dr. C. R. Watson, of Egypt; Mr. John R. Mott, Rev. A. P. Shauffler D. D., Mr. Robert E. Speer, Mrs. W. A. Montgomery, of Rochester; Prof. James Denney, of Glasgow; Mr. John Willis Baer, and Dr. Johnstone Ross, of Cambridge.

The exact dates of the conferences are as follows: Student conference, June 30 to July 9; young women's conference, July 11 to 20; summer school for Sunday school workers, July 22 to 30; summer school for women's missionary societies, July 24 to 31; general conference for Christian workers, August 4 to 20; post conference addresses, August 22 to September 15.

GIRL MISSING

GRETTA RANKIN HAD TROUBLE WITH HER LOVER.

BOSTON, May 10.—Three weeks ago Gretta Rankin, 24 years old, who lodged at 73 Appleton street, left there, telling her chum that she would never see her again. She was despondent and her friend interpreted her statement as meaning that not only she but no one else would ever see her again. So far the girl has kept her threat, and last evening, tired of hunting all over the city, the girl's friend told the police.

The police were disinclined to disclose all that had been told them about the missing girl, but it is understood that she had trouble with her lover. A few weeks ago he disappeared, and since then Miss Rankin seemed greatly changed. She worried much over the departure of her lover, and finally was obliged to give up work. She tried in every way to find out where he was and bring about a reconciliation, and in this was assisted by her friend, who lived with her, but the man had disappeared for good.

LYNN INDEPENDENT TEAM SUES

Trouble Arose Over Cancellation of Game

LYNN, May 10—The contest between the Lynn baseball team of the New England league and the Lynn Association club, an independent organization, was renewed today when legal proceedings were instituted against the N. E. league officials by the Lynn Baseball and Amusement association, which controls the Independent nine. The proceedings grew out of the action yesterday of Pres. T. Murnane of the N. E. league in protesting against a game arranged between the Chicago National League club and the association nine here. Pres. Murnane in his protest stated that the Lynn club of the N. E. league and the Fall River nine had a game yesterday at Glenmere Park and that the National Baseball agreement to which Chicago is a party made Lynn "protected territory." When the Chicago club manager received the protest he decided to cancel the game with the association.

The association today entered suits for alleged damages of $5,000 each against Pres. Murnane, Secretary Jacob S. Morse of the N. E. league, Thomas R. McDermott, manager of the Fall River club, and one Charles H. Rogers, supposedly of Lynn. The association claims that a letter appeared in a Boston Sunday paper signed with the name of Rogers, calling the attention of the league officials to the proposed Chicago-Association game.

In the suits the plaintiff charges conspiracy to injure and cause financial loss to the association by preventing Chicago from carrying out its contract.

PROTECT JEWS

Officials Say Orders Were Issued

AND DISCLAIM ALL RESPONSIBILITY

For This New Attack on Jewish Residents

ST. PETERSBURG, May 10—Noon—to further details have reached here from Zhitomir, capital of the province of Volkynia, in Southwestern Russia, the scene of the recent attacks of Orthodox Christians on Jews. It is asserted that a fortnight before the disorders, proclamations were spread calling on the Christians to beat the Jews. When these proclamations were shown to the mayor of Zhitomir the latter declared them to be stupid and said there was no occasion for alarm.

At the ministry of the interior, it is said that M. Bouligin sent urgent instructions the night of May 8 to Zhitomir ordering the authorities there to protect the Jews and to prevent disorders.

The creditors of M. Krousheven (former editor of the Bessarabietz) have levied on his new paper, the friend recently established at Kishineff.

POLICE BOARD

On Annual Tour of Inspection Today

There was great cleaning and fixing up about the local hotels and saloons yesterday because the police commissioners are on their annual tour of inspection today and the proprietors appear to have got word of the visit a day ahead.

The three commissioners with Superintendent Moffatt started out at an early hour, each carrying a note book, and they were kept on the move all day.

CITY COUNCIL

Took Action on Death of Mr. Chase

Both branches of the city government met last evening and did honor to the memory of the late revered city auditor, David Chase. Committees to attend the funeral and to draw up appropriate resolutions were appointed, and the meeting adjourned out of respect for the departed official. No other business was transacted, although considerable routine business was upon the table.

The board of aldermen was called together by Chairman Grant shortly after 8 o'clock and he read the following communication from His Honor Mayor Casey, in relation to the death of City Auditor Chase:

"Gentlemen:—It is with profound sorrow that I announce to you the death of David Chase. For over 30 years he faithfully performed the duties of his position, giving to the city conscientious public service. Changes of administration and the drawing of party lines had no effect on him, because his worth was recognized, and it was realized that no one could perform the duties in a more satisfactory manner.

"He was an ideal public servant, and a citizen whose honesty and integrity were unquestioned. He was loved and esteemed by all who had the pleasure of knowing him. His death is a great loss to our city.

"To properly honor his memory and to recognize his services to the city, I recommend that your honorable body take such action as may be necessary."

A joint order calling for a joint convention to take action on Mr. Chase's death was then read and adopted. The order was then sent to the common council, and a moment later the aldermen appeared in the council chamber.

Chairman Grant of the board of aldermen then read the order providing for the appointment of committees to attend the funeral of Mr. Chase and to draw up resolutions on his death. The order was adopted.

Chairman Grant named the following committees:

To attend the funeral—Mayor Casey, Alderman Grant, President Dodge of the council, Alderman Carmichael, Alderman Braden, Councilmen Marcotte, Councilman White, Councilman Cronin.

Resolutions—Alderman Cosgrove, Alderman Walker, Councilman Blake, Councilman Wilder, Councilman John Daly.

On motion of Alderman Rourke, the convention then dissolved.

The council adjourned immediately and when the aldermen returned to their chamber, they voted to adjourn until Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock.

FIRES ARE OUT

No Fresh Outbreak of Plymouth

PLYMOUTH, Mass., May 10.—The fresh outbreak late yesterday of flames in parts of the district covered by the great forest fire which was practically extinguished yesterday morning with the aid of heavy showers did not prove serious and the large force of men who were on hand to watch the smouldering embers had little difficulty in keeping them under control. While small blazes are expected to occur frequently for several days, as the wind fans into life sparks not wholly deadened, these are not likely to spread into new territory. Men will guard the scene until it is known that ever vestige of the fire is killed.

NEGROES OBJECT

To Statements of the Drivers Union

CHICAGO, May 10.—More than 1,000 negroes have assembled at the Bethel African Methodist church and adopted resolutions read by Mrs. Ida Wells Barnett, protesting against the action of the department store drivers' union, which the resolutions asserted, circulated a "slanderous" letter against negro drivers, declaring them to be "loafers," not willing to work.

This charge was denounced as a willful and malicious falsehood against men who proved their value by risking their lives to obtain work. The resolutions also called upon the mayor to "save hard working citizens from that kind of protection which lets the rioter go free and sends the victim to the jails and hospitals."

LOEB ESCAPED

President's Secretary Avoided the Sheriff

SUMMONS IN MAE WOOD CASE

Could Not be Served by Official

MISSOURI VALLEY, Iowa, May 10.—Wm. Loeb, Jr., secretary to the president, passed safely through Nebraska without being served with a summons in an action filed by Miss Mae Wood, demanding $35,000 on a charge of conspiring to deprive her of a certain missive alleged to have been written to her by a U. S. senator. The secretary's escape from service was the result of a change in the itinerary of the presidential special, by which the train was transferred to the tracks of the Elk Horn division of the Chicago & N. W. at Freemont, Neb., and run to Missouri Valley, Ia., where connection was made with the main line. The change left Douglas county, Nebraska, and the sheriff with his summons about 30 miles off the route of the special. No announcement had been made of the altered plans until the special arrived in the yards at Freemont, Neb.

Porters on the presidential cars bewailed the fact that supplies for the train had been ordered sent to Omaha and that the new program would leave them with insufficient material to serve the party tomorrow. U. S. Senator Burkett and Edward Rosewater, publisher of the Omaha Bee, who boarded the train at Grand Island, Neb., to accompany the president to Omaha, were in a quandry as to reaching home but were cared for by Vice Pres. Mohler in his private car.

THE SHERIFF

SAYS HE WILL GIVE UP THE TASK.

OMAHA, Neb., May 10.—Sheriff Power of this county was on hand at the Union station last night in anticipation of the arrival of Pres. Roosevelt's train with the intention of serving on Sec. Loeb a summons in the Mae Wood suit, filed 10 days ago, against Mr. Loeb, Robert J. Wynne and J. Martin Miller, for $35,000 damages. The sheriff accepted the change of route as a plan to avoid him, and said he would not pursue the matter further at this time.

Miss Wood has made the statement that if Sec. Loeb avoided the summons she would transfer her suit to the federal court and secure summons by means of a U. S. marshal.

CANOBIE LAKE

GREAT ATTRACTIONS IN PREPARATION FOR THE SEASON.

A great many improvements are being made at Canobie Lake park in preparation for the summer season. President Belden and General Manager Franklin Woodman state that the New Hampshire Traction company will surpass all former efforts in adding new attractions, in furnishing high class entertainments at the theatre and in other ways making the park a magnet to draw forth the pleasure seekers from every direction. There will be a roller skating rink, a merry-go-round, a new steam launch, boxball alleys and the penny arcade will be enlarged to twice its present size.

The band stand in the dancing pavilion is to be changed to the side nearest the lake. The restaurants will be again under popular management of Graves & Ramsdell. The Park will open Sunday, May 28, with two free concerts by the famous Salem Cadet band, Jean Missud conductor. The dancing pavilion will open May 16 for private parties; May 29 for regular dancing. Carl Braun, of Collinsville, manager, same as last year; an orchestra of seven pieces will be in attendance. Altogether the patrons are promised rare attractions this summer at Canobie.

POLICE BOARD

AND THE GRANTING OF THEATRE LICENSES.

City Solicitor Hill has decided that the Board of Police still has the power to grant theatre licenses despite the new law recently passed by the legislature giving such power to mayors of cities. The solicitor is of the opinion that this law does not apply to Lowell.

Little Esther Mulgrave and Master Frederick Mulgrave danced at the Mary Chilton colony, M. O. P. F., of Lawrence, last week and proved great favorites.

TOOK REVENGE

Lowell Team Shut Out Nashua Yesterday Afternoon

Visitors Made Three Times as Many Hits as Home Team But Lowell's Great Fielding Saved the Day

Steve Flanagan's Nashua team flushed with their clever victory of Monday and proud of their new pitcher Sanderson, came to Spalding Park yesterday afternoon for another try at it.

The day was rather cold for the game with a heavy breeze blowing and the attendance considerably better than during any week day of last week.

Both teams practiced with considerable animation giving promise of a snappy game later.

One of the noticeable features of the Nashua lineup was that one-third of the team was Murphy, Henry Murphy pitching, Tommy Murphy playing second base while Johnny Murphy played third base. "Nixey" Coughlin was on the slab for the Lowell team.

Umpire McCloud called the game shortly after three o'clock.

FIRST INNING.

Neither team scored during the first inning, though Lowell had a very good chance to send a man or more over the plate. There were but five balls pitched over the plate before Nashua was retired. Beard hit in front of the plate and Anderberg had the ball in a second and had the batter tagged out. Eaton hit between second and short stop for a single. Connaughton flied out to Connors. Hart sent a grounder to Connors and was thrown out at first.

In Lowell's half Grant drew his base on balls and Billy Connors struck out. Grant then stole second base. Jackson hit to J. Murphy and was out at first, while Grant went down to third on the play. Bigbie hit to Johnnie Murphy and was the third man out.

Score—Lowell 0, Nashua 0.

SECOND INNING.

The visitors got as far as third in the second inning, but failed to score, while Lowell went out in one, two, three order. For Nashua, Henry hit to McLaughlin and was out at first. John Wiley, the long boy, made his first appearance on the local diamond in uniform this year and the rooters immediately got after him while a number of the old polo cranks also got in their good work. John opened with a hit beyond third base and then stole second. T. Murphy hit to McLaughlin who threw to third base to catch Wiley but J. Connors dropped the ball. J. Murphy hit to McLaughlin who threw home, and Wiley was caught between third base and the home plate. The other two men on base advanced a base on the play. H. Murphy closed Nashua's half by striking out.

For Lowell, J. Connors sent a grounder to J. Murphy and was out at first. Merritt and McLaughlin hit grounders to Connaughton and were out at first.

Score—Lowell 0, Nashua 0.

THIRD INNING.

Nashua went out in quick order in the third inning. Beard hit to McLaughlin and was out at first. Eaton hit over Coughlin's head, but "Nixey" made one of those high jumps and brought the ball down and sent it to first. Connaughton hit to Connors and was the third man out.

Lowell broke the ice in the third inning by sending a man over the plate. Anderburg, the first man up, hit a hot one to Henry Murphy who knocked it down, and threw to first, but Wiley dropped the ball and the runner was safe. Coughlin sacrificed sending Anderburg to second. Grant hit to Tom Murphy and was out at first, Anderburg going down to third. Connors hit a Texas leaguer to left field, scoring Anderburg. Jackson was the last man out on a fly to J. Murphy.

Score—Lowell 1, Nashua 0.

FOURTH INNING.

In the fourth inning Lowell showed up fine infielding and saved Nashua from scoring. Hart drew his base on balls and Henry sent a red hot grounder to McLaughlin who stopped it, stepped on second base and then threw to first for a double play. Wiley then flied out to Grant and Grant caught the ball but trying to throw home dropped the ball and the umpire called a fumble and declared Wiley safe. Grant ran in from the field to protest, but the umpire would not allow it to go, Wiley in the meantime going down to second. Tom Murphy hit to deep right field for a single and Wiley tried to come all the way home and was caught at the plate by Anderberg, who received a fine throw from the field made by Grant.

Bigbie hit to J. Murphy but the latter fumbled the ball. He was tagged out later however while trying to steal second. J. Connors hit to H. Murphy and was out at first. Merritt closed the inning by flying out to Beard.

Score—Lowell 1, Nashua 0.

FIFTH INNING.

In the fifth for Nashua J. Murphy flied out to Grant, Hugh Murphy then struck out, Beard and Eaton made singles. Connaughton closed the inning by hitting to deep right centre, but Grant after a long run made a fine catch.

McLaughlin opened with a base on balls. Anderberg sacrificed sending him to second. Coughlin hit to Tom Murphy and was out at first. Grant hit to Connaughton and was out at first.

Score—Lowell 1, Nashua 0.

SIXTH INNING.

Hart opened with a single to left field. He tried to steal second and Anderberg made a throw but it was rather wild. Barney McLaughlin was covering the base and jumping high into the air the little fellow brought the ball down and Hart was out. Henry hit to Coughlin and was out at first. Wiley hit to right centre for what looked to be a sure two bagger, but Grant had his sprinting shoes on and dug for the ball with the result that he landed it, retiring the side.

Lowell went out in quick order in the latter half of the sixth. Connors hit to Connaughton and was out at first. Jackson and Bigbie hit hot grounders to J. Murphy and were retired at first.

Score—Lowell 1, Nashua 0.

SEVENTH INNING.

The Murphys went out in one, two, three order in the seventh inning. Tom Murphy hit to Connors and was out at first. John Murphy flied out to Grant, the latter making a pretty running catch. Henry Murphy closed the inning by sending a fly to the infield which McLaughlin took care of.

In the latter half of the seventh J. Connors hit to Tom Murphy and was out at first. Merritt flied out to Beard. McLaughlin closed the inning by striking out.

During the entire game there was a noisy rooter from Nashua in the third base bleachers and he kept up his noisy harangue during the entire game but during the latter half of this inning he lost his balance and landed on the ground. It is unnecessary to state that he was not heard again during the game.

EIGHTH INNING.

In the eighth Beard opened up by striking out. Eaton then struck out. Connaughton almost knocked Billy Connors over for a single. Gene Hart followed with a hit to left field. Henry hit to deep right field and Jackson made a great catch jumping into the air for the ball.

Anderberg opened for Lowell by hitting to right centre for a two-bagger. Coughlin hit to Henry Murphy who threw to third to catch Anderberg but J. Murphy dropped the ball, which caused a great kick on the part of the Nashua rooters. Grant hit to left field for a single scoring Anderberg. Billy Connors popped a fly to Henry Murphy. Jackson drew his base on balls filling the basses. Bigbie flied out to Connaughton. J. Connors hit to Connaughton who fumbled and Coughlin scored. Grant started for the plate and was caught between the lines and was put out.

Score—Lowell 3, Nashua 0.

NINTH INNING.

Wiley fout flied to Merritt in the ninth. Tom Murphy got a single. J. Murphy flied out to Grant. Dorgan then went to bat for Henry Murphy. Dorgan hit to Connors who threw T. Murphy out at second.

DIAMOND NOTES.

Manchester here today and Concord on Saturday.

The wind took the flies to the right yesterday and Bigbie didn't have a chance in the left garden.

It looks as if Van Zant would return to Lynn. With Van Zant, Bannon and Cassidy playing together Manager Lake would certainly have a first-class outfield.

"I will use McGovern regularly from now on," said Captain Collins yesterday. Hooray for Terry! He is now a fixture with the team.

Phelan, Nashua's outfielder and pitcher, has been released. He has been batting at .371 in the games played. He is a south paw and also has a record for sprinting.

The Lowell newspaper men who went to Lynn to write up the opening there devote more time to the good looks of the Lynn girls than to any other feature of the contest.—Concord Monitor.

It is quite evident that the Monitor man was over in Lynn with his hat off.

There are many fans who believe that the Boston Americans have made a mistake in releasing Lachance, even if Grimshaw is batting well. Lachance was one of the best fielding first basemen in the business and saved many an error for the other infielders.

The Boston champions left for Detroit this afternoon at 2. The party consisted of Treasurer Carl M. Green, Manager Collins and 15 players—Criger and McGovern, catchers; Young, Dineen, Tannehill, Winter and Gibson, pitchers; the regular in and outfielders, with Selbach and Unglaub for good measure. This leaves Duke Farrell, George Lachance and Tom Doran to practice at home.

When a man plays as fine a game as did George Grant yesterday it was mean to charge him with an error that he didn't make. Grant made a pretty running catch in the fourth inning but as he was about to throw the ball back to the infield it slipped from his hand. Wiley, who batted the ball, ran to second upon seeing it drop and McCloud allowed him to remain there, claiming that Grant had muffed the ball.

"Tim" Buckley, the biggest man in Nashua, was at the game yesterday rooting for the visitors. After the game he visited some of his brother Eagles. "Tim" is over six feet tall, seven years old and 300 pounds in weight and he wears a smile that won't come off. When he lets himself down on the bleachers everybody else on the same board gets a jolt that rattles his slats.

At the conclusion of yesterday's game at the Huntington-avenue grounds, George Lachance was given his 10 days' notice of release.

President Taylor had secured a good position for the big first baseman with the Indianapolis team, but George refused to take it, as he thinks he can do much abetter here in the east. The salary offered by Indianapolis was about the same as he has been paid by Boston.

President Taylor makes the release unconditional as a favor to Lachance, so that now he may make the best terms possible with whomsoever he chooses.

DISAPPOINTED

ELWIN MILLER HOME FROM PORTO RICO.

Mr. Elwin Miller of Centralville has returned home from Porto Rico after two years' experience at San Juan. He says Porto Rico was a big disappointment to him. The natives have a deep rooted feeling against Americans and will not work for them or trade with them.

BLOOD POISON is the worst disease on earth, yet the easiest to cure WHEN YOU KNOW WHAT TO DO. Many have pimples, spots on the skin, sores in the mouth, ulcers, falling hair, bone pains, catarrh, and don't know it is BLOOD POISON. Send to Dr. Brown, 936 Arch st., Philadelphia, Penn., for BROWN'S BLOOD CURE, $2.00 per bottle; lasts one month. Sold in Lowell only by F. C. Goodale, 217 Central st.

YOUNG CORBETT

Will Meet Eddie Hanlon in June

SAN FRANCISCO, May 10. The June match for a professional boxing exhibition was explained yesterday by Alex Greggains for the San Francisco A. C. He removes all obstacles to the Eddie Hanlon-Young Corbett match.

Corbett and Hanlon will both start training at once. Corbett has been out at Stockton's for about a week. Hanlon, who will trade at Cyril's gardens in Alameda, went into camp yesterday.

Eddie is somewhat heavy, but he has low to take off than Corbett.

Hanlon has Frank McDermid as a sparring partner. It was McDonald who trained Corbett for his match with "Harding" Nelson. Tim McGrath will train Corbett.

JACK JOHNSON

COULD NOT PUT JOE JEANNETTE AWAY.

PHILADELPHIA, May 10. In his eagerness to find opponents, Jack Johnson, the negro heavyweight champion, last night met two men in the ring at the Knickerbocker A. C. and scored one knockout. His victim was Walter Johnson, also a negro, who was put away in the third round of the second bout by a right-hand swing.

Jack's other opponent was Joe Jeannette, still another negro of New York, who put up a splendid battle with the champion, and deserved a draw.

The agreement was that Jack Johnson was to meet each man for three rounds, and a big crowd turned out to see the novel performance.

Jeannette kept Jack busy. He was very aggressive, and gave Johnson a stiff argument, although after every blow Jeannette landed Jack woke up and rushed. Jeannette was knocked down once in the second and once in the third round.

In the former he landed a right-hand swing to Johnson's face, and in the last round he caught Johnson on the right swing. He was generously applauded at the finish of the first three rounds.

After a minute's rest Walter Johnson faced Jack. Walter was also disposed to be aggressive, and he made a good showing in the first round. In the second Jack drew blood from Walter's mouth.

As soon as the third round opened Jack rushed. Walter tried to get away, but Jack sprang forward. With a left lab on the mouth, Jack partly straightened Walter up, and then shot his right against his opponent's jaw, and it was all over.

THE GRENADIERS

GAVE A HAYRIDE PARTY LAST NIGHT.

The Grenadiers' Social club gave a hayride party last evening to Willow Dale. A large barge drawn by four horses left the post office at 7.45 o'clock and arrived at the Dale at 9.15. Impromptu speeches and popular songs were the order of entertainment until the party arrived at the lake. Whist and general dancing were indulged in until 11.30, when the party sat down to a beautiful repast prepared by Bowers brothers. The start back to Lowell was made at 12.30. Mr. Frank Wotton had general charge of the affair, and its success was largely due to the cooperation of Miss Josie Denis and Miss Maude Plumstead, while Mr. John Hume of Kittredge's singing orchestra ably presided at the piano. The party was chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. Stephen H. Wotton.

WIFE'S DEATH

PREYED UPON MIND OF LOUIS GIRARD.

BOSTON, May 10.—His mind said to be unbalanced through grief over the pathetic death of his wife, who expired a week ago in his arms, while riding in a carriage after she had been denied admission to the home for intemperate women, Louis F. Girard of Foster street, Brighton, was yesterday taken to a private sanataorium for treatment.

Mr. Girard, who is a member of the firm of Whittemore & Girard, caterers, of Massachusetts avenue, had planned to have his wife treated for a complication of diseases, and a time was set for Mrs. Girard to be taken to the home. There being but one room vacant there and the Girards not having arrived until several hours after the time set for the wife's reception, the room was given to some one else, and the carriage which conveyed the stricken woman from her home returned with her to Brighton.

Mr. Girard, thinking his wife had been seized with another of the sinking spells from which she had frequently rallied, took her in his arms on the homeward journey, and when the carriage drew up at the Foster street residence she was dead.

Mr. Girard took his loss terribly to heart. He had been in ill health before the shock occasioned by his wife's death, and consequently friends of the family were not surprised last evening when it was learned that the man had been escorted by two Brighton policemen, to an alienist and pronounced somewhat unbalanced.

TRUSTEES MET

And Discussed the Financial Condition

OF LOWELL GENERAL HOSPITAL

Greater Efforts Needed to Keep Out of Debt

The trustees of the Lowell General hospital held their annual meeting yesterday afternoon and transacted very important business. The report of the executive and house committees showed that the hospital had been managed in a business like manner during the year, for upon a thorough investigation the committee found that the hospital had been run within the appropriation.

When Mr. Frederick Fanning Ayer gave an endowment of $100,000 to the hospital it was with the condition that the hospital should come through each year entirely free from debt. This brings to a close the second year after the receipt of this endowment, and with the result noted above.

The endowment fund is now $153,120, bringing in a little over $5000 per year.

But the committee called particular attention to the fact that it would be impossible to conduct the hospital another year with the same income it had this year. While it is to be presumed that enlarged accommodations will increase the income, yet to what extent this increase will be is an uncertain problem.

The committee also called attention to the fact that the question of charity work would soon be a most difficult one to answer, now that the hospital accommodations were to be so greatly enlarged. "Indeed," said the committee, "the amount of charity work which we may do another year will depend almost entirely upon our ability to meet the expense due to same."

Attention was called to the splendid work which has been done by the Young Women's Guild in supplying funds with which the maternity department is completely furnished. The Ladies Aid has also done most efficient work, looking after the mending, furnishing new bedding, appropriating money for the nurses' library, etc.

The new building will be ready for occupancy in two or three weeks. When fully completed, and when everything is in first class shape, the trustees announce that there will be an opening day. The Ladies' Aid, the Young Women's Guild, the trustees and the medical profession will all unite in order to make this day a memorable one in the history of Lowell.

WEDS DOCTOR

GOV. RUSSELL'S WIDOW MARRIED IN APPLETON CHAPEL.

BOSTON, May 10.—Mrs. Margaret Manning Russell, widow of Gov. William Eustis Russell, was married to Dr. Michael George Foster of London, Eng., yesterday at 4 p. m., in Appleton chapel, Cambridge.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. George Hodges, D. D., dean of the Episcopal theological school, assisted by the Rev. Francis G. Peabody.

The bride, who was gowned in gray peau de cygne, was unattended, as was also the groom. The invitations to the wedding were confined to immediate relatives and a few close friends.

On Mrs. Russell's arrival at the church she was met by her elder son, William E. Russell, who escorted her into the church.

Miss Margaret Russell, the daughter, attended the ceremony, accompanied by four young girls, while the younger son, Richard, was accompanied by three playmates.

PIANO RECITAL.

A piano recital by the pupils of Mrs. Mark Pease, assisted by Mr. Pease, violinist, was given at 159 Smith street, last night, the following entertaining program being carried out:

SHOE SITE FUND

May be Complete by Saturday Night

The Mawhinney shoe fund is increasing day by day, and before the end of the week it is probable that the necessary amount will be raised. The fund jumped over $200 yesterday alone.

The following letter was received this morning at The Sun office from his honor the mayor:

Mayor's Office, City of Lowell,
May 9, 1905.

Mr. John H. Harrington, Lowell, Mass.

Dear Sir:—

Please accept my thanks for the contribution of $100 to the fund for the purchase of a site for the Mawhinney Shoe Co., and for the letter accompanying the same.

Your offer, to be one of a number to contribute the remainder if necessary, is a generous one and is appreciated by me. Sincerely yours,

JAMES H. CASEY, Mayor.

THE SUN'S PLATFORM

FOR THE GOOD OF LOWELL

1. ADOPT a new charter giving the mayor full power to appoint and remove at will, the heads of all city departments and members of all boards or commissions.

2. ABOLISH the common council and provide for a single legislative board of 27 aldermen, three from each ward.

3. CREATE public boards to have charge of streets, buildings, police, fire, pauper and water departments.

4. ANNEX portions of Dracut and Tewksbury, including the "Navy Yard" and the Andover road as far as the Hood farm.

5. ABOLISH the Merrimack street station and the grade crossings at Market, Thorndike and Middlesex streets and extend the northern station to Thorndike street.

6. BUILD a public hall and market on the White lot in Merrimack Square.

There should be no further delay in building that shoe factory. Push it along.

The real estate business is looking brighter but everybody knows the one great obstacle to be overcome.

Tewksbury and Dracut are greatly in need of a water service. To secure the best in the state they should seek annexation to Lowell.

There are numerous manufacturing sites still available in Lowell, many of which can be had free of charge by a desirable concern. We want a diversity of industries no matter who may be desirous of holding us dependent upon one industry.

Several brewing companies of this state have been convicted of using salicylic acid to preserve ale and beer. Their product is usually deleterious enough without adding poisonous ingredients. It is well that there is an unpurchasable authority in this state to protect the public against this dangerous form of imposition.

France at last consents to yield to the demands of Japan to the extent of preventing the two Russian squadrons from meeting in French waters. Japan herself has been the greatest violator of neutrality in this war. She has been using the Chinese as marauders at every point along the frontier except where there was heavy firing.

President Roosevelt has stopped shooting bears and has gone gunning for the railroads. He will have to look into those charges of corruption preferred by Minister Bowen of Venezuela against his predecessor, Mr. Loomis, now assistant secretary of state. But the president may hesitate to take any step in which he might tread upon the toes of John Hay.

CHAIRMAN TALBOT'S EXPLANATION.

Chairman Talbot of the republican state committee after a tour of the western part of the state reports that the republicans there had no intention of defeating Governor Bates when they voted for Governor Douglas. Well, if they had any intention of defeating Douglas surely they would not have voted for him. Chairman Talbot's explanation of Bates' defeat will not go down. He must offer some explanatory pill more easily swallowed.

THE REDISTRICTING FIASCO.

Is the city redistricted or not? We say it is not, but the legal adviser of the city says it is. Nobody, however, seems to know or care anything about the new ward lines inasmuch as the humblest candidate for councilmanic honors can quote legal decisions to show that the old ward lines are still undisturbed.

THE TAX INVESTIGATION.

The general public expects one beneficial result if no more from the investigation of tax abatements. That result will be a better system of collecting taxes both poll and personal than we have had in the past. There should be some provision in the ordinances making it compulsory upon the tax collector to see that nobody who is able to pay be allowed to escape. It seems that grafters have taken advantage of the discretion allowed the assessors to abate the poll taxes of those who cannot pay. It is difficult to believe that the officials whose duty it was to collect the taxes could be convinced that men holding public office, men apparently in good financial standing had any right to be exempted from paying their poll taxes. There has been evasion on the part of the persons assessed and connivance on the part of somebody connected with the work of collection. Greater obstacles must be placed in the way of tax evasion. If a man cannot pay his poll or personal tax the least he might be expected to do would be to go and make a personal statement to that effect and receive a certificate of abatement.

FURNISHING CITY WATER TO OUTSIDE TOWNS.

The city of Lowell cannot supply the suburban towns with city water, even if the legislature did grant the permission. That is why The Sun has opposed such petitions in the past. If these towns want to secure our splendid city water let them get annexed. That is the best means of getting our pure city water out to Chelmsford, to Dracut, to Tewksbury.

Were these towns supplied with city water they would be less likely to seek the advantages of our city government through annexation.

In regard to the petition at present before the legislature to extend the city water to Atherton for the benefit of the Arlington mills, there is strong argument in favor of granting the accommodation; first, because it will bring a prosperous industry to our borders, and second because that industry or rather the little village in which it is located will eventually be annexed to Lowell. Hence it is not at all unreasonable that an exception should be made in this case provided the Arlington company is to be located there permanently. If so then Atherton may be regarded as a part of Lowell for its annexation in the near future may be regarded as a certainty.

BILL AMENDED

Lowell May Have Free Employment Offices

RAILWAY MERGER BILL AGAIN

Several Amendments to Gas Act

BOSTON, May 10.—The senate yesterday settled the controversy as to sending a delegation to the Lewis and Clark exposition at Oregon. Senator Munroe of Worcester offered a resolve for a delegation of 13, to consist of the orator, in lieu of the governor or lieutenant governor, president of the senate, speaker of the house, two members of the executive council and the secretary of the board of managers for Massachusetts. It provided an appropriation of $2500. The resolve was ordered to a third reading by a vote of 17 to 16.

The railway merger bill came over from the house. A motion to suspend the rules in order that the senate might act without delay on the Walker amendment was opposed by Senator Taylor of Suffolk. The bill, therefore, went over until today.

A message was received from Governor Douglas relative to the ceding by Massachusetts to the national government, for purposes of national defence, two tracts of land in Hull—Telegraph or Nantasket hill, and Cushing hill—to complete the fort Revere reservation.

The bill for free employment offices in Boston, Springfield, Worcester and Fall River, which on Monday was ordered to a third reading, was rejected, 12 to 13, on a roll call, after amendments had been adopted to include Lawrence and Lowell. Senator Leahy of Suffolk moved a reconsideration, which will come up today.

The Boston smoke nuisance bill was ordered to a third reading, 15 to 4, after the adoption of an amendment offered by Senator Bullock, exempting from the provisions of the bill locomotive engines and plants furnishing power for public service corporations and plants burning wood exclusively.

Senator Peters of Suffolk gave notice that today he would move to substitute for the eminent domain bill, the Gaston-Shaw bill for the incorporation of the Boston & Providence street railway.

The same senator offered the new draft of his boiler inspection bill. As offered on Monday this bill, after providing for external and internal inspection by insurance companies of boilers insured by them and a report to the district police thereon, contained a section giving the district police power to make regulations "as to use of boilers of lap-seam type." In order that the new bill may get by the committee of rules, this section had to be omitted. It does not appear, therefore, in the new draft offered yesterday.

GAS BILL

SEVERAL AMENDMENTS WILL COME UP TODAY.

BOSTON, May 10.—In the house yesterday several amendments were offered to the Boston gas consolidation act, all but one of which came from the committee on bills in the third reading, these being of a perfecting nature.

Representative Cole of Andover offered an amendment, which he stated would meet the suggestion of Gas Commissioner Schaff, to make it plain that the debts should be paid by the new company and not stand as a fixed charge against the gas consumers. It was to add after the word "corporation," in section 1, line 22, the following: "Except that any indebtedness of any of the corporations mentioned in section 1 to another of said corporations shall be canceled when such indebtedness shall have been acquired by the Boston Consolidated Gas company."

On motion of Mr. Collins of Boston the amendments were ordered printed, and the bill went over.

When the ways and means committee's report of no legislation necessary on the governor's message relative to the condition of the state's finances, and recommending legislation to provide for the taxation of inheritances was reached, Mr. Ward of Buckland moved to amend by the substitution of a bill. The matter was then postponed till today.

On the question of passing to engrossment the bill relative to the abolition of grade crossings, the committee on third reading reported certain amendments.

Mr. Schofield of Ipswitch opposed the bill, saying that he doubted the justice of giving the commission this option, deeming it just that the owner of the land should have the decision as to the taking of the land. Mr. Davis of Plymouth said the bill followed the line of the present law, and that there must be some uniformity of action.

The amended bill was then passed to be engrossed.

STABLE BOY

HAS BROUGHT SUIT AGAINST BELMONT.

NEW YORK, May 10.—August Belmont, president of the Jockey club, has been sued for $10,000 damages by John Harold Frelt, a stable and exercise boy who was formerly apprenticed to him. The suit complaint alleges that Mr. Belmont wrongfully deprived the boy of employment by causing him to be blacklisted by the stewards of the Jockey club. Justice Blachoff yesterday appointed David W. Rockmore guardian ad litem for the plaintiff, who is 17 years old.

According to the boy's attorney, Joseph Marx, his mother, Mrs. Thora Frelt of 31 Fulton avenue, Jersey City, bound him over as apprentice to Mr. Belmont on May 10, 1900, the articles providing that the boy should get his board and clothes the first two years, $10 a month the third and $15 a month the next two years. Mr. Belmont reserved the right to dispense with the boy's services at any time, and in October, 1903, according to the attorney, exercised this right in a letter of dismissal sent to the boy's mother, Mr. Belmont stating as a reason that he was giving up his entire stable. John Harold then went to work as exercise boy for Trainer McCormick.

Not long after that, according to the attorney, Mr. Belmont wrote two or three letters to Mrs. Frelt, asking that the boy return to his employ, and when these letters failed, wrote another on Sept. 6, 1904, in which he threatened to have the boy posted in the Racing calendar as having left his employ without cause. Nine days later this notice appeared in that publication:

"Exercise Boy John Frelt, having left the employ of August Belmont without consent or a written discharge, owners and trainers are hereby warned not to harbor nor employ him, and attention is called to Rule No. 132 of the Rules of Racing, which will be strictly enforced."

Thereafter the boy was unable to secure employment either with Trainer McCormick or other trainers to whom he applied. He went to St. Louis and New Orleans after the close of the racing season in the east, only to encounter the same bar.

At Mr. Belmont's offices yesterday it was stated that there was evidently a misunderstanding about the matter and that the boy had violated his contract.

LOSS $600

HAVERHILL HOUSE WAS FIRED BY THE SUN.

HAVERHILL, May 10.—The laws of physics were exemplified yesterday afternoon by a fire at a double house on 5th avenue, owned by Moses S. Brown, which was caused by the refracted rays of the sun.

The house is occupied by the owner and Charles E. Cate, the fire occurring in the lower half, occupied by Mr. Cate. One of his children had a large glass globe filled with water, in which he kept fish. The globe was left on the rear steps and the rays of the sun were refracted toward the side of the house, a large hole being burned through the clapboards. The flame, after burning through the clapboards, spread upward in the partitions and the fire was burning briskly when discovered. There was no one at home in the lower side of the house when the fire broke out, the glass globe having been left out on the steps early in the afternoon.

The fire was first discovered by a man who was passing, and when the fire apparatus arrived the flames had spread upward behind the partitions to the roof. The rear portion of the house was gutted by the flames and the roof was partially damaged. The total loss to the building and contents was $600.

MOTH BILL

HAS BEEN SIGNED BY GOVERNOR DOUGLAS.

BOSTON, May 10.—Gov. Douglas has signed the gypsy moth bill.

The next step is the appointment by the governor of a superintendent to take charge of the work of suppression.

The bill provides a state appropriation of $30,000 to be spread over three years, $75,000 for this year, $150,000 for 1906 and $75,000 for 1907.

A BENCHER

UNUSUAL HONOR SHOWN TO AMBASSADOR CHOATE.

LONDON, May 10.—Ambassador Choate, formally was called to the bench of the Middle Temple last night. The ceremony was strictly private, not even members of other inns of court being present. The function took the form of an ordinary dinner in the old dining hall which Queen Elizabeth opened 1570 and in which, before Queen Elizabeth, Shakespeare acted "As You Like It." Several rules were suspended last night in honor of the American ambassador. The members fully robed, took up places about bare oaken tables, and the benchers filed in, Mr. Choate leading the parade though the newest member is usually last. The benchers passed down the centre of the assembly to a raised table. The usual simple meal was served. The benchers afterward retired to the parliament chamber for dessert, Mr. Choate this time walking last. As he passed the members' tables, the assembly cheered continuously, many old lawyers, in their enthusiasm jumping on top of the wooden tables. At the door Mr. Choate turned and faced the assembly and said they knew it was not the custom for a bencher to speak and therefore he would not. Nevertheless he spoke for ten minutes, expressing appreciation of his reception and the honor of having his name entombed among the names of the great men of the Middle Temple.

Spring Suits and the Present Cost of Woolens

Probably most men will first realize the enormous advance in the price of wool fabrics when they find the suits for which they paid their usual price not giving the usual wear.

A manufacturer always stands such advances as long as he can, but after legitimate profit has been cut to a certain point, either quality must be lowered, or retail price raised.

As raising of prices is sure of detection; and pretty sure to displease customers who do not understand the pressure on the maker, the alternate usually chosen is substitution of inferior quality.

In clothing this means the introduction of part cotton fabrics and the use of poorly-made cloths.

The materials for our own Spring suits were purchased before the present balloon ascension reached a critical point; and as a result prices are unchanged while the suits have the fine wearing qualities which always characterize our goods.

If the price of wool continues up, we may be forced to make a slight advance in prices another season, for we cannot lower the standard our friends have learned to expect.

But this season at least you profit by our early and large purchases.

LARCENY CHARGE

Equitable Claims It Was Swindled

WILLIAM DALY IS UNDER ARREST

Policy Used After It Was Stolen

NEW YORK, May 10.—Word was received here yesterday of the arrest in Stroudsburg, Penn., of William Daly, who is charged with the larceny of $27,000 from the Equitable Life Assurance society in this city by the use of a forged signature of a holder of a $50,000 policy and by conspiracy with an employe of the Equitable society.

Daly's name is said by detectives to be Samuel Lobley, but he is alleged to have operated under the aliases of Edwards, Robert C. Henderson and Fr. Smith.

In a statement issued by officials of the Equitable yesterday it was explained that William C. Cotton of Brookline, Mass., is the owner of a $50,000 policy in the Equitable society. In March, 1904, he borrowed $27,000 on it, depositing it with the society as a security for the loan.

A few months later, the officials say, the policy was stolen from the vaults of the society by a trusted employe working in conjunction with Lobley, the books of the society containing a record of the previous loan were altered and Cotton's name was forged to an application for another loan of $27,000. The second loan was made, it is declared, to Lobley.

Last January, the officials say, the operation was repeated in part and a third loan would have been made if the paying teller of a bank had not held up the Equitable society's check, suspecting that something was wrong and insisting upon identification.

Lobley, alleged to have been the holder of the check, disappeared. He was found by detectives living in a small hotel at Sprague ville, Penn., near Stroudsburg.

The name of his alleged confederate in the employ of the Equitable society has not been made public. Detectives will go to Pennsylvania after Lobley as soon as extradition papers are prepared.

SAWDUST AND MILK.

Collier's for April 29 quotes a professor at the Tuskegee agricultural experiment station as saying: "I have here seven samples of bran. To most of you they look alike. The price paid for each was probably about $22 a ton, and yet one sample is nearly half sawdust. If you want sawdust with your bran we can give it you at much less than $22 a ton. You wonder why your cattle are not satisfied with the food, why they fail to yield the milk and butter which you have a right to expect. Here is the reason." Another sample, according to Collier's, "contained a large proportion of ground corncob. As corncob and sawdust happen to be less nourishing than bran to an ordinary cow, this device for making profit may turn the scale against a farmer just enough to deprive him of his living. Some people object to the crusade now being worked up against adulterated food, on two grounds. It often happens, they say, that adulterants are as wholesome as the originals whose understudies they become. If so, nothing is perpetrated worse than fraud. Often, however, sawdust is fed to cattle, women, or men, proving uncongenial. Again these objectors allege that all the talk about adulteration gives them indigestion, takes away their appetites, and has a bad effect on business. A bad effect on certain lines of business is what is wanted. The injury to appetite and peace of mind is a condition precedent to improvement. When we worry enough to introduce the apparently rare feature known as common honesty into the business of selling food, we can go back to tranquil meals, and for most stomachs it will probably be better, in the end, to be peaceful over food than peaceful over poison."

FLEUR DE LIS CLUB.

The first reunion of the season under the auspices of the Fleur de Lis club will be held at the club house at Long Pond on next Sunday, and the event will be marked by a flag raising. A fine new American flag has recently been purchased for the club house and the dedication of the new banner will take place on Sunday. Following the flag raising a dinner and general good time will be enjoyed.

STATE OF SIEGE

Has Been Proclaimed at Melitopol

ST. PETERSBURG, May 10.—The social democrats are straining every effort to make the proposed demonstrations on the Russian May day a success. They have succeeded in interesting the workmen of several St. Petersburg factories and yesterday at the committee's invitation, a meeting of workmen was held in the people's park on Petrofficky island, at which, after affirming their peaceful intent, it was decided to participate in the parades. There are indications, however, that attempts to create disorder may be more successful in other cities than in St. Petersburg, where the working people learned by the harsh experience of January 22 that force will be unsparingly used to maintain order.

The continuing disorders in other parts of the empire have created apprehension in administration circles. A state of siege has been proclaimed at Melitopol, in the south of Russia, and in the governments of Grodno and Vilna, on the Polish frontiers.

THE CUNARD LINE

Breaks Up the Steamship Combine

LONDON, May 10.—The withdrawal of the Cunard line from the agreement of the combine of steamship lines announced by Lord Inverclyde, chairman of the Cunard company, April 30, was followed today by an official announcement from the White Star, Dominion and American lines combine that these lines had given notice of their withdrawal from the North Atlantic passenger conference first and second class rate agreements and third class British and Scandinavian and continental agreements. The announcement explains that this action was taken in view of the withdrawal of the Cunard line from all passenger rate agreements recently arranged on account of the refusal of the American government to consent to the American line changing its mail service sailing day. It was felt necessary that the other lines should be equally free from all agreements so as to be enabled to protect themselves against any action the Cunard line may see fit to take which may be considered impartial to their interests.

BROKER FAILURE

No Motion Made to Remove Receiver

BOSTON, May 10.—No application for the cancellation of the receivership of the Haight & Freese Co., the brokerage concern, was made at the opening today of the U. S. circuit court. Such a procedure was looked for today on account of the announcement yesterday by Wm. H. Lillis, one of the principal officials of the company that the court would be asked to nullify its act of naming a receiver. The two offices of the company in this city were conducted under the supervision of Receiver James D. Colt today and all business was transacted either directly with him or his agents.

In connection with the receivership two intervening petitions were filed at the circuit court during the day by creditors asking that they may be made party plaintiffs in the case. The petitioners were John P. Moore of Lynn [illegible] who [illegible] a claim for $1032 [illegible] Hunt [illegible] Sythen of Boston who [illegible] company owes him $.310. Judge Lowell will give a hearing later upon these matters.

Jel Clark, counsel for the Haight & Freese company refused this forenoon to make any statement as to what policy would be pursued by the concern.

At the main office in Boston of the company about 50 employees have lost their positions as a result of the receivership. It is likely, however, that some of these will be needed later to assist the receiver in arranging the firm's affairs.

TO FIGHT TROOPS

Social Democrats Have Secured Bombs

ST. PETERSBURG, May 10.—The social democrats declare that their program includes demonstrations throughout Russia on Sunday and that they are provided with bombs and dynamite with which to fight the troops if the latter interfere. The authorities say the disorders will be comparatively insignificant and that they will easily be suppressed.

The red headed liberals are counselling the workmen against useless bloodshed.

SOME PAID

CUSTOMERS CLOSED ACCOUNTS WITH HAIGHT & FREESE.

PHILADELPHIA, May 10. — The brokerage establishment of the Haight & Freese Co., whose offices were closed yesterday in Boston and New York by the appointment of receivers opened their local offices today two hours earlier than usual. Several patrons gathered about the cashier's desk and ordered their accounts closed. The company at once began paying their customers but at 9 o'clock word was received from New York to stop until litigation had been settled.

TORPEDOES

WILL BE USED IN DESTRUCTION OF WRECKS.

NEWPORT, R. I., May 10—The U. S. government has issued orders to Capt. Adolph Marix of the cruiser Minneapolis to proceed to the waters about Gay Head and to other sections of the New England coast and destroy a number of dangerous derelicts which have been reported by the life-savers and captains of vessels from time to time. The Minneapolis came here today and received a wrecking outfit, including a large number of gun cotton torpedoes which are to be used in the destruction of the wrecks. The Minneapolis will begin the work immediately.

C. Y. M. L. BANQUET.

The C. Y. M. L. of St. Patrick's church tendered a banquet at the Merrimack house last night to the young ladies who assisted at the recent bazaar. The committee in charge consisted of Timothy F. Roban, James Callahan and James O'Rourke.

FAVOR CONSTITUTIONAL REGIME

MOSCOW, May 10.—The congress of Veterans in session here today adhered to the program of the Liberal professions for a constitutional regime. The delegates also adopted a resolution in favor of ending the war and providing for the free education of the youth of Russia.

MANY WERE KILLED

Revolutionists Clash With Armenian Troops

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 10.—The ambassadors of six of the powers today presented to the porte a collective note approving the financial scheme for administering the three Macedonian Vilayets, Salonika, Monastir and Uskub, conditional on Turkey agreeing to the appointment of four financial representatives of the powers who with the Austro-Russian civil agents will constitute a commission to deal with the provincial budget.

Troubles are recommencing in Armenia. Advices from Sivas say there have been encounters between revolutionists and Turkish troops in the neighborhood of Mush during which a number of men were killed or wounded.

In addition to the Armenian bands already reported to have crossed the Persian frontier other bands are said to be preparing to invade Ottoman territory.

UNDERGROUND

TELEPHONE COMPANIES BEGIN PLACING IN WIRES.

The New England Telephone and Telegraph company commenced this morning to lay their wires underground. The start was made on Foster street, after Inspector McElholm had made an inspection of the conduits. This job will take all summer, and will give employment to hundreds of men.

INVITATIONS OUT

For 250th Anniversary of Chelmsford

The Chelmsford anniversary committee has recently sent out a formal invitation to attend the 250th anniversary exercises to about 1000 former residents of the town and their descendants.

The list included 400 cities and towns and 39 states. The invitation reads as follows:

"The committee in charge of the Two Hundred and Fiftieth Anniversary of the incorporation of the Town of Chelmsford sends greeting to all former residents of the town and to all persons interested in its history and welfare, and requests their presence at the celebration of the anniversary at Chelmsford Centre, May 28th, 29th, 30th and 31st.

"The enclosed program will give in detail the events connected with the celebration. It is expected that His Excellency the Governor of the Commonwealth and many other distinguished guests, as well as many former residents of the town, will be present and speak at the banquet, Wednesday, May 31st.

"All persons who may wish accommodation in the town, either board or lodgings, can secure the same by addressing Mr. J. E. Warren, Chelmsford, Mass., chairman of the committee on hospitality. Persons desiring tickets for the banquet can secure the same by addressing the chairman of the general committee on or before May 25th.

"It is the hope of the committee that this occasion will bring together many of the sons and daughters of the 'Good Old Town of Chelmsford,' and also all others who may be connected with it by any ties of relationship or interest. The committee has endeavored to make the celebration an occasion of interest to all, and, at the same time, one which shall do honor to the town and be a source of pleasure to all who honor the town by their presence. We hope you will endeavor to be present some part of the time, if not all, and help to make the occasion one of pleasant memories. We can assure you of a hearty welcome home."

The work of preparing for the celebration has met with hearty co-operation from the citizens of the town, and for their assistance the committee desires to express its sincere appreciation.

Patrick Waird, the well known resident and tea merchant of North Chelmsford, is recovering after a long and severe sickness.

Mrs. J. N. Marshall has returned to Lowell and is stopping with her son, W. J. Marshall at 554 Fletcher street.

INDOOR PICNIC

Novel Entertainment at Eliot Church

A delightful basket picnic was held at the Eliot church last evening with a novel entertainment and decorations as a feature. The occasion marked the entrance into office of the new social committee of the young people's society. The affair was an indoor picnic with all the distinguishing features of that delightful form of entertainment. The posts were turned into trees and bore signs warning people not to hitch horses to them and the vestry abounded in humorous signs. There were swings, teeter boards, races. Thomas Varnum and Frank Hall ran a lunch counter and did a thriving business.

The races were under the direction of a committee consisting of Miss Edith Cockerille, Roland Black and Joseph Brogden. The races were very funny, the character of the contests being mirth promoting. The races included the doughnut and peanut races, human wheelbarrow race for boys, real wheelbarrow race for girls, a needle threading contest, a wool sewing contest for girls and a hat trimming contest for boys. Then there were spoon and shoe races and a rope skipping contest.

The attendance at the social was large, and the basket lunch enjoyed soon after 8 o'clock made the hallucination complete, and not one of those present doubted that they were at the summer outdoor picnic.

The social committee consists of Charles Nichols, chairman; Miss Leslie Barnes, Joseph Brogden, Miss Esther Greene, Roland Black, Thomas Varnum, Miss Nellie Snow, Miss Edith Cockerille, William Greig.

AN EARTHQUAKE

Fifty Persons Buried by Landslide

BOMBAY, May 10.—An earthquake was experienced at Bender Abbas, Persia, April 25, and 50 persons are reported to have been buried by a landslide. Two hundred yards of the mountain Kuhgando, behind the town, collapsed. In the town a number of towers and buildings fell and there were a few casualties.

SECRETARY TAFT

Says Rate Legislation Must Come

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 10.—Secretary Taft fairly took the breath of the 300 members of the International Railway congress, dining last night at the New Willard hotel, when he emphatically declared that rate legislation must come, so that if the railway men of the country were who they would aid and not hinder it; that the sentiment of the country is such that failure of proper regulation meant a campaign on the subject that would do no good to the railroads.

Absolute silence reigned as Secretary Taft spoke his mind on the subject of rates. He was positively against government ownership, he said, believing that nothing so deleterious could come to the country as this solution of the question.

"But," he continued, "you cannot run railroads as you run a private business. You must respond to the public demand. If there is danger of discrimination, then you must allow the establishment of some tribunal that will remedy that discrimination."

The secretary saw no reason why a tribunal, properly constituted, should not be competent in every sense of the word to fix a maximum rate.

President Stuyvesant Fish of the American Railway association had introduced Secretary Taft. In his capacity as toastmaster, Mr. Fish was on his feet the instant the secretary concluded. He answered the secretary at length, taking the view that the law to prevent discrimination, double-dealing and secret rebates was ample, and he vigorously called for the enforcement of that law. Mr. Fish talked of the vested rights of the money tied up in railways. He apologized for allowing himself to be diverted, and as he sat down Secretary Taft, who sat next him, queried in a low tone: "May I have 15 minutes to reply?"

This time was given, and the secretary utilized it in making himself even more positive as to his position in favor of legislation which would create a tribunal with authority to name a maximum rate.

SUES UNCLE

GIRL HAS ASKED FOR DAMAGES OF $300,000.

CLEVELAND, O., May 10.—Unable to procure service in criminal proceedings charging assault, Miss Hazel F. Lawrence, niece of M. Q. Lawrence, publisher of the Ohio Farmer and a millionaire, yesterday filed suit for damages in $300,000. Miss Lawrence is 18 years of age and has been prominent in society. Her baby daughter is six weeks old.

BALFOUR WON OUT

Government Sustained on Irish Policy

LONDON, May 10.—The government was sustained by a vote of 335 to 252 on Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman's resolution of censure on Balfour's Irish policy yesterday afternoon after a long debate in which the mover said that the government had attempted a policy of impartial Irish administration on the lines of the Wyndham-MacDonnell letters, but had fled from it at the dictates of a small party of Irish unionists.

After criticism of the government's policy Sir Henry concluded with remarking that as to the future Irish policy, mutterings of coercion were heard.

If that proved to be the case Englishmen would learn that the real separationists were the Unionists who first ravished Ireland and then abandoned her.

The debate afforded opportunity for a wide expression of views by both sides and all factions.

William O'Brien, who took his seat for the first time since his election, said he would not vote either way.

ADVOCATES PEACE CONFERENCE.

He held that the only way to settle the Irish question was not by revolutionary tactics, but by conciliation and a peace conference in which the best statesmen of England, Ireland and the colonies should participate.

Unionist members uncompromisingly demanded the retirement of Under Secretary MacDonnell.

Premier Balfour at considerable length reviewed the situation. He denied that the earl of Dudley, lord lieutenant of Ireland, had any leanings toward home rule. The premier defended Mr. Wyndham, who recently resigned the chief secretaryship for Ireland, saying it was natural that he should seek to find some solution of the Irish question.

Mr. Wyndham had failed, but there had been many failures before.

Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman's resolution in reality was intended as an attack upon Mr. Wyndham and himself, which was absolutely unjustifiable.

H. H. Asquith (liberal) maintained that there was no reason for Mr. Wyndham's resignation, which did not logically involve the necessity for the resignation of the whole cabinet.

A feature of the debate was the speech of George Wyndham, who had been absent, owing to illness, since his resignation.

WHY WYNDHAM RESIGNED.

As a preliminary to the introduction of the vote of censure of Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, he made a personal explanation of the reasons for his resignation.

He said he had insisted on retiring from the cabinet, not on grounds of policy, but because political and personal reasons had convinced him that he could better serve the government as an unofficial member than as chief secretary for Ireland.

His views had not changed in the smallest degree in regard to the Irish administration.

"The Union must be the fundamental principle of any sound Irish policy," he said.

Mr. Wyndham thought the scheme for evolution was in some ways more open to criticism than even the plans for home rule itself.

The situation in both Ireland and England had become complicated by a personal misunderstanding for which he himself was partly to blame.

He had never contemplated any delegation of legislative powers from the house of commons other than the power of dealing with purely private bills.

After further debate the vote was taken, with the result as already given.

PATRIOTIC DAYS

TO BE OBSERVED BY SCHOOL CHILDREN.

The following notice, which explains itself, has been sent to all the public schools by Superintendent Whitcomb:

I have received from the state board of education, and forward to you with my hearty endorsement, the following communication:

A statute which has made the school laws of Massachusetts famous for more than a century imposes upon all instructors of youth the obligation to use their best endeavors to instill into the minds of the children and youth committed to their care the principles of "love of country, humanity and universal benevolence."

It has become a general practice in schools to stimulate the love of country by special exercises in connection with the public holidays, February 22, April 19, and May 30.

A favorable opportunity to cultivate the other two virtues, "humanity and universal benevolence," is now afforded in the setting apart of the 18th of May in commemoration of the opening of the Hague conference, May 18, 1899. This day is to be widely celebrated in Europe and by numerous organizations in America.

The board of education recommends that appropriate exercises be held in the schools of Massachusetts on May 18 for the purpose of emphasizing the blessings of peace, of showing the superiority of arbitration over war, and of exalting the brotherhood of nation.

Such exercises might profitably include brief accounts of the settlement of the recent international disputes concerning peace from the writings of Washington, Sumner and other statesmen, and from the poems of Holmes, Lowell and Whittier.

An appropriate motto for the day would be: "God hath made of one blood all nations of men for to dwell on all the face of the earth."

The American Flag association also reminds schools, city officials, and the public, that Wednesday, June 14, will be the 128th anniversary of the adoption of "Old Glory," as the flag of the United States, and asks for a suitable observance of the day.

The following Lowell people booked through Murphy's steamship agency sail from East Boston today per the Cunard Line steamship Ivernia for Liverpool and Queenstown: Mr. Isaac Hoyle, Mrs. Margaret Devine, Miss Elizabeth Donnelly, Mr. Robert Raisin, Mr. John T. Raisin, Miss Katherine Tully, Mr. Patrick Harrahan, Miss Sarah McLaughlin, Miss Margaret Fitzgibbons, Miss Anastasia Foley. Also from Boston Thursday on the White Star Line steamer Cymric, Mrs. Elizabeth G. Collier, Miss Nellie Fellows, Mrs. Margaret Peasley, Mrs. Eliza J. Edwards and Mr. Thomas Burke.

HE SHOT HIMSELF

Yale Boy Put Bullet in His Head

BODY FOUND BY HIS ROOM-MATE

He Was Deranged by Hard Studying

NEW HAVEN, May 10.—Arthur Haserot, a Yale senior, 21 years old and living in Cleveland, O., was yesterday found shot to death in his room in Welch hall, one of the campus dormitories. Medical Examiner Bartlett stated last night that he believed the boy's death was caused by his own hand.

Haserot's body was found by one of his room-mates, Roy W. Hemingway of Syracuse, N. Y. A revolver was at Haserot's side and a bullet wound in his head.

Hemingway said last night that Haserot attended his first recitation as usual yesterday and seemed to be in his usual good spirits. There was no intimation that he was despondent, and not once during the time Hemingway had crooned with Haserot, he said, had there been a time when he even suspected that his room-mate contemplated taking his own life.

The body of the dead student was found on the floor at the base of a window seat and it is believed that he shot himself while on the window seat and that he fell to the floor. There was one empty shell in the revolver, the bullet from it having entered Haserot's right temple, probably resulting in death instantly. No one of the many students in the dormitory heard the shot, and not until Hemingway turned the body of his companion over did any one know that a tragedy had occurred.

The manner in which Haserot was shot is almost conclusive proof that he committed suicide, and Medical Examiner Bartlett stated late last night that there would be no further investigation, as he was convinced that the student had killed himself.

Haserot was a quiet man with good habits, it is said, and the probability is that he was temporarily out of his head on account of overwork at his studies, his room-mate stating that he had been a hard-working student.

The parents of Haserot were notified soon after the body was found and an uncle is on his way to New Haven.

William T. Hanson, Jr., of Schenectady, N. Y., another room-mate of Haserot, last night would make no statement regarding the death of his classmate other than that he knew of no reason for the suicide.

WAS HAPPY

LETTER RECEIVED AT HASEROT'S HOME YESTERDAY MORNING.

CLEVELAND, O., May 10.—Arthur Haserot was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel F. Haserot of Cleveland. The father is a member of a wholesale grocery house. The boy was born in Cleveland.

His father had intended going to New Haven last night to visit his son when the news of his death was received by telephone from young Haserot's roommate, R. M. Hemingway. A letter had been received at the family home yesterday morning, and in it Arthur showed that his mind was happy and he spoke of his preparations for graduation exercises next month. An uncle of the dead student has gone to New Haven to care for the body.

The boy's father will not believe that his son's death is other than an accident. He was last home at Christmas.

ACTIVE WORK

DEMOCRATS PLAN FOR A LIVELY CAMPAIGN.

BOSTON, May 10.—Arthur Lyman, the new chairman of the executive committee of the democratic state committee paid a visit to the headquarters at Liberty square yesterday afternoon and had a conference with Reuben Rush, the executive clerk of the committee.

The object of Mr. Lyman's visit was to get in touch with the democratic machinery, and as Mr. Rush has been connected with the democratic state organization for a number of years, the new chairman felt that he could obtain valuable information from him as to how a campaign should be started.

Mr. Lyman announced that from now on a vigorous campaign would be conducted, consistent with the present early political season.

Every city and town in the Commonwealth will be thoroughly canvassed by the democratic executive committee, and from this time forth the mails will be flooded with political literature.

Mr. Lyman has not as yet established himself permanently at democratic headquarters, but will do so shortly, and, during the summer, the working force will be increased by several stenographers and clerks.

"The strenuous campaign already inaugurated by the republican state committee is going to be met by the democratic organization in an equally strenuous manner," said one of the democratic state committee officials last night, "and while the republicans may think they are going to have all the fun in campaigning, we will show up interestingly before the candidates are voted for."

C. M. A. C. FEAST

ARRANGEMENT FOR ITS FORMAL OBSERVANCE.

The following members of the C. M. A. C. have been appointed a committee to organize the annual celebration of the patronal feast of the association, the Feast of the Sacred Heart, to take place June 25.

President, Joseph Carriere; secretary, Henri Daigle; Elzear H. Choquette, Eugene Roussin, Joseph Provost, Henri Achin, Henri Barry, E. A. Ducharme, Emile Fontaine, Albert Bergeron, Joseph Harvey, Leon Crepau, Wilfrid Hebert and Donat Blazon.

The celebration will commence at St. Joseph's church in the morning, when the members will receive communion in a body. After mass a banquet will take place at C. M. A. C. hall. In the afternoon a procession will take place, the members marching to St. Joseph's church from the hall, preceded by a band and escorted by the Garde d'Honneur.

STORE ENTERED

BURGLARS MAKE SMALL HAUL IN HUDSON.

Burglars entered the store of A. L. Joy, in the Odd Fellows' building, Hudson, early yesterday morning and after a thorough search of the place, the thieves got away with some small change from the money drawer and some cigars, cake and other light eatables. The front doors were pried open with a jimmy. This is the second time this store has been broken into and the third time the building has been burglarized.

KARAMA CLUB.

The Karama club has elected the following officers: Miss Emma Lynch, general manager; Miss Anna Quinn, assistant general manager; Miss Helen Keefe, floor director; Miss Agnes Hoye, assistant floor director; and Miss Hazel Cotter, chief aid. Final arrangements were made for the select party the club will hold tomorrow evening.

But 3 Days Remain

Of the Great FREE TRIAL TREATMENT Offer Given by Dr. Barbrick

To all who call at his Lowell offices, Rooms 10-11-12, Mansur Block, 97 Central St., on or before May 13, he will give a thorough examination and a trial treatment ABSOLUTELY FREE OF CHARGE and to all who begin treatment on or before that date he will give consultations, examinations and all office treatments required by the case, FREE UNTIL CURED.

THE NEW CURE

The old-fashioned, slipshod methods of treating Chronic Diseases, with their guess work Diagnosis, their drastic and poisonous drugs, their harsh treatments, and dangerous operations have passed away. The modern method of treatment, Magnopathy, with its certainty of Diagnosis, its mild application of Nature's forces and remedies, its system of cure without cutting operations and harsh treatments has come in its place. This system of cure, originated and developed by Dr. Barbrick, is peculiar to itself and is as essentially and radically different from, as it is superior to, all other methods.

THE FREE TREATMENT PLAN

That all may have a courteous and costless opportunity of seeing for themselves and of testing for themselves, the superiority of the methods perfected by Dr. Barbrick after fifteen years' experience in his own practice—the largest special practice in New England—the free test is offered.

NOT A CHARITY OFFER

This is not a philanthropic or charity offer, but simply a business proposition, given to increase the number of cured patients, so that the new treatment will become more widely known, therefore all may call—the high, the low, the rich, the poor, without fear or favor. The doctor believes that the grateful endorsements of the many who will be relieved and cured will quickly attract public attention to his offices and system of treatment and bring sufficient patronage to repay for the outlay and expense entailed by this offer.

THIS IS THE OFFER:

All who call at his Lowell offices, rooms 10-11-12, Mansur block, 97 Central street, on or before May 13th, will receive Consultation, Examination, Wonderful Diagnosis of Disease and Trial Treatment, ABSOLUTELY FREE OF CHARGE, and IF TREATMENT IS TAKEN ON OR BEFORE THAT DATE, all those placing themselves under his care will continue to receive all medical services, surgical and office treatments FREE UNTIL CURED.

EVERY SICK PERSON

Should call on Doctors Barbrick and Temple. The marvelous cures made by these remarkable specialists and their new System of Rational Cure have attracted the attention of thousands of people in every walk of life and given to the sick and suffering new life and hope. That the deaf are made to hear, the blind to see, the lame to walk; that the unsightly tumor is made to waste away and the foul cancer cleansed and dried up simply by the application of their treatments without operations, seems beyond belief, but such are the claims made by those who have been treated by them, and you are given the chance to test for yourself whether such things are true.

ALL DISEASES AND DEFORMITIES CURED BY THE NEW TREATMENT

CATARRH CURED—Consumption in the incipient stage, bronchitis, asthma, rheumatism, diseases of the eye, ear, nose, throat, lungs, stomach, liver, kidneys, scrofula, sores, ulcers and chronic blood troubles, eczema, psoriasis, pimples, blotches and all skin troubles treated and cured.

NERVOUS DISEASES—Nervous debility from any cause, hysteria, neurasthenia, chorea, St. Vitus' dance, epilepsy, etc.; diseases of the spine, paralysis, locomotor ataxia, palsy and all such diseases successfully treated by our "Tissue Cell Building" and Vibratory treatments.

DISEASES OF WOMEN—Examinations without exposure, and all diseases peculiar to women treated and cured without surgical operations or the use of rings, pessaries, supporters, etc., by new and pleasant methods.

DISEASES OF MEN and weaknesses arising from overwork, etc., causing weak or failing memory, pimples, impure blood, falling of the hair, etc. Such sufferers should call at once. By our improved methods and remedies they are guaranteed immediate relief and a perfect cure.

CANCERS, malignant tumors, all growths, enlargements and glandular swellings treated and cured without the use of the knife and without torture. No matter what disease you are suffering from, or how long standing, no matter how many physicians have failed to cure you, call on these great specialists. It will cost you nothing, and you may profit by it. If your disease is incurable, they will frankly tell you so, and the right to reject any or all cases is reserved.

The Lewis and Clark Centennial Exposition at Portland; A Great International Fair That Is Approaching Completion

IN the city of Portland, Ore., 2,000 miles from the scene of the latest and in some respects most remarkable of world's fairs, a new international exposition is rapidly assuming form and substance. This is the Lewis and Clark centennial, designed to commemorate the hundredth anniversary of the exploration of the Oregon country by Captains Meriwether Lewis and William Clark.

It is not claimed for this fair that it is to exceed all previous exhibitions of a like nature in comprehensiveness of design and magnitude of realization. Its promoters, however, are confident that it will be the most complete and artistic fair ever held on this or any other continent. First of all, its location will be most attractive. Occupying as it does an area of 402 acres adjoining the principal residence section of Portland, on gentle slopes and verdant terraces overlooking Guild's lake and the Willamette river, with the snow capped peaks of Mount Hood and Mount St. Helens rising like gigantic sentinels in the distance, the site includes a wealth of natural features hitherto unattained in exposition building.

It has been the universal criticism of visitors to former expositions that the vastness and attempt to be exhaustive have made a full appreciation impossible. This testimony has been influential with the managers of the coming fair in determining them to secure for the Portland event a degree of compactness and concentration of detail which will enable the average person to see, study and comprehend everything within the time and means that he has at his disposal. To this end there will be no monstrosities of architecture to weary the eye and perplex the understanding, no scores of miles of aisles to sap the physical strength from aching limbs, no torrid days and nights to benumb vitality, no dependence upon atmospheric co-operation to secure an adequate return for all effort expended in seeing the fair. The shrewd and competent managers and the generous Oregon climate have provided for all of that.

It is a fact that the natural features of the exposition site would alone compensate any visitor. At St. Louis last year a syndicate of capitalists put several hundred thousand dollars in a feature known as "the Tyrolean Alps." To explore these imitation mountains, valleys and secluded retreats and to gaze on the artificial cascades and brooklets many thousands of persons paid an additional fee. The visitor to the Oregon fair may without adding to the expense sit among the lofty shade trees in Centennial park and take his fill of the outspread sublimity of the Cascade range.

Of the gross area to be devoted to the exposition proper 180 acres are on the mainland, and sixty acres form a peninsula which extends into Guild's lake. This lake is a fresh water body 220 acres in extent, separated from the Willamette river by a narrow strip of land. The main exposition buildings occupy the ground bordering on the lake. Eight large exhibit palaces, marvels of convenience and of great architectural symmetry, form the principal scheme. These structures are dedicated respectively to agriculture, liberal and industrial arts, foreign exhibits, forestry, fine arts, mines and metallurgy, territorial building and machinery and electricity and transportation. Around these main buildings on the outer edge cluster the state, territorial and other and minor pavilions. The Administration building, which will contain the executive offices of the fair association, is situated at one end of the beautiful colonnade entrance.

Many states will have pavilions. The Oregon building, which will be a handsome clubhouse of colonial design, will occupy a commanding position near the main entrance. The Massachusetts building will be the same structure used at St. Louis. It has been taken down and shipped to Portland, where it will be re-erected. On the neck of land which extends into Guild's lake will be located the large building which is to house the extensive government exhibit. It will be an imposing structure characteristic of Uncle Sam's generous provision for his great series of public exhibits.

The Forestry building is a veritable timber exhibit. For its construction two miles of logs five and six feet in diameter and fifty-two feet in length, eight miles of poles and tons of shakes and shingles were required. The rustic facade of this huge structure, broken here and there by a rough window or an ornamental balustrade, is considerably less classical than that of the Parthenon, but it is not less original and attractive on that account. Standing in one of the spacious corridors of this building, supported by its giant fir and cedar columns six feet in diameter and forty feet in height, the visitor cannot fail to be impressed by the originality of the scheme.

Columbia court is the great central plaza of the exposition, and it is situated between the Agriculture and the Liberal Arts buildings. Its main features are two wide avenues, between which are spacious sunken gardens, with numerous fountains and symmetrical beds of gorgeous varicolored flowers. Passing through this court, one comes upon a parapet at the head of a series of terraces of velvety lawn sloping to the edge of the lake. Leading down from this parapet to an ornate boat landing is a broad staircase flanked by massive balustrades. On each side of the stairway are masses of ever blooming roses.

Perhaps the nearest approach to a replica of classic architecture may be found in the Oriental Exhibits palace. The style of this building may be termed mollified Corinthian. Its grand entrance, however, is decidedly reminiscent of the Petit Palais des Beaux Arts in Paris. The European and Agricultural palaces are composite. The architects of both these structures employed the best features of all orders as seemed best for the sake of convenience, and the result is remarkably pleasing. The main entrance of the European building is planned and carried out in the popular mission architecture, and the cornice and other parts of the Agricultural building may readily be traced to the same style. The amusement section of the exposition, corresponding with the Pike at St. Louis and the midways at other fairs, will at Portland be termed "the Trail." The Trail will have a most striking and novel setting. It is situated on a wide bridge which spans the lake and connects the peninsula with the mainland. With the excellent water facilities thus afforded much competition has arisen over aquatic privileges. Many new and attractive forms of amusement will occupy this bridge, and the visitor in search of novelties may expect to be provided with more sensations than he can assimilate.

One of the most instructive and interesting items will consist of a complete exposition of the salmon industry. There will be on exhibition numerous specimens of live salmon in tanks, preserved salmon in jars, eggs and fry in all stages of development and a full and lucid demonstration of hatching. The methods of canning and cold storage keeping will also be shown. It will be the combined effort of the government and the fair management to make this the most satisfactory exposition of the state's leading industry ever attempted. Nothing will be omitted which can in any way contribute to the success of the elaboration. The salmon packing business has grown to enormous proportions in the Pacific northwest, and it has resulted in a combination of interests which controls the industry. The primitive methods of taking the fish still obtain. The progress of the industry has not altered the personality or habits of the picturesque salmon fisherman or even the appearance of his craft, with its odd shaped sail.

The quaint town of Astoria, founded as a trading post by John Jacob Astor in 1811, is still the center of the salmon packing business and the home of the Finnish fisherman, a type of American citizen not found elsewhere in the republic. These Finnish-Americans are a sturdy, independent and rather sluggish race. They fish for three months in the year, make on the average $1,500 in a season and live the remaining part of the year on the proceeds of their catch. In the early spring, when the fishing season is at its height, Astoria resembles a mining camp. Everything booms and money is plenty. The fishermen pay their bills, and the merchants settle their obligations with the wholesale fraternity. When the season closes the Finlander mends his nets and puts them carefully away, deposits what money he has not spent in the bank and proceeds to lead a life of undisturbed leisure in his curious house standing on piles on the tidewater lands near the river.

The Finnish salmon fisherman uses a heavy, clumsy craft about twenty-five feet long, with a nine foot boom. Sometimes he owns his boat, but oftener he hires it from the canning company. The boat is equipped with a spritsail, which by an ingenious contrivance is made to serve on occasions as a tent. The fleet puts off about sunset, drifts slowly westward with the ebb tide, and in the early morning the quarter mile net is slowly drawn in. This vast net is a floating fence twenty-five or thirty feet in height. It is kept upright by floats at the surface and weights at the bottom. Of course there are other methods of capturing salmon. In Baker bay, near the mouth of the Columbia, 400 fish traps are set, and these are long nets, called "leaders," extending 600 feet into the river and supported by small piles. The unsuspecting salmon, swimming leisurely with the current, becomes entangled in the meshes that form the trap. Farther up the stream immense seines half a mile in length interrupt the course of the fish as he passes over the bar, and thousands are taken in this manner. It would seem to be impossible for any fish to find its way into the upper river, yet at the Cascades, 200 miles from the sea, gigantic fish wheels operated by the current scoop up thousands of the refugees.

It has been ascertained that of all the eggs laid by salmon over 80 per cent are eaten by other fish. Artificial propagation is therefore necessary in order that the supply of fish be maintained. Over 300,000,000 Chinook salmon fry have been planted in the Columbia river and its tributaries since 1895. A short closed season is designated by law in order that the hatcheries, which are provided by the government, may secure a supply of fish from which to obtain the spawn.

Cold storage and pickling plants have within recent years done a profitable business, but canning is still the principal industry. Last year the Columbia river pack amounted to 20,000,000 one pound cans. The process of canning is very simple. The fishermen unloads his haul at the cannery, and the fish are weighed. Then they are washed and cleaned and sent to the cutting tables. There they are placed under circular saws, which separate the various parts into pieces of a size suitable for canning. Then they go to the packing tables, where the deft fingers of Chinamen fill the cans and pass them on to the washing machines, where they are again cleaned. The tops are then put on the cans, and the fish is cooked thoroughly by steam.

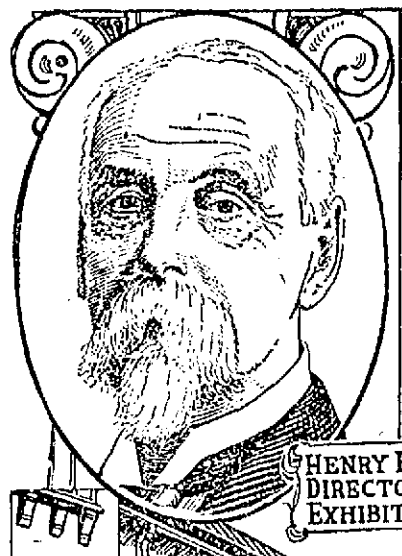

Salmon weighing over twenty-five pounds are selected for cold storage treatment. The cold storage pack for 1904 amounted to almost 5,000 tons. These to be pickled are split open, cleaned and rid of bones. They are then placed in huge casks, which are sealed. Most of the salmon preserved in this manner is shipped to Germany by way of Cape Horn and is there esteemed a great delicacy. The canneries employ Chinese labor almost exclusively. It is obtained through the agency of the "China boss," a Chinaman who makes contracts to supply the packers with crews of his fellow orientals.

All this will be illustrated and made intensely interesting at the fair. Both the general government and the states of Oregon and Washington have used the utmost endeavor to make the coming salmon industry display exhaustive, and it will undoubtedly prove to be the crowning feature of the exposition. The government's effort in this direction at the Pan-American was unusually complete and instructive, but it was only a foretaste of what may be expected at Portland. The facilities for perfecting a display of this nature are nowhere else so available as they are in the Pacific northwest, the home of this noblest specimen of the finny tribe.

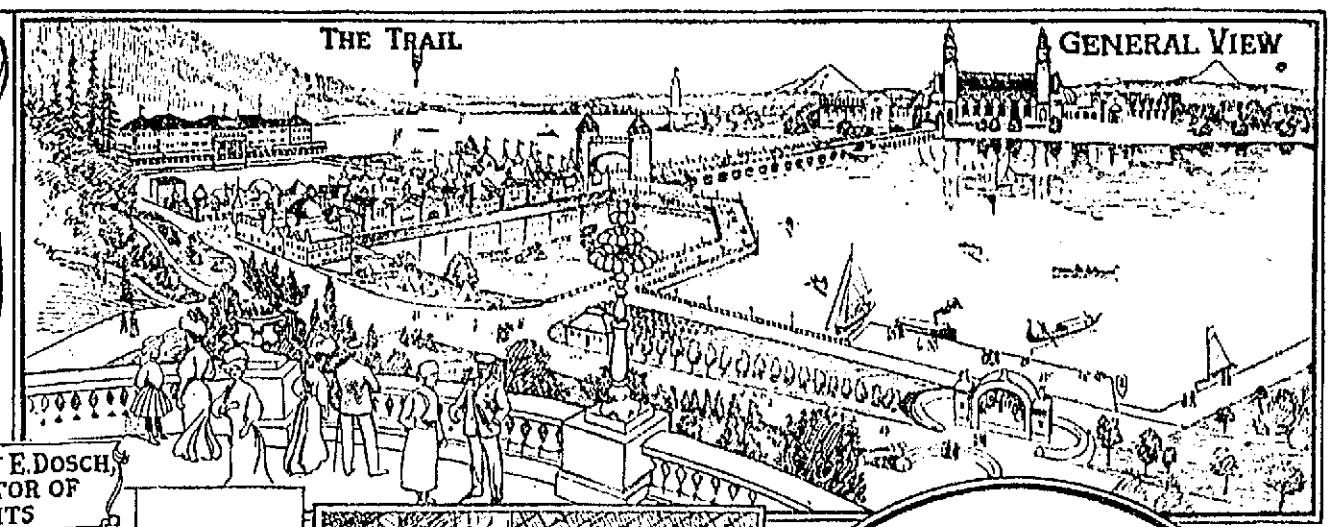

The exposition will be opened June 1 and will be continued until Oct. 15. It will represent an outlay, approximately, of $5,000,000. This includes the cost of laying out the grounds and the money expended for buildings, exhibits and all other purposes. The most generous single participant in the government, which made an appropriation of $475,000 for the purpose. Next comes the state of Oregon, with an appropriation of $450,000, which is at the rate of nearly a dollar for every man, woman and child in the state. It is a noteworthy fact that no state with so small a population as that of Oregon has ever before devoted so large a sum to an international exposition.

The event which the fair is designed to commemorate is really one of the most important episodes in American national history. In 1803, during Jefferson's first term, it was decided to send an exploring expedition into the Louisiana country, for which the United States was then negotiating with France. At that time Meriwether Lewis, a Virginian of good family, was acting as the president's private secretary, and Mr. Jefferson offered him the command of the expedition. Lewis accepted and chose as his companion Captain William Clark, an old army friend. The party proceeded up the Mississippi to its head waters, crossed the great divide and followed the Columbia to the Pacific. As a reward for his services Lewis was given a valuable grant of land and made governor of the new purchase, with headquarters at the "village of St. Louis." In his administration of the office he was assisted by Captain Clark, who was made Indian agent. Lewis began the history of his great work as an explorer, but he did not live to finish it. While on his way from his distant territory to Washington he came to his death in the cabin of a Tennessee pioneer. Whether his death was due to murder or to suicide is not definitely known.

Henry C. Frick, Who Will Enter the Field of Politics

THE recent declaration of Henry C. Frick to the effect that he had decided to enter the political field in the near future is practically a response to long continued solicitation from influential friends. It has long been current that strong pressure was brought to induce Mr. Frick to enter Mr. Roosevelt's cabinet as secretary of the treasury and that the president himself was one of those who were most insistent. It is now announced that Mr. Frick has so arranged his business interests that he will be able to devote himself to the public service, and in order that he may be entirely unrestricted and free from entangling local alliances he will take up his residence in New York.

Thirty years ago this spring two young men were standing one day at the corner of Sixth avenue and Smithfield street in Pittsburg when a third young man passed with a hasty nod.

"Who is your friend?" asked one of the young men of the other, who seemed to know him.

"Oh, that's Frick; thought you knew him. He's in the coke business at Bradford. Frick's the best business man in the trade. Some day—mark my prediction—he'll do the biggest coke business in the country."

The young man who thus prophesied is today one of the officials of the H. C. Frick Coke company, and the individual of whom he spoke was Henry Clay Frick, now the largest coke producer in the world, his concern operating about 40,000 acres of coal mines and 12,000 coke ovens, with a daily capacity of 25,000 tons. This is industrial distinction, indeed, but it may be supplemented by the fact that its possessor is the organizer of the most stupendous manufacturing enterprise of modern times—the Carnegie Steel company.

For more than a quarter of a century Mr. Frick has been prominent as a manufacturer and an employer of many hundreds of men. The industrial history of western Pennsylvania is dominated by his trade victories and inventive achievements. Notwithstanding all this, it is probable that less has been written concerning Mr. Frick's personal doings, habits and characteristics than of any other man of equal interest in the world. It is also a fact that most of what has been written has been either fragmentary or biased designedly. Every recurring disturbance of western Pennsylvania industrial conditions during the past two decades has forced upon Mr. Frick a notoriety which has not always been agreeable either to bear or to combat. There has been little agreement among those who have written of him; he has run the literary gantlet from shrewd business man to high priest of monopoly.

For four generations Mr. Frick's ancestors on his mother's side have been Pennsylvanians. That of itself makes him a pretty good American. His father, John W. Frick, was of Swiss descent. His mother, Elizabeth Overholt Frick, traces her ancestry back to Abraham Oberholtzer, who came from the Palatinate in the first half of the eighteenth century and settled on the Delaware river in Bucks county, Pa. Mr. Frick's grandfather removed to Westmoreland county in the year 1800 and took up a large tract of land; which is known to the present day as the Overholt place. Here was established the little village of West Overton, an adaptation of the family name. This Abraham Overholt was a very enterprising citizen. As early as 1810 he established a distillery at his new village, and he added large flour mills subsequently. In the course of a few years he became the wealthiest man in the county.

Henry Clay Frick was born in this village of West Overton, on the old Overholt place, Dec. 19, 1849. The early years of his life were spent on the farm. He attended the district school, at that time taught by Harry Overholt, a relative, now a resident of Iowa. The paucity of sensational episodes in the boyhood of Mr. Frick has led to the invention of more than one baseless account of his early struggles with poverty and adverse conditions in general. Not only is this imputation of youthful penury contrary to fact, but it is well known to western Pennsylvanians that the Fricks were in exceedingly comfortable circumstances.

Before Henry was sixteen he went to live with his uncle, Christian S. Overholt, president of the First National bank and the wealthiest merchant in Mount Pleasant. While there he attended the Pennsylvania Classical and Scientific Institute and afterward became a student at Otterbein university, a United Brethren institution at Westerville, O. On his return to his uncle's home at Mount Pleasant he acted as salesman in one of Mr. Overholt's stores. A year later he went to Bradford and became bookkeeper in his grandfather's establishment at that place.

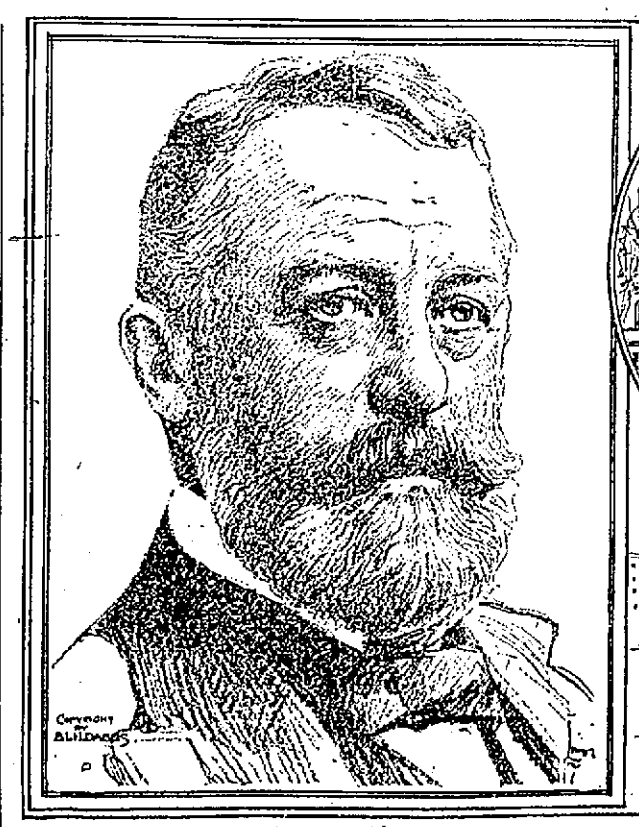

Young Frick had not been long at Bradford before he was able to purchase a small interest in some coal property, and he and the other owners built fifty coke ovens as an experiment. At that time the coke industry was at its very beginning in Bradford. Even the Connellsville coke field was of limited area. The value of the product was only beginning to be appreciated. With an insight remarkable for his years, Frick grasped the possibilities of the industry and from time to time added largely to his interests. Owing to reckless management and overproduction one of the largest coal properties in the town became involved and was obliged to shut down. Realizing that the depression was only temporary, Mr. Frick purchased the property at sheriff's sale and built hundreds of ovens to utilize the output. From this time on the success of the young operator was assured. The early and untimely collapse of his ventures was freely prophesied, but it did not come. Until 1873 he conducted the business in his own name and then took in two partners, the Fergusons, under the firm style of H. C. Frick & Co. Four years later it became the H. C. Frick Coke company, as it is at present.

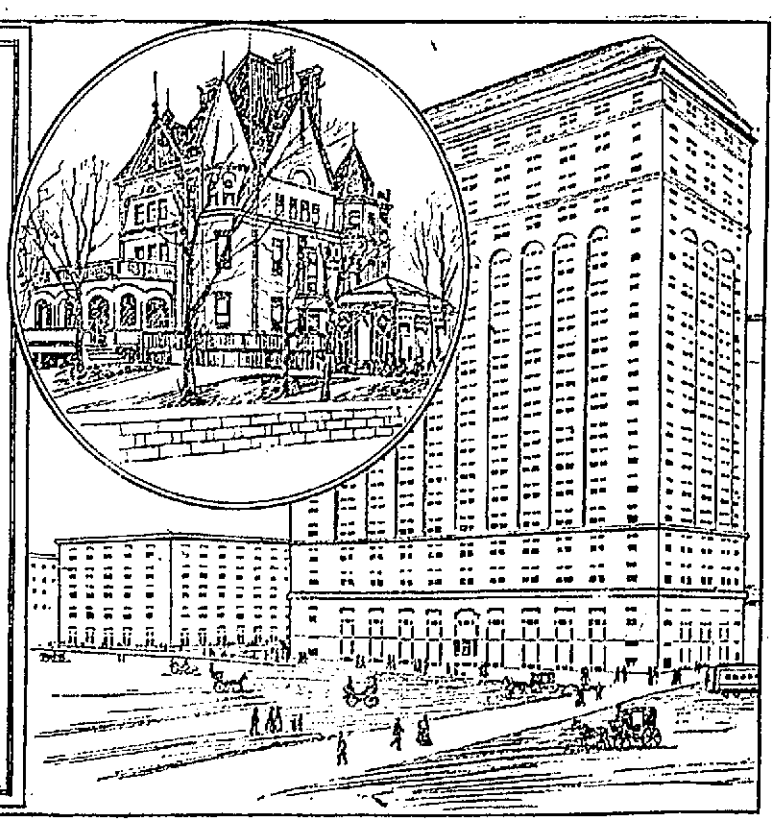

At this point the Carnegies began to be identified with the Bradford coke producer. They had adopted the policy of owning or operating all material contributing to their finished product. To this end they became large purchasers of the stock of the reorganized coke company. When Thomas Carnegie died Mr. Frick was chosen to fill his place. His subsequent career with that mammoth aggregation, the Carnegie Steel company, is known to the world. In his ambition to make that amazing corporation what it is today he has probably labored more assiduously than any workman ever employed by the company.

The most critical and exacting period in the life of Henry Clay Frick was during the memorable occurrences at Homestead in 1892. It fell to his lot to be the corporation's spokesman, and as such he was exposed to all the antagonism that menaced the aggregation. He was shot and stabbed by the crazed anarchist Alexander Berghman, but succeeded in keeping the man at bay until help arrived.

Mr. Frick is known to his intimates as a rather reserved but most suave and agreeable companion. His domestic life is reputed to be a model of dignified and unostentatious existence. He is averse to any effort which is likely to direct public attention to the affairs of his household and has always shown great ingenuity in avoiding those who make the attempt to penetrate the seclusion of his charming home.

RUSSIANS SECURE GERMAN CAEWS

FRANKFORT, Germany, May 10.—Zeitung today says it has received advices from Hamburg to the effect that agents of the Russian government have completed arrangements through the society of German captains and officers and crews for transport ships which are to accompany the fifth division of the Russian second Pacific squadron to the far east. These crews, it is added, will proceed to Libau on the Baltic sea.

TACTICS CHANGE

Qualities of a Good Soldier Remain

SCHUYLER, Neb., May 10.—Roosevelt's train stopped here a few minutes last night. The president spoke as follows:

"I cannot say how I've enjoyed passing through Nebraska today. I passed through much the same region two years ago and it is an ever fresh pleasure to see the progress that you have made in this great agricultural state, the way you have pushed the fertile the Japanese warships and reached done with irrigation out in the western part of the state and what you are doing with the farm and ranch here. I have been glad to see the evidences of your material prosperity, but more than that, I have been particularly glad to see the type of man and woman that you have produced here in Nebraska. That is what really counts and that is the reason that the crop in which I am most interested is the crop of children. And for that reason I have been particularly pleased in passing through this state to see the great attention that you are paying to the schools, the great attention being paid to the boy or girl who is to be the citizen of 20 years hence. It is in civil life, as it is in military life. Weapons have changed since the civil war; tactics have changed but the qualities that make a good soldier have not changed. So it is with citizenship. The qualities that make a good citizen now are the qualities that made a good citizen in the days of Lincoln and in the days of Washington. In the first place you have got to have honesty. If you have not honesty, the abler you are the more dangerous you are, and honesty is not enough. Besides being honest and decent, you have got to be a game man, and then you have got to have the saving grace of common sense."

NEW YORK, May 10.—Prepartions for the oral examination of officers and directors of the the Equitable Life Assurance society which will be carried on under his personal direction, have been completed by State Superintendent of Insurance Francis Hendricks, who is now in this city.

Superintendent Hendricks will examine not only the officers and directors who have been directly accused in the recent handying of charges over the society's affairs, but every director who holds office by reason of the transfer to him of stock by James Hazen Hyde or his father, Henry B. Hyde.

There will be nothing compulsory about the proceeding, which however, will be carried on largely in executive session.

RIVAL, European Russia, May 10—At a meeting of workmen here today which was attended by delegates from St. Petersburg and a number of masked men, it was decided to proclaim a three days' strike in connection with Labor day (May 1) and to serve fresh demands on the employers coupled with the intimation that if they were not complied with inside of 12 hours the destruction of the factories by fire would follow. The meeting separated after singing a song ending with the refrain:

"Not from the emperor but from our own strength comes succor to us."

The song was sung to the music of Martin Luther's well known hymn:

BLAZE IN MILL

Fire in Prescott Card Room Today

A lively blaze, though fortunately of small consequence, occurred between 8 and 9 o'clock this morning in the card room of the Prescott mills.

The blaze started in a pile of cotton waste, presumably from a match in the waste and burned through the pile quite briskly.

It was discovered before it had reached any alarming extent and was extinguished by the mill force without the necessity of ringing in an alarm of fire.

The blaze was confined to the cotton waste and did not touch the machinery, work in the room not being interrupted.

Agent Southworth stated this noon that the loss would be too small to justify making a claim upon the insurance companies.

Will Not be Submitted to President Roosevelt

Labor Leaders Say No Good Could be Accomplished by Asking President to Arbitrate the Strike—President Welcomed by Governor and Mayor—Streets Were Lined With Police and Men in Uniform

CHICAGO, MAY 10.—REPRESENTATIVES OF LABOR HAVE ABANDONED THEIR PLAN OF PETITIONING PRES. ROOSEVELT, WHILE IN CHICAGO TODAY, TO USE HIS GOOD OFFICES IN BRINGING ABOUT A SETTLEMENT OF THE STRIKE. THIS AFTERNOON C. P. SHEA, PRESIDENT OF THE TEAMSTERS' UNION, SAID: "PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT WILL NOT BE ASKED TO ARBITRATE THE STRIKE. NONE OF THE COMMITTEE APPOINTED WILL CALL ON HIM. WE DO NOT SEE WHAT GOOD IT WILL DO LABOR TO ASK THE PRESIDENT TO ARBITRATE THE STRIKE.

Pres. Roosevelt was welcomed by Gov. Deneen, Mayor Dunne, delegations from the merchants, the Hamilton and the Iroquois clubs, a committee of aldermen and other city officials.

The streets through which the president's carriage drove were lined with police and men in uniform and plain clothes mingled with the crowd every where.

Chief of Police O'Neill preceded the president's procession in a carriage and personally supervised the arrangements and saw that the streets were clear. In the advance of the line of carriages were 50 mounted police, commanded by Captain Adams Barber. Behind the president's carriage rode eight detective sergeants in two carriages, the president's personal bodyguard. They wore silk hats and Prince Albert coats.

Capt. Patrick Gibbons with 150 policemen guarded the Chicago and Northwestern depot. Inspector Shippy with 75 men was stationed in the streets surrounding the depot. Inspector Lavin with another squad of 150 men had command of the Auditorium hotel, and vicinity.

PEACE PACT

PROMISES WERE MADE BY BOTH SIDES.

CHICAGO, May 10.—Promises of peace and order for today, the president's day, were made by both sides in the teamsters' strike. The Employers' Teaming company decided to reduce its teaming and delivery operations for today. The teamsters' joint council has voted against a general strike and determined that no further sympathetic movement should be made, except in case of teamsters ordered to make deliveries to boycotted houses, in which event individuals should walk out. A statement of the situation was prepared to be presented to President Roosevelt by a strikers' committee which desisted at his request from meeting him on the way to Chicago. The labor representatives planned to inform the president of legal proceedings which have been taken by the employers and made a proposition that the president act as an arbitrator for differences, choosing as associates one man from labors ranks and one from the employers. The employers say they will not officially approach the president. "We have no intention of bothering President Roosevelt with our troubles," said Levy Mayer, counsel for the Employers' association, today. "It is likely, however," he added, "that the employers' side will get the president's ear for a quiet discussion of the situation some time during his stay here."

Strike leaders declared that no orders had been issued to the strikers to refrain from violence today, beyond instructions previously given out during the strike, but it was current gossip that secret commands had been passed along the line, ordering all teamsters to remain absolutely quiet and not to attempt the slightest interference today with the teams of the Employers' Teaming company.

Pres. Dold of the Chicago Federation of Labor called a meeting of his special committee early today and perfected plans for the presentation of labor's memorial or statement.

"I do not know whether we will be able to see the president or not," said Pres. Dold after the meeting today, "but I am satisfied we will get him to accept our memorial."

The usual number of police were on strike duty today, with the exception of 40, who were withdrawn to act as guards for Pres. Roosevelt, but there was scarcely any evidence of a strike beyond the presence of the police and occasional caravans of guarded wagons. Sixteen hundred deputy sheriffs have been sworn in for strike duty and this body of men also was in service today, but there seemingly was little for the deputies to do.

FIRE ON ARCH ST.

Lively Blaze In a Carriage Shop

What might have proved to be a disastrous fire was discovered in the carriage shop of John H. Swett in Arch street about 10.30 o'clock this morning. Owing to the timely arrival and good work of the firemen the building and those in the vicinity were saved. At one time it looked as though the entire building as well as those adjoining would suffer badly from the flames.

The building is a two and one-half story wooden affair and was well filled with carriages and wagons, some new and some old, while others were under the course of construction.

The fire was caused by a spark from a nearby chimney dropping on the roof. The blaze managed to work its way under the shingles and in a short space of time began to spread, going through a blind attic where other carriages were stored.

An alarm from box 72 was sounded and when the department arrived the whole roof was ablaze while the smoke was pouring out of the building in huge volumes. Owing to the number of carriages in the way the work of the firemen was considerably retarded but several lines of hose were soon laid and in a short time the fire was under control.

Outside of destroying the roof and scorching a few of the carriages the damage was slight.

Fred C. Church had the insurance on Mr. Swett's property.

SPOTTED FEVER

Another Death and One More Case Reported

Rose Geary, aged 8 years and six months, child of Jeremiah and Mary Geary, is the latest victim of cerebro-spinal meningitis, her death occurring this morning after a few hours' illness, at the home of her parents, 15 Bassett street.

The little girl was out playing last night and retired at the usual time, not complaining of any illness. This morning, however, she complained of feeling sick, but little was thought of it by the folks of the house until the girl became noticeably worse and then Drs. Boyle and Welch were summoned. They did all in their power to save her life, but without avail, however, death resulting at 8.30 o'clock.

The funeral took place this afternoon and the interment was in the Catholic cemetery under the direction of Funeral Director John F. Rogers.

ANOTHER CASE REPORTED.

Another case, that of Thomas Daly of Auburn street, was reported to the board of health this morning.

SMALL-POX CASE

Health Board Expects a Few More

There is no new development in the smallpox case, although Agent Knapp of the board of health says he would not at all be surprised if some few new cases were reported in a day or two. No epidemic is feared by the authorities. The agent says that undoubtedly there has been some infection because there is no doubt that there have been at least two cases if not more in the vicinity of the Salem street house, where the present case was found.

The premises on Salem street have been fumigated and are now quarantined. The report from the contagious hospital indicates that the patient is getting along as well as could be expected.

WIFE MISSING

George Puffer Asks Police to Find Her

"Make no search for me, if you do you will not find me."

This message was contained in a note left by Mrs. George Puffer to her husband. Mrs. Puffer disappeared from her home in Pleasant street, Dracut last night and all efforts of her husband and friends have so far proved futile.

She is twenty one years old, dark complexion, five feet four inches in height, medium build, wore a blue dress, short light coat and blue hat.

Her husband left his house about 8.30 last night to visit Lowell and at that time his wife was apparently all right. He returned at 9.30 and his wife was absent. Going to her room he found a note on the pillow which stated that she was going away; that she had been in poor health so long that she felt she was a burden to her husband.

She left her rings in a small jewel case and warned her husband to make no search for her.

Mr. Puffer inquired from railway men if they had seen her on any of the electric cars but they could give him no information.

He then went to Lawrence where Mrs. Puffer resided before her marriage and where she was known as Miss Jean Silve. He also visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Silve in North Andover, but they had not seen their daughter. Friends in Nashua were also communicated with and they, too, were ignorant of the girl's whereabouts. This afternoon Mr. Puffer called at the police station and reported her disappearance and asked the police to search for her. The police think that either she has wandered away while temporarily deranged or else she has done away with herself.

A PRODIGAL SON

Who Stole Fatted Calf From Father

The session of police court occupied only 10 minutes of Judge Hadley's time this morning as there were only four drunks. Two of the latter were placed on probation after sentences of four months each in the house of correction had been imposed.

STOLE FATTED CALF.

William L. Ferris, a Dracut man, was in for drunkenness, and at the request of the Dracut officer the case was continued until tomorrow to permit the officer to communicate with Ferris' father.

Ferris, it would appear, reversed the story of the prodigal son by stealing the fatted calf from his father's farm. The elder Ferris is a respectable Dracut farmer, and one day last summer the son went to a field owned by his father where the latter's cows were grazing and took one of the cows away with him. He led it to a camp where a band of gypsies were camping and sold the animal for $10. The Dracut officer expects that the father will prefer a charge of larceny against his erring son.

HAD A BLACKJACK.

On Sunday afternoon a man named Winslow was arrested for drunkenness in Merrimack square, and while riding through Prescott street in the patrol wagon drew something from his hip pocket and threw it into the street.

A short time later a boy called at the police station and gave the police a vicious looking "black-jack" such as are carried by highwaymen and footpads, which he states was thrown from the wagon in Prescott street. When questioned about the weapon Winslow denied that it was his property.

15 CANDIDATES

ALL LOOKING FOR CITY AUDITOR'S JOB.

Politicians from far and near were up to city hall today, and most, if not all of them, had their eye on the city auditor's office, for they are candidates for the position left vacant by the death of the late David Chase. All of the candidates have not announced themselves as yet, but already 15 have been heard from. Among the ones most prominently mentioned are Clinton P. Tuttle, at present employed as one of the clerks in the auditor's office; John Stott, Wm Sturtevant, Joe Richardson, private secretary to Counsellor Walter Watson; ex-Alderman Charles Paige, ex-Purchasing Agent Virgil Barnard, and many others.

THE COUNTY TAX

More Than $2000 Less Than Last Year

The assessors have received from the tax commission in Boston a notice to the effect that the county tax will be less this year than it was in 1904, and of course this will be acceptable news to all good citizens, for in proportion their tax will be reduced. Last year the county tax was $78,478.87, this year the amount is less by over $2000. The exact figure is $76,264.33, leaving a balance in favor of this year of $2,214.54.

BIG PIER

SECOND ONE FOR THE CEMETERY GATE.

The massive granite pier for the left entrance to the Lowell cemetery at Knapp avenue was hauled through the streets today and deposited at its destination, the pier for the right side of the gate having been carried over last Thursday and is now in position.

The pier weighs in the vicinity of 13 tons and is 3x6 feet and 11 feet long and was turned out at the work of Gumb Bros. in Gorham street.

After the pier was loaded on the wagon 10 horses were attached.

The five pair of horses were then started down Gorham street, the time of starting being 8.30 o'clock. The wagon passed through Gorham street to Chambers to Newhall to Lawrence to Rogers to Nesmith to Knapp avenue. The wagon was fitted out with an improvised brake on the rear wheels, consisting of a heavy piece of timber tied with ropes, which would stop the wagon from going too fast on the down grades.

Immediately after arriving at the entrance to the gate the work of removing the stone was begun. The time of arrival was 11 o'clock, and two and a half hours were consumed in the trip. It is expected that it will take a couple of days to place the pier in position.

SUPERIOR COURT

The Testimony Taken in the Mehan Case

In the cases of Mehan vs. Lowell Electric Light corporation, before Judge Bell at the superior civil court yesterday Clarence Armstrong, an employe of the defendant company, stated that on the night preceding the accident he looked at the switchboard and noticed that the ground indicator was indicating a ground of between 2200 and 2300 volts. The only men on duty at the time were witness, Mehan, Quinn and Livesey.

Livesey took a reading of the voltage every half hour. Continuing, witness said:

"When I saw the ground, I asked Livesey where the ground was. Mr. Livesey went to the switchboard and touched something and the hand on the indicator went back. Then he touched it again, which put it back where it was, and it showed the ground again. The regulator was taken out after the accident."

In describing the accident witness said that he saw fire and smoke and Livesey picked up sand and threw at the regulator. Then they saw Mehan, and Livesey dropped the sand and went toward him. Witness noticed that there was a burn on one of Mehan's hands and the tip of his nose was blackened.

Dr. Patrick F. Sullivan, the ambulance doctor, testified that he was called to the station about 7 o'clock in the morning and that the condition of Mehan was such as would result from a shock of electricity.

William Brophy, an electrical expert, was called and testified that in connection with this case he visited the electric light works, and examined the construction of the gallery. The whole iron framework of the gallery supporting the switchboard is electrically connected. Found on one side a chain resting pretty firmly on an "I beam." If a current of electricity was put upon any of those chains it would be carried to this chain and would charge the framework and be carried to the gallery providing there was no escape into the ground. There was a pressure of about 2300 volts. The minimum amount of voltage that would kill a healthy man is 1000 volts. It was an alternating current going through those wires. If too many lights were put on the circuit outside, it would overload the regulator. To produce a condition such as was produced there, there would have to be a ground outside.

Further testifying Mr. Brophy said: "I saw a lead mat in contact with the frame of the engine. The frame of the engine was in contact with the condenser of a boiler. The boilers, I presume, are connected with the city mains. That would connect it with one of the best kinds of grounds."

Undertaker Charles H. Molloy testified to preparing the body for burial and described the different marks on the body.

Howard C. Forbes, a consulting electrical engineer, testified along the same lines as Mr. Brophy.

The plaintiff rested its case at this point.

By agreement of counsel, it is now understood that the case which was brought by the administrator, and which alleged that there was conscious suffering on the part of the deceased, is not to be presented, but the trial proceeds on the suit of the father and mother of the deceased, which alleges that the man was instantly killed and that the father and mother were dependent upon him for support.

It is contended by the defence that the plaintiffs were not dependent upon the deceased for their support and are not therefore entitled to maintain the action; that the machinery was purchased from a reliable company and installed by an expert of that company and that the corporation had a right to rely on its efficiency in taking care of any current that might get on; and that Fred C. Mehan, the deceased, who was an oiler, was out of his place at the time of the accident; that he was a volunteer, was not entitled to be there, and that therefore the corporation is not responsible except for wilful injury to him.

Norman T. Wilcox, manager of the Lowell Electric Light Corp. was the first witness. He testified to the grounding in use at the power station and stated that about 24 hours before the accident his attention was called to a ground, indicated on the ground detector.

The case was resumed this morning at 9.30 o'clock with Manager Wilcox on the stand. At the conclusion of his testimony he was put through a rigid cross examination by Mr. Hogan.

S. John Heenan, employed at the power house, was called and testified and he was followed by James H. Markham, chief engineer at the station, Thomas T. French, superintendent of distribution, and Charles W. Munroe.

GENERAL BADGER

Formerly of 6th Mass. Regiment Dead

NEW ORLEANS, La., May 10.—Gen. Algernon S. Badger, United States appraiser for the port of New Orleans, and for many years prominent in the political history of this city, died here yesterday. Gen. Badger was a native of Boston, where he resided until the outbreak of the Civil war, when he enlisted in the 6th Massachusetts volunteers, in response to President Lincoln's first call for troops.

Later he was appointed a lieutenant in the 26th regiment, and came with his command to Ship Island, the brigade to which he belonged later occupying the forts below New Orleans, and being sent to this city at the time of its surrender to Farragut. He was one of the organizers of the first regiment of white soldiers organized at New Orleans. This command served until the close of the war, and after its muster out Gen. Badger was appointed warden of the port. Later, he served in the metropolitan police, and was in command of that force during the fight which resulted in Kellogg's overthrow, being seriously wounded.

In 1878 he was appointed postmaster of New Orleans, and in 1883 was made collector of customs, serving until his successor was appointed by President Cleveland in 1885. On the election of President Harrison he was appointed appraiser of merchandise.

SHOT HIS ENEMY

Man Killed on Board a Train

HOUSTON, Tex., May 10.—W. T. Eldredge, former vice-president and general manager of the Cane Belt railway, killed his second man on board a passenger train approaching this city yesterday.

Eldredge who had been riding in a Pullman, walked into the day car. There he met Edward Calhoun, a man who had once shot him. Both instantly went for their guns. Eldredge drew his weapon first and fired four shots. Three of them hit Calhoun and a fourth struck A. W. Turner, a passenger, in the arm. Calhoun sank to the floor, dying.

The car was filled with passengers and a stampede to get out ensued in which several women fainted. Eldredge was placed under arrest at Walls.

Two years ago, in the same coach, at nearly the same hour, while Eldredge was manager of the Cane Belt, he met Capt. William Dunovant, a director of the road, and a similar tragedy ensued. Both men drew revolvers, but Eldredge killed Dunovant.

That killing was the result of a bitter enmity among Cane Belt stockholders and directors. Twice later Eldredge was shot down from ambush, but each time he recovered. On the plea of self-defence he was acquitted of the charge of murdering Dunovant.

Eldredge then declared he would leave the state to prevent further trouble, but he failed to do so. Calhoun, whom he killed yesterday, was a close friend of Capt. Dunovant and a leader of the anti-Eldredge faction.

Eldredge, in a statement, said that Calhoun had once shot him and he had long expected trouble when they again met. He was not expecting to meet him on the train, but was at all times prepared. He said that Calhoun fired the first shot, but it missed. He then returned the fire, sending three bullets into Calhoun's breast.

FOUR WOUNDS

KAPP WAS SHOT BY A FELLOW WORKER.

PATERSON, N. J., May 10—Gustave Kapp, 35 years old, a diminutive silk weaver employed at Pelgram & Meyer's silk mill, was shot four times yesterday by a fellow worker named Henry Melsen. Kapp and Melsen left their boardinghouse, 15 North Fourth street, yesterday to go to work. In the street they quarreled about something and fought. Melsen got the worst of it. Breaking away from Kapp he returned to his boardinghouse and got a revolver. Returning he found Kapp and fired at him three times. One of the shots entered Kapp's right shoulder, the second furrowed his breast and the third injured his hand. He went to the police station and was sent to the hospital where his injuries were dressed. He left the hospital and returned to the police station, and made a complaint against Melsen. He refused to tell the cause of the quarrel.

He then left the station to go home. As he was going along Hamburgh avenue, Melsen jumped out of a doorway and fired again at him. This time the shot took effect in Kapp's breast.

Acting as a human target didn't worry Kapp much. He simply turned around and walked back to the police station and reported the second shooting. He was sent to the hospital again and the doctors there were instructed not to release him until Melsen was found. None of the wounds is dangerous.

COST $500

VICE-PRESIDENT FAIRBANKS PICKS HIS INKSTAND.

WASHINGTON, May 10.—Vice-President and Mrs. Fairbanks yesterday selected the inkstand which will adorn the vice-president's desk, and which according to established custom will become the property of Mr. Fairbanks when he retires from office. Of late years the vice-presidential inkstands have increased in elaborateness, and incidentally in price, as the designers have vied with each other in producing stands that will make beautiful and lasting souvenirs.

A dozen jewelers submitted designs for Mr. Fairbanks's inkstand, and he and Mrs. Fairbanks had a choice collection from which to make a selection when they appeared today at the office of the secretary of the senate, where the beautiful wares were set forth for inspection. A creation of silver, gold and cut glass made by Tiffany caught their fancy, and it will be on the vice-president's desk when he raps the senate to order next October. The cover is a clever imitation of the dome of the capitol. The limit of cost of the souvenir is $500.

SCHWAB SAILS.

LONDON, May 10.—Charles M. Schwab sailed for New York today from Liverpool on the steamship Baltic. Prior to his departure he said that with the exception of the Russian negotiations his trip had no significance.

HE WAS KILLED

Because He Called the Police

NEW YORK, May 10—Frank Maurer, a German laborer, of 231 First avenue, shot and killed Abraham Goldstein of 14 Monroe street last night in a saloon at Twelfth street and First avenue. The shooting grew out of the refusal of Maurer to pay for two beers which he had ordered for Thomas Devine and a man known as "Buttons" who entered the saloon while Maurer was drinking. Goldstein served the drinks, and when Maurer refused to pay he threatened to call a policeman. At that, Maurer, it is alleged, drew a revolver, compelling Goldstein and his partner, Oscar Foster, to keep their heads below the bar.

Goldstein crept along the bar and made a dash into a back room. There he procured a club and ran out the Twelfth street entrance of the place. He ran around to First avenue and rapped for a policeman. As one approached he turned back into the saloon, where he was met at the door by Maurer, who fired one shot, which went through Goldstein's heart, killing him instantly.

Maurer ran through the back room to Twelfth street, where he turned east with a crowd at his heels. Policemen Wasserman, Durr and Moran of the Fifth street station, who had heard Goldstein's rapping, were not far behind, and as they closed in on the man he ran into a tenement house at 198 Avenue A, where he was captured.

The revolver, which Maurer had thrown away during his flight, was found in a heap of sand that the prisoner pointed out.

Maurer was taken to the Fifth street station, where he was identified by Goldstein's partner and locked up. He admitted the shooting, but said that he fired in self-defense when Goldstein went at him with the club.

A FORTUNE

MISS FITZ STRUCK IT RICH IN THE KLONDIKE.

BOSTON, May 10.—Miss Frances Fitz, who left here five years ago and went to Alaska with a party sent out by a New York syndicate, has returned to her home in Medford with a fortune estimated at over $500,000. She has been United States Deputy Recorder, owner of a newspaper, keeper of an insane woman, land staker, land owner, mine owner, and is now at the head of a big mining company. In an interview she said:

"The hard things that I experienced you can't understand. My place is at Council City, near Nome, 2000 miles up in the Klondike. For a year I lived in a tent.

"My good fortune was due to being named deputy recorder, which gave me a knowledge of every claim on Ophir creek, one of the richest in Alaska. I suppose I took several hundred claims in all, like everybody else, only to let them go again. Then I discovered by surveys at my own expense that part of a very valuable property was in reality unclaimed. That is how I got my mine.

"Conditions are all changed in Alaska now. Hand work is too expensive to be done with a profit, and the future belongs to the capitalist with his machinery."

A SUICIDE

MRS. STRONG SHOT AND KILLED HERSELF.

ENGLEWOOD, N. J., May 10—Mrs. Benjamin Strong, Jr., wife of the secretary of the Bankers Trust company of New York City shot and killed herself today during a fit of what doctors call temporary insanity. She was a daughter of John Lebouttillier of New York. Mrs. Strong had been suffering from nervous exhaustion since the birth of a child six months ago.

FOREST FIRE

TIMBER OWNED BY DIAMOND MATCH COMPANY BURNED.

CONCORD, N. H., May 10—The local fire department was called upon at noon today for aid in fighting a forest fire at Mast-yard, a station on the Claremont branch of the Boston & Maine, Concord division, about seven miles from here. The fire is devastating timber land owned by the Diamond Match company and is in such a situation that no water is available for fighting it. A large detail of men was sent from this city.

GANG OF THIEVES

The New Haven Road Lost $50,000

NEW HAVEN, May 10—By arrests made within the last three days, one of them in this city on Sunday, the New Haven railroad officials believe they have broken up a gang of thieving employes who have cost the road over $50,000. Wholesale stealing has been going on at Maybrook, N. Y., ten miles back of Newburgh, where the New Haven road has a large freight transfer station. Much merchandise brought to that place by other railroads to be transferred to the Consolidated has been mysteriously lost in the last year.

Chief Inspector James F. Valley, Jr., of the railroad police was put on the job and on Sunday morning arrested John J. Foley, a locomotive fireman here. Foley was taken to Maybrook today, charged with grand larceny. Charles Winfield, employed on the transfer platform, was arrested at Maybrook. The ringleader of the gang, a freight shifter, has escaped to New York.

Valuable bales of raw silk, cases of champagne and all kinds of freight have been stolen. A search by detectives around Campbell Hall and Maybrook brought to light the fact that railroad men had been selling expensive shoes to second hand dealers for 69 cents a pair. In boarding houses occupied by some of the suspected persons many stolen articles were found. One man had his bedtick lined with choice tobacco. Champagne was stored in barns. When arrested Foley was wearing a pair of shoes which he admitted were a part of the loot. He has been living, while in this city, at the Railroad Y. M. C. A. Inspector Valley says $50,000 is a conservative estimate of the freight losses which the New Haven road has had to pay.

ASSASSIN'S NOTE

Says Czarism Will be Extinguished

PARIS, May 10.—M. Lubanlvitch, editor of the Russian revolutionary organ here, has received a copy of a letter from Ivan Kaleieff, who assassinated Grand Duke Serglus at Moscow, making a final address to his comrades. Kaleieff says:

"My life has been a contest against the odious tyranny of czarism and death crowns that work. To die with such convictions is to summon others to the combat. What ever may be the number of victims required to extinguish czarism I have the firm conviction that our generation will achieve the work for all time."

TUESDAY CLUB

WAS ENTERTAINED BY MRS. C. F. TUTTLE.

Mrs. C. F. Tuttle of 28 June street entertained the Tuesday social circle yesterday afternoon. Supper was served between six and eight o'clock, about 45 members enjoying the repast. During the evening phonograph selections were given under the direction of Mr. Charles Enstrome, while Miss Ada Jasper and George Tuttle gave vocal selections. Miss Ethel Tuttle presided at the organ.

NOT A CANDIDATE

Roosevelt Will Not Run for President Again

OMAHA, Neb., May 10.—The Bee quotes Pres. Roosevelt as making the statement that he will not be a candidate for re-election. The Bee says:

"You are authorized to state that I will not again be a candidate for the office of president of the United States. There are no strings on this statement. I mean it. I made my speech at Denver for the purpose of convincing the people of my earnestness in regard to the matter of renomination. I will not be satisfied with any compromise that does not bring out of the people that conditions that now exist in regard to transportation affairs in the country. No compromise by my friends in congress will be accepted."

"This is Pres. Roosevelt's reply to a representative of the Bee on his special train as it journeyed across Nebraska. Published statements to the effect that the president would be forced to accept a renomination by the people who would be aroused to that pitch by the failure of congress to enact remedial legislation was shown him. He expressed himself most emphatically that he was not to be swayed from his determination by any advances that might be made him no matter in what disguise they came."

FOR PAVING BILL

Union Paving Company Against City

For Repairs Made on Westford Street

It looks now as if the city of Lowell and the Union Paving company of Worcester would get into a legal battle. The paving company claims that the city owes it $1000 for work alleged to have been done on the streets of Lowell. This bill is for repairs, and the city refuses to pay on the ground that the work was guaranteed for five years, and that the said repairs were made within this limit. The work in question was done on Westford street.

AUDITOR CHASE

Arrangements For the Funeral Made

The funeral of the late city auditor, David Chase, will take place tomorrow afternoon. City Messenger Pattee said this morning that he had communicated with the family of the departed official, and that by this afternoon all the arrangements would be completed. It is probable that Arthur Salmon will have charge of the funeral. City Messenger Pattee, clerk of committees Dowling, together with the mayor and the committee from the city council, will attend the funeral in a body.

SERIOUS CHARGE

CAPTAIN BONSER ACCUSED OF TRYING TO CAUSE DISASTER.

VICTORIA, B. C., May 10.—Charges have been forwarded to Ottawa by Capt. Johnston of the River steamer Mount Royal, through the merchant service guild of Victoria, alleging that Capt. Bonser, a rival skipper of the Hazelton, deliberately rammed his vessel on the Skeina river and also at a past date performed a similar act on the Ramona in the Fraser river. Further charges have been made that Capt. Bonser endeavored to induce one of his crew to remove aids to navigation in order to precipitate disaster to a rival vessel.

TO SAVE WOMAN

Italian Government Will Spend $100,000

NEW YORK, May 10.—The Italian government has come to the assistance of Mrs. Anna Valentina, who is condemned to be hanged at Hackensack, N. J., on Friday, for the murder of Rosa Salga, and has instructed its representative in this city to spend $100,000, if necessary, to prevent the sentence being carried out.

Gustavo Tosti, consul general for Italy, said yesterday:

"I have received instructions from my government, both from Rome and through Washington, to spend $100,000, if necessary, in the defence of Anna Valentina, and prevent, if possible, the death sentence being carried out.

"This woman didn't get a fair trial. We think this woman committed homicide in self-defence.

James M. Trimble, counsel for Mrs. Valentina, in the application for a writ of habeas corpus, contended that the woman had not received a fair trial under the constitution of the United States, and that there had been in her trial a violation of the treaty of 1871 between the United States and Italy.

He said that the question of the guilt or innocence of the woman had never been tried. She had admitted the killing, but by the instructions of the court a plea of not guilty had been entered and the evidence had been taken to ascertain the degree of guilt. This was done under a section of the criminal statutes of New Jersey which was repealed in 1893 and superseded by a section under which no plea of guilty is accepted in capital cases.

Counsel Trimble also called attention to the fact that the word "acquittal" did not appear in the judge's charge to the jury, but that, on the contrary, the court told the jury that it must find the woman guilty at least in the second degree of murder.

Mrs. Valentina when informed in the jail later that there was hope for her, expressed her joy by saying:

"Ah, then it is true. My prayers have been answered. I am not to die on Friday. The white dove that rested upon the window of my cell was a bird of good omen."

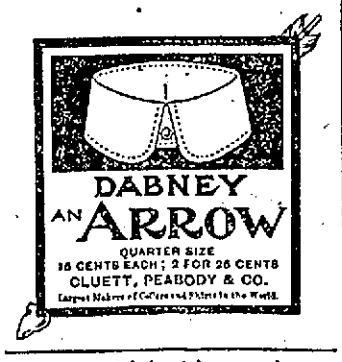

NO INJUNCTION

PETITION OF EQUITABLE POLICY HOLDER WAS DENIED.

NEW YORK, May 10—Justice McLean, in the state supreme court today denied the application of Herbert G. Tull, of Philadelphia, a policy holder in the Equitable Life Assurance society, for an injunction, restraining that society and the New York state supt. of insurance from proceeding further with respect to the proposed amended charter of the Equitable which was sent to the superintendent of insurance for his approval. The amended charter provides for the mutualization of the society.

TAX DODGERS

Committee to Meet This Evening

It Contains About 8000 Names

The tax investigating committee will meet this evening at 7.30 o'clock when a conference will be held with the city treasurer. Thursday evening the committee will also have a session when it is expected that further probing will be done. It is more than probable that the committee will take a look at the assessors' office.

This morning City Treasurer Stiles filed with Clerk of Committees Frank M. Dowling the list of the delinquents for the year 1902. This list contains about 8000 names. Each page is numbered and at the bottom of each page the exact number of names contained on the page is given, so that the members will have no trouble in seeing at a glance how many delinquents there are on each page.

GRAND COTILLION

SKETCH OF THE STAGE DECORATIONS AT PRESCOTT HALL LAST EVENING.

Brilliant Affair Managed by Two Young Ladies

Prescott hall, decorated in lavish style and beautified as it has never been before, was the scene of a most novel and enjoyable party held in Lowell. It was the third cotillion under the management of Misses Josephine Ward and Madeline Crevier, and like the two preceding ones it was a brilliant success. In response to the invitations issued by the young ladies 100 took part in the several figures and the merry dancers were afforded entertainment never excelled here. The decorative feature of the hall was something unique and catchy, being confined entirely to floral effects which were very striking. Roses, violets and wisteria were used in abundance and banked the stage and walls, and curtained the great windows. From the center of the hall was suspended a huge floral bell which later contributed to the success of the second cotillion.

During the evening three cotillions were given, the first one having for favors a pair of tiny roller skates which were made by the young lady managers. Each pair of skates was numbered and one skate was given to each lady and each gentleman.

After receiving his favor the gentleman went around the hall looking for the young lady who held "his number." Then they were partners for that figure.

The second cotillion consisted of a snow storm, and a snow ball scene which certainly provided no end of amusement. The large bell attached to the center of the ceiling and containing bushels of confetti was automatically made to revolve and showered its contents on the heads of the dancers. The favors for this cotillion were snow balls made of confetti and cotton. The object of this feature was to have the participants snow ball each other. The way in which the Textile school boys "threw their arms out" in this favor was certainly amusing.

The third cotillion which was the "greatest of them all." Everybody marched around the hall and into the reception room. On the return to the hall the ladies received large summer hats elegantly trimmed in all the different colors. The hat was in the form of a poke bonnet and would have done justice to any of our swell milliners. The gentlemen's favor was also a hat in the shape of a becoming sailor with different colors of ribbon on each. One should see this favor to appreciate its effect. It assumed proportions of a grand march, the participants coming down the hall in fours and eights to the inspiring music of the orchestra playing the latest rag-time music thereby making the figure somewhat of a burlesque "cake-walk." One of the laughable features of this "parade" was the comical antics of Purchasing Agent Donnelly who wore a policeman's costume and had for his "prisoner" his friend "Billy" Purcell.

It was one o'clock this morning before the final number was danced and congratulations were heaped on Miss Ward and Miss Crevier for their tact in arranging so unique an affair.

The cotillions were led by Miss Josephine Ward with Mr. Chas. Woodruff, of Alabama, Mr. George Burke and Mr. William McDonald.

The matrons were Mrs. Charles Crevier, Mrs. Thomas E. Ward, Mrs. Frank Brady, Mrs. John H. Coffey and Mrs. Lawrence J. Smith.

Among the out-of-town guests present were: Mr. Michael Cotter, Mr. Lawrence Cotter and Harry L. O'Leary of Somerville; Dr. Alfred Southgate and Dr. Pin Chase, both of Harvard college; Mr. Thomas O'Connor of Westford; Mr. Edward T. Wirth, New York city; Mr. W. J. Burns and John Killaky, both of Andover; Miss Belle Wrenn, of Somerville; Miss May Hannigan, of Fitchburg; Miss Kate Manley, of Roxbury; Miss Alice Chapman and Miss Blanche Chapman, of Cambridge; Miss Gertrude Downing of Dorchester; Miss Minnie Marra, of Holyoke; Miss Catherine McDowell, of South Boston; Mr. Lincoln Beddick, of West Chelmsford; Mr. James R. Allen, of Groveland. The following were the names of the Lawrence people who graced the occasion with their presence: Mr. Thomas Collins, Mr. John Daly, Jr., Mr. John Dineen, Mr. James Dineen, Mr. John Gallagher, Mr. George Herbst, Mr. William Herbst, Mr. Thomas Garry, Mr. Martin Kilcourse, Mr. Ashton Lee, Mr. Neil Webster, Mr. William Mahoney, Mr. William Maloney, Miss Helen O'Brien and Mr. Frank Arundel, and Mr. Edward Maguire of the Boston Post.

Music was furnished by the Middlesex orchestra.

WOMAN'S STORY

SAYS SON COMPLAINED OF ILL TREATMENT.

WATERBURY, Vt., May 10.—The legislative committee which is investigating conditions at various state institutions today renewed its examination of witnesses here with regard to the conduct of the state insane hospital in Waterbury. Mrs. C. H. Stevens of St. Albans, testified that her son Harry, 20 years of age, had been committed to the hospital as a private patient some time ago and that he complained frequently of ill-treatment at the hands of the attendants. He alleged that he was often choked and thrown on the floor.

M. H. Alexander, constable of the town of Georgia, testified that he had committed two patients to the Waterbury institution during the past two years. One of these, Michael O'Connolly, had been bed-ridden for a year before he went to the hospital but upon his arrival there he was made to sit in a chair. He died about three weeks later.

Witness could not say whether this treatment hastened the death.

Thomas Kelley, of Richmond, formerly a nurse at the hospital, was the next witness. He said that while he was at the institution, he believed no more violence than was necessary was used in restraining the patients. He declared the food always was good.

ENTERS SUIT

STEAMER WAS ATTACHED FOR $3000.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., May 10.—Steamer Peninsular of the Insular Navigation company, which arrived Monday from Lisbon with 700 passengers, was attached today in action of tort to recover $3000, Manuel T. D'Oliveira of Fall River, a passenger of two years ago on the same steamer, alleging that the company detained him in a building in this city which was unsuitable for habitation, and in consequence of which he contracted an illness. The steamer was allowed to sail after sureties were furnished.

SUES HER SON

Property of a Methuen Man Attached

LAWRENCE, May 10—Mrs. Helen A. Clark of Methuen has attached the property of her son, Frank A. Clark, in the sum of $1000, in an action of contract. Mrs. Clark's husband died a few months ago, leaving to his family two farms in Methuen valued at $3000. In order that the homestead might remain in the Clark name, she desired that it be deeded to her oldest son, Frank, who she said had agreed in turn to care for her during her life. The deed was made and the mother refused to make any reservations whatever, saying she had implicit faith in her son.

Soon after the transfer was made her son, who is 35 years old, announced that he was to be married. He was married soon after to a Somerville woman. The couple settled on the farm in Methuen.

Later, Mrs. Clark, the mother of Frank left the house and said she had been driven out by the young people in violation of her son's oral agreement to take care of her. The young people say the mother left on her own accord.

Papers in the attachment were filed here yesterday by counsel for Mrs. Clark.

RAPID GROWTH

IN EXPORTS OF LEATHER AND MANUFACTURES THEREOF.

WASHINGTON, May 9.—Exports of leather and manufactures thereof from the United States during the calendar year 1904 amounted to 35 4-5 million dollars, as against 23 millions from the United Kingdom, and during the first quarter of the present calendar year those from the United States amounted to $9,125,837, as against $6,425,911 from the United Kingdom during the same period. A statement just compiled by the department of commerce and labor through its bureau of statistics presents the statistics of leather exportations from the United Kingdom and the United States, respectively, during the past decade. They show that the United States is exporting leather and the manufactures thereof at the rate of about 36 million dollars per annum, as against about 23 million dollars for the United Kingdom. Of the exports of leather from the United Kingdom, amounting, during the past year, to $23,146,363, the largest portion was unwrought leather, tanned or dressed, the exports of which amounted to $8,320,000; the next largest item, boots and shoes, amounted to $7,699,000; miscellaneous manufactures of leather, $4,790,000 (of which $3,655,000 represented the value of gloves exported), and harness and saddlery, $2,320,000.

Of our own exportations of leather in its various forms the principal articles are for the calendar year 1904, upper leather, $18,026,201; sole leather, $8,685,100; boots and shoes, $7,319,775; and miscellaneous manufactures of leather $1,794,323.

The United Kingdom exports boots and shoes principally to her own colonies, viz, British South Africa, New Zealand, the British East Indies, Australia, and the British West Indies, while a comparatively small amount goes to other countries. To British South Africa the exports of boots and shoes from the United Kingdom during the calendar year 1904 amounted to $3,887,000, being $1,695,000 less than those for 1903, when the total was $5,582,000, and $2,133,000 less than those of 1902, when the total was about $6,020,000 in value. To New Zealand, Great Britain's exports show a steady increase, the total for the three years named being $338,000 in 1902, $436,000 in 1903, and $528,000 in 1904. There is also an increase in Great Britain's exports of boots and shoes to British East Indies, the respective totals being $630,879 in 1902, $739,017 in 1903, and $876,058 in 1904. There is but little increase, however, in her exports of boots and shoes to Australia, the total being $592,774 in 1904, as against $585,775 in the preceding year, while for 1902 there was a total of $703,243. In the total exports there is a steady decrease, the total having been $9,229,823 in 1902, $8,980,542 in 1903, and but $7,632,019 in 1904.

The United States exports boots and shoes to all parts of the world, about one-half going to North America, about one-third of the total to Europe, about 10 per cent. to Australia and the Philippine islands, and the remainder to South America, Africa, Asia, and various other countries. The United Kingdom and British possessions are by far our largest customers for boots and shoes. To the United Kingdom our exports during 1904 amounted to $1,757,724; to the West Indies, $1,635,909; to British Australasia $644,270, and to British Africa, $229,841. Mexico ranks fourth as a market for American boots and shoes, and to that country our exports show a steady growth, having been $878,536 in 1904 as against $689,331 in 1903 and $630,607 in 1902. Canada and the other British North American provinces also offer a growing market for American boots and shoes, our exports to that section of the Western hemisphere having been $944,247 in 1904 as against $744,299 in 1903 and $591,329 in 1902. Our total exports of boots and shoes have increased from $4,850,179 in 1894 to $6,450,412 in 1902, $7,244,726 in 1903, and $7,319,775 in 1904.

From Germany the exports of boots and shoes average a little over 2 million dollars per annum, from France about 3 1-3 millions, from Spain about 3 millions, from the United Kingdom about 7 2-3 millions, and from the United States about 7 1-3 millions. During March, 1905, the latest month for which figures are available, the exports of boots and shoes from the United States actually exceeded those from the United Kingdom, being $802,361 in value as against a total of $756,892 for the United Kingdom, the United States thus occupying first rank among the world's exporters of boots and shoes. In 1853 our total exports of boots and shoes were about three-quarters of a million dollars in value, or less than those for the first three months of the present year, while in the calendar year just ended they were $7,319,775, or within less than $400,000 of the record made by the United Kingdom.

This rapid growth suggests a comparison of the exports of boots and shoes from the United Kingdom and the United States during a series of years, and the table herewith presented illustrates the growth in exports of boots and shoes from the United States and the stationary character of the trade in this commodity from the United Kingdom during the past twelve years.

SUMMER WORK

PLANS FOR THE NORTHFIELD CONFERENCES.

EAST NORTHFIELD, May 10—The plans for the Northfield summer conferences, as just announced by Mr. W. R. Moody, son of the evangelist, D. L. Moody promise one of the liveliest seasons in the history of the work. Six main assemblies are under way, including the well known college conference, which has met at Northfield since 1886, a similar conference for young women, a summer school for S. S. workers, under the direction of the Massachusetts State S. S. association, a summer school for missionaries, managed by the Women's Boards of Foreign missions of the United States and Canada, a general conference for Christian workers, the oldest assembly of the kind in America, and a series of post conference meetings lasting until September 15. Most of the gatherings will be of an international nature and the missionary school is expected to bring together one of the largest delegations of foreign workers ever assembled in this country. Many methods of religious work will be brought up and discussed during the summer, the first four assemblies dealing specifically with different branches of Christianity, and the general conference combining and energizing them all by the inspiring power of the Holy Spirit.

Nearly all the foreign speakers who took part in the conferences last year are again scheduled to speak, and in addition, an unusually strong corps of men are on the program. The list as announced includes Prebendary Webb-Peploe, of St. Paul's Cathedral; Dr. G. Campbell Morgan, of Westminster, London; Prof. R. A. Falconer, of Halifax; Dr. S. M. Zwemer, of Arabia; Dr. C. R. Watson, of Egypt; Mr. John R. Mott, Rev. A. F. Shauffler D. D., Mr. Robert E. Speer, Mrs. W. A. Montgomery, of Rochester; Prof. James Denney, of Glasgow; Mr. John Willis Baer, and Dr. Johnstone Ross, of Cambridge.

The exact dates of the conferences are as follows: Student conference, June 30 to July 9; young women's conference, July 11 to 20; summer school for Sunday school workers, July 22 to 30; summer school for women's missionary societies, July 24 to 31; general conference for Christian workers, August 4 to 20; post conference addresses, August 22 to September 15.

GIRL MISSING

GRETTA RANKIN HAD TROUBLE WITH HER LOVER.

BOSTON, May 10.—Three weeks ago Gretta Rankin, 24 years old, who lodged at 73 Appleton street, left there, telling her chum that she would never see her again. She was despondent and her friend interpreted her statement as meaning that not only she but no one else would ever see her again. So far the girl has kept her threat, and last evening, tired of hunting all over the city, the girl's friend told the police.

The police were disinclined to disclose all that had been told them about the missing girl, but it is understood that she had trouble with her lover. A few weeks ago he disappeared, and since then Miss Rankin seemed greatly changed. She worried much over the departure of her lover, and finally was obliged to give up work. She tried in every way to find out where he was and bring about a reconciliation, and in this was assisted by her friend, who lived with her, but the man had disappeared for good.

LYNN INDEPENDENT TEAM SUES

Trouble Arose Over Cancellation of Game

LYNN, May 10—The contest between the Lynn baseball team of the New England league and the Lynn Association club, an independent organization, was renewed today when legal proceedings were instituted against the N. E. league officials by the Lynn Baseball and Amusement association, which controls the independent nine. The proceedings grow out of the action yesterday of Pres. T. Murnane of the N. E. league in protesting against a game arranged between the Chicago National League club and the association nine here. Pres. Murnane in his protest stated that the Lynn club of the N. E. league and the Fall River nine had a game yesterday at Glenmere Park and that the National Baseball agreement to which Chicago is a party made Lynn "protected territory." When the Chicago club manager received the protest he decided to cancel the game with the association.

The association today entered suits for alleged damages of $5,000 each against Pres. Murnane, Secretary Jacob S. Morse of the N. E. league, Thomas R. McDermott, manager of the Fall River club, and one Charles H. Rogers, supposedly of Lynn. The association claims that a letter appeared in a Boston Sunday paper signed with the name of Rogers, calling the attention of the league officials to the proposed Chicago-Association game.

In the suits the plaintiff charges conspiracy to injure and cause financial loss to the association by preventing Chicago from carrying out its contract.

PROTECT JEWS

Officials Say Orders Were Issued

AND DISCLAIM ALL RESPONSIBILITY

For This New Attack on Jewish Residents

ST. PETERSBURG, May 10—Noon—No further details have reached here from Zhitomir, capital of the province of Volkynia, in Southwestern Russia, the scene of the recent attacks of Orthodox Christians on Jews. It is asserted that a fortnight before the disorders, proclamations were spread calling on the Christians to beat the Jews. When these proclamations were shown to the mayor of Zhitomir the latter declared them to be stupid and said there was no occasion for alarm.

At the ministry of the interior, it is said that M. Bouligin sent urgent instructions the night of May 8 to Zhitomir ordering the authorities there to protect the Jews and to prevent disorders.

The creditors of M. Kroushevén (former editor of the Bessarabiets) have levied on his new paper, the friend recently established at Kishineff.

POLICE BOARD

On Annual Tour of Inspection Today

There was great cleaning and fixing up about the local hotels and saloons yesterday because the police commissioners are on their annual tour of inspection today and the proprietors appear to have got word of the visit a day ahead.

The three commissioners with Superintendent Moffatt started out at an early hour, each carrying a note book, and they were kept on the move all day.

FAMED MUSICIAN

HUBERT C. BESELER, DEAD AT CHICAGO.

CHICAGO, May 10.—Hubert C. Beseler is dead at a hospital here following an operation. He was known throughout America and Europe as an organist and finished interpreter of church music.

CITY COUNCIL

Took Action on Death of Mr. Chase

Both branches of the city government met last evening and did honor to the memory of the late revered city auditor, David Chase. Committees to attend the funeral and to draw up appropriate resolutions were appointed, and the meeting adjourned out of respect for the departed official. No other business was transacted, although considerable routine business was upon the table.

The board of aldermen was called together by Chairman Grant shortly after 8 o'clock and he read the following communication from His Honor Mayor Casey, in relation to the death of City Auditor Chase:

"Gentlemen:—It is with profound sorrow that I announce to you the death of David Chase. For over 30 years he faithfully performed the duties of his position, giving to the city conscientious public service. Changes of administration and the drawing of party lines had no effect on him, because his worth was recognized, and it was realized that no one could perform the duties in a more satisfactory manner.

"He was an ideal public servant, and a citizen whose honesty and integrity were unquestioned. He was loved and esteemed by all who had the pleasure of knowing him. His death is a great loss to our city.

"To properly honor his memory and to recognize his services to the city, I recommend that your honorable body take such action as may be necessary."

A joint order calling for a joint convention to take action on Mr. Chase's death was then read and adopted. The order was then sent to the common council, and a moment later the aldermen appeared in the council chamber.

Chairman Grant of the board of aldermen then read the order providing for the appointment of committees to attend the funeral of Mr. Chase and to draw up resolutions on his death. The order was adopted.

Chairman Grant named the following committees:

To attend the funeral—Mayor Casey, Alderman Grant, President Dodge of the council, Alderman Carmichael, Alderman Braden, Councilmen Marcotte, Councilman White, Councilman Cronin.

Resolutions—Alderman Cosgrove, Alderman Walker, Councilman Blake, Councilman Wilder, Councilman John Daly.

On motion of Alderman Rourke, the convention then dissolved.

The council adjourned immediately and when the aldermen returned to their chamber, they voted to adjourn until Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock.

FIRES ARE OUT

No Fresh Outbreak of Plymouth

PLYMOUTH, Mass., May 10.—The fresh outbreak late yesterday of flames in parts of the district covered by the great forest fire which was practically extinguished yesterday morning with the aid of heavy showers did not prove serious and the large force of men who were on hand to watch the smouldering embers had little difficulty in keeping them under control. While small blazes are expected to occur frequently for several days, as the wind fans into life sparks not wholly deadened, these are not likely to spread into new territory. Men will guard the scene until it is known that ever vestige of the fire is killed.

NEGROES OBJECT

To Statements of the Drivers Union

CHICAGO, May 10.—More than 1,000 negroes have assembled at the Bethel African Methodist church and adopted resolutions read by Mrs. Ida Wells Barnett, protesting against the action of the department store drivers' union, which the resolutions asserted, circulated a "slanderous" letter against negro drivers, declaring them to be "loafers," not willing to work.

This charge was denounced as a willful and malicious falsehood against men who proved their value by risking their lives to obtain work. The resolutions also called upon the mayor to "save hard working citizens from that kind of protection which lets the rioter go free and sends the victim to the jails and hospitals."

LOEB ESCAPED

President's Secretary Avoided the Sheriff

SUMMONS IN MAE WOOD CASE

Could Not be Served by Official

MISSOURI VALLEY, Iowa, May 10.—Wm. Loeb, Jr., secretary to the president, passed safely through Nebraska without being served with a summons in an action filed by Miss Mae Wood, demanding $35,000 on a charge of conspiring to deprive her of a certain missive alleged to have been written to her by a U. S. senator. The secretary's escape from service was the result of a change in the itinerary of the presidential special, by which the train was transferred to the tracks of the Elk Horn division of the Chicago & N. W. at Freemont, Neb., and run to Missouri Valley, Ia., where connection was made with the main line. The change left Douglas county, Nebraska, and the sheriff with his summons about 30 miles off the route of the special. No announcement had been made of the altered plans until the special arrived in the yards at Freemont, Neb.

Porters on the presidential cars bewailed the fact that supplies for the train had been ordered sent to Omaha and that the new program would leave them with insufficient material to serve the party tomorrow. U. S. Senator Burkett and Edward Rosewater, publisher of the Omaha Bee, who boarded the train at Grand Island, Neb., to accompany the president to Omaha, were in a quandry as to reaching home but were cared for by Vice Pres. Mohler in his private car.

THE SHERIFF

SAYS HE WILL GIVE UP THE TASK.

OMAHA, Neb., May 10.—Sheriff Power of this county was on hand at the Union station last night in anticipation of the arrival of Pres. Roosevelt's train with the intention of serving on Sec. Loeb a summons in the Mae Wood suit, filed 10 days ago, against Mr. Loeb, Robert J. Wynne and J. Martin Miller, for $35,000 damages. The sheriff accepted the change of route as a plan to avoid him, and said he would not pursue the matter further at this time.

Miss Wood has made the statement that if Sec. Loeb avoided the summons she would transfer her suit to the federal court and secure summons by means of a U. S. marshal.

CANOBIE LAKE

GREAT ATTRACTIONS IN PREPARATION FOR THE SEASON.

A great many improvements are being made at Canobie Lake park in preparation for the summer season. President Belden and General Manager Franklin Woodman state that the New Hampshire Traction company will surpass all former efforts in adding new attractions, in furnishing high class entertainments at the theatre and in other ways making the park a magnet to draw forth the pleasure seekers from every direction. There will be a roller skating rink, a merry-go-round, a new steam launch, boxball alleys and the penny arcade will be enlarged to twice its present size.

The band stand in the dancing pavilion is to be changed to the side nearest the lake. The restaurants will be again under popular management of Graves & Ramsdell. The Park will open Sunday, May 28, with two free concerts by the famous Salem Cadet band, Jean Missud conductor. The dancing pavilion will open May 16 for private parties; May 29 for regular dancing. Carl Braun, of Collinsville, manager, same as last year; an orchestra of seven pieces will be in attendance. Altogether the patrons are promised rare attractions this summer at Canobie.

POLICE BOARD

AND THE GRANTING OF THEATRE LICENSES.

City Solicitor Hill has decided that the Board of Police still has the power to grant theatre licenses despite the new law recently passed by the legislature giving such power to mayors of cities. The solicitor is of the opinion that this law does not apply to Lowell.

Little Esther Mulgrave and Master Frederick Mulgrave danced at the Mary Chilton colony, M. O. P. F., of Lawrence, last week and proved great favorites.

TOOK REVENGE

Lowell Team Shut Out Nashua Yesterday Afternoon

Visitors Made Three Times as Many Hits as Home Team But Lowell's Great Fielding Saved the Day

Steve Flanagan's Nashua team flushed with their clever victory of Monday and proud of their new pitcher Sanderson, came to Spalding Park yesterday afternoon for another try at it.

The day was rather cold for the game with a heavy breeze blowing and the attendance considerably better than during any week day of last week.

Both teams practiced with considerable animation giving promise of a snappy game later.

One of the noticeable features of the Nashua lineup was that one-third of the team was Murphy, Henry Murphy pitching, Tommy Murphy playing second base while Johnny Murphy played third base. "Nixey" Coughlin was on the slab for the Lowell team.

Umpire McCloud called the game shortly after three o'clock.

FIRST INNING.

Neither team scored during the first inning, though Lowell had a very good chance to send a man or more over the plate. There were but five balls pitched over the plate before Nashua was retired. Beard hit in front of the plate and Anderberg had the ball in a second and had the batter tagged out. Eaton hit between second and short stop for a single. Connaughton filed out to Connors. Hart sent a grounder to Connors and was thrown out at first.

In Lowell's half Grant drew his base on balls and Billy Connors struck out. Grant then stole second base. Jackson hit to J. Murphy and was out at first, while Grant went down to third on the play. Bigbie hit to Johnnie Murphy and was the third man out.

Score—Lowell 0, Nashua 0.

SECOND INNING.

The visitors got as far as third in the second inning, but failed to score, while Lowell went out in one, two, three order. For Nashua, Henry hit to McLaughlin and was out at first. John Wiley, the long boy, made his first appearance on the local diamond in uniform this year and the rooters immediately got after him while a number of the old polo cranks also got in their good work. John opened with a hit beyond third base and then stole second. T. Murphy hit to McLaughlin who threw to third base to catch Wiley but J. Connors dropped the ball. J. Murphy hit to McLaughlin who threw home, and Wiley was caught between third base and the home plate. The other two men on base advanced a base on the play. H. Murphy closed Nashua's half by striking out.

For Lowell, J. Connors sent a grounder to J. Murphy and was out at first. Merritt and McLaughlin hit grounders to Connaughton and were out at first.

Score—Lowell 0, Nashua 0.

THIRD INNING.

Nashua went out in quick order in the third inning. Beard hit to McLaughlin and was out at first. Eaton hit over Coughlin's head, but "Nixey" made one of those high jumps and brought the ball down and sent it to first. Connaughton hit to Connors and was the third man out.

Lowell broke the ice in the third inning by sending a man over the plate. Anderburg, the first man up, hit a hot one to Henry Murphy who knocked it down, and threw to first, but Wiley dropped the ball and the runner was safe. Coughlin sacrificed sending Anderburg to second. Grant hit to Tom Murphy and was out at first, Anderburg going down to third. Connors hit a Texas leaguer to left field, scoring Anderburg. Jackson was the last man out on a fly to J. Murphy.

Score—Lowell 1, Nashua 0.

FOURTH INNING.

In the fourth inning Lowell showed up fine infielding and saved Nashua from scoring. Hart drew his base on balls and Henry sent a red hot grounder to McLaughlin who stopped it, stepped on second base and then threw to first for a double play. Wiley then filed out to Grant and Grant caught the ball but trying to throw home dropped the ball and the umpire called it a fumble and declared Wiley safe. Grant ran in from the field to protest, but the umpire would not allow it to go, Wiley in the meantime going down to second. Tom Murphy hit to deep right field for a single and Wiley tried to come all the way home and was caught at the plate by Anderberg, who received a fine throw from the field made by Grant.

Bigbie hit to J. Murphy but the latter fumbled the ball. He was tagged out later however while trying to steal second. J. Connors hit to H. Murphy and was out at first. Merritt closed the inning by flying out to Beard.

Score—Lowell 1, Nashua 0.

FIFTH INNING.

In the fifth for Nashua J. Murphy filed out to Grant. Hugh Murphy then struck out. Beard and Eaton made singles, Connaughton closed the inning by hitting to deep right centre, but Grant after a long run made a fine catch.

McLaughlin opened with a base on balls, Anderberg sacrificed sending him to second. Coughlin hit to Tom Murphy and was out at first. Grant hit to Connaughton and was out at first.

Score—Lowell 1, Nashua 0.

SIXTH INNING.

Hart opened with a single to left field. He tried to steal second and Anderberg made a throw but it was rather wild. Barney McLaughlin was covering the base and jumping high into the air the little fellow brought the ball down and Hart was out. Henry hit to Coughlin and was out at first. Wiley hit to right centre for what looked to be a sure two bagger, but Grant had his sprinting shoes on and dug for the ball with the result that he landed it, retiring the side.

Lowell went out in quick order in the latter half of the sixth. Connors hit to Connaughton and was out at first. Jackson and Bigbie hit hot grounders to J. Murphy and were retired at first.

Score—Lowell 1, Nashua 0.

SEVENTH INNING.

The Murphys went out in one, two, three order in the seventh inning. Tom Murphy hit to Connors and was out at first. John Murphy filed out to Grant, the latter making a pretty running catch. Henry Murphy closed the inning by sending a fly to the infield which McLaughlin took care of.

In the latter half of the seventh J. Connors hit to Tom Murphy and was out at first. Merritt filed out to Beard. McLaughlin closed the inning by striking out.

During the entire game there was a noisy rooter from Nashua in the third base bleachers and he kept up his noisy harangue during the entire game but during the latter half of this inning he lost his balance and landed on the ground. It is unnecessary to state that he was not heard again during the game.

EIGHTH INNING.

In the eighth Beard opened up by striking out. Eaton then struck out. Connaughton almost knocked Billy Connors over for a single. Gene Hart followed with a hit to left field. Henry hit to deep right field and Jackson made a great catch jumping into the air for the ball.

Anderberg opened for Lowell by hitting to right centre for a two-bagger. Coughlin hit to Henry Murphy who threw to third to catch Anderberg but J. Murphy dropped the ball, which caused a great kick on the part of the Nashua rooters. Grant hit to left field for a single scoring Anderberg. Billy Connors popped a fly to Henry Murphy. Jackson drew his base on balls filling the bases. Bigbie filed out to Connaughton. J. Connors hit to Connaughton who fumbled and Coughlin scored. Grant started for the plate and was caught between the lines and was put out.

Score—Lowell 3, Nashua 0.

NINTH INNING.

Wiley foul filed to Merritt in the ninth. Tom Murphy got a single. J. Murphy filed out to Grant. Dorgan then went to bat for Henry Murphy. Dorgan hit to Connors who threw T. Murphy out at second.

DIAMOND NOTES.

Manchester here today and Concord on Saturday.

The wind took the flies to the right yesterday and Bigbie didn't have a chance in the left garden.

It looks as if Van Zant would return to Lynn. With Van Zant, Bannon and Cassidy playing together Manager Lake would certainly have a first-class outfield.

"I will use McGovern regularly from now on," said Captain Collins yesterday. Hooray for Terry! He is now a fixture with the team.

Phelan, Nashua's outfielder and pitcher, has been released. He has been batting at .371 in the games played. He is a south paw and also has a record for sprinting.

The Lowell newspaper men who went to Lynn to write up the opening there devote more time to the good looks of the Lynn girls than to any other feature of the contest.—Concord Monitor.

It is quite evident that the Monitor man was over in Lynn with his hat off.

There are many fans who believe that the Boston Americans have made a mistake in releasing Lachance, even if Grimshaw is batting well. Lachance was one of the best fielding first basemen in the business and saved many an error for the other infielders.

The Boston champions left for Detroit this afternoon at 2. The party consisted of Treasurer Carl M. Green, Manager Collins and 15 players—Criger and McGovern, catchers; Young, Dineen, Tannehill, Winter and Gibson, pitchers; the regular in and outfielders, with Selbach and Unglaub for good measure. This leaves Duke Farrell, George Lachance and Tom Doran to practice at home.

When a man plays as fine a game as did George Grant yesterday it was mean to charge him with an error that he didn't make. Grant made a pretty running catch in the fourth inning but as he was about to throw the ball back to the infield it slipped from his hand. Wiley, who batted the ball, ran to second upon seeing it drop and McCloud allowed him to remain there, claiming that Grant had muffed the ball.

"Tim" Buckley, the biggest man in Nashua, was at the game yesterday rooting for the visitors. After the game he visited some of his brother Eagles. "Tim" is over six feet tall, seven years old and 300 pounds in weight and he wears a smile that won't come off. When he lets himself down on the bleachers everybody else on the same board gets a jolt that rattles his slats.

At the conclusion of yesterday's game at the Huntington-avenue grounds, George Lachance was given his 10 days' notice of release.

President Taylor had secured a good position for the big first baseman with the Indianapolis team, but George refused to take it, as he thinks he can do much better here in the east. The salary offered by Indianapolis was about the same as he has been paid by Boston.

President Taylor makes the release unconditional as a favor to Lachance, so that now he may make the best terms possible with whomsoever he chooses.

DISAPPOINTED

ELWIN MILLER HOME FROM PORTO RICO.

Mr. Elwin Miller of Centralville has returned home from Porto Rico after two years' experience at San Juan. He says Porto Rico was a big disappointment to him. The natives have a deep rooted feeling against Americans and will not work for them or trade with them.

YOUNG CORBETT

Will Meet Eddie Hanlon in June

SAN FRANCISCO, May 10.—The June permit for a professional boxing exhibition was captured yesterday by Alex Greggain for the San Francisco A. C. This removes all obstacles to the Eddie Hanlon-Young Corbett match.

Corbett and Hanlon will both start training at once. Corbett has been out at Sherman's for about a week. Hanlon, who will train at Croll's gardens, in Alameda, went into camp yesterday.

Eddie is somewhat heavy, but he has less to take off than Corbett.

Hanlon has Frank McDonald as a sparring partner. It was McDonald who trained Corbett for his match with Griffiths' Nelson. Tim McGrath will handle Corbett.

JACK JOHNSON

COULD NOT PUT JOE JEANNETTE AWAY.

PHILADELPHIA, May 10.—In his eagerness to mad opponents, Jack Johnson, the negro heavyweight champion, last night met two men in the ring at the Kuickerbocker A. C. and scored one knockout. His victim was Walter Johnson, also a negro, who was put away in the third round of the second bout by a right-hand swing.

Jack's other opponent was Joe Jeannette, still another negro, of New York, who put up a splendid battle with the champion and deserved a draw.

The agreement was that Jack Johnson was to meet each man for three rounds, and a big crowd turned out to see the novel performance.

Jeannette kept Jack busy. He was very aggressive, and gave Johnson a stiff argument, although after every blow Jeannette landed Jack woke up and rushed. Jeannette was knocked down once in the second and once in the third round.

In the former he landed a right-hand swing to Johnson's face, and in the last round he caught Johnson on the right swings. He was generously applauded at the finish of the first three rounds.

After a minute's rest Walter Johnson faced Jack. Walter was also disposed to be aggressive, and he made a good showing in the first round. In the second Jack drew blood from Walter's mouth.

As soon as the third round opened Jack rushed. Walter tried to get away, but Jack sprang forward. With a left jab on the mouth, Jack partly straightened Walter up, and then shot his right against his opponent's jaw, and it was all over.

THE GRENADIERS

GAVE A HAYRIDE PARTY LAST NIGHT.

The Grenadiers' Social club gave a hayride party last evening to Willow Dale. A large barge drawn by four horses left the post office at 7.45 o'clock and arrived at the Dale at 9.15. Impromptu speeches and popular songs were the order of entertainment until the party arrived at the lake. Whist and general dancing were indulged in until 11.30, when the party sat down to a bountiful repast prepared by Bowers brothers. The start back to Lowell was made at 12.30. Mr. Frank Wotton had general charge of the affair, and its success was largely due to the co-operation of Miss Josie Denis and Miss Maude Plumstead, while Mr. John Hume of Kittredge's singing orchestra ably presided at the piano. The party was chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. Stephen H. Wotton.

WIFE'S DEATH

PREYED UPON MIND OF LOUIS GIRARD.

BOSTON, May 10.—His mind said to be unbalanced through grief over the pathetic death of his wife, who expired a week ago in his arms, while riding in a carriage after she had been denied admission to the home for intemperate women, Louis F. Girard of Foster street, Brighton, was yesterday taken to a private sanatorium for treatment.

Mr. Girard, who is a member of the firm of Whittemore & Girard, caterers, of Massachusetts avenue, had planned to have his wife treated for a complication of diseases, and a time was set for Mrs. Girard to be taken to the home. There being but one room vacant there and the Girards not having arrived until several hours after the time set for the wife's reception, the room was given to some one else, and the carriage which conveyed the stricken woman from her home returned with her to Brighton.

Mr. Girard, thinking his wife had been seized with another of the sinking spells from which she had frequently rallied, took her in his arms on the homeward journey, and when the carriage drew up at the Foster street residence she was dead.

Mr. Girard took his loss terribly to heart. He had been in ill health before the shock occasioned by his wife's death, and consequently friends of the family were not surprised last evening when it was learned that the man had been escorted by two Brighton policemen to an alienist and pronounced somewhat unbalanced.

LOWELL'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER.

TRUSTEES MET

And Discussed the Financial Condition OF LOWELL GENERAL HOSPITAL

Greater Efforts Needed to Keep Out of Debt

The trustees of the Lowell General hospital held their annual meeting yesterday afternoon and transacted very important business. The report of the executive and house committees showed that the hospital had been managed in a business like manner during the year, for upon a thorough investigation the committee found that the hospital had been run within the appropriation.

When Mr. Frederick Fanning Ayer gave an endowment of $100,000 to the hospital it was with the condition that the hospital should come through each year entirely free from debt. This brings to a close the second year after the receipt of this endowment, and with the result noted above.

The endowment fund is now $153,120, bringing in a little over $7000 per year.

But the committee called particular attention to the fact that it would be impossible to conduct the hospital another year with the same income it had this year. While it is to be presumed that enlarged accommodations will increase the income, yet to what extent this increase will be is an uncertain problem.

The committee also called attention to the fact that the question of charity work would soon be a most difficult one to answer, now that the hospital accommodations were to be so greatly enlarged, "Indeed," said the committee, "the amount of charity work which we may do another year will depend almost entirely upon our ability to meet the expense due to same."

Attention was called to the splendid work which has been done by the Young Women's Guild in supplying funds with which the maternity department is completely furnished. The Ladies Aid has also done most efficient work, looking after the mending, furnishing new bedding, appropriating money for the nurses' library, etc.

The new building will be ready for occupancy in two or three weeks. When fully completed, and when everything is in first class shape, the trustees announce that there will be an opening day. The Ladies' Aid, the Young Women's Guild, the trustees and the medical profession will all unite in order to make this day a memorable one in the history of Lowell.

WEDS DOCTOR

GOV. RUSSELL'S WIDOW MARRIED IN APPLETON CHAPEL.

BOSTON, May 10.—Mrs. Margaret Manning Russell, widow of Gov. William Eustis Russell, was married to Dr. Michael George Foster of London, Eng., yesterday at 4 p. m., in Appleton chapel, Cambridge.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. George Hodges, D. D., dean of the Episcopal theological school, assisted by the Rev. Francis G. Peabody.

The bride, who was gowned in gray peau de cygne, was unattended, as was also the groom. The invitations to the wedding were confined to immediate relatives and a few close friends.

On Mrs. Russell's arrival at the church she was met by her elder son, William E. Russell, who escorted her into the church.

Miss Margaret Russell, the daughter, attended the ceremony, accompanied by four young girls, while the younger son, Richard, was accompanied by three playmates.

SHOE SITE FUND

May be Complete by Saturday Night

The Mawhinney shoe fund is increasing day by day, and before the end of the week it is probable that the necessary amount will be raised. The fund jumped over $200 yesterday alone.

The following letter was received this morning at The Sun office from his honor the mayor:

Mayor's Office, City of Lowell,
May 9, 1905.

Mr. John H. Harrington, Lowell, Mass.

Dear Sir:—

Please accept my thanks for the contribution of $100 to the fund for the purchase of a site for the Mawhinney Shoe Co., and for the letter accompanying the same.

THE SUN'S PLATFORM

FOR THE GOOD OF LOWELL

1. ADOPT a new charter giving the mayor full power to appoint and remove at will, the heads of all city departments and members of all boards or commissions.

2. ABOLISH the common council and provide for a single legislative board of 27 aldermen, three from each ward.

3. CREATE public boards to have charge of streets, buildings, police, fire, pauper and water departments.

4. ANNEX portions of Dracut and Tewksbury, including the "Navy Yard" and the Andover road as far as the Hood farm.

5. ABOLISH the Merrimack street station and the grade crossings at Market, Thorndike and Middlesex streets and extend the northern station to Thorndike street.

6. BUILD a public hall and market on the White lot in Merrimack Square.

There should be no further delay in building that shoe factory. Push it along.

The real estate business is looking brighter but everybody knows the one great obstacle to be overcome.

Tewksbury and Dracut are greatly in need of a water service. To secure the best in the state they should seek annexation to Lowell.

There are numerous manufacturing sites still available in Lowell, many of which can be had free of charge by a desirable concern. We want a diversity of industries no matter who may be desirous of holding us dependent upon one industry.

Several brewing companies of this state have been convicted of using salicylic acid to preserve ale and beer. Their product is usually deleterious enough without adding poisonous ingredients. It is well that there is an unpurchasable authority in this state to protect the public against this dangerous form of imposition.

France at last consents to yield to the demands of Japan to the extent of preventing the two Russian squadrons from meeting in French waters. Japan herself has been the greatest violator of neutrality in this war. She has been using the Chinese as marauders at every point along the frontier except where there was heavy firing.

President Roosevelt has stopped shooting bears and has gone gunning for the railroads. He will have to look into those charges of corruption preferred by Minister Bowen of Venezuela against his predecessor, Mr. Loomis, now assistant secretary of state. But the president may hesitate to take any step in which he might tread upon the toes of John Hay.

CHAIRMAN TALBOT'S EXPLANATION.

Chairman Talbot of the republican state committee after a tour of the western part of the state reports that the republicans there had no intention of defeating Governor Bates when they voted for Governor Douglas. Well, if they had any intention of defeating Douglas surely they would not have voted for him. Chairman Talbot's explanation of Bates' defeat will not go down. He must offer some explanatory pill more easily swallowed.

THE REDISTRICTING FIASCO.

Is the city redistricted or not? We say it is not, but the legal adviser of the city says it is. Nobody, however, seems to know or care anything about the new ward lines inasmuch as the humblest candidate for councilmanic honors can quote legal decisions to show that the old ward lines are still undisturbed.

THE TAX INVESTIGATION.

The general public expects one beneficial result if no more from the investigation of tax abatements. That result will be a better system of collecting taxes both poll and personal than we have had in the past. There should be some provision in the ordinances making it compulsory upon the tax collector to see that nobody who is able to pay be allowed to escape. It seems that grafters have taken advantage of the discretion allowed the assessors to abate the poll taxes of those who cannot pay. It is difficult to believe that the officials whose duty it was to collect the taxes could be convinced that men holding public office, men apparently in good financial standing had any right to be exempted from paying their poll taxes. There has been evasion on the part of the persons assessed and connivance on the part of somebody connected with the work of collection. Greater obstacles must be placed in the way of tax evasion. If a man cannot pay his poll or personal tax the least he might be expected to do would be to go and make a personal statement to that effect and receive a certificate of abatement.

FURNISHING CITY WATER TO OUTSIDE TOWNS.

The city of Lowell cannot supply the suburban towns with city water, even if the legislature did grant the permission. That is why The Sun has opposed such petitions in the past. If these towns want to secure our splendid city water let them get annexed. That is the best means of getting our pure city water out to Chelmsford, to Dracut, to Tewksbury.

Were these towns supplied with city water they would be less likely to seek the advantages of our city government through annexation.

In regard to the petition at present before the legislature to extend the city water to Atherton for the benefit of the Arlington mills, there is strong argument in favor of granting the accommodation; first, because it will bring a prosperous industry to our borders, and second because that industry or rather the little village in which it is located will eventually be annexed to Lowell. Hence it is not at all unreasonable that an exception should be made in this case provided the Arlington company is to be located there permanently. If so then Atherton may be regarded as a part of Lowell for its annexation in the near future may be regarded as a certainty.

BILL AMENDED

Lowell May Have Free Employment Offices

RAILWAY MERGER BILL AGAIN

Several Amendments to Gas Act

BOSTON, May 10.—The senate yesterday settled the controversy as to sending a delegation to the Lewis and Clark exposition at Oregon. Senator Munroe of Worcester offered a resolve for a delegation of 13, to consist of the orator, in lieu of the governor or lieutenant governor, president of the senate, speaker of the house, two members of the executive council and the secretary of the board of managers for Massachusetts. It provided an appropriation of $3500. The resolve was ordered to a third reading by a vote of 17 to 16.

The railway merger bill came over from the house. A motion to suspend the rules in order that the senate might act without delay on the Walker amendment was opposed by Senator Taylor of Suffolk. The bill, therefore, went over until today.

A message was received from Governor Douglas relative to the ceding by Massachusetts to the national government, for purposes of national defence, two tracts of land in Hull—Telegraph or Nantasket hill, and Cushing hill—to complete the fort Revere reservation.

The bill for free employment offices in Boston, Springfield, Worcester and Fall River, which on Monday was ordered to a third reading, was rejected, 12 to 13, on a roll call, after amendments had been adopted to include Lawrence and Lowell. Senator Leahy of Suffolk moved a reconsideration, which will come up today.

The Boston smoke nuisance bill was ordered to a third reading, 15 to 4, after the adoption of an amendment offered by Senator Bullock, exempting from the provisions of the bill locomotive engines and plants furnishing power for public service corporations and plants burning wood exclusively.

Senator Peters of Suffolk gave notice that today he would move to substitute for the eminent domain bill, the Gaston-Shaw bill for the incorporation of the Boston & Providence street railway.

The same senator offered the new draft of his boiler inspection bill. As offered on Monday this bill, after providing for external and internal inspection by insurance companies of boilers insured by them and a report to the district police thereon, contained a section giving the district police power to make regulations "as to use of boilers of lap-seam type." In order that the new bill may get by the committee of rules, this section had to be omitted. It does not appear, therefore, in the new draft offered yesterday.

GAS BILL

SEVERAL AMENDMENTS WILL COME UP TODAY.

BOSTON, May 10.—In the house yesterday several amendments were offered to the Boston gas consolidation act, all but one of which came from the committee on bills in the third reading, these being of a perfecting nature.

Representative Cole of Andover offered an amendment, which he stated would meet the suggestion of Gas Commissioner Schaff, to make it plain that the debts should be paid by the new company and not stand as a fixed charge against the gas consumers. It was to add after the word "corporation," in section 1, line 22, the following: "Except that any indebtedness of any of the corporations mentioned in section 1 to another of said corporations shall be canceled when such indebtedness shall have been acquired by the Boston Consolidated Gas company."

On motion of Mr. Collins of Boston the amendments were ordered printed, and the bill went over.

When the ways and means committee's report of no legislation necessary on the governor's message relative to the condition of the state's finances, and recommending legislation to provide for the taxation of inheritances was reached, Mr. Ward of Buckland moved to amend by the substitution of a bill. The matter was then postponed till today.

On the question of passing to engrossment the bill relative to the abolition of grade crossings, the committee on third reading reported certain amendments.

Mr. Schofield of Ipswich opposed the bill, saying that he doubted the justice of giving the commission this option, deeming it just that the owner of the land should have the decision as to the taking of the land. Mr. Davis of Plymouth said the bill followed the line of the present law, and that there must be some uniformity of action.

The amended bill was then passed to be engrossed.

STABLE BOY

HAS BROUGHT SUIT AGAINST BELMONT.

NEW YORK, May 10—August Belmont, president of the Jockey club, has been sued for $100,000 damages by John Harold Frelt, a stable and exercise boy who was formerly apprenticed to him. The suit complaint alleges that Mr. Belmont wrongfully deprived the boy of employment by causing him to be blacklisted by the stewards of the Jockey club. Justice Blachoff yesterday appointed David W. Rockmore guardian ad litem for the plaintiff, who is 17 years old.

According to the boy's attorney, Joseph Marx, his mother, Mrs. Thora Frelt of 31 Fulton avenue, Jersey City, bound him over as apprentice to Mr. Belmont on May 10, 1900, the articles providing that the boy should get his board and clothes the first two years, $10 a month the third and $15 a month the next two years. Mr. Belmont reserved the right to dispense with the boy's services at any time, and in October, 1902, according to the attorney, exercised this right in a letter of dismissal sent to the boy's mother, Mr. Belmont stating as a reason that he was giving up his entire stable. John Harold then went to work as exercise boy for Trainer McCormick.

Not long after that, according to the attorney, Mr. Belmont wrote two or three letters to Mrs. Frelt, asking that the boy return to his employ, and when these letters failed, wrote another on Sept. 6, 1901, in which he threatened to have the boy posted in the Racing calendar as having left his employ without cause. Nine days later this notice appeared in that publication:

"Exercise Boy John Frelt, having left the employ of August Belmont without consent or a written discharge, owners and trainers are hereby warned not to harbor nor employ him, and attention is called to Rule No. 152 of the Rules of Racing, which will be strictly enforced."

Thereafter the boy was unable to secure employment either with Trainer McCormick or other trainers to whom he applied. He went to St. Louis and New Orleans after the close of the racing season in the east, only to encounter the same bar.

At Mr. Belmont's offices yesterday it was stated that there was evidently a misunderstanding about the matter and that the boy had violated his contract.

LOSS $600

HAVERHILL HOUSE WAS FIRED BY THE SUN.

HAVERHILL, May 10.—The laws of physics were exemplified yesterday afternoon by a fire at a double house on 5th avenue, owned by Moses S. Brown, which was caused by the refracted rays of the sun.

The house is occupied by the owner and Charles E. Cate, the fire occurring in the lower half, occupied by Mr. Cate. One of his children had a large glass globe filled with water, in which he kept fish. The globe was left on the rear steps and the rays of the sun were refracted toward the side of the house, a large hole being burned through the clapboards. The flame, after burning through the clapboards, spread upward in the partitions and the fire was burning briskly when discovered. There was no one at home in the lower side of the house when the fire broke out, the glass globe having been left out on the steps early in the afternoon.

The fire was first discovered by a man who was passing, and when the fire apparatus arrived the flames had spread upward behind the partitions to the roof. The rear portion of the house was gutted by the flames and the roof was partially damaged. The total loss to the building and contents was $600.

MOTH BILL

HAS BEEN SIGNED BY GOVERNOR DOUGLAS.

BOSTON, May 10—Gov. Douglas has signed the gypsy moth bill.

The next step is the appointment by the governor of a superintendent to take charge of the work of suppression.

The bill provides a state appropriation of $200,000 to be spread over three years, $75,000 for this year, $150,000 for 1906 and $75,000 for 1907.

A BENCHER

UNUSUAL HONOR SHOWN TO AMBASSADOR CHOATE.

LONDON, May 10—Ambassador Choate, formally was called to the bench of the Middle Temple last night. The ceremony was strictly private, not even members of other Inns of court being present. The function took the form of an ordinary dinner in the old dining hall which Queen Elizabeth opened 1570 and in which, before Queen Elizabeth, Shakespeare acted "As You Like It." Several rules were suspended last night in honor of the American ambassador. The members fully robed, took up places about bare oaken tables, and the benchers filed in, Mr. Choate leading the parade though the newest member is usually last. The benchers passed down the centre of the assembly to a raised table. The usual simple meal was served. The benchers afterward retired to the parliament chamber for dessert. Mr. Choate this time walking last. As he passed the members' tables, the assembly cheered continuously, many old lawyers, in their enthusiasm jumping on top of the wooden tables. At the door Mr. Choate turned and faced the assembly and said they knew it was not the custom for a bencher to speak and therefore he would not. Nevertheless he spoke for ten minutes, expressing appreciation of his reception and the honor of having his name entombed among the names of the great men of the Middle Temple.

Spring Suits and the Present Cost of Woolens

Probably most men will first realize the enormous advance in the price of wool fabrics when they find the suits for which they paid their usual price not giving the usual wear.

A manufacturer always stands such advances as long as he can, but after legitimate profit has been cut to a certain point, either quality must be lowered, or retail price raised.

As raising of prices is sure of detection; and pretty sure to displease customers who do not understand the pressure on the maker, the alternate usually chosen is substitution of inferior quality.

In clothing this means the introduction of part cotton fabrics and the use of poorly-made cloths.

The materials for our own Spring suits were purchased before the present balloon ascension reached a critical point; and as a result prices are unchanged while the suits have the fine wearing qualities which always characterize our goods.

If the price of wool continues up, we may be forced to make a slight advance in prices another season, for we cannot lower the standard our friends have learned to expect.

But this season at least you profit by our early and large purchases.

LARCENY CHARGE

WILLIAM DALY IS UNDER ARREST

Policy Used After It Was Stolen

NEW YORK, May 10.—Word was received here yesterday of the arrest in Stroudsburg, Penn., of William Daly, who is charged with the larceny of $27,000 from the Equitable Life Assurance society in this city by the use of a forged signature of a holder of a $50,000 policy and by conspiracy with an employe of the Equitable society.

Daly's name is said by detectives to be Samuel Lobley, but he is alleged to have operated under the aliases of Edwards, Robert C. Henderson and Fr. Smith.

In a statement issued by officials of the Equitable yesterday it was explained that William C. Cotton of Brookline, Mass., is the owner of a $50,000 policy in the Equitable society. In March, 1904, he borrowed $27,000 on it, depositing it with the society as a security for the loan.

A few months later, the officials say, the policy was stolen from the vaults of the society by a trusted employe working in conjunction with Lobley, the books of the society containing a record of the previous loan were altered and Cotton's name was forged to an application for another loan of $27,000. The second loan was made, it is declared, to Lobley.

Last January, the officials say, the operation was repeated in part and a third loan would have been made if the paying teller of a bank had not held up the Equitable society's check, suspecting that something was wrong and insisting upon identification.

Lobley, alleged to have been the holder of the check, disappeared. He was found by detectives living in a small hotel at Sprague ville, Penn., near Stroudsburg.

The name of his alleged confederate in the employ of the Equitable society has not been made public. Detectives will go to Pennsylvania after Lobley as soon as extradition papers are prepared.

SAWDUST AND MILK.

Collier's for April 29 quotes a professor at the Tuskegee agricultural experiment station as saying: "I have here seven samples of bran. To most of you they look alike. The price paid for each was probably about $22 a ton, and yet one sample is nearly half sawdust. If you want sawdust with your bran we can give it you at much less than $22 a ton. You wonder why your cattle are not satisfied with the food, why they fail to yield the milk and butter which you have a right to expect. Here is the reason." Another sample, according to Collier's, "contained a large proportion of ground corncob. As corncob and sawdust happen to be less nourishing than bran to an ordinary cow, this device for making profit may turn the scale against a farmer just enough to deprive him of his living. Some people object to the crusade now being worked up against adulterated food, on two grounds. It often happens, they say, that adulterants are as wholesome as the originals whose understudies they become. If so, nothing is perpetrated worse than fraud. Often, however, sawdust is fed to cattle, women, or men, proving uncongenial. Again these objectors allege that all the talk about adulteration gives them indigestion, takes away their appetites, and has a bad effect on business. A bad effect on certain lines of business is what is wanted. The injury to appetite and peace of mind is a condition precedent to improvement. When we worry enough to introduce the apparently rare feature known as common honesty into the business of selling food, we can go back to tranquil meals, and for most stomachs it will probably be better, in the end, to be peaceful over food than peaceful over poison."

FLEUR DE LIS CLUB.

The first reunion of the season under the auspices of the Fleur de Lis club will be held at the club house at Long Pond on next Sunday, and the event will be marked by a flag raising. A fine new American flag has recently been purchased for the club house and the dedication of the new banner will take place on Sunday. Following the flag raising a dinner and general good time will be enjoyed.

STATE OF SIEGE

Has Been Proclaimed at Melitopol

ST. PETERSBURG, May 10.—The social democrats are straining every effort to make the proposed demonstrations on the Russian May day a success. They have succeeded in interesting the workmen of several St. Petersburg factories and yesterday at the committee's invitation, a meeting of workmen was held in the people's park on Petroffsky island, at which, after affirming their peaceful intent, it was decided to participate in the parades. There are indications, however, that attempts to create disorder may be more successful in other cities than in St. Petersburg, where the working people learned by the harsh experience of January 22 that force will be unsparingly used to maintain order.

The continuing disorders in other parts of the empire have created apprehension in administration circles. A state of siege has been proclaimed at Melitopol, in the south of Russia, and in the governments of Grodno and Vilna, on the Polish frontiers.

THE CUNARD LINE

Breaks Up the Steamship Combine

LONDON, May 10.—The withdrawal of the Cunard line from the agreement of the combine of steamship lines announced by Lord Inverclyde, chairman of the Cunard company, April 30, was followed today by an official announcement from the White Star, Dominion and American lines combine that these lines had given notice of their withdrawal from the North Atlantic passenger conference first and second class rate agreements and third class British and Scandinavian and continental agreements. The announcement explains that this action was taken in view of the withdrawal of the Cunard line from all passenger rate agreements recently arranged on account of the refusal of the American government to consent to the American line changing its mail service sailing day. It was felt necessary that the other lines should be equally free from all agreements so as to be enabled to protect themselves against any action the Cunard line may see fit to take which may be considered impartial to their interests.

BROKER FAILURE

No Motion Made to Remove Receiver

BOSTON, May 10.—No application for the cancellation of the receivership of the Haight & Freese Co., the brokerage concern, was made at the opening today of the U. S. circuit court. Such a procedure was looked for today on account of the announcement yesterday by Wm. H. Lillis, one of the principal officials of the company that the court would be asked to nullify its act of naming a receiver. The two offices of the company in this city were conducted under the supervision of Receiver James D. Colt today and all business was transacted either directly with him or his agents.

In connection with the receivership two intervening petitions were filed at the circuit court during the day by creditors asking that they may be made party plaintiffs in the case. The petitioners were John P. Moore of Lynnfield who presents a claim for $1032 and Hugh R. Blethen of Boston who alleges that the company owes him $910. Judge Lowell will give a hearing later upon these matters.

Irl Clark, counsel for the Haight & Freese company refused this forenoon to make any statement as to what policy would be pursued by the concern.

At the main office in Boston of the company about 60 employees have lost their positions as a result of the receivership. It is likely, however, that some of these will be needed later to assist the receiver in arranging the firm's affairs.

TO FIGHT TROOPS

Social Democrats Have Secured Bombs

ST. PETERSBURG, May 10.—The social democrats declare that their program includes demonstrations throughout Russia on Sunday and that they are provided with bombs and dynamite with which to fight the troops if the latter interfere. The authorities say the disorders will be comparatively insignificant and that they will easily be suppressed.

The col headed liberals are counselling the workmen against useless bloodshed.

SOME PAID

CUSTOMERS CLOSED ACCOUNTS WITH HAIGHT & FREESE.

PHILADELPHIA, May 10. — The brokerage establishment of the Haight & Freese Co., whose offices were closed yesterday in Boston and New York by the appointment of receivers opened their local offices today two hours earlier than usual. Several patrons gathered about the cashier's desk and ordered their accounts closed. The company at once began paying their customers but at 9 o'clock word was received from New York to stop until litigation had been settled.

TORPEDOES

WILL BE USED IN DESTRUCTION OF WRECKS.

NEWPORT, R. I., May 10.—The U. S. government has issued orders to Capt. Adolph Marix of the cruiser Minneapolis to proceed to the waters about Gay Head and to other sections of the New England coast and destroy a number of dangerous derelicts which have been reported by the life-savers and captains of vessels from time to time. The Minneapolis came here today and received a wrecking outfit, including a large number of gun cotton torpedoes which are to be used in the destruction of the wrecks. The Minneapolis will begin the work immediately.

C. Y. M. L. BANQUET.

The C. Y. M. L. of St. Patrick's church tendered a banquet at the Merrimack house last night to the young ladies who assisted at the recent bazaar. The committee in charge consisted of Timothy F. Bohan, James Callahan and James O'Rourke.

FAVOR CONSTITUTIONAL REGIME

MOSCOW, May 10.—The congress of Veterans in session here today adhered to the program of the Liberal professions for a constitutional regime. The delegates also adopted a resolution in favor of ending the war and providing for the free education of the youth of Russia.

MANY WERE KILLED

Revolutionists Clash With Armenian Troops

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 10.—The ambassadors of six of the powers today presented to the porte a collective note approving the financial scheme for administering the three Macedonian Vilayets, Salonica Monastir and Uskub, conditional on Turkey agreeing to the appointment of four financial representatives of the powers who with the Austro-Russian civil agents will constitute a commission to deal with the provincial budget.

Troubles are recommencing in Armenia. Advices from Bitlis say there have been encounters between revolutionists and Turkish troops in the neighborhood of Mush during which a number of men were killed or wounded.

In addition to the Armenian bands already reported to have crossed the Persian frontier other bands are said to be preparing to invade Ottoman territory.

UNDERGROUND

INVITATIONS OUT

For 250th Anniversary of Chelmsford

The Chelmsford anniversary committee has recently sent out a formal invitation to attend the 250th anniversary exercises to about 1600 former residents of the town and their descendants.

The list included 400 cities and towns and 39 states. The invitation reads as follows:

"The committee in charge of the Two Hundred and Fiftieth Anniversary of the incorporation of the Town of Chelmsford sends greeting to all former residents of the town and to all persons interested in its history and welfare, and requests their presence at the celebration of the anniversary at Chelmsford Centre, May 28th, 29th, 30th and 31st.

"The enclosed program will give in detail the events connected with the celebration. It is expected that His Excellency the Governor of the Commonwealth and many other distinguished guests, as well as many former residents of the town, will be present and speak at the banquet, Wednesday, May 31st.

"All persons who may wish accommodation in the town, either board or lodgings, can secure the same by addressing Mr. J. E. Warren, Chelmsford, Mass., chairman of the committee on hospitality. Persons desiring tickets for the banquet can secure the same by addressing the chairman of the general committee on or before May 25th.

"It is the hope of the committee that this occasion will bring together many of the sons and daughters of the 'Good Old Town of Chelmsford,' and also all others who may be connected with it by any tie of relationship or interest. The committee has endeavored to make the celebration an occasion of interest to all, and, at the same time, one which shall do honor to the town and be a source of pleasure to all who honor the town by their presence. We hope you will endeavor to be present some part of the time, if not all, and help to make the occasion one of pleasant memories. We can assure you of a hearty welcome home."

The work of preparing for the celebration has met with hearty co-operation from the citizens of the town, and for their assistance the committee desires to express its sincere appreciation.

Patrick Ward, the well known resident and tea merchant of North Chelmsford, is recovering after a long and severe sickness.

Mrs. J. N. Marshall has returned to Lowell and is stopping with her son, W. J. Marshall at 554 Fletcher street.

INDOOR PICNIC

Novel Entertainment at Elliot Church

A delightful basket picnic was held at the Elliot church, last evening with a novel entertainment and decorations as a feature. The occasion marked the entrance into office of the new social committee of the young people's society. The affair was an indoor picnic with all the distinguishing features of that delightful form of entertainment. The posts were turned into trees and bore signs warning people not to hitch horses to them and the vestry abounded in humorous signs. Then there were swings, teeter boards, races. Thomas Varnum and Frank Holt ran a lunch counter and did a thriving business.

The races were under the direction of a committee consisting of Miss Edith Cockerille, Roland Black and Joseph Brogden. The races were very funny, the character of the contests being mirth promoting. The races included the doughnut and peanut races, human wheelbarrow race for boys, real wheelbarrow race for girls, a needle threading contest, a wood sawing contest for girls and a hat trimming contest for boys. Then there were spoon and shoe races and a rope skipping contest.

The attendance at the social was large, and the basket lunch enjoyed soon after 8 o'clock made the hallucination complete, and not one of those present doubted that they were at the summer outdoor picnic.

The social committee consists of Charles Nichols, chairman; Miss Leslie Barnes, Joseph Brogden, Miss Esther Greene, Roland Black, Thomas Varnum, Miss Nellie Snow, Miss Edith Cockerille, William Greig.

AN EARTHQUAKE

Fifty Persons Buried by Landslide

BOMBAY, May 10.—An earthquake was experienced at Bender Abbas, Persia, April 25, and 50 persons are reported to have been buried by a landslide. Two hundred yards of the mountain Kuhgando, behind the town, collapsed. In the town a number of towers and buildings fell and there were a few casualties.

SECRETARY TAFT

Says Rate Legislation Must Come

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 10.—Secretary Taft fairly took the breath of the 200 members of the International Railway congress, dining last night at the New Willard hotel, when he emphatically declared that rate legislation must come, so that if the railway men of the country were wise they would aid and not hinder it; that the sentiment of the country is such that failure of proper regulation meant a campaign on the subject that would do no good to the railroads.

Absolute silence reigned as Secretary Taft spoke his mind on the subject of rates. He was positively against government ownership, he said, believing that nothing so deleterious could come to the country as this solution of the question.

"But," he continued, "you cannot run railroads as you run a private business. You must respond to the public demand. If there is danger of discrimination, then you must allow the establishment of some tribunal that will remedy that discrimination."

The secretary saw no reason why a tribunal, properly constituted, should not be competent in every sense of the word to fix a maximum rate.

President Stuyvesant Fish of the American Railway association had introduced Secretary Taft. In his capacity as toastmaster, Mr. Fish was on his feet the instant the secretary concluded. He answered the secretary at length, taking the view that the law to prevent discrimination, double-dealing and secret rebates was ample, and he vigorously called for the enforcement of that law. Mr. Fish talked of the vested rights of the money tied up in railways. He apologized for allowing himself to be diverted, and as he sat down Secretary Taft, who sat next him, queried in a low tone: "May I have 15 minutes to reply?"

This time was given, and the secretary utilized it in making himself even more positive as to his position in favor of legislation which would create a tribunal with authority to name a maximum rate.

SUES UNCLE

GIRL HAS ASKED FOR DAMAGES OF $300,000.

CLEVELAND, O., May 10.—Unable to procure service in criminal proceedings charging assault, Miss Hazel F. Lawrence, niece of M. O. Lawrence, publisher of the Ohio Farmer and a millionaire, yesterday filed suit for damages in $300,000. Miss Lawrence is 18 years of age and has been prominent in society. Her baby daughter is six weeks old.

BALFOUR WON OUT

Government Sustained on Irish Policy

LONDON, May 10. The government was sustained by a vote of 315 to 252 on Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman's resolution of censure on Balfour's Irish policy yesterday afternoon after a long debate in which the mover said that the government had attempted a policy of impartial Irish administration on the lines of the Wyndham-MacDonnell letters, but had fled from it at the dictates of a small party of Irish unionists.

After a criticism of the government's policy Sir Henry concluded with remarking that as to the future Irish policy mutterings of coercion were heard.

If that proved to be the case Englishmen would learn that the real separationists were the Unionists who first cajoled Ireland and then abandoned her.

The debate afforded opportunity for a wide expression of views by both sides and all factions.

William O'Brien, who took his seat for the first time since his election, said he would not vote either way.

ADVOCATES PEACE CONFERENCE.

He held that the only way to settle the Irish question was not by revolutionary tactics, but by conciliation and a peace conference in which the best statesmen of England, Ireland and the colonies should participate.

Unionist members uncompromisingly demanded the retirement of Under Secretary MacDonnell.

Premier Balfour at considerable length reviewed the situation. He denied that the earl of Dudley, lord lieutenant of Ireland, had any leanings toward home rule. The premier defended Mr. Wyndham, who recently resigned the chief secretaryship for Ireland, saying it was natural that he should seek to find some solution of the Irish question.

Mr. Wyndham had failed, but there had been many failures before.

Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman's resolution in reality was intended as an attack upon Mr. Wyndham and himself, which was absolutely unjustifiable.

H. H. Asquith (liberal) maintained that there was no reason for Mr. Wyndham's resignation, which did not logically involve the necessity for the resignation of the whole cabinet.

A feature of the debate was the speech of George Wyndham, who had been absent, owing to illness, since his resignation.

WHY WYNDHAM RESIGNED.

As a preliminary to the introduction of the vote of censure of Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, he made a personal explanation of the reasons for his resignation.

He said he had insisted on retiring from the cabinet, not on grounds of policy, but because political and personal reasons had convinced him that he could better serve the government as an unofficial member than as chief secretary for Ireland.

His views had not changed in the smallest degree in regard to the Irish administration.

"The Union must be the fundamental principle of any sound Irish policy," he said.

Mr. Wyndham thought the scheme for evolution was in some ways more open to criticism than even the plans for home rule itself.

The situation in both Ireland and England had become complicated by a personal misunderstanding for which he himself was partly to blame.

He had never contemplated any delegation of legislative powers from the house of commons other than the power of dealing with purely private bills.

After further debate the vote was taken, with the result as already given.

PATRIOTIC DAYS

TO BE OBSERVED BY SCHOOL CHILDREN.

The following notice, which explains itself, has been sent to all the public schools by Superintendent Whitcomb:

I have received from the state board of education, and forward to you with my hearty endorsement, the following communication:

A statute which has made the school laws of Massachusetts famous for more than a century imposes upon all instructors of youth the obligation to use their best endeavors to instill into the minds of the children and youth committed to their care the principles of "love of country, humanity and universal benevolence."

It has become a general practice in schools to stimulate the love of country by special exercises in connection with the public holidays, February 22, April 19, and May 30.

A favorable opportunity to cultivate the other two virtues, "humanity and universal benevolence," is now afforded in the setting apart of the 18th of May in commemoration of the opening of the Hague conference, May 18, 1899. This day is to be widely celebrated in Europe and by numerous organizations in America.

The board of education recommends that appropriate exercises be held in the schools of Massachusetts on May 18 for the purpose of emphasizing the blessings of peace, of showing the superiority of arbitration over war, and of exalting the brotherhood of nation.

Such exercises might profitably include brief accounts of the settlement of the recent international disputes concerning peace from the writings of Washington, Sumner and other statesmen, and from the poems of Holmes, Lowell and Whittier.

An appropriate motto for the day would be: "God hath made of one blood all nations of men for to dwell on all the face of the earth."

The American Flag association also reminds schools, city officials, and the public, that Wednesday, June 14, will be the 128th anniversary of the adoption of "Old Glory," as the flag of the United States, and asks for a suitable observance of the day.

The following Lowell people booked through Murphy's steamship agency sail from East Boston today per the Cunard Line steamship Ivernia for Liverpool and Queenstown: Mr. Isaac Hoyle, Mrs. Margaret Devine, Miss Elizabeth Donnelly, Mr. Robert Raisin, Mr. John T. Raisin, Miss Katherine Tally, Mr. Patrick Harrahan, Miss Sarah McLaughlin, Miss Margaret Fitzgibbons, Miss Anastasia Foley. Also from Boston Thursday on the White Star Line steamer Cymric: Mrs. Elizabeth G. Collier, Miss Nellie Fellows, Mrs. Margaret Peasley, Mrs. Eliza J. Edwards and Mr. Thomas Burke.

HE SHOT HIMSELF

Yale Boy Put Bullet in His Head

BODY FOUND BY HIS ROOM-MATE

He Was Deranged by Hard Studying

NEW HAVEN, May 10.—Arthur Haserot, a Yale senior, 21 years old and living in Cleveland, O., was yesterday found shot to death in his room in Welch hall, one of the campus dormitories. Medical Examiner Bartlett stated last night that he believed the boy's death was caused by his own hand.

Haserot's body was found by one of his room-mates, Roy W. Hemingway of Syracuse, N. Y. A revolver was at Haserot's side and a bullet wound in his head.

Hemingway said last night that Haserot attended his first recitation as usual yesterday and seemed to be in his usual good spirits. There was no intimation that he was despondent, and not once during the time Hemingway had crossed with Haserot, he said, had there been a time when he even suspected that his room-mate contemplated taking his own life.

The body of the dead student was found on the floor at the base of a window seat and it is believed that he shot himself while on the window seat and that he fell to the floor. There was one empty shell in the revolver, the bullet from it having entered Haserot's right temple, probably resulting in death instantly. No one of the many students in the dormitory heard the shot, and not until Hemingway turned the body of his companion over did any one know that a tragedy had occurred.

The manner in which Haserot was shot is almost conclusive proof that he committed suicide, and Medical Examiner Bartlett stated late last night that there would be no further investigation, as he was convinced that the student had killed himself.

Haserot was a quiet man with good habits, it is said, and the probability is that he was temporarily out of his head on account of overwork at his studies, his room-mate stating that he had been a hard-working student.

The parents of Haserot were notified soon after the body was found and an uncle is on his way to New Haven.

William T. Hanson, Jr., of Schenectady, N. Y., another room-mate of Haserot, last night would make no statement regarding the death of his classmate other than that he knew of no reason for the suicide.

WAS HAPPY

LETTER RECEIVED AT HASEROT'S HOME YESTERDAY MORNING.

CLEVELAND, O., May 10.—Arthur Haserot was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel F. Haserot of Cleveland. The father is a member of a wholesale grocery house. The boy was born in Cleveland.

His father had intended going to New Haven last night to visit his son when the news of his death was received by telephone from young Haserot's roommate, R. M. Hemingway. A letter had been received at the family home yesterday morning, and in it Arthur showed that his mind was happy and he spoke of his preparations for graduation exercises next month. An uncle of the dead student has gone to New Haven to care for the body.

The boy's father will not believe that his son's death is other than an accident. He was last home at Christmas.

ACTIVE WORK

DEMOCRATS PLAN FOR A LIVELY CAMPAIGN.

BOSTON, May 10.—Arthur Lyman, the new chairman of the executive committee of the democratic state committee paid a visit to the headquarters at Liberty square yesterday afternoon and had a conference with Reuben Rush, the executive clerk of the committee.

The object of Mr. Lyman's visit was to get in touch with the democratic machinery, and as Mr. Rush has been connected with the democratic state organization for a number of years, the new chairman felt that he could obtain valuable information from him as to how a campaign should be started.

Mr. Lyman announced that from now on a vigorous campaign would be conducted, consistent with the present early political season.

Every city and town in the Commonwealth will be thoroughly canvassed by the democratic executive committee, and from this time forth the mails will be flooded with political literature.

Mr. Lyman has not as yet established himself permanently at democratic headquarters, but will do so shortly, and, during the summer, the working force will be increased by several stenographers and clerks.

"The strenuous campaign already inaugurated by the republican state committee is going to be met by the democratic organization in an equally strenuous manner," said one of the democratic state committee officials last night, "and while the republicans may think they are going to have all the fun in campaigning, we will show up interestingly before the candidates are voted for."

C. M. A. C. FEAST

ARRANGEMENT FOR ITS FORMAL OBSERVANCE.

The following members of the C. M. A. C. have been appointed a committee to organize the annual celebration of the patronal feast of the association, the Feast of the Sacred Heart, to take place June 25.

President, Joseph Carriere; secretary, Henri Daigle; Elzear H. Choquette, Eugene Roussin, Joseph Provost, Henri Achin, Henri Barry, E. A. Ducharme, Emile Fontaine, Albert Bergeron, Joseph Harvey, Leon Crepau, Wilfrid Hebert and Donat Blazon.

The celebration will commence at St. Joseph's church in the morning, when the members will receive communion in a body. After mass a banquet will take place at C. M. A. C. hall. In the afternoon a procession will take place, the members marching to St. Joseph's church from the hall, preceded by a band and escorted by the Garde d'Honneur.

STORE ENTERED

BURGLARS MAKE SMALL HAUL IN HUDSON.

Burglars entered the store of A. L. Joy, in the Odd Fellows' building, Hudson, early yesterday morning and after a thorough search of the place, the thieves got away with some small change from the money drawer and some cigars, cake and other light eatables. The front doors were pried open with a jimmy. This is the second time this store has been broken into and the third time the building has been burglarized.

KARAMA CLUB.

The Karama club has elected the following officers: Miss Emma Lynch, general manager; Miss Anna Quinn, assistant general manager; Miss Helen Keefe, floor director; Miss Agnes Hoye, assistant floor director; and Miss Hazel Cotter, chief aid. Final arrangements were made for the select party the club will hold tomorrow evening.

Of the Great FREE TRIAL TREATMENT Offer Given by Dr. Barbrick

To all who call at his Lowell offices, Rooms 10-11-12, Mansur Block, 97 Central St., on or before May 13, he will give a thorough examination and a trial treatment ABSOLUTELY FREE OF CHARGE and to all who begin treatment on or before that date he will give consultations, examinations and all office treatments required by the case, FREE UNTIL CURED.

THE NEW CURE

The old-fashioned, slipshod methods of treating Chronic Diseases, with their guess work Diagnosis, their drastic and poisonous drugs, their harsh treatments, and dangerous operations have passed away. The modern method of treatment, Magnopathy, with its certainty of Diagnosis, its mild application of Nature's forces and remedies, its system of cure without cutting operations and harsh treatments has come in its place. This system of cure, originated and developed by Dr. Barbrick, is peculiar to itself and is as essentially and radically different from, as it is superior to, all other methods.

THE FREE TREATMENT PLAN

That all may have a courteous and costless opportunity of seeing for themselves and of testing for themselves, the superiority of the methods perfected by Dr. Barbrick after fifteen years' experience in his own practice—the largest special practice in New England—the free test is offered.

NOT A CHARITY OFFER

This is not a philanthropic or charity offer, but simply a business proposition, given to increase the number of cured patients, so that the new treatment will become more widely known, therefore all may call—the high, the low, the rich, the poor, without fear or favor. The doctor believes that the grateful endorsements of the many who will be relieved and cured will quickly attract public attention to his offices and system of treatment and bring sufficient patronage to repay for the outlay and expense entailed by this offer.

THIS IS THE OFFER:

All who call at his Lowell offices, rooms 10-11-12, Mansur block, 97 Central street, on or before May 13th, will receive Consultation, Examination, Wonderful Diagnosis of Disease and Trial Treatment, ABSOLUTELY FREE OF CHARGE, and IF TREATMENT IS TAKEN ON OR BEFORE THAT DATE, all those placing themselves under his care will continue to receive all medical services, surgical and office treatments FREE UNTIL CURED.

EVERY SICK PERSON

Should call on Doctors Barbrick and Temple. The marvelous cures made by these remarkable specialists and their new System of Rational Cure have attracted the attention of thousands of people in every walk of life and given to the sick and suffering new life and hope. That the deaf are made to hear, the blind to see, the lame to walk; that the unsightly tumor is made to waste away and the foul cancer cleansed and dried up simply by the application of their treatments without operations, seems beyond belief, but such are the claims made by those who have been treated by them, and you are given the chance to test for yourself whether such things are true.

ALL DISEASES AND DEFORMITIES CURED BY THE NEW TREATMENT

CATARRH CURED—Consumption in the incipient stage, bronchitis, asthma, rheumatism, diseases of the eye, ear, nose, throat, lungs, stomach, liver, kidneys, scrofula, sores, ulcers and chronic blood troubles, eczema, psoriasis, pimples, blotches and all skin troubles treated and cured.

NERVOUS DISEASES—Nervous debility from any cause, hysteria, neurasthenia, chorea, St. Vitus' dance, epilepsy, etc.; diseases of the spine, paralysis, locomotor ataxia, palsy and all such diseases successfully treated by our "Tissue Cell Building" and Vibratory treatments.

DISEASES OF WOMEN—Examinations without exposure, and all diseases peculiar to women treated and cured without surgical operations or the use of rings, pessaries, supporters, etc., by new and pleasant methods.

DISEASES OF MEN and weaknesses arising from overwork, etc., causing weak or failing memory, pimples, impure blood, falling of the hair, etc. Such sufferers should call at once. By our improved methods and remedies they are guaranteed immediate relief and a perfect cure.

CANCERS, malignant tumors, all growths, enlargements and glandular swellings treated and cured without the use of the knife and without torture. No matter what disease you are suffering from, or how long standing, no matter how many physicians have failed to cure you, call on these great specialists. It will cost you nothing, and you may profit by it. If your disease is incurable, they will frankly tell you so, and the right to reject any or all cases is reserved.

The Lewis and Clark Centennial Exposition at Portland; A Great International Fair That Is Approaching Completion

IN the city of Portland, Ore., 2,000 miles from the scene of the latest and in some respects most remarkable of world's fairs, a new international exposition is rapidly assuming form and substance. This is the Lewis and Clark centennial, designed to commemorate the hundredth anniversary of the exploration of the Oregon country by Captains Meriwether Lewis and William Clark.

It is not claimed for this fair that it is to exceed all previous exhibitions of a like nature in comprehensiveness of design and magnitude of realization. Its promoters, however, are confident that it will be the most complete and artistic fair ever held on this or any other continent. First of all, its location will be most attractive. Occupying as it does an area of 402 acres adjoining the principal residence section of Portland, on gentle slopes and verdant terraces overlooking Guild's lake and the Willamette river, with the snow capped peaks of Mount Hood and Mount St. Helens rising like gigantic sentinels in the distance, the site includes a wealth of natural features hitherto unattained in exposition building.

It has been the universal criticism of visitors to former expositions that the vastness and attempt to be exhaustive have made a full appreciation impossible. This testimony has been influential with the managers of the coming fair in determining them to secure for the Portland event a degree of compactness and concentration of detail which will enable the average person to see, study and comprehend everything within the time and means that he has at his disposal. To this end there will be no monstrosities of architecture to weary the eye and perplex the understanding, no scores of miles of aisles to sap the physical strength from aching limbs, no torrid days and nights to benumb vitality, no dependence upon atmospheric co-operation to secure an adequate return for all effort expended in seeing the fair. The shrewd and competent managers and the generous Oregon climate have provided for all of that.

It is a fact that the natural features of the exposition site would alone compensate any visitor. At St. Louis last year a syndicate of capitalists put several hundred thousand dollars in a feature known as "the Tyrolean Alps." To explore these imitation mountains, valleys and secluded retreats and to gaze on the artificial cascades and brooklets many thousands of persons paid an additional fee. The visitor to the Oregon fair may without adding to the expense sit among the lofty shade trees in Centennial park and take his fill of the outspread sublimity of the Cascade range.

Of the gross area to be devoted to the exposition proper 180 acres are on the mainland, and sixty acres form a peninsula which extends into Guild's lake. This lake is a fresh water body 220 acres in extent, separated from the Willamette river by a narrow strip of land. The main exposition buildings occupy the ground bordering on the lake. Eight large exhibit palaces, marvels of convenience and of great architectural symmetry, form the principal scheme. These structures are dedicated respectively to agriculture, liberal and industrial arts, foreign exhibits, forestry, fine arts, mines and metallurgy, territorial building and machinery and electricity and transportation. Around these main buildings on the outer edge cluster the state, territorial and other and minor pavilions. The Administration building, which will contain the executive offices of the fair association, is situated at one end of the beautiful colonnade entrance.

Many states will have pavilions. The Oregon building, which will be a handsome clubhouse of colonial design, will occupy a commanding position near the main entrance. The Massachusetts building will be the same structure used at St. Louis. It has been taken down and shipped to Portland, where it will be re-erected. On the neck of land which extends into Guild's lake will be located the large building which is to house the extensive government exhibit. It will be an imposing structure characteristic of Uncle Sam's generous provision for his great series of public exhibits.

The Forestry building is a veritable timber exhibit. For its construction two miles of logs five and six feet in diameter and fifty-two feet in length, eight miles of poles and tons of shakes and shingles were required. The rustic facade of this huge structure, broken here and there by a rough window or an ornamental balustrade, is considerably less classical than that of the Parthenon, but it is not less original and attractive on that account. Standing in one of the spacious corridors of this building, supported by its giant fir and cedar columns six feet in diameter and forty feet in height, the visitor cannot fail to be impressed by the originality of the scheme.

Columbia court is the great central plaza of the exposition, and it is situated between the Agriculture and the Liberal Arts buildings. Its main features are two wide avenues, between which are spacious sunken gardens, with numerous fountains and symmetrical beds of gorgeous varicolored flowers. Passing through this court, one comes upon a parapet at the head of a series of terraces of velvety lawn sloping to the edge of the lake. Leading down from this parapet to an ornate boat landing is a broad staircase flanked by massive balustrades. On each side of the stairway are masses of ever blooming roses.

Perhaps the nearest approach to a replica of classic architecture may be found in the Oriental Exhibits palace. The style of this building may be termed modified Corinthian. Its grand entrance, however, is decidedly reminiscent of the Petit Palais des Beaux Arts in Paris. The European and Agricultural palaces are composite. The architects of both these structures employed the best features of all orders as seemed best for the sake of convenience, and the result is remarkably pleasing. The main entrance of the European building is planned and carried out in the popular mission architecture, and the cornice and other parts of the Agricultural building may readily be traced to the same style. The amusement section of the exposition, corresponding with the Pike at St. Louis and the midways at other fairs, will at Portland be termed "the Trail." The Trail will have a most striking and novel setting. It is situated on a wide bridge which spans the lake and connects the peninsula with the mainland. With the excellent water facilities that afforded much competition has arisen over aquatic privileges. Many new and attractive forms of amusement will occupy this bridge, and the visitor in search of novelties may expect to be provided with more sensations than he can assimilate.

One of the most instructive and interesting items will consist of a complete exposition of the salmon industry. There will be on exhibition numerous specimens of live salmon in tanks, preserved salmon in jars, eggs and fry in all stages of development and a full and lucid demonstration of hatching. The methods of canning and cold storage keeping will also be shown. It will be the combined effort of the government and the fair management to make this the most satisfactory exposition of the state's leading industry ever attempted. Nothing will be omitted which can in any way contribute to the success of the elaboration. The salmon packing business has grown to enormous proportions in the Pacific northwest, and it has resulted in a combination of interests which controls the industry. The primitive methods of taking the fish still obtain. The progress of the industry has not altered the personality or habits of the picturesque salmon fisherman or even the appearance of his craft, with its old shaped sail.

The quaint town of Astoria, founded as a trading post by John Jacob Astor in 1811, is still the center of the salmon packing business and the home of the Finnish fisherman, a type of American citizen not found elsewhere in the republic. These Finnish-Americans are a sturdy, independent and rather sluggish race. They fish for three months in the year, make on the average $1,500 in a season and live the remaining part of the year on the proceeds of their catch. In the early spring, when the fishing season is at its height, Astoria resembles a mining camp. Everything booms and money is plenty. The fishermen pay their bills, and the merchants settle their obligations with the wholesale fraternity. When the season closes the Finlander mends his nets and puts them carefully away, deposits what money he has not spent in the bank and proceeds to lead a life of undisturbed leisure in his curious house standing on piles on the tide-water lands near the river.

The Finnish salmon fisherman uses a heavy, clumsy craft about twenty-five feet long, with a nine foot boom. Sometimes he owns his boat, but oftener he hires it from the canning company. The boat is equipped with a spritsail, which by an ingenious contrivance is made to serve on occasions as a tent. The fleet puts off about sunset, drifts slowly westward with the ebb tide, and in the early morning the quarter mile net is slowly drawn in. This vast net is a floating fence twenty-five or thirty feet in height. It is kept upright by floats at the surface and weights at the bottom. Of course there are other methods of capturing salmon. In Baker bay, near the mouth of the Columbia, 400 fish traps are set, and these are long nets, called "leaders," extending 600 feet into the river and supported by small piles. The unsuspecting salmon, swimming leisurely with the current, becomes entangled in the meshes that form the trap. Farther up the stream immense seines half a mile in length interrupt the course of the fish as he passes over the bar, and thousands are taken in this manner. It would seem to be impossible for any fish to find its way into the upper river, yet at the Cascades, 200 miles from the sea, gigantic fish wheels operated by the current scoop up thousands of the refugees.

It has been ascertained that of all the eggs laid by salmon over 80 per cent are eaten by other fish. Artificial propagation is therefore necessary in order that the supply of fish be maintained. Over 300,000,000 Chinook salmon fry have been planted in the Columbia river and its tributaries since 1895. A short closed season is designated by law in order that the hatcheries, which are provided by the government, may secure a supply of fish from which to obtain the spawn.

Cold storage and pickling plants have within recent years done a profitable business, but canning is still the principal industry. Last year the Columbia river pack amounted to 20,000,000 one pound cans. The process of canning is very simple. The fisherman unloads his haul at the cannery, and the fish are weighed. Then they are washed and cleaned and sent to the cutting tables. There they are placed under circular saws, which separate the various parts into pieces of a size suitable for canning. Then they go to the packing tables, where the deft fingers of Chinamen fill the cans and pass them on to the washing machines, where they are again cleaned. The tops are then put on the cans, and the fish is cooked thoroughly by steam.

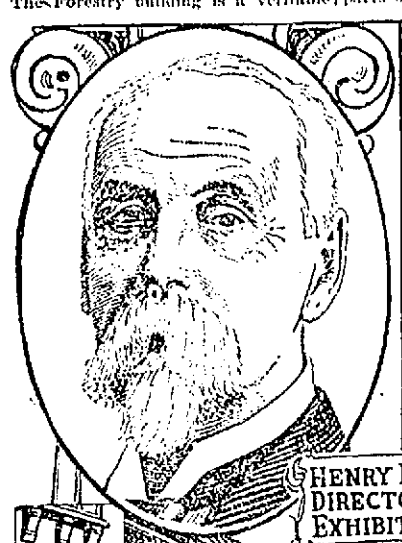

Salmon weighing over twenty-five pounds are selected for cold storage treatment. The cold storage pack for 1904 amounted to almost 5,000 tons. Those to be pickled are split open, cleaned and rid of bones. They are then placed in huge casks, which are sealed. Most of the salmon preserved in this manner is shipped to Germany by way of Cape Horn and is there esteemed a great delicacy. The canneries employ Chinese labor almost exclusively. It is obtained through the agency of the "China boss," a Chinaman who makes contracts to supply the packers with crews of his fellow orientals.

All this will be illustrated and made intensely interesting at the fair. Both the general government and the states of Oregon and Washington have used the utmost endeavor to make the coming salmon industry display exhaustive, and it will undoubtedly prove to be the crowning feature of the exposition. The government's effort in this direction at the Pan-American was unusually complete and instructive, but it was only a foretaste of what may be expected at Portland. The facilities for perfecting a display of this nature are nowhere else so available as they are in the Pacific northwest, the home of this noblest specimen of the finny tribe.

The exposition will be opened June 1 and will be continued until Oct. 15. It will represent an outlay, approximately, of $5,000,000. This includes the cost of laying out the grounds and the money expended for buildings, exhibits and all other purposes. The most generous single participant is the government, which made an appropriation of $475,000 for the purpose. Next comes the state of Oregon, with an appropriation of $450,000, which is at the rate of nearly a dollar for every man, woman and child in the state. It is a noteworthy fact that no state with so small a population as that of Oregon has ever before devoted so large a sum to an international exposition.

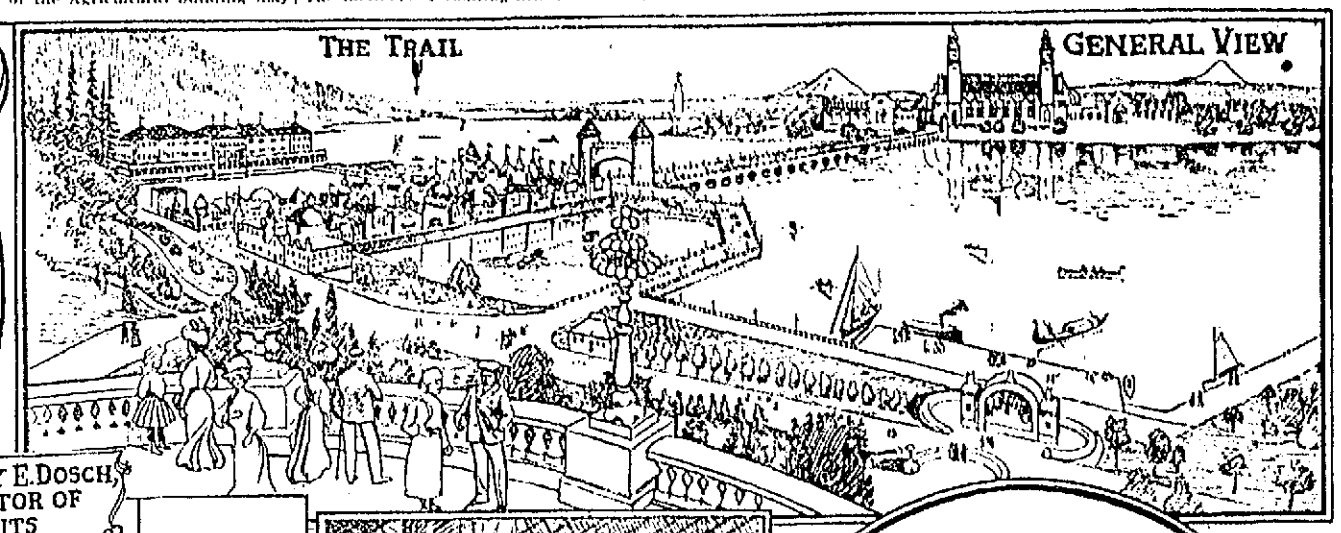

The event which the fair is designed to commemorate is really one of the most important episodes in American national history. In 1803, during Jefferson's first term, it was decided to send an exploring expedition into the Louisiana country, for which the United States was then negotiating with France. At that time Meriwether Lewis, a Virginian of good family, was acting as the president's private secretary, and Mr. Jefferson offered him the command of the expedition. Lewis accepted and chose as his companion Captain William Clark, an old army friend. The party proceeded up the Mississippi to its head waters, crossed the great divide and followed the Columbia to the Pacific. As a reward for his services Lewis was given a valuable grant of land and made governor of the new purchase, with headquarters at the "village of St. Louis." In his administration of the office he was assisted by Captain Clark, who was made Indian agent. Lewis began the history of his great work as an explorer, but he did not live to finish it. While on his way from his distant territory to Washington he came to his death in the cabin of a Tennessee pioneer. Whether his death was due to murder or to suicide is not definitely known.

Henry C. Frick, Who Will Enter the Field of Politics

THE recent declaration of Henry C. Frick to the effect that he had decided to enter the political field in the near future is practically a response to long continued solicitation from influential friends. It has long been current that strong pressure was brought to induce Mr. Frick to enter Mr. Roosevelt's cabinet as secretary of the treasury and that the president himself was one of those who were most insistent. It is now announced that Mr. Frick has so arranged his business interests that he will be able to devote himself to the public service, and in order that he may be entirely unrestricted and free from entangling local alliances he will take up his residence in New York.

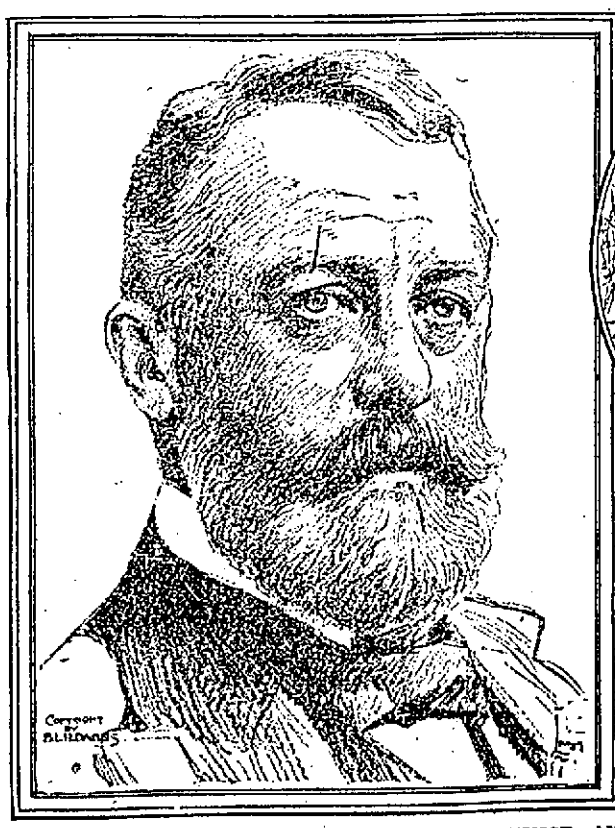

Thirty years ago this spring two young men were standing one day at the corner of Sixth avenue and Smithfield street in Pittsburg when a third young man passed with a hasty nod.

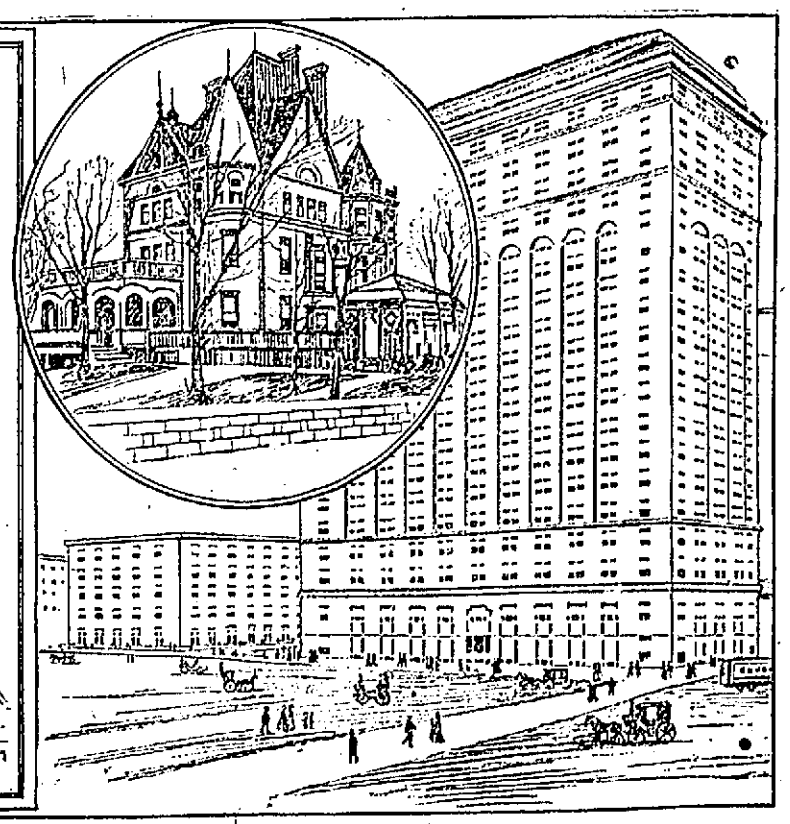

"Who is your friend?" asked one of the young men of the other, who seemed to know him.

"Oh, that's Frick; thought you knew him. He's in the coke business at Bradford. Frick's the best business man in the trade. Some day—mark my prediction—he'll do the biggest coke business in the country."

The young man who thus prophesied is today one of the officials of the H. C. Frick Coke company, and the individual of whom he spoke was Henry Clay Frick, now the largest coke producer in the world, his concern operating about 40,000 acres of coal mines and 12,000 coke ovens, with a daily capacity of 25,000 tons. This is industrial distinction, indeed, but it may be supplemented by the fact that its possessor is the organizer of the most stupendous manufacturing enterprise of modern times—the Carnegie Steel company.

For more than a quarter of a century Mr. Frick has been prominent as a manufacturer and an employer of many hundreds of men. The industrial history of western Pennsylvania is dominated by his trade victories and inventive achievements. Notwithstanding all this, it is probable that less has been written concerning Mr. Frick's personal doings, habits and characteristics than of any other man of equal interest in the world. It is also a fact that most of what has been written has been either fragmentary or biased designedly. Every recurring disturbance of western Pennsylvania industrial conditions during the past two decades has forced upon Mr. Frick a notoriety which has not always been agreeable either to bear or to combat. There has been little agreement among those who have written of him; he has run the literary gantlet from shrewd business man to high priest of monopoly.

HENRY C. FRICK, HIS RESIDENCE AND THE HUGE FRICK BUILDING IN PITTSBURG.

For four generations Mr. Frick's ancestors on his mother's side have been Pennsylvanians. That of itself makes him a pretty good American. His father, John W. Frick, was of Swiss descent. His mother, Elizabeth Overholt Frick, traces her ancestry back to Abraham Oberholtzer, who came from the Palatinate in the first half of the eighteenth century and settled on the Delaware river in Bucks county, Pa. Mr. Frick's grandfather removed to Westmoreland county in the year 1800 and took up a large tract of land, which is known to the present day as the Overholt place. Here was established the little village of West Overton, an adaptation of the family name. This Abraham Overholt was a very enterprising citizen. As early as 1810 he established a distillery at his new village, and he added large flour mills subsequently. In the course of a few years he became the wealthiest man in the county.

Henry Clay Frick was born in this village of West Overton, on the old Overholt place, Dec. 19, 1849. The early years of his life were spent on the farm. He attended the district school, at that time taught by Harry Overholt, a relative, now a resident of Iowa. The paucity of sensational episodes in the boyhood of Mr. Frick has led to the invention of more than one baseless account of his early struggles with poverty and adverse conditions in general. Not only is this imputation of youthful penury contrary to fact, but it is well known to western Pennsylvanians that the Fricks were in exceedingly comfortable circumstances.

Before Henry was sixteen he went to live with his uncle, Christian S. Overholt, president of the First National bank and the wealthiest merchant in Mount Pleasant. While there he attended the Pennsylvania Classical and Scientific Institute and afterward became a student at Otterbein university, a United Brethren institution at Westerville, O. On his return to his uncle's home at Mount Pleasant he acted as salesman in one of Mr. Overholt's stores. A year later he went to Bradford and became bookkeeper in his grandfather's establishment at that place.

Young Frick had not been long at Bradford before he was able to purchase a small interest in some coal property, and he and the other owners built fifty coke ovens as an experiment. At that time the coke industry was at its very beginning in Bradford. Even the Connellsville coke field was of limited area. The value of the product was only beginning to be appreciated. With an insight remarkable for his years, Frick grasped the possibilities of the industry and from time to time added largely to his interests. Owing to reckless management and overproduction one of the largest coal prog erties in the town became involved and was obliged to shut down. Realizing that the depression was only temporary, Mr. Frick purchased the property at sheriff's sale and built hundreds of ovens to utilize the output. From this time on the success of the young operator was assured. The early and untimely collapse of his ventures was freely prophesied, but it did not come. Until 1873 he conducted the business in his own name and then took in two partners, the Fergusons, under the firm style of H. C. Frick & Co. Four years later it became the H. C. Frick Coke company, as it is at present.

At this point the Carnegies began to be identified with the Bradford coke producer. They had adopted the policy of owning or operating all material contributing to their finished product. To this end they became large purchasers of the stock of the reorganized coke company. When Thomas Carnegie died Mr. Frick was chosen to fill his place. His subsequent career with that mammoth aggregation, the Carnegie Steel company, is known to the world. In his ambition to make that amazing corporation what it is today he has probably labored more assiduously than any workman ever employed by the company.

The most critical and exacting period in the life of Henry Clay Frick was during the memorable occurrences at Homestead in 1892. It fell to his lot to be the corporation's spokesman, and as such he was exposed to all the antagonism that menaced the aggregation. He was shot and stabbed by the crazed anarchist Alexander Berghman, but succeeded in keeping the man at bay until help arrived.

Mr. Frick is known to his intimates as a rather reserved but most suave and agreeable companion. His domestic life is reputed to be a model of dignified and unostentatious existence. He is averse to any effort which is likely to direct public attention to the affairs of his household and has always shown great ingenuity in avoiding those who make the attempt to penetrate the seclusion of his charming home.

RUSSIANS SECURE GERMAN CAEWS

FRANKFORT, Germany, May 10.—Zeitung today says it has received advices from Hamburg to the effect that agents of the Russian government have completed arrangements through the society of German captains and officers and crews for transport ships which are to accompany the fifth division of the Russian second Pacific squadron to the far east. These crews, it is added, will proceed to Libau on the Baltic sea.

MORE BATTLESHIPS FOR JAPANESE

TOKIO, May 10.—The reports that Japan plans to order the construction of two battleships and six large cruisers abroad are renewed.

The representatives of English naval constructors are here, endeavoring to secure the orders, but it is doubtful if the government has reached any decision in the matter.

TWO CRUISERS LEAVE SAIGON

TACTICS CHANGE

Qualities of a Good Soldier Remain

SCUYLER, Neb., May 10.—Roosevelt's train stopped here a few minutes last night. The president spoke as follows:

"I cannot say how I've enjoyed passing through Nebraska today. I passed through much the same region two years ago and it is an ever fresh pleasure to see the progress that you have made in this great agricultural state, the way you have pushed the fertile the aJpanese warships and reached done with irrigation out in the western part of the state and what you are doing with the farm and ranch here. I have been glad to see the evidences of your material prosperity, but more than that, I have been particularly glad to see the type of man and woman that you have produced here in Nebraska. That is what really counts and that is the reason that the crop in which I am most interested is the crop of children. And for that reason I have been particularly pleased in passing through this state to see the great attention that you are paying to the schools, the great attention being paid to the boy or girl who is to be the citizen of 20 years hence. It is in civil life, as it is in military life. Weapons have changed since the civil war; tactics have changed but the qualities that make a good soldier have not changed. So it is with citizenship. The qualities that make a good citizen now are the qualities that made a good citizen in the days of Lincoln and in the days of Washington. In the first place you have got to have honesty. If you have not honesty, the abler you are the more dangerous you are, and honesty is not enough. Besides being honest and decent, you have got to be a game man, and then you have got to have the saving grace of common sense."

AN INQUIRY

INTO AFFAIRS OF THE EQUITABLE LIFE.

NEW YORK, May 10.—Preparations for the oral examination of officers and directors of the the Equitable Life Assurance society which will be carried on under his personal direction, have been completed by State Superintendent of Insurance Francis Hendricks, who is now in this city.

Superintendent Hendricks will examine not only the officers and directors who have been directly accused in the recent handling of charges over the society's affairs, but every director who holds office by reason of the transfer to him of stock by James Hazen Hyde or his father, Henry B. Hyde.

There will be nothing compulsory about the proceeding, which however, will be carried on largely in executive session.

NEW DEMANDS

WILL BE URGED BY RUSSIAN WORKMEN.

REVAL, European Russia, May 10—At a meeting of workmen here today which was attended by delegates from St. Petersburg and a number of masked men, it was decided to proclaim a three days' strike in connection with Labor day (May 1?) and to serve fresh demands on the employers coupled with the intimation that if they were not complied with inside of 12 hours the destruction of the factories by fire would follow. The meeting separated after singing a song ending with the refrain:

"Not from the emperor but from our own strength comes succor to us."

The song was sung to the music of Martin Luther's well known hymn:

"Ein Feste Burg Ist Unser Gott."

More Than $2000 Less Than Last Year

The assessors have received from the tax commission in Boston a notice to the effect that the county tax will be less this year than it was in 1901, and of course this will be acceptable news to all good citizens, for in proportion their tax will be reduced. Last year the county tax was $78,478.87, this year the amount is less by over $2000. The exact figure is $76,264.33, leaving a balance in favor of this year of $2,214.54.

PROF. UMPLEBY GETS PICTURE OF TEXTILE SCHOOL TEAM.

The manager and members of the Lowell Textile School Basketball team have presented the manager, Professor Fenwick Umpleby of the Lowell Textile Journal, a large framed picture of the basketball team, thus thanking him for the encouragement and help which he has given school athletics and also for the substantial aid given the team during the season just closed.

In reply to the presentation, Professor Umpleby said: "The present you have been pleased to make me for the interest I have taken in school athletics and as manager of the school paper, The Lowell Textile Journal, and for the amount handed over to your manager, I greatly appreciate. The Textile Journal is kept alive by the student body and the influential body of advertisers. It has always been my desire to make the Journal the leading school paper in its line, and I have always been pleased to know that my efforts have been rewarded by your encouragement, appreciation and patronage, and so long as I am manager of the Journal it will be my earnest desire to encourage and patronize athletics in every possible way.

"I thank you for your beautiful present which I shall place in a prominent position to remind me of your successful season and good will toward me."

BLAZE IN MILL

Fire in Prescott Card Room Today

A lively blaze, though fortunately of small consequence, occurred between 8 and 9 o'clock this morning in the card room of the Prescott mills.

The blaze started in a pile of cotton waste, presumably from a match in the waste and burned through the pile quite briskly.

It was discovered before it had reached any alarming extent and was extinguished by the mill force without the necessity of ringing in an alarm of fire.

The blaze was confined to the cotton waste and did not touch the machinery, work in the room not being interrupted.

Agent Southworth stated this noon that the loss would be too small to justify making a claim upon the insurance companies.

BIG PIER

SECOND ONE FOR THE CEMETERY GATE.

The massive granite pier for the left entrance to the Lowell cemetery at Knapp avenue was hauled through the streets today and deposited at its destination, the pier for the right side of the gate having been carried over last Thursday and is now in position.

The pier weighs in the vicinity of 15 tons and is 3x6 feet and 11 feet long and was turned out at the work of Gumb Bros. in Gorham street.

After the pier was loaded on the wagon 10 horses were attached.

The five pair of horses were then started down Gorham street, the time of starting being 8.59 o'clock. The wagon passed through Gorham street to Chambers to Newhall to Lawrence to Rogers to Nesmith to Knapp avenue. The wagon was fitted out with an improvised brake on the rear wheels, consisting of a heavy piece of timber tied with ropes, which would stop the wagon from going too fast on the down grades.

Immediately after arriving at the entrance to the gate the work of removing the stone was begun. The time of arrival was 11 o'clock, and two and a half hours were consumed in the trip. It is expected that it will take a couple of days to place the pier in position.

BIG CONTRACT

FOR 100,000 FEET OF BRIDGE LUMBER.

Purchasing Agent Donnelly had a long conference with Mayor Casey and Superintendent of Streets Morse this afternoon. After the conference Mr. Donnelly said that the matter under discussion was letting out of the contract for the bridge lumber.

This is quite a contract for there is a large amount of lumber to be furnished. The bids closed yesterday and the contract will be given out tomorrow morning. The contract calls for 100,000 feet of lumber.

COTTON MEN

OPENED THEIR ANNUAL CONVENTION IN KNOXVILLE.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., May 10—Assembled in this city for a two days' session, the ninth annual convention of the American cotton manufacturers opened today. Pres. R. R. Reinhardt of Lincolnton, N. C. presided. Addresses of welcome were delivered by Governor John I. Cox and others. Pres. Reinhardt predicted a great export trade which has already begun to augment.

To the wide fluctuation in the price of cotton, in America in less than a year from 16½ to 6½ he attributed the unsatisfactory demand for cotton goods. He congratulated the cotton mill men upon the absence of labor troubles.

Today's Ball Game at Spalding Park

INNINGS	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Lowell - - -	3	0	0	1	0	0	0	0	x	-- 4

Lowell defeated Manchester in a close and well contested game at Spalding park this afternoon. This was the first appearance of the Queen City team in Lowell since the opening of the present season, and the members of the team were given quite an ovation by the old fans who always enjoyed a game between Lowell and Manchester.

Cross did the slab work for Lowell while Leith did similar duty for Manchester. The attendance was about the same as yesterday, 250, though the weather conditions were somewhat improved, as there was but a slight breeze blowing across the diamond.

After the usual preliminary practice Umpire McCloud walked on to the diamond and the game was called at 3.15 o'clock.

FIRST INNING.

The visitors went to bat first and went out in quick order. Spratt struck out. Armbruster hit over second base for a single but Anderberg caught him off first and threw the ball to Merritt who tagged him out. Page hit a hot grounder to J. Connors and was the third man out.

Lowell made Manchester's fielders look like bad money in the latter half of the first inning, though there was some cause for it as the team was rather crippled owing to the fact that there were three pitchers in the game, Whiting being at shortstop and Smith in right field. Grant opened the inning by striking out. William Connors drew his base on balls. Jackson hit to Page forcing Connors out at second. Bigbie hit to Whiting who threw the ball over the first baseman's head into the bleachers and Jackson scored. Bigbie went down to second on the play. J. Connors was hit by a pitched ball and walked to first. Merritt was given a base on balls filling the bases. McLaughlin then came to the bat and hit through Whiting, and Bigbie and J. Connors scored. Whiting recovering the ball, however, returned it to first and McLaughlin was caught napping off the base.

Score—Lowell 3, Manchester 0.

SECOND INNING.

Neither side scored in the second inning. Kane singled to right field, and as he started to steal second base Clark hit to Grant. The latter caught the ball and sent it back to first for a double. Whiting drew his base on balls. Smith closed the inning by striking out.

Anderburg opened for Lowell by hitting over the second baseman's head. Cross bunted, intending to sacrifice, and Kane fielded the ball to second, putting out Anderburg. Grant then filed out to Smith and Connors closed the inning by hitting in front of the plate and Cote threw him out.

Score—Lowell 3, Manchester 0.

THIRD INNING.

In the third Manchester failed to score. Cote struck out, Leith hit a high fly which Anderburg took care of. Spratt sent a grounder which Barney fumbled and the Manchester man walked to first. He then stole second. Armbruster, however, closed the inning by sending a high fly to Connors.

Jackson hit to Page but the ball was traveling so fast he could not handle it and Jackson reached first. Bigbie sacrificed sending Jackson to second. Connors and Merritt sent grounders to Page and were thrown out.

Score—Lowell 3, Manchester 0.

FOURTH INNING.

Page opened up the fourth by hitting to McLaughlin, but the latter fumbled and he reached first in safety. He then stole second base. Kane hit to the left field fence for what looked to be a sure two-bagger, but Bigbie made a pretty running catch. Clark hit a line drive to Connors. Connors caught the ball and then sent it down to McLaughlin, who caught it on the run, tagging Page out for a double play.

Lowell scored another run in the fourth inning. McLaughlin opened with a base on balls. Anderburg then singled over second base. Cross hit to Whiting and the latter made his third error, but he threw back to the plate in time to prevent Lowell from scoring. Grant then filed out to Smith. Connors popped a fly to right field scoring McLaughlin. Jackson hit to Leith and Anderburg was caught at the plate. Bigbie closed the inning by flying out to Page.

Score—Lowell 4, Manchester 0.

FIFTH INNING.

Neither side scored in the fifth inning and both sides were retired in one, two, three order. Whiting opened up for the visitors by hitting to McLaughlin and going out at first. Smith filed out to Bigbie, and Cote was the third out on three strikes.

In Lowell's half J. Connors and Merritt sent grounders to Whiting, who threw them out at first. McLaughlin hit to Page and was the third out.

Score—Lowell 4, Manchester 0.

SIXTH INNING.

Manchester scored two runs in the sixth inning. Leith opened with a single to right field. Spratt filed out to McLaughlin. Armbruster singled to left field. Page foul filed to Connors. Kane drew his bases on balls, filling the bases. Clark hit to centre field and Grant made an excusable error, dropping the ball after a long, hard run. Leith and Armbruster scored on the error. Anderburg then caught Kane off second and threw the ball to second finally getting him out at third.

Anderburg got his third hit in the game in this inning, in the direction of right field. Cross foul filed to Cote. Grant filed out to Armbruster, but he latter dropped the ball. Anderburg, thinking the ball would be caught, did not start for second and was tagged out. Grant then tried to steal second and was thrown out.

Score—Lowell 4, Manchester 2.

SEVENTH INNING.

Whiting opened by hitting to Connors and going out at first. Smith hit to Cross and was also retired at first. Cote hit to left field for a single, but Leith retired the side by foul flying to Merritt.

Lowell went out in quick order in the latter half of the seventh. Connors and Jackson struck out and Bigbie hit to Page and was out at first.

Score—Lowell 4, Manchester 2.

EIGHTH INNING.

Spratt opened the eighth by flying out to Grant. Armbruster hit between J. Connors and McLaughlin and both players thought the other was going to get it which resulted in the ball dropping betwen the two of them. Page filed out to Jackson. Kane went out on a line drive to McLaughlin.

J. Connors filed out to Armbruster. Merritt was hit by a pitched ball. McLaughlin struck out. Anderberg filed out to Whiting.

Score—Lowell 4, Haverhill 2.

NINTH INNING.

Clark filed out to Jackson. Whiting filed out to McLaughlin. Smith filed out to Grant.

POLICY KING

STEVE O'BRIEN MAY BE SENT TO JAIL.

NEW YORK, May 10.—The trial of Stephen O'Brien, the policy king, on indictments charging him with maintaining a gambling house and dealing in policy at 139 High street, was continued before Judge Crane in the county court, Brooklyn, yesterday. O'Brien who had been at liberty on $5000 bail, seemed somewhat depressed at the volume of corroborative evidence which District Attorney Clarke was weaving around him, and before court adjourned Mr. Clarke, fearing that O'Brien would take any chance to evade punishment, asked that he be committed to Raymond street jail until the conclusion of the trial. This Judge Crane acceded to, although O'Brien's counsel strenuously objected to such a proceeding.

Yesterday Thomas E. Clark, a negro, testified that he had been employed by O'Brien at $6 a week to drum up trade among the negroes. He said he had been repeatedly arrested and that O'Brien usually went on his bond. The bail bonds were put in evidence by District Attorney Clarke. The witness said that O'Brien incorporated the Elm club and the papers were framed and hung on the walls of the High street house and tickets of membership were issued. Any person who desired to play policy, got a membership card with his name on it.

Clarke then told of the policy sheets which arrived twice a day. These gave the numbers of the drawings, and, so as to make it appear that they were not policy slips, they contained the date and stock quotations of the International Stock company's sales for the day. They were never addressed to O'Brien, but to a fictitious name, but O'Brien always received them.

William H. Lane, Frederick T. Harris and others testified to O'Brien's connection with the Elm club. Several witnesses testified to having played policy in O'Brien's place.

PAPER MAKERS MEET.

HOLYOKE, Mass., May 10.—Today's session of the International Brotherhood of Paper Makers, in annual meeting here was chiefly taken up with a discussion of a resolution presented by a committee calling for greater attention to the defense fund. No action was taken and the discussion will be continued tomorrow.

This afternoon the delegates enjoyed an outing to Mount Tom.

WIFE MISSING

George Puffer Asks Police to Find Her

"Make no search for me, if you do you will not find me."

This message was contained in a note left by Mrs. George Puffer to her husband. Mrs. Puffer disappeared from her home in Pleasant street, Dracut last night and all efforts of her husband and friends have so far proved futile.

She is twenty one years old, dark complexion, five feet four inches in height, medium build, wore a blue dress, short light coat and blue hat.

Her husband left his house about 8.30 last night to visit Lowell and at that time his wife was apparently all right. He returned at 9.30 and his wife was absent. Going to her room he found a note on the pillow which stated that she was going away; that she had been in poor health so long that she felt she was a burden to her husband.

She left her rings in a small jewel case and warned her husband to make no search for her.

Mr. Puffer inquired from railway men if they had seen her on any of the electric cars but they could give him no information.

He then went to Lawrence where Mrs. Puffer resided before her marriage and where she was known as Miss Jean Silve. He also visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Silve in North Andover, but they had not seen their daughter. Friends in Nashua were also communicated with and they too, were ignorant of the girl's whereabouts. This afternoon Mr. Puffer called at the police station and reported her disappearance and asked the police to search for her. The police think that either she has wandered away while temporarily deranged or else she has done away with herself.

THE COSSACKS

Blamed For Ill Treating Russian People

BYELOSTOK, South West Russia, May 10.—The town council has entered a complaint of brutality against the Cossacks here declaring that their ill-treatment of the populace is arousing a spirit of revenge and increasing the danger of the situation. The municipal authorities also complain that the chief of police will only allow the publication of accounts of disorders when the Jews are the aggressors.

GYPSY MOTH

READING MAN SUPERINTENDS WORK FOR ITS SUPPRESSION.

BOSTON, May 10.—Archie H. Kirkland of Reading was appointed superintendent of the work of suppressing the gypsy and brown-tail moths in Massachusetts, by Governor Douglas today under the authority of the new gypsy moth bill recently passed by the legislature.

DIPHTHERIA

ONE CASE WAS REPORTED TODAY.

The city is quite free from contagious diseases with the exception of the spotted fever cases, and the case of smallpox, now quarantined at the contagious hospital. This afternoon there was one new case of diphtheria reported at the office of the board of health. A close watch is being kept on the Salem street premises, and the vicinity where the last case of smallpox was discovered. No new developments are expected for at least ten days as it will take that long for the disease to fully develop.

N. H. DENTAL SOCIETY.

MANCHESTER, N. H., May 10—There was a large attendance today upon the opening session of the convention of the New Hampshire Dental Society. Addresses were delivered by Dr. N. Green of Springfield, Mass.; Dr. C. E. Blaisdell of Portsmouth; Dr. S. Blake of Palmer, Mass.; Dr. F. H. Brown of Lebanon and Dr. J. H. Wurthen of Concord.

The afternoon was given up to demonstrations.

SUPERIOR COURT

The Testimony Taken in the Mehan Case

In the cases of Mehan vs. Lowell Electric Light corporation, before Judge Bell at the superior civil court yesterday Clarence Armstrong, an employe of the defendant company, stated that on the night preceding the accident he looked at the switchboard and noticed that the ground indicator was indicating a ground of between 2200 and 2300 volts. The only men on duty at the time were witness, Mehan, Quinn and Livesey.

Livesey took a reading of the voltage every half hour. Continuing, witness said:

"When I saw the ground, I asked Livesey where the ground was. Mr. Livesey went to the switchboard and touched something and the hand on the indicator went back. Then he touched it again, which put it back where it was, and it showed the ground again. The regulator was taken out after the accident."

In describing the accident witness said that he saw fire and smoke and Livesey picked up sand and threw at the regulator. Then they saw Mehan, and Livesey dropped the sand and went toward him. Witness noticed that there was a burn on one of Mehan's hands and the tip of his nose was blackened.

Dr. Patrick F. Sullivan, the ambulance doctor, testified that he was called to the station about 7 o'clock in the morning and that the condition of Mehan was such as would result from a shock of electricity.

William Brophy, an electrical expert, was called and testified that in connection with this case he visited the electric light works, and examined the construction of the gallery. The whole iron framework of the gallery supporting the switchboard is electrically connected. Found on one side a chain resting pretty firmly on an "I beam." If a current of electricity was put upon any of those chains it would be carried to this chain and would charge the framework and be carried to the gallery providing there was no escape into the ground. There was a pressure of about 2300 volts. The minimum amount of voltage that would kill a healthy man is 1000 volts. It was an alternating current going through those wires. If too many lights were put on the circuit outside, it would overload the regulator. To produce a condition such as was produced there, there would have to be a ground outside.

Further testifying Mr. Brophy said: "I saw a lead mat in contact with the frame of the engine. The frame of the engine was in contact with the condenser of a boiler. The boilers, I presume, are connected with the city mains. That would connect it with one of the best kinds of grounds."

Undertaker Charles H. Molloy testified to preparing the body for burial and described the different marks on the body.

Howard C. Forbes, a consulting electrical engineer, testified along the same lines as Mr. Brophy.

The plaintiff rested his case at this point.

By agreement of counsel, it is now understood that the case which was brought by the administrator, and which alleged that there was conscious suffering on the part of the deceased, is not to be prosecuted, but the trial proceeds on the suit of the father and mother of the deceased, which alleges that the man was instantly killed and that the father and mother were dependent upon him for support.

It is contended by the defence that the plaintiffs were not dependent upon the deceased for their support and are not therefore entitled to maintain this action; that the machinery was purchased from a reliable company and installed by an expert of that company and that the corporation had a right to rely on its efficiency in taking care of any current that might get on; and that Fred C. Mehan, the deceased, who was an oiler, was out of his place at the time of the accident; that he was a volunteer, was not entitled to be there, and that therefore the corporation is not responsible except for wilful injury to him.

Norman T. Wilcox, manager of the Lowell Electric Light Corp. was the first witness. He testified to the grounding in use at the power station and stated that about 24 hours before the accident his attention was called to a ground, indicated on the ground detector.

The case was resumed this morning at 9.30 o'clock with Manager Wilcox on the stand. At the conclusion of his testimony he was put through a rigid cross examination by Mr. Hogan.

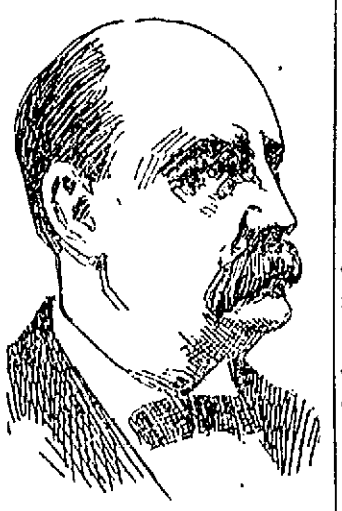

S. John Heenan, employed at the power house, was called and testified and he was followed by James H. Markham, chief engineer at the station, Thomas T. French, superintendent of distribution, and Charles W. Munroe.

GENERAL BADGER

Formerly of 6th Mass. Regiment Dead

NEW ORLEANS, La., May 10.—Gen. Algernon S. Badger, United States appraiser for the port of New Orleans, and for many years prominent in the political history of this city, died here yesterday. Gen. Badger was a native of Boston, where he resided until the outbreak of the Civil war, when he enlisted in the 6th Massachusetts volunteers, in response to President Lincoln's first call for troops.

Later he was appointed a lieutenant in the 26th regiment, and came with his command to Ship Island, the brigade to which he belonged later occupying the forts below New Orleans, and being sent to this city at the time of its surrender to Farragut. He was one of the organizers of the first regiment of white soldiers organized at New Orleans. This command served until the close of the war, and after its muster out Gen. Badger was appointed warden of the port. Later, he served in the metropolitan police, and was in command of that force during the fight which resulted in Kellogg's overthrow, being seriously wounded.

In 1878 he was appointed postmaster of New Orleans, and in 1883 was made collector of customs, serving until his successor was appointed by President Cleveland in 1885. On the election of President Harrison he was appointed appraiser of merchandise.

FIELD DAY

PATRIARCHS MILITANT HELD ENCAMPMENT AT CONCORD.

CLAREMONT, N. H., May 10—Patriarchs Militant from all parts of the state were here today to attend the annual encampment and field day of the state department. A parade through the principal streets opened the day's proceedings and was a brilliant affair. The annual encampment meeting was then held in Masonic Temple, being followed by banquet in Odd Fellows banquet hall. The remainder of the day was devoted to informal entertainment of the visiting delegates by the local canton.

SHOT HIS ENEMY

Man Killed on Board a Train

HOUSTON, Tex., May 10.—W. T. Eldredge, former vice-president and general manager of the Cane Belt railway, killed his second man on board a passenger train approaching this city yesterday.

Eldredge who had been riding in a Pullman, walked into the day car. There he met Edward Calhoun, a man who had once shot him. Both instantly went for their guns. Eldredge drew his weapon first and fired four shots. Three of them hit Calhoun and a fourth struck A. W. Turner, a passenger, in the arm. Calhoun sank to the floor, dying.

The car was filled with passengers and a stampede to get out ensued in which several women fainted. Eldredge was placed under arrest at Walls.

Two years ago, in the same coach, at nearly the same hour, while Eldredge was manager of the Cane Belt, he met Capt. William Dunovant, a director of the road, and a similar tragedy ensued. Both men drew revolvers, but Eldredge killed Dunovant.

That killing was the result of a bitter enmity among Cane Belt stockholders and directors. Twice later Eldredge was shot down from ambush, but each time he recovered. On the plea of self-defence he was acquitted of the charge of murdering Dunovant.

Eldredge then declared he would leave the state to prevent further trouble, but he failed to do so. Calhoun, whom he killed yesterday, was a close friend of Capt. Dunovant and a leader of the anti-Eldredge faction.

Eldredge, in a statement, said that Calhoun had once shot him and he had long expected trouble when they again met. He was not expecting to meet him on the train, but was at all times prepared. He said that Calhoun fired the first shot, but it missed. He then returned the fire, sending three bullets into Calhoun's breast.

FOUR WOUNDS

KAPP WAS SHOT BY A FELLOW WORKER.

PATERSON, N. J., May 10—Gustave Kapp, 35 years old, a diminutive silk weaver employed at Pelgram & Meyer's silk mill, was shot four times yesterday by a fellow worker named Henry Melsen. Kapp and Melsen left their boardinghouse, 15 North Fourth street, yesterday to go to work. In the street they quarreled about something and fought. Melsen got the worst of it. Breaking away from Kapp he returned to his boardinghouse and got a revolver. Returning he found Kapp and fired at him three times. One of the shots entered Kapp's right shoulder, the second furrowed his breast and the third injured his hand. He went to the police station and was sent to the hospital where his injuries were dressed. He left the hospital and returned to the police station, and made a complaint against Melsen. He refused to tell the cause of the quarrel.

He then left the station to go home. As he was going along Hamburgh avenue, Melsen jumped out of a doorway and fired again at him. This time the shot took effect in Kapp's breast.

Acting as a human target didn't worry Kapp much. He simply turned around and walked back to the police station and reported the second shooting. He was sent to the hospital again and the doctors there were instructed not to release him until Melsen was found. None of the wounds is dangerous.

HILLS DEAD

Mr. Whitney was born in Boston 78 years ago, a grandson of Brig.-Gen. Joshua Whitney, one of the "Boston Tea Party" of revolutionary fame.

WATER BOARD

Visited Lawrence on a Tour of Inspection

Mayor Casey was not at his office in city hall this morning. His honor accompanied the members of the Lowell water board on their trip to Lawrence, where they are being entertained today by Mayor Lynch and the Lawrence water board. During the stay in the down-river city the Lowell people will inspect the filter gallery and new stand pipe. After the inspection the party will be given a complimentary dinner at the Franklin house by Mayor Lynch.

COST $500

VICE-PRESIDENT FAIRBANKS PICKS HIS INKSTAND.

WASHINGTON, May 10.—Vice-President and Mrs. Fairbanks yesterday selected the inkstand which will adorn the vice-president's desk, and which according to established custom will become the property of Mr. Fairbanks when he retires from office. Of late years the vice-presidential inkstands have increased in elaborateness, and incidentally in price, as the designers have vied with each other in producing stands that will make beautiful and lasting souvenirs.

A dozen jewelers submitted designs for Mr. Fairbank's instand, and he and Mrs. Fairbanks had a choice collection from which to make a selection when they appeared today at the office of the secretary of the senate, where the beautiful wares were set forth for inspection. A creation of silver, gold and cut glass made by Tiffany caught their fancy, and it will be on the vice-president's desk when he raps the senate to order next October. The cover is a clever imitation of the dome of the capitol. The limit of cost of the souvenir is $500.

SCHWAB SAILS.

LONDON, May 10.—Charles M. Schwab sailed for New York today from Liverpool on the steamship Baltic. Prior to his departure, he said that with the exception of the Russian negotiations his trip had no significance.

HE WAS KILLED

Because He Called the Police

NEW YORK, May 10—Frank Maurer, a German laborer, of 281 First avenue, shot and killed Abraham Goldstein of 11 Monroe street last night in a saloon at Twelfth street and First avenue. The shooting grew out of the refusal of Maurer to pay for two beers which he had ordered for Thomas Devine and a man known as "Buttons" who entered the saloon while Maurer was drinking. Goldstein served the drinks, and when Maurer refused to pay he threatened to call a policeman. At that, Maurer, it is alleged, drew a revolver, compelling Goldstein and his partner, Oscar Foster, to keep their heads below the bar.

Goldstein crept along the bar and made a dash into a back room. There he procured a club and ran out the Twelfth street entrance of the place. He ran around to First avenue and rapped for a policeman. As one approached he turned back into the saloon, where he was met at the door by Maurer, who fired one shot, which went through Goldstein's heart, killing him instantly.

Maurer ran through the back room to Twelfth street, where he turned east with a crowd at his heels. Policemen Wasserman, Durr and Moran of the Fifth street station, who had heard Goldstein's rapping, were not far behind, and as they closed in on the man he ran into a tenement house at 198 Avenue A, where he was captured.

The revolver, which Maurer had thrown away during his flight, was found in a heap of sand that the prisoner pointed out.

Maurer was taken to the Fifth street station, where he was identified by Goldstein's partner and locked up. He admitted the shooting, but said that he fired in self-defense when Goldstein went at him with the club.

A FORTUNE

MISS FITZ STRUCK IT RICH IN THE KLONDIKE.

BOSTON, May 10.—Miss Frances Fitz, who left here five years ago and went to Alaska with a party sent out by a New York syndicate, has returned to her home in Medford with a fortune estimated at over $500,000. She has been United States Deputy Recorder, owner of a newspaper, keeper of an insane woman, land staker, land owner, mine owner, and is now at the head of a big mining company. In an interview she said:

"The hard things that I experienced you can't understand. My place is at Council City, near Nome, 2000 miles up in the Klondike. For a year I lived in a tent.

"My good fortune was due to being named deputy recorder, which gave me a knowledge of every claim on Ophir creek, one of the richest in Alaska. I suppose I took several hundred claims in all, like everybody else, only to let them go again. Then I discovered by surveys at my own expense that part of a very valuable property was in reality unclaimed. That is how I got my mine.

"Conditions are all changed in Alaska now. Hand work is too expensive to be done with a profit, and the future belongs to the capitalist with his machinery."

A SUICIDE

MRS. STRONG SHOT AND KILLED HERSELF.

ENGLEWOOD, N. J., May 10—Mrs. Benjamin Strong, Jr., wife of the secretary of the Bankers Trust company of New York City shot and killed herself today during a fit of what doctors call temporary insanity. She was a daughter of John Lebouthillier of New York. Mrs. Strong had been suffering from nervous exhaustion since the birth of a child six months ago.

FOREST FIRE

TIMBER OWNED BY DIAMOND MATCH COMPANY BURNED.

CONCORD, N. H., May 10.—The local fire department was called upon at noon today for aid in fighting a forest fire at Mast-yard, a station on the Claremont branch of the Boston & Maine, Concord division, about seven miles from here. The fire is devastating timber land owned by the Diamond Match company and is in such a situation that no water is available for fighting it. A large detail of men was sent from this city.

GANG OF THIEVES

The New Haven Road Lost $50,000

NEW HAVEN, May 10—By arrests made within the last three days, one of them in this city on Sunday, the New Haven railroad officials believe they have broken up a gang of thieving employes who have cost the road over $20,000. Wholesale stealing has been going on at Maybrook, N. Y., ten miles back of Newburgh, where the New Haven road has a large freight transfer station. Much merchandise brought to that place by other railroads to be transferred to the Consolidated has been mysteriously lost in the last year.

Chief Inspector James F. Valley, Jr., of the railroad police was put on the job and on Sunday morning arrested John J. Foley, a locomotive fireman here. Foley was taken to Maybrook today, charged with grand larceny. Charles Winfield, employed on the transfer platform, was arrested at Maybrook. The ringleader of the gang, a freight shifter, has escaped to New York.

Valuable bales of raw silk, cases of champagne and all kinds of freight have been stolen. A search by detectives around Campbell Hall and Maybrook brought to light the fact that railroad men had been selling expensive shoes to second hand dealers for 60 cents a pair. In boarding houses occupied by some of the suspected persons many stolen articles were found. One man had his bedtick lined with choice tobacco. Champagne was stored in barns. When arrested Foley was wearing a pair of shoes which he admitted were a part of the loot. He has been living, while in this city, at the Railroad Y. M. C. A. Inspector Valley says $50,000 is a conservative estimate of the freight losses which the New Haven road has had to pay.

ASSASSIN'S NOTE

Says Czarism Will be Extinguished

PARIS, May 10.—M. Lubanivitch, editor of the Russian revolutionary organ here, has received a copy of a letter from Ivan Kaleieff, who assassinated Grand Duke Serglus at Moscow, making a final address to his comrades. Kaleieff says:

"My life has been a contest against the odious tyranny of czarism and death crowns that work. To die with such convictions is to summon others to the combat. What ever may be the number of victims required to extinguish czarism I have the firm conviction that our generation will achieve the work for all time."

TUESDAY CLUB

WAS ENTERTAINED BY MRS. C. F. TUTTLE.

NOT A CANDIDATE

Roosevelt Will Not Run for President Again

OMAHA, Neb., May 10.—The Bee quotes Pres. Roosevelt as making the statement that he will not be a candidate for re-election. The Bee says:

"You are authorized to state that I will not again be a candidate for the office of president of the United States. There are no strings on this statement. I mean it. I made my speech at Denver for the purpose of convincing the people of my earnestness in regard to the matter of renomination. I will not be satisfied with any compromise that does not bring out of the people that conditions that now exist in regard to transportation affairs in the country. No compromise by my friends in congress will be accepted."

"This is Pres. Roosevelt's reply to a representative of the Bee on his special train as it journeyed across Nebraska. Published statements to the effect that the president would be forced to accept a renomination by the people who would be aroused to that pitch by the failure of congress to enact remedial legislation was shown him. He expressed himself most emphatically that he was not to be swayed from his determination by any advances that might be made him no matter in what disguise they came."

TAX DODGERS

Committee to Meet This Evening

It Contains About 8000 Names

The tax investigating committee will meet this evening at 7.30 o'clock when a conference will be held with the city treasurer. Thursday evening the committee will also have a session when it is expected that further probing will be done. It is more than probable that the committee will take a look at the assessors' office.

This morning City Treasurer Stiles filed with Clerk of Committees Frank M. Dowling the list of the delinquents for the year 1902. This list contains about 8000 names. Each page is numbered and at the bottom of each page the exact number of names contained on the page is given, so that the members will have no trouble in seeing at a glance how many delinquents there are on each page.

GRAND COTILLION

SKETCH OF THE STAGE DECORATIONS AT PRESCOTT HALL LAST EVENING.

Brilliant Affair Managed by Two Young Ladies

Prescott hall, decorated in lavish style and beautified as it has never been before, was the scene of a most novel and enjoyable party held in Lowell. It was the third cotillion under the management of Misses Josephine Ward and Madeline Crevier, and like the two preceding ones it was a brilliant success. In response to the invitations issued by the young ladies 100 took part in the several figures and the merry dancers were afforded entertainment never excelled here. The decorative feature of the hall was something unique and catchy, being confined entirely to floral effects which were very striking. Roses, violets and wisteria were used in abundance and banked the stage and walls, and curtained the great windows. From the center of the hall was suspended a huge floral bell which later contributed to the success of the second cotillion.

During the evening three cotillions were given, the first one having for favors a pair of tiny roller skates which were made by the young lady managers. Each pair of skates was numbered and one skate was given to each lady and each gentleman.

After receiving his favor the gentleman went around the hall looking for the young lady who held "his number." Then they were partners for that figure.

The second cotillion consisted of a snow storm, and a snow ball scene which certainly provided no end of amusement. The large bell attached to the center of the ceiling and containing bushels of confetti was automatically made to revolve and showered its contents on the heads of the dancers. The favors for this cotillion were snow balls made of confetti and cotton. The object of this feature was to have the participants snow ball each other. The way in which the Textile school boys "threw their arms out" in this favor was certainly amusing.

The third cotillion which was the "greatest of them all." Everybody marched around the hall and into the reception room. On the return to the hall the ladies received large summer hats elegantly trimmed in all the different colors. The hat was in the form of a poke bonnet and would have done justice to any of our swell milliners. The gentlemen's favor was also a hat in the shape of a becoming sailor with different colors of ribbon on each. One should see this favor to appreciate its effect. It assumed proportions of a grand march, the participants coming down the hall in fours and eights to the inspiring music of the orchestra playing the latest rag-time music thereby making the figure somewhat of a burlesque "cake-walk." One of the laughable features of this "parade" was the comical antics of Purchasing Agent Donnelly who wore a policeman's costume and had for his "prisoner" his friend "Billy" Purcell.

It was one o'clock this morning before the final number was danced and congratulations were heaped on Miss Ward and Miss Crevier for their tact in arranging so unique an affair.

The cotillions were led by Miss Josephine Ward with Mr. Chas. Woodruff, of Alabama, Mr. George Burke and Mr. William McDonald.

The matrons were Mrs. Charles Crevier, Mrs. Thomas E. Ward, Mrs. Frank Brady, Mrs. John H. Coffey and Mrs. Lawrence J. Smith.

Among the out-of-town guests present were: Mr. Michael Cotter, Mr. Lawrence Cotter and Harry L. O'Leary of Somerville; Dr. Alfred Southgate and Dr. Pin Chase, both of Harvard college; Mr. Thomas O'Connor of Westford; Mr. Edward T. Wirth, New York city; Mr. W. J. Burns and John Killaky, both of Andover; Miss Belle Wrenn, of Somerville; Miss May Hannigan, of Fitchburg; Miss Kate Manley, of Roxbury; Miss Alder Chapman and Miss Blanche Chapman, of Cambridge; Miss Gertrude Downing of Dorchester; Miss Minnie Marrs, of Holyoke; Miss Catherine McDowell, of South Boston; Mr. Lincoln Beddick, of West Chelmsford; Mr. James R. Allen, of Groveland. The following were the names of the Lawrence people who graced the occasion with their presence: Mr. Thomas Collins, Mr. John Daly, Jr., Mr. John Dineen, Mr. James Dineen, Mr. John Gallagher, Mr. George Herbst, Mr. William Herbst, Mr. Thomas Garry, Mr. Martin Kilcourse, Mr. Ashton Lee, Mr. Neil Webster, Mr. William Mahoney, Mr. William Maloney, Miss Helen O'Brien and Mr. Frank Arundel, and Mr. Edward Maguire of the Boston Post.

Music was furnished by the Middlesex orchestra.

HAS NO SUBSTITUTE

SUES HER SON

Property of a Methuen Man Attached

LAWRENCE, May 10—Mrs. Helen A. Clark of Methuen has attached the property of her son, Frank A. Clark, in the sum of $1000, in an action of contract. Mrs. Clark's husband died a few months ago, leaving to his family two farms in Methuen valued at $3000. In order that the homestead might remain in the Clark name, she desired that it be deeded to her oldest son, Frank, who she said had agreed in turn to care for her during her life. The deed was made and the mother refused to make any reservations whatever, saying she had implicit faith in her son.

Soon after the transfer was made her son, who is 35 years old, announced that he was to be married. He was married soon after to a Somerville woman. The couple settled on the farm in Methuen.

Later, Mrs. Clark, the mother of Frank left the house and said she had been driven out by the young people in violation of her son's oral agreement to take care of her. The young people say the mother left on her own accord.

Papers in the attachment were filed here yesterday by counsel for Mrs. Clark.

RAPID GROWTH

IN EXPORTS OF LEATHER AND MANUFACTURES THEREOF.

WASHINGTON, May 9.—Exports of leather and manufactures thereof from the United States during the calendar year 1904 amounted to 35 4-5 million dollars, as against 23 millions from the United Kingdom, and during the first quarter of the present calendar year those from the United States amounted to $9,125,837, as against $6,425,911 from the United Kingdom during the same period. A statement just compiled by the department of commerce and labor through its bureau of statistics presents the statistics of leather exportations from the United Kingdom and the United States, respectively, during the past decade. They show that the United States is exporting leather and the manufactures thereof at the rate of about 36 million dollars per annum, as against about 23 million dollars for the United Kingdom. Of the exports of leather from the United Kingdom, amounting, during the past year, to $23,146,383, the largest portion was unwrought leather, tanned or dressed, the exports of which amounted to $8,320,000; the next largest item, boots and shoes, amounted to $7,689,000; miscellaneous manufactures of leather, $4,790,000 (of which $3,665,000 represented the value of gloves exported), and harness and saddlery, $2,320,000.

Of our own exportations of leather in its various forms the principal articles are for the calendar year 1904, upper leather, $18,026,204; sole leather, $8,685,190; boots and shoes, $7,319,775; and miscellaneous manufactures of leather $1,791,323.

The United Kingdom exports boots and shoes principally to her own colonies, viz, British South Africa, New Zealand, the British East Indies, Australia, and the British West Indies, while a comparatively small amount goes to other countries. To British South Africa the exports of boots and shoes from the United Kingdom during the calendar year 1904 amounted to $3,887,000, being $1,695,000 less than those for 1903, when the total was $5,582,000, and $2,133,000 less than those of 1902, when the total was about $6,020,000 in value. To New Zealand, Great Britain's exports show a steady increase, the total for the three years named being $333,000 in 1902, $436,000 in 1903, and $529,000 in 1904. There is also an increase in Great Britain's exports of boots and shoes to British East Indies, the respective totals being $630,879 in 1902, $739,017 in 1903, and $876,058 in 1904. There is but little increase, however, in her exports of boots and shoes to Australia, the total being $592,774 in 1904, as against $585,775 in the preceding year, while for 1902 there was a total of $703,243. In the total exports there is a steady decrease, the total having been $9,229,823 in 1902, $8,980,542 in 1903, and but $7,692,019 in 1904.

The United States exports boots and shoes to all parts of the world, about one-half going to North America, about one-third of the total to Europe, about 10 per cent. to Australia and the Philippine Islands and the remainder to South America, Africa, Asia, and various other countries. The United Kingdom and British possessions are by far our largest customers for boots and shoes. To the United Kingdom our exports during 1904 amounted to $1,767,724; to the West Indies, $1,535,909; to British Australasia $814,270, and to British Africa, $229,641. Mexico ranks fourth as a market for American boots and shoes, and to that country our exports show a steady growth, having been $878,535 in 1904 as against $689,331 in 1903 and $690,607 in 1902. Canada and the other British North American provinces also offer a growing market for American boots and shoes, our exports to that section of the Western hemisphere having been $944,247 in 1904 as against $744,250 in 1903 and $591,929 in 1902. Our total exports of boots and shoes have increased from $880,179 in 1894 to $6,470,412 in 1903, $7,241,726 in 1903, and $7,319,775 in 1904.

From Germany the exports of boots and shoes average a little over 2 million dollars per annum, from France about 3 1-3 millions, from Spain about 3 millions, from the United Kingdom about 7 2-3 millions, and from the United States about 7 1-3 millions. During March, 1905, the latest month for which figures are available, the exports of boots and shoes from the United States actually exceeded those from the United Kingdom, being $802,361 in value as against a total of $758,892 for the United Kingdom, the United States thus occupying first rank among the world's exporters of boots and shoes. In 1893 our total exports of boots and shoes were about three-quarters of a million dollars in value, or less than those for the first three months of the present year, while in the calendar year just ended they were $7,319,775, of within less than $400,000 of the record made by the United Kingdom.

This rapid growth suggests a comparison of the exports of boots and shoes from the United Kingdom and the United States during a series of years, and the table herewith presented illustrates the growth in exports of boots and shoes from the United States and the stationary character of the trade in this commodity from the United Kingdom during the past twelve years.

SUMMER WORK

PLANS FOR THE NORTHFIELD CONFERENCES.

EAST NORTHFIELD, May 10—The plans for the Northfield summer conferences, as just announced by Mr. W. R. Moody, son of the evangelist, D. L. Moody promise one of the liveliest seasons in the history of the work. Six main assemblies are under way, including the well known college conference, which has met at Northfield since 1886, a similar conference for young women, a summer school for B. S. workers, under the direction of the Massachusetts State S. S. association, a summer school for missionaries, managed by the Women's Boards of Foreign missions of the United States and Canada, a general conference for Christian workers, the oldest assembly of the kind in America, and a series of post conference meetings lasting until September 15. Most of the gatherings will be of an international nature and the missionary school is expected to bring together one of the largest delegations of foreign workers ever assembled in this country. Many methods of religious work will be brought up and discussed during the summer, the first four assemblies dealing specifically with different branches of Christianity, and the general conference combining and energizing them all by the inspiring power of the Holy Spirit.

Nearly all the foreign speakers who took part in the conferences last year are again scheduled to speak, and in addition, an unusually strong corps of men are on the program. The list as announced includes Prebendary Webb-Peploe, of St. Paul's Cathedral; Dr. G. Campbell Morgan, of Westminster, London; Prof. R. A. Falconer, of Halifax; Dr. S. M. Zwemer, of Arabia; Dr. C. R. Watson, of Egypt; Mr. John R. Mott, Rev. A. F. Shauffler D. D., Mr. Robert E. Speer, Mrs. W. A. Montgomery, of Rochester; Prof. James Denney, of Glasgow; Mr. John Willis Baer, and Dr. Johnstone Ross, of Cambridge.

The exact dates of the conferences are as follows: Student conference, June 30 to July 9; young women's conference, July 11 to 20; summer school for Sunday school workers, July 22 to 30; summer school for women's missionary societies, July 24 to 31; general conference for Christian workers, August 4 to 30; post conference addresses, August 22 to September 15.

GIRL MISSING

GRETTA RANKIN HAD TROUBLE WITH HER LOVER.

BOSTON, May 10.—Three weeks ago Gretta Rankin, 24 years old, who lodged at 73 Appleton street, left there, telling her chum that she would never see her again. She was despondent and her friend interpreted her statement as meaning that not only she but no one else would ever see her again. So far the girl has kept her threat, and last evening, tired of hunting all over the city, the girl's friend told the police.

The police were disinclined to disclose all that had been told them about the missing girl, but it is understood that she had trouble with her lover. A few weeks ago he disappeared, and since then Miss Rankin seemed greatly changed. She worried much over the departure of her lover, and finally was obliged to give up work. She tried in every way to find out where he was and bring about a reconciliation, and in this was assisted by her friend, who lived with her, but the man had disappeared for good.

FOR PAVING BILL

Union Paving Company Against City

For Repairs Made on Westford Street

It looks now as if the city of Lowell and the Union Paving company of Worcester would get into a legal battle. The paving company claims that the city owes it $1000 for work alleged to have been done on the streets of Lowell. This bill is for repairs, and the city refuses to pay on the ground that the work was guaranteed for five years, and that the said repairs were made within this limit. The work in question was done on Westford street.

AUDITOR CHASE

Arrangements For the Funeral Made

The funeral of the late city auditor, David Chase, will take place tomorrow afternoon. City Messenger Pattee said this morning that he had communicated with the family of the departed official, and that by this afternoon all the arrangements would be completed. It is probable that Arthur Salmon will have charge of the funeral. City Messenger Pattee, clerk of committees Dowling, together with the mayor and the committee from the city council, will attend the funeral in a body.

SERIOUS CHARGE

CAPTAIN BONSER ACCUSED OF TRYING TO CAUSE DISASTER.

VICTORIA, B. C., May 10.—Charges have been forwarded to Ottawa by Capt. Johnston of the River steamer Mount Royal, through the merchant service guild of Victoria, alleging that Capt. Bonser, a rival skipper of the Hazelton, deliberately rammed his vessel on the Skeina river and also at a past date performed a similar act on the Ramona in the Fraser river. Further charges have been made that Capt. Bonser endeavored to induce one of his crew to remove aids to navigation in order to precipitate disaster to a rival vessel.

AMERICAN COLLEGE GRADUATES.

HARTFORD, Conn., May 10.—Graduates of the North American college at Rome held their twenty-first annual meeting in this city today, about 100 of the 300 members being present. A business meeting at which the president of the association, Rev. Dr. Wm. Maher of South Norwalk, presided, was first held, after which there was a banquet.

TO SAVE WOMAN

Italian Government Will Spend $100,000

NEW YORK, May 10—The Italian government has come to the assistance of Mrs. Anna Valentina, who is condemned to be hanged at Hackensack, N. J., on Friday, for the murder of Rosa Salga, and has instructed its representative in this city to spend $100,000, if necessary, to prevent the sentence being carried out.

Gustavo Tosti, consul general for Italy, said yesterday:

"I have received instructions from my government, both from Rome and through Washington, to spend $100,000, if necessary, in the defence of Anna Valentina, and prevent, if possible, the death sentence being carried out.

"This woman didn't get a fair trial. We think this woman committed homicide in self-defence.

James M. Trimble, counsel for Mrs. Valentina, in the application for a writ of habeas corpus, contended that the woman had not received a fair trial under the constitution of the United States, and that there had been in her trial a violation of the treaty of 1871 between the United States and Italy.

He said that the question of the guilt or innocence of the woman had never been tried. She had admitted the killing, but by the instructions of the court a plea of not guilty had been entered and the evidence had been taken to ascertain the degree of guilt. This was done under a section of the criminal statutes of New Jersey which was repealed in 1893 and superseded by a section under which no plea of guilty is accepted in capital cases.

Counsel Trimble also called attention to the fact that the word "acquittal" did not appear in the judge's charge to the jury, but that, on the contrary, the court told the jury that it must find the woman guilty at least in the second degree of murder.

Mrs. Valentina when informed in the jail later that there was hope for her, expressed her joy by saying:

"Ah, then it is true. My prayers have been answered. I am not to die on Friday. The white dove that rested upon the window of my cell was a bird of good omen."

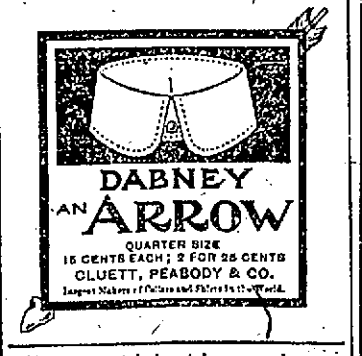

NO INJUNCTION

PETITION OF EQUITABLE POLICY HOLDER WAS DENIED.

NEW YORK, May 10—Justice McLean, in the state supreme court today denied the application of Herbert G. Tull, of Philadelphia, a policy holder in the Equitable Life Assurance society, for an injunction, restraining that society and the New York state supt. of insurance from proceeding further with respect to the proposed amended charter of the Equitable which was sent to the superintendent of insurance for his approval. The amended charter provides for the mutualization of the society.

PADEREWSKI SAILS.

NEW YORK, May 10.—Ignace Paderewski, the pianist, sailed on the steamship Oceanic today enroute to his home in Switzerland to rest and recover from an attack of nervous prostration which interrupted his recent tour in this country.

Mr. Paderewski said that while he is better, he sought complete rest.

"I cannot say now just when I will return to America," he added.

Other passengers on the Oceanic included Mrs. Patrick Campbell, the actress, and Vice Admiral Lord Charles Beresford.

BRIDGE IS SAFE.

SAYBROOK JUNCTION, Conn., May 10.—After being in the hands of repair crews for 36 hours, the shore line division railroad bridge across the Connecticut river at Lyme was again pronounced safe today. The first train to cross the bridge since Monday afternoon was sent over safely and regular traffic was then resumed.

WOMAN'S STORY

SAYS SON COMPLAINED OF ILL TREATMENT.

WATERBURY, Vt., May 10.—The legislative committee which is investigating conditions at various state institutions today renewed its examination of witnesses here with regard to the conduct of the state insane hospital in Waterbury. Mrs. C. H. Stevens of St. Albans, testified that her son Harry, 20 years of age, had been committed to the hospital as a private patient some time ago and that he complained frequently of ill-treatment at the hands of the attendants. He alleged that he was often choked and thrown on the floor.

M. H. Alexander, constable of the town of Georgia, testified that he had committed two patients to the Waterbury institution during the past two years. One of these, Michael O'Connolly, had been bed-ridden for a year before he went to the hospital but upon his arrival there he was made to sit in a chair. He died about three weeks later.

Witness could not say whether this treatment hastened the death.

Thomas Kelley, of Richmond, formerly a nurse at the hospital, was the next witness. He said that while he was at the institution, he believed no more violence than was necessary was used in restraining the patients. He declared the food always was good.

ENTERS SUIT

STEAMER WAS ATTACHED FOR $3000.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass, May 10.—Steamer Peninsular of the Insular Navigation company, which arrived Monday from Lisbon with 700 passengers, was attached today in action of tort to recover $3000, Manuel T. D'Oliveira of Fall River, a passenger of two years ago on the same steamer, alleging that the company detained him in a building in this city which was unsuitable for habitation, and in consequence of which he contracted an illness. The steamer was allowed to sail after sureties were furnished.

LYNN INDEPENDENT TEAM SUES

Trouble Arose Over Cancellation of Game

LYNN, May 10—The contest between the Lynn baseball team of the New England league and the Lynn Association club, an independent organization, was renewed today when legal proceedings were instituted against the N. E. league officials by the Lynn Baseball and Amusement association, which controls the Independent nine. The proceedings grew out of the action yesterday of Pres. T. Murnane of the N. E. league in protesting against a game arranged between the Chicago National League club and the association nine here. Pres. Murnane in his protest stated that the Lynn club of the N. E. league and the Fall River nine had a game yesterday at Glenmere Park and that the National Baseball agreement to which Chicago is a party made Lynn "protected territory." When the Chicago club manager received the protest he decided to cancel the game with the association.

The association today entered suits for alleged damages of $5,000 each against Pres. Murnane, Secretary Jacob S. Morse of the N. E. league, Thomas R. McDermott, manager of the Fall River club, and one Charles H. Rogers, supposedly of Lynn. The association claims that a letter appeared in a Boston Sunday paper signed with the name of Rogers, calling the attention of the league officials to the proposed Chicago-Association game.

In the suits the association charges conspiracy to injure and cause financial loss to the association by preventing Chicago from carrying out its contract.

For This New Attack on Jewish Residents

ST. PETERSBURG, May 10—Noon—No further details have reached here from Zhitomir, capital of the province of Volkynia, in Southwestern Russia, the scene of the recent attacks of Orthodox Christians on Jews. It is asserted that a fortnight before the disorders, proclamations were spread calling on the Christians to beat the Jews. When these proclamations were shown to the mayor of Zhitomir the latter declared them to be stupid and said there was no occasion for alarm.

At the ministry of the interior, it is said that M. Bouligin sent urgent instructions the night of May 8 to Zhitomir ordering the authorities there to protect the Jews and to prevent disorders.

The creditors of M. Krousheven (former editor of the Bessarabietz) have levied on his new paper, the friend recently established at Kishineff.

CITY COUNCIL

Took Action on Death of Mr. Chase

Both branches of the city government met last evening and did honor to the memory of the late revered city auditor, David Chase. Committees to attend the funeral and to draw up appropriate resolutions were appointed, and the meeting adjourned out of respect for the departed official. No other business was transacted, although considerable routine business was upon the table.

The board of aldermen was called together by Chairman Grant shortly after 8 o'clock and he read the following communication from His Honor Mayor Casey, in relation to the death of City Auditor Chase:

"Gentlemen:—It is with profound sorrow that I announce to you the death of David Chase. For over 30 years he faithfully performed the duties of his position, giving to the city conscientious public service. Changes of administration and the drawing of party lines had no effect on him, because his worth was recognized, and it was realized that no one could perform the duties in a more satisfactory manner.

"He was an ideal public servant, and a citizen whose honesty and integrity were unquestioned. He was loved and esteemed by all who had the pleasure of knowing him. His death is a great loss to our city.

"To properly honor his memory and to recognize his services to the city, I recommend that your honorable body take such action as may be necessary."

A joint order calling for a joint convention to take action on Mr. Chase's death was then read and adopted. The order was then sent to the common council, and a moment later the aldermen appeared in the council chamber.

Chairman Grant of the board of aldermen then read the order providing for the appointment of committees to attend the funeral of Mr. Chase and to draw up resolutions on his death. The order was adopted.

Chairman Grant named the following committees:

To attend the funeral—Mayor Casey, Alderman Grant, President Dodge of the council, Alderman Carmichael, Alderman Braden, Councilmen Marcotte, Councilman White, Councilman Cronin.

Resolutions—Alderman Cosgrove, Alderman Walker, Councilman Blake, Councilman Wilder, Councilman John Daly.

On motion of Alderman Rourke, the convention then dissolved.

The council adjourned immediately and when the aldermen returned to their chamber, they voted to adjourn until Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock.

FIRES ARE OUT

No Fresh Outbreak ot Plymouth

PLYMOUTH, Mass., May 10.—The fresh outbreak late yesterday of flames in parts of the district covered by the great forest fire which was practically extinguished yesterday morning with the aid of heavy showers did not prove serious and the large force of men who were on hand to watch the smouldering embers had little difficulty in keeping them under control. While small blazes are expected to occur frequently for several days, as the wind fans into life sparks not wholly deadened, these are not likely to spread into new territory. Men will guard the scene until it is known that ever vestige of the fire is killed.

NEGROES OBJECT

To Statements of the Drivers Union

CHICAGO, May 10.—More than 1,000 negroes have assembled at the Bethel African Methodist church and adopted resolutions read by Mrs. Ida Wells Barnett, protesting against the action of the department store drivers' union, which the resolutions asserted, circulated a "slanderous" letter against negro drivers, declaring them to be "loafers," not willing to work.

This charge was denounced as a willful and malicious falsehood against men who proved their value by risking their lives to obtain work. The resolutions also called upon the mayor to "serve hard working citizens from that kind of protection which lets the rioter go free and sends the victim to the jails and hospitals."

LOEB ESCAPED

President's Secretary Avoided the Sheriff

SUMMONS IN MAE WOOD CASE

Could Not be Served by Official

MISSOURI VALLEY, Iowa, May 10.—Wm. Loeb, Jr., secretary to the president, passed safely through Nebraska without being served with a summons in an action filed by Miss Mae Wood, demanding $25,000 on a charge of conspiring to deprive her of a certain missive alleged to have been written to her by a U. S. senator. The secretary's escape from service was the result of a change in the itinerary of the presidential special, by which the train was transferred to the tracks of the Elk Horn division of the Chicago & N. W. at Fremont, Neb., and run to Missouri Valley, Ia., where connection was made with the main line. The change left Douglas county, Nebraska, and the sheriff with his summons about 30 miles off the route of the special. No announcement had been made of the altered plans until the special arrived in the yards at Fremont, Neb.

Porters on the presidential cars bewailed the fact that supplies for the train had been ordered sent to Omaha and that the new program would leave them with insufficient material to serve the party tomorrow. U. S. Senator Burkett and Edward Rosewater, publisher of the Omaha Bee, who boarded the train at Grand Island, Neb., to accompany the president to Omaha, were in a quandr yas to reaching home but were cared for by Vice Pres. Mohler in his private car.

THE SHERIFF

SAYS HE WILL GIVE UP THE TASK.

OMAHA, Neb., May 10.—Sheriff Power of this county was on hand at the Union station last night in anticipation of the arrival of Pres. Roosevelt's train with the intention of serving on Sec. Loeb a summons in the Mae Wood suit, filed 10 days ago, against Mr. Loeb, Robert J. Wynne and J. Martin Miller, for $35,000 damages. The sheriff accepted the change of route as a plan to avoid him, and said he would not pursue the matter further at this time.

Miss Wood has made the statement that if Sec. Loeb avoided the summons she would transfer her suit to the federal court and secure summons by means of a U. S. marshal.

CANOBIE LAKE

GREAT ATTRACTIONS IN PREPARATION FOR THE SEASON.

A great many improvements are being made at Canobie Lake park in preparation for the summer season. President Belden and General Manager Franklin Woodman state that the New Hampshire Traction company will surpass all former efforts in adding new attractions, in furnishing high class entertainments at the theatre and in other ways making the park a magnet to draw forth the pleasure seekers from every direction. There will be a roller skating rink, a merry-go-round, a new steam launch, boxball alleys and the penny arcade will be enlarged to twice its present size.

The band stand in the dancing pavilion is to be changed to the side nearest the lake. The restaurants will be again under popular management of Graves & Ramsdell. The Park will open Sunday, May 28, with two free concerts by the famous Salem Cadet band, Jean Missud conductor. The dancing pavilion will open May 16 for private parties; May 29 for regular dancing, Carl Braun, of Collinsville, manager, same as last year; an orchestra of seven pieces will be in attendance. Altogether the patrons are promised rare attractions this summer at Canobie.

POLICE BOARD

AND THE GRANTING OF THEATRE LICENSES.

City Solicitor Hill has decided that the Board of Police still has the power to grant theatre licenses despite the new law recently passed by the legislature giving such power to mayors of cities. The solicitor is of the opinion that this law does not apply to Lowell.

Little Esther Mulgrave and Master Frederick Mulgrave danced at the Mary Chilton colony, M. O. P. E., of Lawrence, last week and proved great favorites.

LEGAL NOTICES

MORTGAGE SALE.

By virtue of a power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by Joel M. Thurston and Minnie H. Thurston of Lowell, Mass., to Josiah M. LABOR'S PROTEST

Will Not be Submitted to President Roosevelt

Labor Leaders Say No Good Could be Accomplished by Asking President to Arbitrate the Strike—President Welcomed by Governor and Mayor—Streets Were Lined With Police and Men in Uniform

CHICAGO, MAY 10.—REPRESENTATIVES OF LABOR HAVE ABANDONED THEIR PLAN OF PETITIONING PRES. ROOSEVELT, WHILE IN CHICAGO TODAY, TO USE HIS GOOD OFFICES IN BRINGING ABOUT A SETTLEMENT OF THE STRIKE. THIS AFTERNOON C. P. SHEA, PRESIDENT OF THE TEAMSTERS' UNION, SAID: "PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT WILL NOT BE ASKED TO ARBITRATE THE STRIKE. NONE OF THE COMMITTEE APPOINTED WILL CALL ON HIM. WE DO NOT SEE WHAT GOOD IT WILL DO LABOR TO ASK THE PRESIDENT TO ARBITRATE THE STRIKE.

Pres. Roosevelt was welcomed by Gov. Deneen, Mayor Dunne, delegations from the merchants, the Hamilton and the Iroquois clubs, a committee of aldermen and other city officials.

The streets through which the president's carriage drove were lined with police and men in uniform and plain clothes mingled with the crowd every where.

Chief of Police O'Neill preceded the president's procession in a carriage and personally supervised the arrangements and saw that the streets were clear. In the advance of the line of carriages were 50 mounted police, commanded by Captain Adams Barber. Behind the president's carriage rode eight detective sergeants in two carriages, the president's personal bodyguard. They wore silk hats and Prince Albert coats.

Capt. Patrick Gibbons with 150 policemen guarded the Chicago and Northwestern depot. Inspector Shippy with 75 men was stationed in the streets surrounding the depot. Inspector Lavin with another squad of 150 men had command of the Auditorium hotel, and vicinity.

PEACE PACT

PROMISES WERE MADE BY BOTH SIDES.

CHICAGO, May 10.—Promises of peace and order for today, the president's day, were made by both sides in the teamsters' strike. The Employers' Teaming company decided to reduce its teaming and delivery operations for today. The teamsters' joint council has voted against a general strike and determined that no further sympathetic movement should be made, except in case of teamsters ordered to make deliveries to boycotted houses, in which event individuals should walk out. A statement of the situation was prepared to be presented to President Roosevelt by a strikers' committee which desisted at his request from meeting him on the way to Chicago. The labor representatives planned to inform the president of legal proceedings which have been taken by the employers and made a proposition that the president act as an arbitrator for differences, choosing as associates one man from labors ranks and one from the employers. The employers say they will not officially approach the president. "We have no intention of bothering President Roosevelt with our troubles," said Levy Mayer, counsel for the Employers' association, today. "It is likely, however," he added, "that the employers' side will get the president's ear for a quiet discussion of the situation some time during his stay here."

Strike leaders declared that no orders had been issued to the strikers to refrain from violence today, beyond instructions previously given out during the strike, but it was current gossip that secret commands had been passed along the line, ordering all teamsters to remain absolutely quiet and not to attempt the slightest interference today with the teams of the Employers' Teaming company.

Pres. Dold of the Chicago Federation of Labor called a meeting of his special committee early today and perfected plans for the presentation of labor's memorial or statement.

"I do not know whether we will be able to see the president or not," said Pres. Dold after the meeting today, "but I am satisfied we will get him to accept our memorial."

The usual number of police were on strike duty today, with the exception of 10, who were withdrawn to act as guards for Pres. Roosevelt, but there was scarcely any evidence of a strike beyond the presence of the police and occasional caravans of guarded wagons. Sixteen hundred deputy sheriffs have been sworn in for strike duty and this body of men also was in service today, but there seemingly was little for the deputies to do.

A PRODIGAL SON

Who Stole Fatted Calf From Father

The session of police court occupied only 10 minutes of Judge Hadley's time this morning as there were only four drunks. Two of the latter were placed on probation after sentences of four months each in the house of correction had been imposed.

STOLE FATTED CALF.

William L. Ferris, a Dracut mason was up for drunkenness, and at the request of the Dracut officer the case was continued until tomorrow to permit the officer to communicate with Ferris' father.

Ferris, it would appear, reversed the story of the prodigal son by stealing the fatted calf from his father's farm. The elder Ferris is a respectable Dracut farmer, and one day last summer the son went to a field owned by his father where the latter's cows were grazing and took one of the cows away with him. He led it to a camp where a band of gypsies were camping and sold the animal for $10. The Dracut officer expects that the father will prefer a charge of larceny against his erring son.

HAD A BLACKJACK.

On Sunday afternoon a man named Winslow was arrested for drunkenness in Merrimack square, and while riding through Prescott street in the patrol wagon drew something from his hip pocket and threw it into the street.

A short time later a boy called at the police station and gave the police a vicious looking "black-jack" such as are carried by highwaymen and footpads, which he states was thrown from the wagon in Prescott street. When questioned about the weapon Winslow denied that it was his property.

SMALL-POX CASE

Health Board Expects a Few More

There is no new development in the smallpox case, although Agent Knapp of the board of health says he would not at all be surprised if some few new cases were reported in a day or two. No epidemic is feared by the authorities. The agent says that undoubtedly there has been some infection because there is no doubt that there have been at least two cases if not more in the vicinity of the Salem street house, where the present case was found.

The premises on Salem street have been fumigated and are now quarantined. The report from the contagious hospital indicates that the patient is getting along as well as could be expected.

15 CANDIDATES

ALL LOOKING FOR CITY AUDITOR'S JOB.

Politicians from far and near were up to city hall today, and most, if not all of them, had their eye on the city auditor's office, for they are candidates for the position left vacant by the death of the late David Chase. All of the candidates have not announced themselves as yet, but already 15 have been heard from. Among the ones most prominently mentioned are Clinton P. Tuttle, at present employed as one of the clerks in the auditor's office; John Stott, Wm Sturtevant, Joe Richardson, private secretary to Counsellor Walter Watson; ex-Alderman Charles Paige, ex-Purchasing Agent Virgil Barnard, and many others.

NEEDLE BROKE

MRS. ELLEN KING WAS PAINFULLY INJURED.

Mrs. Ellen King residing at 203 Lawrence street, while engaged in sewing this afternoon at her home had a needle break off and a portion of it entered her little finger. The finger was treated and the needle removed at the Emergency hospital.

CONNORS' LAND

TO BE LEASED TO THE CITY FOR A CREMATORY.

The lease of the Connors Construction company's land, on Plain street, to the city, for the purpose of erecting and operating a crematory, has been presented to his honor for his approval and signature. Mayor Casey was out of the city today, and will not take up the matter until tomorrow morning.

FIRE IN BARN

IT WAS STARTED BY SOME CHILDREN.

An alarm from box 121 shortly after 2 o'clock this afternoon summoned a portion of the fire department to a slight blaze in an unoccupied barn in upper Dutton street. The fire was caused by children. The damage was slight.

DEATHS

FLOOD—Miss Anna Flood, aged 72 years, an old and highly respected resident of this city, died this morning at Salem, Mass. The body will be brought to this city by Undertaker Jas. W. McKenna and time of funeral will be announced later.

SCALP WOUND.

Frank O'Brien, residing at 54 Andrew street, received a severe scalp wound this morning, caused by falling from the curb stone on Lawrence street. His injuries were treated at the Emergency hospital.

YOUNG CORBETT

Will Meet Eddie Hanlon in June

SAN FRANCISCO, May 10.—The June fistic bout for a professional boxing exhibition was captured yesterday by Alex Greenlaw for the San Francisco A. C. This removes all obstacles to the Eddie Hanlon-Young Corbett match.

Corbett and Hanlon will both start training at once. Corbett has been out at Sherman's for about a week. Hanlon, who will train at Cliff's gardens, in Alameda, went into camp yesterday.

Eddie is somewhat heavy, but he has less to take off than Corbett.

Hanlon has Frank McDonald as a sparring partner. It was McDonald who trained Corbett for his match with "Battling" Nelson. Tim McGrath will handle Corbett.

JACK JOHNSON

COPLE NOT PUT JOE JEANNETTE AWAY.

PHILADELPHIA, May 10. In his eagerness to find opponents, Jack Johnson, the negro heavyweight champion, last night met two men in the ring at the Knickerbocker A. C. and scored one knockout. His victim was Walter Johnson, also a negro, who was put away in the third round of the second bout by a right-hand swing.

Jack's other opponent was Joe Jeannette, still another negro, of New York, who put up a splendid battle with the champion, and deserved a draw.

The agreement was that Jack Johnson was to meet each man for three rounds, and a big crowd turned out to see the novel performance.

Jeannette kept Jack busy. He was very aggressive, and gave Johnson a stiff argument, although after every blow Jeannette landed Jack woke up and rushed. Jeannette was knocked down once in the second and once in the third round.

In the former he landed a right-hand swing to Johnson's face, and in the last round he caught Johnson on the right swings. He was generously applauded at the finish of the first three rounds.

After a minute's rest Walter Johnson faced Jack. Walter was also disposed to be aggressive, and he made a good showing in the first round. In the second Jack drew blood from Walter's mouth.

As soon as the third round opened Jack rushed. Walter tried to get away, but Jack sprang forward. With a left jab on the mouth, Jack partly straightened Walter up, and then shot his right against his opponent's jaw, and it was all over.

THE GRENADIERS

GAVE A HAYRIDE PARTY LAST NIGHT.

The Grenadiers' Social club gave a hayride party last evening to Willow Dale. A large barge drawn by four horses left the post office at 7.45 o'clock and arrived at the Dale at 9.15. Impromptu speeches and popular songs were the order of entertainment until the party arrived at the lake. Whist and general dancing were indulged in until 11.30, when the party sat down to a bountiful repast prepared by Bowers brothers. The start back to Lowell was made at 12.30. Mr. Frank Wotton had general charge of the affair, and its success was largely due to the co-operation of Miss Josie Denis and Miss Maude Plumstead, while Mr. John Hume of Kittredge's singing orchestra ably presided at the piano. The party was chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. Stephen H. Wotton.

WIFE'S DEATH

PREYED UPON MIND OF LOUIS GIRARD.

BOSTON, May 10.—His mind said to be unbalanced through grief over the pathetic death of his wife, who expired a week ago in his arms, while riding in a carriage after she had been denied admission to the home for intemperate women, Louis F. Girard of Foster street, Brighton, was yesterday taken to a private sanatorium for treatment.

Mr. Girard, who is a member of the firm of Whittemore & Girard, caterers, of Massachusetts avenue, had planned to have his wife treated for a complication of diseases, and a time was set for Mrs. Girard to be taken to the home. There being but one room vacant there and the Girards not having arrived until several hours after the time set for the wife's reception, the room was given to some one else, and the carriage which conveyed the stricken woman from her home returned with her to Brighton.

Mr. Girard, thinking his wife had been seized with another of the sinking spells from which she had frequently rallied, took her in his arms on the homeward journey, and when the carriage drew up at the Foster street residence she was dead.

Mr. Girard took his loss terribly to heart. He had been in ill health before the shock occasioned by his wife's death, and consequently friends of the family were not surprised last evening when it was learned that the man had been escorted by two Brighton policemen to an asylum and pronounced somewhat unbalanced.

TRUSTEES MET

And Discussed the Financial Condition OF LOWELL GENERAL HOSPITAL

Greater Efforts Needed to Keep Out of Debt

The trustees of the Lowell General hospital held their annual meeting yesterday afternoon and transacted very important business. The report of the executive and house committees showed that the hospital had been managed in a business like manner during the year, for upon a thorough investigation the committee found that the hospital had been run within the appropriation.

When Mr. Frederick Fanning Ayer gave an endowment of $100,000 to the hospital it was with the condition that the hospital should come through each year entirely free from debt. This brings to a close the second year after the receipt of this endowment, and with the result noted above.

The endowment fund is now $153,120, bringing in a little over $7000 per year.

But the committee called particular attention to the fact that it would be impossible to conduct the hospital another year with the same income it had this year. While it is to be presumed that enlarged accommodations will increase the income, yet to what extent this increase will be is an uncertain problem.

The committee also called attention to the fact that the question of charity work would soon be a most difficult one to answer, now that the hospital accommodations were to be so greatly enlarged. "Indeed," said the committee, "the amount of charity work which we may do another year will depend almost entirely upon our ability to meet the expense due to same."

Attention was called to the splendid work which has been done by the Young Women's Guild in supplying funds with which the maternity department is completely furnished. The Ladies Aid has also done most efficient work, looking after the mending, furnishing new bedding, appropriating money for the nurses' library, etc.

The new building will be ready for occupancy in two or three weeks. When fully completed, and when everything is in first class shape, the trustees announce that there will be an opening day. The Ladies' Aid, the Young Women's Guild, the trustees and the medical profession will all unite in order to make this day a memorable one in the history of Lowell.

WEDS DOCTOR

GOV. RUSSELL'S WIDOW MARRIED IN APPLETON CHAPEL.

BOSTON, May 10.—Mrs. Margaret Manning Russell, widow of Gov. William Eustis Russell, was married to Dr. Michael George Foster of London, Eng., yesterday at 4 p. m., in Appleton chapel, Cambridge.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. George Hodges, D. D., dean of the Episcopal theological school, assisted by the Rev. Francis G. Peabody.

The bride, who was gowned in gray peau de cygne, was unattended, as was also the groom. The invitations to the wedding were confined to immediate relatives and a few close friends.

On Mrs. Russell's arrival at the church she was met by her elder son, William E. Russell, who escorted her into the church.

Miss Margaret Russell, the daughter, attended the ceremony, accompanied by four young girls, while the younger son, Richard, was accompanied by three playmates.

SPOTTED FEVER

Another Death and One More Case Reported

Rose Geary, aged 8 years and six months, child of Jeremiah and Mary Geary, is the latest victim of cerebro-spinal meningitis, her death occurring this morning after a few hours' illness, at the home of her parents, 15 Bassett street.

The little girl was out playing last night and retired at the usual time, not complaining of any illness. This morning, however, she complained of feeling sick, but little was thought of it by the folks of the house until the girl became noticeably worse and then Drs. Boyle and Welch were summoned. They did all in their power to save her life, but without avail, however, death resulting at 8.30 o'clock.

The funeral took place this afternoon and the interment was in the Catholic cemetery under the direction of Funeral Director John F. Rogers.

ANOTHER CASE REPORTED.

Another case, that of Thomas Daly of Auburn street, was reported to the board of health this morning.

FIRE ON ARCH ST.

Lively Blaze In a Carriage Shop

What might have proved to be a disastrous fire was discovered in the carriage shop of John H. Swett in Arch street about 10.30 o'clock this morning. Owing to the timely arrival and good work of the firemen the building and those in the vicinity were saved. At one time it looked as though the entire building as well as those adjoining would suffer badly from the flames.

The building is a two and one-half story wooden affair and was well filled with carriages and wagons, some new and some old, while others were under the course of construction.

The fire was caused by a spark from a nearby chimney dropping on the roof. The blaze managed to work its way under the shingles and in a short space of time began to spread, going through a blind attic where other carriages were stored.

An alarm from box 72 was sounded and when the department arrived the whole roof was ablaze while the smoke was pouring out of the building in huge volumes. Owing to the number of carriages in the way the work of the firemen was considerably retarded but several lines of hose were soon laid and in a short time the fire was under control.

Outside of destroying the roof and scorching a few of the carriages the damage was slight.

Fred C. Church had the insurance on Mr. Swett's property.

DISAPPOINTED

ELWIN MILLER HOME FROM PORTO RICO.

Mr. Elwin Miller of Centralville has returned home from Porto Rico after two years' experience at San Juan. He says Porto Rico was a big disappointment to him. The natives have a deep rooted feeling against Americans and will not work for them or trade with them.

THE GAS BILL

Was Passed to Be Engrossed

BOSTON, May 10.—The bill authorizing the amalgamation of the gas companies of Boston into the Boston Consolidated Gas companies was passed to be engrossed today in the Massachusetts house. This was done after certain amendments suggested by the committee on bills and Chairman Cole of the public lighting committee had been adopted. One of these amendments prohibits the capitalization of the $1,000,000 indebtedness existing between the consolidated companies.

FRAZER KILLED

He Fell a Distance of Fifty Feet

NEWPORT, R. I., May 10.—Three men fell fifty feet to the ground today with a staging on the new residence being constructed here for Mrs. Emilie Bruguierel and one Joseph Frazer, a mason, was instantly killed. James Mathers, representative of a New Jersey terra cotta company, had his arm broken, while George Taylor, a mason, escaped with a shaking up and slight bruises.

THE SUN'S PLATFORM

FOR THE GOOD OF LOWELL

1. ADOPT a new charter giving the mayor full power to appoint and remove at will, the heads of all city departments and members of all boards or commissions.

2. ABOLISH the common council and provide for a single legislative board of 27 aldermen, three from each ward.

3. CREATE public boards to have charge of streets, buildings, police, fire, pauper and water departments.

4. ANNEX portions of Dracut and Tewksbury, including the "Navy Yard" and the Andover road as far as the Hood farm.

5. ABOLISH the Merrimack street station and the grade crossings at Market, Thorndike and Middlesex streets and extend the northern station to Thorndike street.

6. BUILD a public hall and market on the White lot in Merrimack Square.

There should be no further delay in building that shoe factory. Push it along.

The real estate business is looking brighter but everybody knows the one great obstacle to be overcome.

Tewksbury and Dracut are greatly in need of a water service. To secure the best in the state they should seek annexation to Lowell.

There are numerous manufacturing sites still available in Lowell, many of which can be had free of charge by a desirable concern. We want a diversity of industries no matter who may be desirous of holding us dependent upon one industry.

Several brewing companies of this state have been convicted of using salicyclic acid to preserve ale and beer. Their product is usually deleterious enough without adding poisonous ingredients. It is well that there is an unpurchasable authority in this state to protect the public against this dangerous form of imposition.

France at last consents to yield to the demands of Japan to the extent of preventing the two Russian squadrons from meeting in French waters. Japan herself has been the greatest violator of neutrality in this war. She has been using the Chinese as marauders at every point along the frontier except where there was heavy firing.

President Roosevelt has stopped shooting bears and has gone gunning for the railroads. He will have to look into those charges of corruption preferred by Minister Bowen of Venezuela against his predecessor, Mr. Loomis, now assistant secretary of state. But the president may hesitate to take any step in which he might tread upon the toes of John Hay.

CHAIRMAN TALBOT'S EXPLANATION.

Chairman Talbot of the republican state committee after a tour of the western part of the state reports that the republicans there had no intention of defeating Governor Bates when they voted for Governor Douglas. Well, if they had any intention of defeating Douglas surely they would not have voted for him. Chairman Talbot's explanation of Bates' defeat will not go down. He must offer some explanatory pill more easily swallowed.

THE REDISTRICTING FIASCO.

Is the city redistricted or not? We say it is not, but the legal adviser of the city says it is. Nobody, however, seems to know or care anything about the new ward lines inasmuch as the humblest candidate for councilmanic honors can quote legal decisions to show that the old ward lines are still undisturbed.

THE TAX INVESTIGATION.

The general public expects one beneficial result if no more from the investigation of tax abatements. That result will be a better system of collecting taxes both poll and personal than we have had in the past. There should be some provision in the ordinances making it compulsory upon the tax collector to see that nobody who is able to pay be allowed to escape. It seems that grafters have taken advantage of the discretion allowed the assessors to abate the poll taxes of those who cannot pay. It is difficult to believe that the officials whose duty it was to collect the taxes could be convinced that men holding public office, men apparently in good financial standing had any right to be exempted from paying their poll taxes. There has been evasion on the part of the persons assessed and connivance on the part of somebody connected with the work of collection. Greater obstacles must be placed in the way of tax evasion. If a man cannot pay his poll or personal tax the least he might be expected to do would be to go and make a personal statement to that effect and receive a certificate of abatement.

FURNISHING CITY WATER TO OUTSIDE TOWNS.

The city of Lowell cannot supply the suburban towns with city water, even if the legislature did grant the permission. That is why The Sun has opposed such petitions in the past. If these towns want to secure our splendid city water let them get annexed. That is the best means of getting our pure city water out to Chelmsford, to Dracut, to Tewksbury.

Were these towns supplied with city water they would be less likely to seek the advantages of our city government through annexation.

In regard to the petition at present before the legislature to extend the city water to Atherton for the benefit of the Arlington mills, there is strong argument in favor of granting the accommodation; first, because it will bring a prosperous industry to our borders, and second because that industry or rather the little village in which it is located will eventually be annexed to Lowell. Hence it is not at all unreasonable that an exception should be made in this case provided the Arlington company is to be located there permanently. If so then Atherton may be regarded as a part of Lowell for its annexation in the near future may be regarded as a certainty.

BILL AMENDED

Lowell May Have Free Employment Offices

RAILWAY MERGER BILL AGAIN

Several Amendments to Gas Act

BOSTON, May 10.—The senate yesterday settled the controversy as to sending a delegation to the Lewis and Clark exposition at Oregon. Senator Monroe of Worcester offered a resolve for a delegation of 13, to consist of the orator, in lieu of the governor or lieutenant governor, president of the senate, speaker of the house, two members of the executive council and the secretary of the board of managers for Massachusetts. It provided an appropriation of $3500. The resolve was ordered to a third reading by a vote of 17 to 16.

The railway merger bill came over from the house. A motion to suspend the rules in order that the senate might act without delay on the Walker amendment was opposed by Senator Taylor of Suffolk. The bill, therefore, went over until today.

A message was received from Governor Douglas relative to the ceding by Massachusetts to the national government, for purposes of national defence, two tracts of land in Hull—Telegraph or Nantasket hill, and Cushing hill—to complete the fort Revere reservation.

The bill for free employment offices in Boston, Springfield, Worcester and Fall River, which on Monday was ordered to a third reading, was rejected, 12 to 13, on a roll call, after amendments had been adopted to include Lawrence and Lowell. Senator Leahy of Suffolk moved a reconsideration, which will come up today.

The Boston smoke nuisance bill was ordered to a third reading, 15 to 4, after the adoption of an amendment offered by Senator Bullock, exempting from the provisions of the bill locomotive engines and plants furnishing power for public service corporations and plants burning wood exclusively.

Senator Peters of Suffolk gave notice that today he would move to substitute for the eminent domain bill, the Gaston-Shaw bill for the incorporation of the Boston & Providence street railway.

The same senator offered the new draft of his boiler inspection bill. As offered on Monday this bill, after providing for external and internal inspection by insurance companies of boilers insured by them and a report to the district police thereon, contained a section giving the district police power to make regulations "as to use of boilers of lap-seam type." In order that the new bill may get by the committee of rules, this section had to be omitted. It does not appear, therefore, in the new draft offered yesterday.

GAS BILL

SEVERAL AMENDMENTS WILL COME UP TODAY.

BOSTON, May 10.—In the house yesterday several amendments were offered to the Boston gas consolidation act, all but one of which came from the committee on bills in the third reading, these being of a perfecting nature.

Representative Cole of Andover offered an amendment, which he stated would meet the suggestion of Gas Commissioner Schaff, to make it plain that the debts should be paid by the new company and not stand as a fixed charge against the gas consumers. It was to add after the word "corporation," in section 1, line 22, the following: "Except that any indebtedness of any of the corporations mentioned in section 1 to another of said corporations shall be canceled when such indebtedness shall have been acquired by the Boston Consolidated Gas company."

On motion of Mr. Collins of Boston the amendments were ordered printed, and the bill went over.

When the ways and means committee's report of no legislation necessary on the governor's message relative to the condition of the state's finances, and recommending legislation to provide for the taxation of inheritances was reached, Mr. Ward of Buckland moved to amend by the substitution of a bill. The matter was then postponed till today.

On the question of passing to engrossment the bill relative to the abolition of grade crossings, the committee on third reading reported certain amendments.

Mr. Schofield of Ipswich opposed the bill, saying that he doubted the justice of giving the commission this option, deeming it just that the owner of the land should have the decision as to the taking of the land. Mr. Davis of Plymouth said the bill followed the line of the present law, and that there must be some uniformity of action.

The amended bill was then passed to be engrossed.

STABLE BOY

HAS BROUGHT SUIT AGAINST BELMONT.

NEW YORK, May 10.—August Belmont, president of the Jockey club, has been sued for $100,000 damages by John Harold Frelt, a stable and exercise boy who was formerly apprenticed to him. The suit complaint alleges that Mr. Belmont wrongfully deprived the boy of employment by causing him to be blacklisted by the stewards of the Jockey club. Justice Blschoff yesterday appointed David W. Rocknore guardian ad litem for the plaintiff, who is 17 years old.

According to the boy's attorney, Joseph Marx, his mother, Mrs. Thora Frelt of 3i Fulton avenue, Jersey City, bound him over as apprentice to Mr. Belmont on May 10, 1900, the articles providing that the boy should get his board and clothes the first two years, $10 a month the third and $15 a month the next two years. Mr. Belmont reserved the right to dispense with the boy's services at any time, and in October, 1903, according to the attorney, exercised this right in a letter of dismissal sent to the boy's mother, Mr. Belmont stating as a reason that he was giving up his entire stable. John Harold then went to work as exercise boy for Trainer McCormick.

Not long after that, according to the attorney, Mr. Belmont wrote two or three letters to Mrs. Frelt, asking that the boy return to his employ, and when these letters failed, wrote another on Sept. 6, 1901, in which he threatened to have the boy posted in the Racing calendar as having left his employ without cause. Nine days later this notice appeared in that publication:

"Exercise Boy John Frelt, having left the employ of August Belmont without consent or a written discharge, owners and trainers are hereby warned not to harbor nor employ him, and attention is called to Rule No. 152 of the Rules of Racing, which will be strictly enforced."

Thereafter the boy was unable to secure employment either with Trainer McCormick or other trainers to whom he applied. He went to St. Louis and New Orleans after the close of the racing season in the east, only to encounter the same bar.

At Mr. Belmont's offices yesterday it was stated that there was evidently a misunderstanding about the matter and that the boy had violated his contract.

LOSS $600

HAVERHILL HOUSE WAS FIRED BY THE SUN.

HAVERHILL, May 10.—The laws of physics were exemplified yesterday afternoon by a fire at a double house on 5th avenue, owned by Moses S. Brown, which was caused by the refracted rays of the sun.

The house is occupied by the owner and Charles E. Cate, the fire occurring in the lower half, occupied by Mr. Cate. One of his children had a large glass globe filled with water, in which he kept fish. The globe was left on the rear steps and the rays of the sun were refracted toward the side of the house, a large hole being burned through the clapboards. The flame, after burning through the clapboards, spread upward in the partitions and the fire was burning briskly when discovered. There was no one at home in the lower side of the house when the fire broke out, the glass globe having been left out on the steps early in the afternoon.

The fire was first discovered by a man who was passing, and when the fire apparatus arrived the flames had spread upward behind the partitions to the roof. The rear portion of the house was gutted by the flames and the roof was partially damaged. The total loss to the building and contents was $600.

MOTH BILL

HAS BEEN SIGNED BY GOVERNOR DOUGLAS.

BOSTON, May 10—Gov. Douglas has signed the gypsy moth bill.

The next step is the appointment by the governor of a superintendent to take charge of the work of suppression.

The bill provides a state appropriation of $300,000 to be spread over three years, $75,000 for this year, $150,000 for 1906 and $75,000 for 1907.

A BENCHER

UNUSUAL HONOR SHOWN TO AMBASSADOR CHOATE.

LONDON, May 10—Ambassador Choate, formally was called to the bench of the Middle Temple last night. The ceremony was strictly private, not even members of other Inns of court being present. The function took the form of an ordinary dinner in the old dining hall which Queen Elizabeth opened 1570 and in which, before Queen Elizabeth, Shakespeare acted "As You Like It." Several rules were suspended last night in honor of the American ambassador. The members fully robed, took up places about bare oaken tables, and the benchers filed in, Mr. Choate leading the parade though the newest member is usually last. The benchers passed down the centre of the assembly to a raised table. The usual simple meal was served. The benchers afterward retired to the parliament chamber for dessert. Mr. Choate this time walking last. As he passed the members' tables, the assembly cheered continuously, many old lawyers, in their enthusiasm jumping on top of the wooden tables. At the door Mr. Choate turned and faced the assembly and said they knew it was not the custom for a bencher to speak and therefore he would not. Nevertheless he spoke for ten minutes, expressing appreciation of his reception and the honor of having his name entombed among the names of the great men of the Middle Temple.

Spring Suits and the Present Cost of Woolens

Probably most men will first realize the enormous advance in the price of wool fabrics when they find the suits for which they paid their usual price not giving the usual wear.

A manufacturer always stands such advances as long as he can, but after legitimate profit has been cut to a certain point, either quality must be lowered, or retail price raised.

As raising of prices is sure of detection; and pretty sure to displease customers who do not understand the pressure on the maker, the alternate usually chosen is substitution of inferior quality.

In clothing this means the introduction of part-cotton fabrics and the use of poorly-made cloths.

The materials for our own Spring suits were purchased before the present balloon ascension reached a critical point; and as a result prices are unchanged while the suits have the fine wearing qualities which always characterize our goods.

If the price of wool continues up, we may be forced to make a slight advance in prices another season, for we cannot lower the standard our friends have learned to expect.

But this season at least you profit by our early and large purchases.

LARCENY CHARGE

Equitable Claims It Was Swindled

WILLIAM DALY IS UNDER ARREST

Policy Used After It Was Stolen

NEW YORK, May 10.—Word was received here yesterday of the arrest in Stroudsburg, Penn., of William Daly, who is charged with the larceny of $27,000 from the Equitable Life Assurance society in this city by the use of a forged signature of a holder of a $50,000 policy and by conspiracy with an employe of the Equitable society.

Daly's name is said by detectives to be Samuel Lobley, but he is alleged to have operated under the aliases of Edwards, Robert C. Henderson and Fr. Smith.

In a statement issued by officials of the Equitable yesterday it was explained that William C. Cotton of Brookline, Mass., is the owner of a $50,000 policy in the Equitable society. In March, 1904, he borrowed $27,000 on it, depositing it with the society as a security for the loan.

A few months later, the officials say, the policy was stolen from the vaults of the society by a trusted employe working in conjunction with Lobley, the books of the society containing a record of the previous loan were altered and Cotton's name was forged to an application for another loan of $27,000. The second loan was made, it is declared, to Lobley.

Last January, the officials say, the operation was repeated in part and a third loan would have been made if the paying teller of a bank had not held up the Equitable society's check, suspecting that something was wrong and insisting upon identification.

Lobley, alleged to have been the holder of the check, disappeared. He was found by detectives living in a small hotel at Spragueville, Penn., near Stroudsburg.

The name of his alleged confederate in the employ of the Equitable society has not been made public. Detectives will go to Pennsylvania after Lobley as soon as extradition papers are prepared.

SAWDUST AND MILK.

Collier's for April 29 quotes a professor at the Tuskegee agricultural experiment station as saying: "I have here seven samples of bran. To most of you they look alike. The price paid for each was probably about $22 a ton, and yet one sample is nearly half sawdust. If you want sawdust with your bran we can give it you at much less than $22 a ton. You wonder why your cattle are not satisfied with the food, why they fail to yield the milk and butter which you have a right to expect. Here is the reason." Another sample, according to Collier's, "contained a large proportion of ground corncob. As corncob and sawdust happen to be less nourishing than bran to an ordinary cow, this device for making profit may turn the scale against a farmer just enough to deprive him of his living. Some people object to the crusade now being worked up against adulterated food, on two grounds. It often happens, they say, that adulterants are as wholesome as the originals whose understudies they become. If so, nothing is perpetrated worse than fraud. Often, however, sawdust is fed to cattle, women, or men, proving uncongenial. Again these objectors allege that all the talk about adulteration gives them indigestion, takes away their appetites, and has a bad effect on business. A bad effect on certain lines of business is what is wanted. The injury to appetite and peace of mind is a condition precedent to improvement. When we worry enough to introduce the apparently rare feature known as common honesty into the business of selling food, we can go back to tranquil meals, and for most stomachs it will probably be better, in the end, to be peaceful over food than peaceful over poison."

FLEUR DE LIS CLUB.

The first reunion of the season under the auspices of the Fleur de Lis club will be held at the club house at Long Pond on next Sunday, and the event will be marked by a flag raising. A fine new American flag has recently been purchased for the club house and the dedication of the new banner will take place on Sunday. Following the flag raising a dinner and general good time will be enjoyed.

STATE OF SIEGE

Has Been Proclaimed at Melitopol

ST. PETERSBURG, May 10.—The social democrats are straining every effort to make the proposed demonstrations on the Russian May day a success. They have succeeded in interesting the workmen of several St. Petersburg factories and yesterday at the committee's invitation, a meeting of workmen was held in the people's park on Petrofficky island, at which, after affirming their peaceful intent, it was decided to participate in the parades. There are indications, however, that attempts to create disorder may be more successful in other cities than in St. Petersburg, where the working people learned by the harsh experience of January 22 that force will be unsparingly used to maintain order.

The continuing disorders in other parts of the empire have created apprehension in administration circles. A state of siege has been proclaimed at Melitopol, in the south of Russia, and in the governments of Grodno and Vilna, on the Polish frontiers.

THE CUNARD LINE

Breaks Up the Steamship Combine

LONDON, May 10.—The withdrawal of the Cunard line from the agreement of the combine of steamship lines announced by Lord Inverclyde, chairman of the Cunard company, April 30, was followed today by an official announcement from the White Star, Dominion and American lines combine that these lines had given notice of their withdrawal from the North Atlantic passenger conference first and second class rate agreements and third class British and Scandinavian and continental agreements. The announcement explains that this action was taken in view of the withdrawal of the Cunard line from all passenger rate agreements recently arranged on account of the refusal of the American government to consent to the American line changing its mail service sailing day. It was felt necessary that the other lines should be equally free from all agreements so as to be enabled to protect themselves against any action the Cunard line may see fit to take which may be considered impartial to their interests.

BROKER FAILURE

No Motion Made to Remove Receiver

BOSTON, May 10.—No application for the cancellation of the receivership of the Haight & Freese Co., the brokerage concern, was made at the opening today of the U. S. circuit court. Such a procedure was looked for today on account of the announcement yesterday by Wm. H. Lillis, one of the principal officials of the company that the court would be asked to nullify its act of naming a receiver. The two offices of the company in this city were conducted under the supervision of Receiver James D. Colt today and all business was transacted either directly with him or his agents.

In connection with the receivership two intervening petitions were filed at the circuit court during the day by creditors asking that they be made party plaintiffs in the case. The petitioners were John P. Moore of Lynnfield who presents a claim for $1032 and Hugh R. Blethen of Boston who alleges that the company owes him $200. Judge Lowell will give a hearing later upon these matters.

Irl Clark, counsel for the Haight & Freese company refused this forenoon to make any statement as to what policy would be pursued by the concern.

At the main office in Boston of the company about 50 employees have lost their positions as a result of the receivership. It is likely, however, that some of these will be needed later to assist the receiver in arranging the firm's affairs.

TO FIGHT TROOPS

Social Democrats Have Secured Bombs

ST. PETERSBURG, May 10. The social democrats declare that their program includes demonstrations throughout Russia on Sunday and that they are provided with bombs and dynamite with which to fight the troops if the latter interfere. The authorities say the disorders will be comparatively insignificant and that they will easily be suppressed.

The col lected liberals are counselling the workmen against useless bloodshed.

SOME PAID

CUSTOMERS CLOSED ACCOUNTS WITH HAIGHT & FREESE.

PHILADELPHIA, May 10. — The brokerage establishment of the Haight & Freese Co., whose offices were closed yesterday in Boston and New York by the appointment of receivers opened their local offices today two hours earlier than usual. Several patrons gathered about the cashier's desk and ordered their accounts closed. The company at once began paying their customers but at 9 o'clock word was received from New York to stop until litigation had been settled.

TORPEDOES

WILL BE USED IN DESTRUCTION OF WRECKS.

NEWPORT, R. I., May 10.—The U. S. government has issued orders to Capt. Adolph Marix of the cruiser Minneapolis to proceed to the waters about Gay Head and to other sections of the New England coast and destroy a number of dangerous derelicts which have been reported by the life-savers and captains of vessels from time to time. The Minneapolis came here today and received a wrecking outfit, including a large number of gun cotton torpedoes which are to be used in the destruction of the wrecks. The Minneapolis will begin the work immediately.

C. Y. M. L. BANQUET.

The C. Y. M. L. of St. Patrick's church tendered a banquet at the Merrimack house last night to the young ladies who assisted at the recent bazaar. The committee in charge consisted of Timothy F. Rohan, James Callahan and James O'Rourke.

FAVOR CONSTITUTIONAL REGIME

MOSCOW, May 10.—The congress of Veterans in session here today adhered to the program of the Liberal professions for a constitutional regime. The delegates also adopted a resolution in favor of ending the war and providing for the free education of the youth of Russia.

MANY WERE KILLED

Revolutionists Clash With Armenian Troops

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 10.—The ambassadors of six of the powers today presented to the porte a collective note approving the financial scheme for administering the three Macedonian Vilayets, Salonika, Monastir and Uskub, conditional on Turkey agreeing to the appointment of four financial representatives of the powers who with the Austro-Russian civil agents will constitute a commission to deal with the provincial budget.

Troubles are recommencing in Armenia. Advices from Biltis say there have been encounters between revolutionists and Turkish troops in the neighborhood of Mush during which a number of men were killed or wounded.

In addition to the Armenian bands already reported to have crossed the Persian frontier other bands are said to be preparing to invade Ottoman territory.

UNDERGROUND

TELEPHONE COMPANIES BEGIN PLACING IN WIRES.

The New England Telephone and Telegraph company commenced this morning to lay their wires underground. The start was made on Foster street, after Inspector McElholm had made an inspection of the conduits. This job will take all summer, and will give employment to hundreds of men.

MAINE COURT F. OF A.

INVITATIONS OUT

For 250th Anniversary of Chelmsford

The Chelmsford anniversary committee has recently sent out a formal invitation to attend the 250th anniversary exercises to about 1600 former residents of the town and their descendants.

The list included 400 cities and towns and 39 states. The invitation reads as follows:

"The committee in charge of the Two Hundred and Fiftieth Anniversary of the Incorporation of the Town of Chelmsford sends greeting to all former residents of the town and to all persons interested in its history and welfare, and requests their presence at the celebration of the anniversary at Chelmsford Centre, May 28th, 29th, 30th and 31st.

"The enclosed program will give in detail the events connected with the celebration. It is expected that His Excellency the Governor of the Commonwealth and many other distinguished guests, as well as many former residents of the town, will be present and speak at the banquet, Wednesday, May 31st.

"All persons who may wish accommodation in the town, either board or lodgings, can secure the same by addressing Mr. J. E. Warren, Chelmsford, Mass., chairman of the committee on hospitality. Persons desiring tickets for the banquet can secure the same by addressing the chairman of the general committee on or before May 25th.

"It is the hope of the committee that this occasion will bring together many of the sons and daughters of the 'Good Old Town of Chelmsford,' and also all others who may be connected with it by any ties of relationship or interest. The committee has endeavored to make the celebration an occasion of interest to all, and, at the same time, one which shall do honor to the town and be a source of pleasure to all who honor the town by their presence. We hope you will endeavor to be present some part of the time, if not all, and help to make the occasion one of pleasant memories. We can assure you of a hearty welcome home."

The work of preparing for the celebration has met with hearty co-operation from the citizens of the town, and for their assistance the committee desires to express its sincere appreciation.

Patrick Ward, the well known resident and tea merchant of North Chelmsford, is recovering after a long and severe sickness.

Mrs. J. N. Marshall has returned to Lowell and is stopping with her son, W. J. Marshall at 554 Fletcher street.

INDOOR PICNIC

Novel Entertainment at Eliot Church

A delightful basket picnic was held at the Eliot church, last evening with a novel entertainment and decorations as a feature. The occasion marked the entrance into office of the new social committee of the young people's society. The affair was an indoor picnic with all the distinguishing features of that delightful form of entertainment. The posts were turned into trees and bore signs warning people not to hitch horses to them and the vestry abounded in humorous signs. Then there were swings, teeter boards, races. Thomas Varnum and Frank Hall ran a lunch counter and did a thriving business.

The races were under the direction of a committee consisting of Miss Edith Cockerille, Roland Black and Joseph Brogden. The races were very funny, the character of the contests being mirth promoting. The races included the doughnut and peanut races, human wheelbarrow race for boys, real wheelbarrow race for girls, a needle threading contest, a wool sewing contest for girls and a hat trimming contest for boys. Then there were spoon and shoe races and a rope skipping contest.

The attendance at the social was large, and the basket lunch enjoyed soon after 8 o'clock made the hallucination complete, and not one of those present doubted that they were at the summer outdoor picnic.

The social committee consists of Charles Nichols, chairman; Miss Leslie Barnes, Joseph Brogden, Miss Esther Greene, Roland Black, Thomas Varnum, Miss Nellie Snow, Miss Edith Cockerille, William Greig.

AN EARTHQUAKE

Fifty Persons Buried by Landslide

BOMBAY, May 10.—An earthquake was experienced at Bender Abbas, Persia, April 25, and 50 persons are reported to have been buried by a landslide. Two hundred yards of the mountain Kuhgando, behind the town, collapsed. In the town a number of towers and buildings fell and there were a few casualties.

SECRETARY TAFT

Says Rate Legislation Must Come

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 10.—Secretary Taft fairly took the breath of the 100 members of the International Railway congress, dining last night at the New Willard hotel, when he emphatically declared that rate legislation must come, so that if the railway men of the country were wise they would aid and not hinder it; that the sentiment of the country is such that failure of proper legislation meant a campaign on the subject that would do no good to the railroads.

Absolute silence reigned as Secretary Taft spoke his mind on the subject of rates. He was positively against government ownership, he said, believing that nothing so deleterious could come to the country as this solution of the question.

"But," he continued, "you cannot run railroads on you run a private business. You must respond to the public demand. If there is danger of discrimination, then you must allow the establishment of some tribunal that will remedy that discrimination."

The secretary saw no reason why a tribunal, properly constituted, should not be competent in every sense of the word to fix a maximum rate.

President Stuyvesant Fish of the American Railway association had introduced Secretary Taft. In his capacity as toastmaster, Mr. Fish was on his feet the instant the secretary concluded. He answered the secretary at length, taking the view that the law to prevent discrimination, double-dealing and secret rebates was ample, and he vigorously called for the enforcement of that law. Mr. Fish talked of the vested rights of the money tied up in railways. He apologized for allowing himself to be diverted, and as he sat down Secretary Taft, who sat next him, queried in a low tone: "May I have 15 minutes to reply?"

This time was given, and the secretary utilized it in making himself even more positive as to his position in favor of legislation which would create a tribunal with authority to name a maximum rate.

SUES UNCLE

GIRL HAS ASKED FOR DAMAGES OF $300,000.

CLEVELAND, O., May 10.—Unable to procure service in criminal proceedings charging assault, Miss Hazel F. Lawrence, niece of M. O. Lawrence, publisher of the Ohio Farmer and a millionaire, yesterday filed suit for damages in $300,000. Miss Lawrence is 18 years of age and has been prominent in society. Her baby daughter is six weeks old.

BALFOUR WON OUT

Government Sustained on Irish Policy

LONDON, May 10.—The government was sustained by a vote of 315 to 252 on Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman's resolution of censure on Balfour's Irish policy yesterday afternoon after a long debate in which the mover said that the government had attempted a policy of impartial Irish administration on the lines of the Wyndham-MacDonnell letters, but had fled from it at the dictates of a small party of Irish unionists.

After a criticism of the government's policy Sir Henry concluded with remarking that as to the future Irish policy mutterings of coercion were heard.

If that proved to be the case Englishmen would learn that the real separationists were the Unionists who first cajoled Ireland and then abandoned her.

The debate afforded opportunity for a wide expression of views by both sides and all factions.

William O'Brien, who took his seat for the first time since his election, said he would not vote either way.

ADVOCATES PEACE CONFERENCE.

He held that the only way to settle the Irish question was not by revolutionary tactics, but by conciliation and a peace conference in which the best statesmen of England, Ireland and the colonies should participate.

Unionist members uncompromisingly demanded the retirement of Under Secretary MacDonnell.

Premier Balfour at considerable length reviewed the situation. He decided that the earl of Dudley, lord lieutenant of Ireland, had any leanings toward home rule. The premier defended Mr. Wyndham, who recently resigned the chief secretaryship for Ireland, saying it was natural that he should seek to find some solution of the Irish question.

Mr. Wyndham had failed, but there had been many failures before.

Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman's resolution in reality was intended as an attack upon Mr. Wyndham and himself, which was absolutely unjustifiable.

H. H. Asquith (liberal) maintained that there was no reason for Mr. Wyndham's resignation, which did not logically involve the necessity for the resignation of the whole cabinet.

A feature of the debate was the speech of George Wyndham, who had been absent, owing to illness, since his resignation.

WHY WYNDHAM RESIGNED.

As a preliminary to the introduction of the vote of censure of Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, he made a personal explanation of the reasons for his resignation.

He said he had insisted on retiring from the cabinet, not on grounds of policy, but because political and personal reasons had convinced him that he could better serve the government as an unofficial member than as chief secretary for Ireland.

His views had not changed in the smallest degree in regard to the Irish administration.

"The Union must be the fundamental principle of any sound Irish policy," he said.

Mr. Wyndham thought the scheme for evolution was in some ways more open to criticism than even the plans for home rule itself.

The situation in both Ireland and England had become complicated by a personal misunderstanding for which he himself was partly to blame.

He had never contemplated any delegation of legislative powers from the house of commons other than the power of dealing with purely private bills.

After further debate the vote was taken, with the result as already given.

PATRIOTIC DAYS

TO BE OBSERVED BY SCHOOL CHILDREN.

The following notice, which explains itself, has been sent to all the public schools by Superintendent Whitcomb:

I have received from the state board of education, and forward to you with my hearty endorsement, the following communication:

A statute which has made the school laws of Massachusetts famous for more than a century imposes upon all instructors of youth the obligation to use their best endeavors to instill into the minds of the children and youth committed to their care the principles of "love of country, humanity and universal benevolence."

It has become a general practice in schools to stimulate the love of country by special exercises in connection with the public holidays, February 22, April 19, and May 30.

A favorable opportunity to cultivate the other two virtues, "humanity and universal benevolence," is now afforded in the setting apart of the 18th of May in commemoration of the opening of the Hague conference, May 18, 1899. This day is to be widely celebrated in Europe and by numerous organizations in America.

The board of education recommends that appropriate exercises be held in the schools of Massachusetts on May 18 for the purpose of emphasizing the blessings of peace, of showing the superiority of arbitration over war, and of exalting the brotherhood of nation.

Such exercises might profitably include brief accounts of the settlement of the recent international disputes concerning peace from the writings of Washington, Sumner and other statesmen, and from the poems of Holmes, Lowell and Whittier.

An appropriate motto for the day would be: "God hath made of one blood all nations of men for to dwell on all the face of the earth."

The American Flag association also reminds schools, city officials, and the public, that Wednesday, June 14, will be the 128th anniversary of the adoption of "Old Glory," as the flag of the United States, and asks for a suitable observance of the day.

The following Lowell people booked through Murphy's steamship agency sail from East Boston today per the Cunard Line steamship Ivernia for Liverpool and Queenstown: Mr. Isaac Hoyle, Mrs. Margaret Devine, Miss Elizabeth Donnelly, Mr. Robert Raisin, Mr. John T. Raisin, Miss Katherine Talty, Mr. Patrick Harrahan, Miss Sarah McLaughlin, Miss Margaret Fitzgibbons, Miss Anastasia Foley. Also from Boston Thursday on the White Star Line steamer Cymric: Mrs. Elizabeth G. Collier, Miss Nellie Fellows, Mrs. Margaret Peasley, Mrs. Eliza J. Edwards and Mr. Thomas Burke.

HE SHOT HIMSELF

Yale Boy Put Bullet in His Head

BODY FOUND BY HIS ROOM-MATE

He Was Deranged by Hard Studying

NEW HAVEN, May 10.—Arthur Haserot, a Yale senior, 21 years old and living in Cleveland, O., was yesterday found shot to death in his room in Welch hall, one of the campus dormitories. Medical Examiner Bartlett stated last night that he believed the boy's death was caused by his own hand.

Haserot's body was found by one of his room-mates, Roy W. Hemingway of Syracuse, N. Y. A revolver was at Haserot's side and a bullet wound in his head.

Hemingway said last night that Haserot attended his first recitation as usual yesterday and seemed to be in his usual good spirits. There was no intimation that he was despondent, and not once during the time Hemingway had crooned with Haserot, he said, had there been a time when he even suspected that his room-mate contemplated taking his own life.

The body of the dead student was found on the floor at the base of a window seat and it is believed that he shot himself while on the window seat and that he fell to the floor. There was one empty shell in the revolver, the bullet from it having entered Haserot's right temple, probably resulting in death instantly. No one of the many students in the dormitory heard the shot, and not until Hemingway turned the body of his companion over did any one know that a tragedy had occurred.

The manner in which Haserot was shot is almost conclusive proof that he committed suicide, and Medical Examiner Bartlett stated late last night that there would be no further investigation, as he was convinced that the student had killed himself.

Haserot was a quiet man with good habits, it is said, and the probability is that he was temporarily out of his head on account of overwork at his studies, his room-mate stating that he had been a hard-working student.

The parents of Haserot were notified soon after the body was found and an uncle is on his way to New Haven.

William T. Hanson, Jr., of Schenectady, N. Y., another room-mate of Haserot, last night would make no statement regarding the death of his classmate other than that he knew of no reason for the suicide.

WAS HAPPY

LETTER RECEIVED AT HASEROT'S HOME YESTERDAY MORNING.

CLEVELAND, O., May 10.—Arthur Haserot was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel F. Haserot of Cleveland. The father is a member of a wholesale grocery house. The boy was born in Cleveland.

His father had intended going to New Haven last night to visit his son when the news of his death was received by telephone from young Haserot's roommate, R. M. Hemingway. A letter had been received at the family home yesterday morning, and in it Arthur showed that his mind was happy and he spoke of his preparations for graduation exercises next month. An uncle of the dead student has gone to New Haven to care for the body.

The boy's father will not believe that his son's death is other than an accident. He was last home at Christmas.

ACTIVE WORK

DEMOCRATS PLAN FOR A LIVELY CAMPAIGN.

BOSTON, May 10.—Arthur Lyman, the new chairman of the executive committee of the democratic state committee paid a visit to the headquarters at Liberty square yesterday afternoon and had a conference with Reuben Rush, the executive clerk of the committee.

The object of Mr. Lyman's visit was to get in touch with the democratic machinery, and as Mr. Rush has been connected with the democratic state organization for a number of years, the new chairman felt that he could obtain valuable information from him as to how a campaign should be started.

Mr. Lyman announced that from now on a vigorous campaign would be conducted, consistent with the present early political season.

Every city and town in the Commonwealth will be thoroughly canvassed by the democratic executive committee, and from this time forth the mails will be flooded with political literature.

Mr. Lyman has not as yet established himself permanently at democratic headquarters, but will do so shortly, and, during the summer, the working force will be increased by several stenographers and clerks.

"The strenuous campaign already inaugurated by the republican state committee is going to be met by the democratic organization in an equally strenuous manner," said one of the democratic state committee officials last night, "and while the republicans may think they are going to have all the fun in campaigning, we will show up interestingly before the candidates are voted for."

C. M. A. C. FEAST

ARRANGEMENT FOR ITS FORMAL OBSERVANCE.

The following members of the C. M. A. C. have been appointed a committee to organize the annual celebration of the patronal feast of the association, the Feast of the Sacred Heart, to take place June 25.

President, Joseph Carriere; secretary, Henri Daigle; Elzear H. Choquette, Eugene Roussin, Joseph Provost, Henri Achin, Henri Barry, E. A. Ducharme, Emile Fontaine, Albert Bergeron, Joseph Harvey, Leon Crepau, Wilfrid Hebert and Donat Blazon.

The celebration will commence at St. Joseph's church in the morning, when the members will receive communion in a body. After mass a banquet will take place at C. M. A. C. hall. In the afternoon a procession will take place, the members marching to St. Joseph's church from the hall, preceded by a band and escorted by the Garde d'Honneur.

STORE ENTERED

BURGLARS MAKE SMALL HAUL IN HUDSON.

Burglars entered the store of A. L. Joy, in the Odd Fellows' building, Hudson, early yesterday morning and after a thorough search of the place, the thieves got away with some small change from the money drawer and some cigars, cake and other light eatables. The front doors were pried open with a jimmy. This is the second time this store has been broken into and the third time the building has been burglarized.

KARAMA CLUB.

The Karama club has elected the following officers: Miss Emma Lynch, general manager; Miss Anna Quinn, assistant general manager; Miss Helen Keefe, floor director; Miss Agnes Hoye, assistant floor director; and Miss Hazel Cotter, chief aid. Final arrangements were made for the select party the club will hold tomorrow evening.

But 3 Days Remain

Of the Great FREE TRIAL TREATMENT Offer Given by Dr. Barbrick

To all who call at his Lowell offices, Rooms 10-11-12, Mansur Block, 97 Central St., on or before May 13, he will give a thorough examination and a trial treatment ABSOLUTELY FREE OF CHARGE and to all who begin treatment on or before that date he will give consultations, examinations and all office treatments required by the case, FREE UNTIL CURED.

THE NEW CURE

The old-fashioned, slipshod methods of treating Chronic Diseases, with their guess work Diagnosis, their drastic and poisonous drugs, their harsh treatments, and dangerous operations have passed away. The modern method of treatment, Magnopathy, with its certainty of Diagnosis, its mild application of Nature's forces and remedies, its system of cure without cutting operations and harsh treatments has come in its place. This system of cure, originated and developed by Dr. Barbrick, is peculiar to itself and is as essentially and radically different from, as it is superior to, all other methods.

THE FREE TREATMENT PLAN

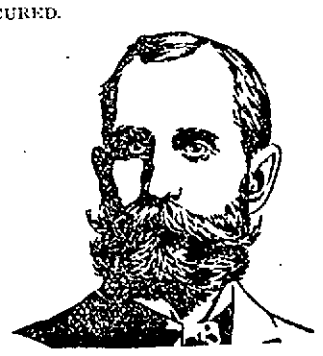

That all may have a courteous and costless opportunity of seeing for themselves and of testing for themselves, the superiority of the methods perfected by Dr. Barbrick after fifteen years' experience in his own practice—the largest special practice in New England—the free test is offered.

NOT A CHARITY OFFER

This is not a philanthropic or charity offer, but simply a business proposition, given to increase the number of cured patients, so that the new treatment will become more widely known, therefore all may call—the high, the low, the rich, the poor, without fear or favor. The doctor believes that the grateful endorsements of the many who will be relieved and cured will quickly attract public attention to his offices and system of treatment and bring sufficient patronage to repay for the outlay and expense entailed by this offer.

THIS IS THE OFFER:

All who call at his Lowell offices, rooms 10-11-12, Mansur block, 97 Central street, on or before May 13th, will receive Consultation, Examination, Wonderful Diagnosis of Disease and Trial Treatment, ABSOLUTELY FREE OF CHARGE, and IF TREATMENT IS TAKEN ON OR BEFORE THAT DATE, all those placing themselves under his care will continue to receive all medical services, surgical and office treatments FREE UNTIL CURED.

EVERY SICK PERSON

Should call on Doctors Barbrick and Temple. The marvelous cures made by these remarkable specialists and their new System of Rational Cure have attracted the attention of thousands of people in every walk of life and given to the sick and suffering new life and hope. That the deaf are made to hear, the blind to see, the lame to walk; that the unsightly tumor is made to waste away and the foul cancer cleansed and dried up simply by the application of their treatments without operations, seems beyond belief, but such are the claims made by those who have been treated by them, and you are given the chance to test for yourself whether such things are true.

ALL DISEASES AND DEFORMITIES CURED BY THE NEW TREATMENT

CATARRH CURED—Consumption in the incipient stage, bronchitis, asthma, rheumatism, diseases of the eye, ear, nose, throat, lungs, stomach, liver, kidneys, scrofula, sores, ulcers and chronic blood troubles, eczema, psoriasis, pimples, blotches and all skin troubles treated and cured.

NERVOUS DISEASES—Nervous debility from any cause, hysteria, neurasthenia, chorea, St. Vitus' dance, epilepsy, etc.; diseases of the spine, paralysis, locomotor ataxia, palsy and all such diseases successfully treated by our "Tissue Cell Building" and Vibratory treatments.

DISEASES OF WOMEN—Examinations without exposure, and all diseases peculiar to women treated and cured without surgical operations or the use of rings, pessaries, supporters, etc., by new and pleasant methods.

DISEASES OF MEN and weaknesses arising from overwork, etc., causing weak or failing memory, pimples, impure blood, falling of the hair, etc. Such sufferers should call at once. By our improved methods and remedies they are guaranteed immediate relief and a perfect cure.

CANCERS, malignant tumors, all growths, enlargements and glandular swellings treated and cured without the use of the knife and without torture. No matter what disease you are suffering from, or how long standing, no matter how many physicians have failed to cure you, call on these great specialists. It will cost you nothing, and you may profit by it. If your disease is incurable, they will frankly tell you so, and the right to reject any or all cases is reserved.

The Lewis and Clark Centennial Exposition at Portland; A Great International Fair That Is Approaching Completion

IN the city of Portland, Ore., 2,000 miles from the scene of the latest and in some respects most remarkable of world's fairs, a new international exposition is rapidly assuming form and substance. This is the Lewis and Clark centennial, designed to commemorate the hundredth anniversary of the exploration of the Oregon country by Captains Meriwether Lewis and William Clark.

It is not claimed for this fair that it is to exceed all previous exhibitions of a like nature in comprehensiveness of design and magnitude of realization. Its promoters, however, are confident that it will be the most complete and artistic fair ever held on this or any other continent. First of all, its location will be most attractive. Occupying as it does an area of 402 acres adjoining the principal residence section of Portland, on gentle slopes and verdant terraces overlooking Guild's lake and the Willamette river, with the snow capped peaks of Mount Hood and Mount St. Helens rising like gigantic sentinels in the distance, the site includes a wealth of natural features hitherto unattained in exposition building.

It has been the universal criticism of visitors to former expositions that the vastness and attempt to be exhaustive have made a full appreciation impossible. This testimony has been influential with the managers of the coming fair in determining them to secure for the Portland event a degree of compactness and concentration of detail which will enable the average person to see, study and comprehend everything within the time and means that he has at his disposal. To this end there will be no monstrosities of architecture to weary the eye and perplex the understanding, no scores of miles of aisles to sap the physical strength from aching limbs, no torrid days and nights to benumb vitality, no dependence upon atmospheric co-operation to secure an adequate return for all effort expended in seeing the fair. The shrewd and competent managers and the generous Oregon climate have provided for all of that.

It is a fact that the natural features of the exposition site would alone compensate any visitor. At St. Louis last year a syndicate of capitalists put several hundred thousand dollars in a feature known as "the Tyrolean Alps." To explore these imitation mountains, valleys and secluded retreats and to gaze on the artificial cascades and brooklets many thousands of persons paid an additional fee. The visitor to the Oregon fair may without adding to the expense sit among the lofty shade trees in Centennial park and take his fill of the outspread sublimity of the Cascade range.

Of the gross area to be devoted to the exposition proper 180 acres are on the mainland, and sixty acres form a peninsula which extends into Guild's lake. This lake is a fresh water body 220 acres in extent, separated from the Willamette river by a narrow strip of land. The main exposition buildings occupy the ground bordering on the lake. Eight large exhibit palaces, marvels of convenience and of great architectural symmetry, form the principal scheme. These structures are dedicated respectively to agriculture, liberal and industrial arts, foreign exhibits, forestry, fine arts, mines and metallurgy, territorial building and machinery and electricity and transportation. Around these main buildings on the outer edge cluster the state, territorial and other and minor pavilions. The Administration building, which will contain the executive offices of the fair association, is situated at one end of the beautiful colonnade entrance.

Many states will have pavilions. The Oregon building, which will be a handsome clubhouse of colonial design, will occupy a commanding position near the main entrance. The Massachusetts building will be the same structure used at St. Louis. It has been taken down and shipped to Portland, where it will be re-erected. On the neck of land which extends into Guild's lake will be located the large building which is to house the extensive government exhibit. It will be an imposing structure characteristic of Uncle Sam's generous provision for his great series of public exhibits.

The Forestry building is a veritable timber exhibit. For its construction two miles of logs five and six feet in diameter and fifty-two feet in length, eight miles of poles and tons of shakes and shingles were required. The rustic facade of this huge structure, broken here and there by a rough window or an ornamental balustrade, is considerably less classical than that of the Parthenon, but it is not less original and attractive on that account. Standing in one of the spacious corridors of this building, supported by its giant fir and cedar columns six feet in diameter and forty feet in height, the visitor cannot fail to be impressed by the originality of the scheme.

Columbia court is the great central plaza of the exposition, and it is situated between the Agriculture and the Liberal Arts buildings. Its main features are two wide avenues, between which are spacious sunken gardens, with numerous fountains and symmetrical beds of gorgeous varicolored flowers. Passing through this court, one comes upon a parapet at the head of a series of terraces of velvety lawn sloping to the edge of the lake. Leading down from this parapet to an ornate boat landing is a broad staircase flanked by massive balustrades. On each side of the stairway are masses of ever blooming roses.

Perhaps the nearest approach to a replica of classic architecture may be found in the Oriental Exhibits palace. The style of this building may be termed modified Corinthian. Its grand entrance, however, is decidedly reminiscent of the Petit Palais des Beaux Arts in Paris. The European and Agricultural palaces are composite. The architects of both these structures employed the best features of all orders as seemed best for the sake of convenience, and the result is remarkably pleasing. The main entrance of the European building is planned and carried out in the popular mission architecture, and the cornice and other parts of the Agricultural building may readily be traced to the same style. The amusement section of the exposition, corresponding with the Pike at St. Louis and the midways at other fairs, will at Portland be termed "the Trail." The Trail will have a most striking and novel setting. It is situated on a wide bridge which spans the lake and connects the peninsula with the mainland. With the excellent water facilities thus afforded much competition has arisen over aquatic privileges. Many new and attractive forms of amusement will occupy this bridge, and the visitor in search of novelties may expect to be provided with more substance than he can assimilate.

One of the most instructive and interesting items will consist of a complete exposition of the salmon industry. There will be on exhibition numerous specimens of live salmon in tanks, preserved salmon in jars, eggs and fry in all stages of development and a full and lucid demonstration of hatching. The methods of canning and cold storage keeping will also be shown. It will be the combined effort of the government and the fair management to make this the most satisfactory exposition of the state's leading industry ever attempted. Nothing will be omitted which can in any way contribute to the success of the elaboration. The salmon packing business has grown to enormous proportions in the Pacific northwest, and it has resulted in a combination of interests which controls the industry. The primitive methods of taking the fish still obtain. The progress of the industry has not altered the personality or habits of the piebald coho salmon fisherman or even the appearance of his craft, with its odd shaped sail.

The quaint town of Astoria, founded as a trading post by John Jacob Astor in 1811, is still the center of the salmon packing business and the home of the Finnish fisherman, a type of American citizen not found elsewhere in the republic. These Finnish-Americans are a sturdy, independent and rather sluggish race. They fish for three months in the year, make on the average $1,500 in a season and live the remaining part of the year on the proceeds of their catch. In the early spring, when the fishing season is at its height, Astoria resembles a mining camp. Everything booms and money is plenty. The fishermen pay their bills, and the merchants settle their obligations with the wholesale fraternity. When the season closes the Finlander mends his nets and puts them carefully away, deposits what money he has not spent in the bank and proceeds to lead a life of undisturbed leisure in his curious house standing on piles on the tidewater lands near the river.

The Finnish salmon fisherman uses a heavy, clumsy craft about twenty-five feet long, with a nine foot boom. Sometimes he owns his boat, but oftener he hires it from the canning company. The boat is equipped with a spritsail, which by an ingenious contrivance is made to serve on occasions as a tent. The fleet puts off about sunset, drifts slowly westward with the ebb tide, and in the early morning the quarter mile net is slowly drawn in. This vast net is a floating fence twenty-five or thirty feet in height. It is kept upright by floats at the surface and weights at the bottom. Of course there are other methods of capturing salmon. In Baker bay, near the mouth of the Columbia, 100 fish traps are set, and these are long nets, called "leaders," extending 600 feet into the river and supported by small piles. The unsuspecting salmon, swimming leisurely with the current, becomes entangled in the meshes that form the trap. Further up the stream immense seines half a mile in length interrupt the course of the fish as he passes over the bar, and thousands are taken in this manner. It would seem to be impossible for any fish to find its way into the upper river, yet at the Cascades, 200 miles from the sea, gigantic fish wheels operated by the current scoop up thousands of the refugees.

It has been ascertained that of all the eggs laid by salmon over 80 per cent are eaten by other fish. Artificial propagation is therefore necessary in order that the supply of fish be maintained. Over 300,000,000 Chinook salmon fry have been planted in the Columbia river and its tributaries since 1895. A short closed season is designated by law in order that the hatcheries, which are provided by the government, may secure a supply of fish from which to obtain the spawn.

Cold storage and pickling plants have within recent years done a profitable business, but canning is still the principal industry. Last year the Columbia river pack amounted to 20,000,000 one pound cans. The process of canning is very simple. The fisherman unloads his haul at the cannery, and the fish are weighed. Then they are washed and cleaned and sent to the cutting tables. There they are placed under circular saws, which separate the various parts into pieces of a size suitable for canning. Then they go to the packing tables, where the deft fingers of Chinamen fill the cans and pass them on to the washing machines, where they are again cleaned. The tops are then put on the cans, and the fish is cooked thoroughly by steam.

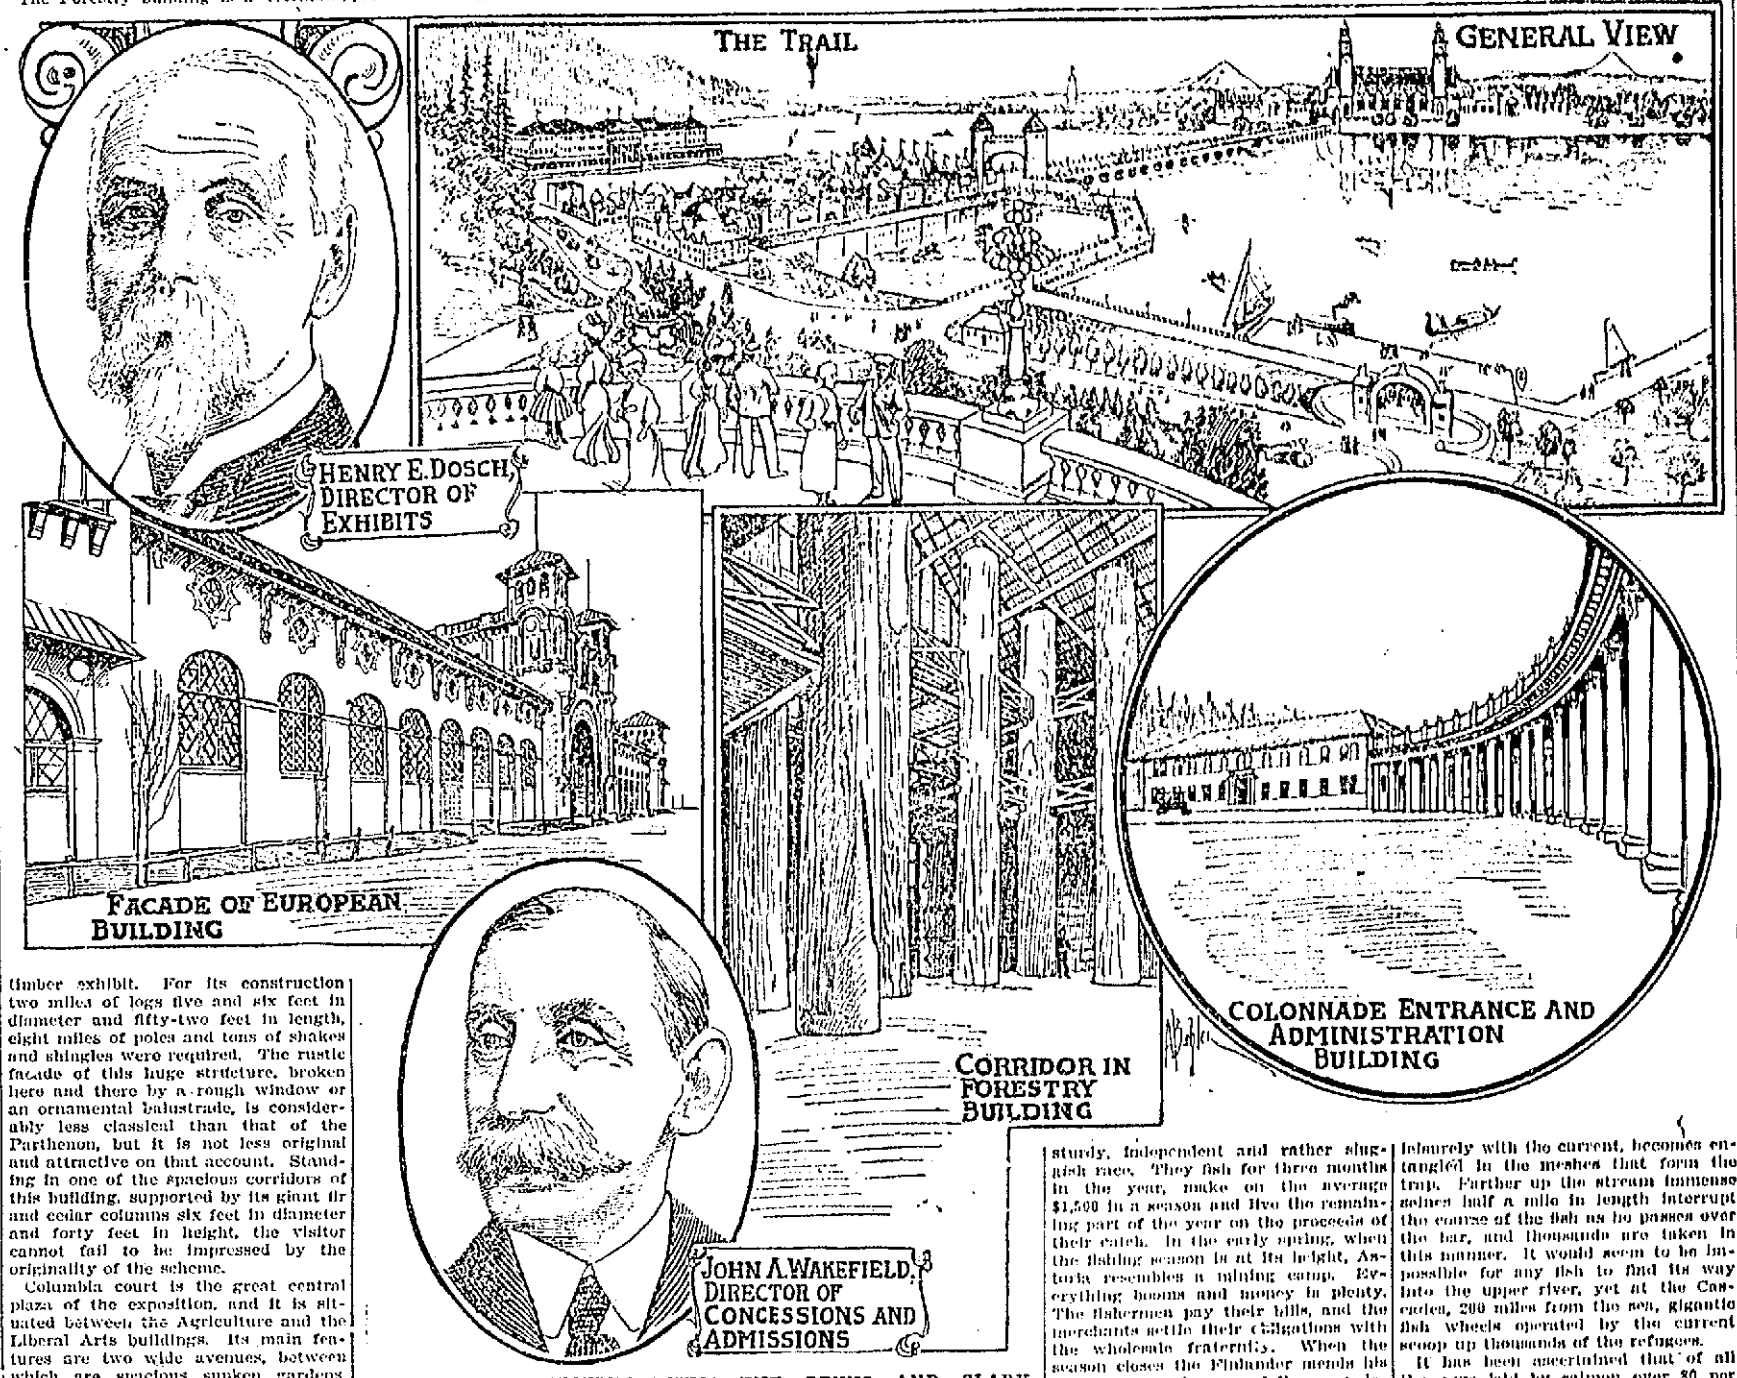

Salmon weighing over twenty-five pounds are selected for cold storage treatment. The cold storage pack for 1904 amounted to almost 5,000 tons. These to be pickled are split open, cleaned and rid of bones. They are then placed in huge casks, which are sealed. Most of the salmon preserved in this manner is shipped to Germany by way of Cape Horn and is there esteemed a great delicacy. The canneries employ Chinese labor almost exclusively. It is obtained through the agency of the "China boss," a Chinaman who makes contracts to supply the packers with crews of his fellow orientals.

All this will be illustrated and made intensely interesting at the fair. Both the general government and the states of Oregon and Washington have used the utmost endeavor to make the coming salmon industry display exhaustive, and it will undoubtedly prove to be the crowning feature of the exposition. The government's effort in this direction at the Pan-American was unusually complete and instructive, but it was only a foretaste of what may be expected at Portland. The facilities for perfecting a display of this nature are nowhere else so available as they are in the Pacific northwest, the home of this noblest specimen of the finny tribe.

The exposition will be opened June 1 and will be continued until Oct. 15. It will represent an outlay, approximately, of $5,000,000. This includes the cost of laying out the grounds and the money expended for buildings, exhibits and all other purposes. The most generous single participant is the government, which made an appropriation of $475,000 for the purpose. Next comes the state of Oregon, with an appropriation of $450,000, which is at the rate of nearly a dollar for every man, woman and child in the state. It is a noteworthy fact that no state with so small a population as that of Oregon has ever before devoted so large a sum to an international exposition.

The event which the fair is designed to commemorate is really one of the most important episodes in American national history. In 1803, during Jefferson's first term, it was decided to send an exploring expedition into the Louisiana country, for which the United States was then negotiating with France. At that time Meriwether Lewis, a Virginian of good family, was acting as the president's private secretary, and Mr. Jefferson offered him the command of the expedition. Lewis accepted and chose as his companion Captain William Clark, an old army friend. The party proceeded up the Mississippi to its head waters, crossed the great divide and followed the Columbia to the Pacific. As a reward for his services Lewis was given a valuable grant of land and made governor of the new purchase, with headquarters at the "village of St. Louis." In his administration of the office he was assisted by Captain Clark, who was made Indian agent. Lewis began the history of his great work as an explorer, but he did not live to finish it. While on his way from his distant territory to Washington he came to his death in the cabin of a Tennessee pioneer. Whether his death was due to murder or to suicide is not definitely known.

Henry C. Frick, Who Will Enter the Field of Politics

THE recent declaration of Henry C. Frick to the effect that he had decided to enter the political field in the near future is practically a response to long continued solicitation from influential friends. It has long been current that strong pressure was brought to induce Mr. Frick to enter Mr. Roosevelt's cabinet as secretary of the treasury and that the president himself was one of those who were most insistent. It is now announced that Mr. Frick has so arranged his business interests that he will be able to devote himself to the public service, and in order that he may be entirely unrestricted and free from entangling local alliances he will take up his residence in New York.

Thirty years ago this spring two young men were standing one day at the corner of Sixth avenue and Smithfield street in Pittsburg when a third young man passed with a hasty nod.

"Who is your friend?" asked one of the young men of the other, who seemed to know him.

"Oh, that's Frick; thought you knew him. He's in the coke business at Bradford. Frick's the best business man in the trade. Some day—mark my prediction—he'll do the biggest coke business in the country."

The young man who thus prophesied is today one of the officials of the H. C. Frick Coke company, and the individual of whom he spoke was Henry Clay Frick, now the largest coke producer in the world, his concern operating about 40,000 acres of coal mines and 12,000 coke ovens, with a daily capacity of 25,000 tons. This is industrial distinction, indeed, but it may be supplemented by the fact that its possessor is the organizer of the most stupendous manufacturing enterprise of modern times—the Carnegie Steel company.

For more than a quarter of a century Mr. Frick has been prominent as a manufacturer and an employer of many hundreds of men. The industrial history of western Pennsylvania is dominated by his trade victories and inventive achievements. Notwithstanding all this, it is probable that less has been written concerning Mr. Frick's personal doings, habits and characteristics than of any other man of equal interest in the world. It is also a fact that most of what has been written has been either fragmentary or biased designedly. Every recurring disturbance of western Pennsylvania industrial conditions during the past two decades has forced upon Mr. Frick a notoriety which has not always been agreeable either to bear or to combat. There has been little agreement among those who have written of him; he has run the literary gantlet from shrewd business man to high priest of monopoly.

For four generations Mr. Frick's ancestors on his mother's side have been Pennsylvanians. That of itself makes him a pretty good American. His father, John W. Frick, was of Swiss descent. His mother, Elizabeth Overholt Frick, traces her ancestry back to Abraham Oberholtzer, who came from the Palatinate in the first half of the eighteenth century and settled on the Delaware river in Bucks county, Pa. Mr. Frick's grandfather removed to Westmoreland county in the year 1800 and took up a large tract of land, which is known to the present day as the Overholt place. Here was established the little village of West Overton, an adaptation of the family name. This Abraham Overholt was a very enterprising citizen. As early as 1810 he established a distillery at his new village, and he added large flour mills subsequently. In the course of a few years he became the wealthiest man in the county.

Henry Clay Frick was born in this village of West Overton, on the old Overholt place, Dec. 19, 1849. The early years of his life were spent on the farm. He attended the district school, at that time taught by Harry Overholt, a relative, now a resident of Iowa. The paucity of sensational episodes in the boyhood of Mr. Frick has led to the invention of more than one baseless account of his early struggles with poverty and adverse conditions in general. Not only is this imputation of youthful penury contrary to fact, but it is well known to western Pennsylvanians that the Fricks were in exceedingly comfortable circumstances.

Before Henry was sixteen he went to live with his uncle, Christian S. Overholt, president of the First National bank and the wealthiest merchant in Mount Pleasant. While there he attended the Pennsylvania Classical and Scientific institute and afterward became a student at Otterbein university, a United Brethren institution at Westerville, O. On his return to his uncle's home at Mount Pleasant he acted as salesman in one of Mr. Overholt's stores. A year later he went to Bradford and became bookkeeper in his grandfather's establishment at that place.

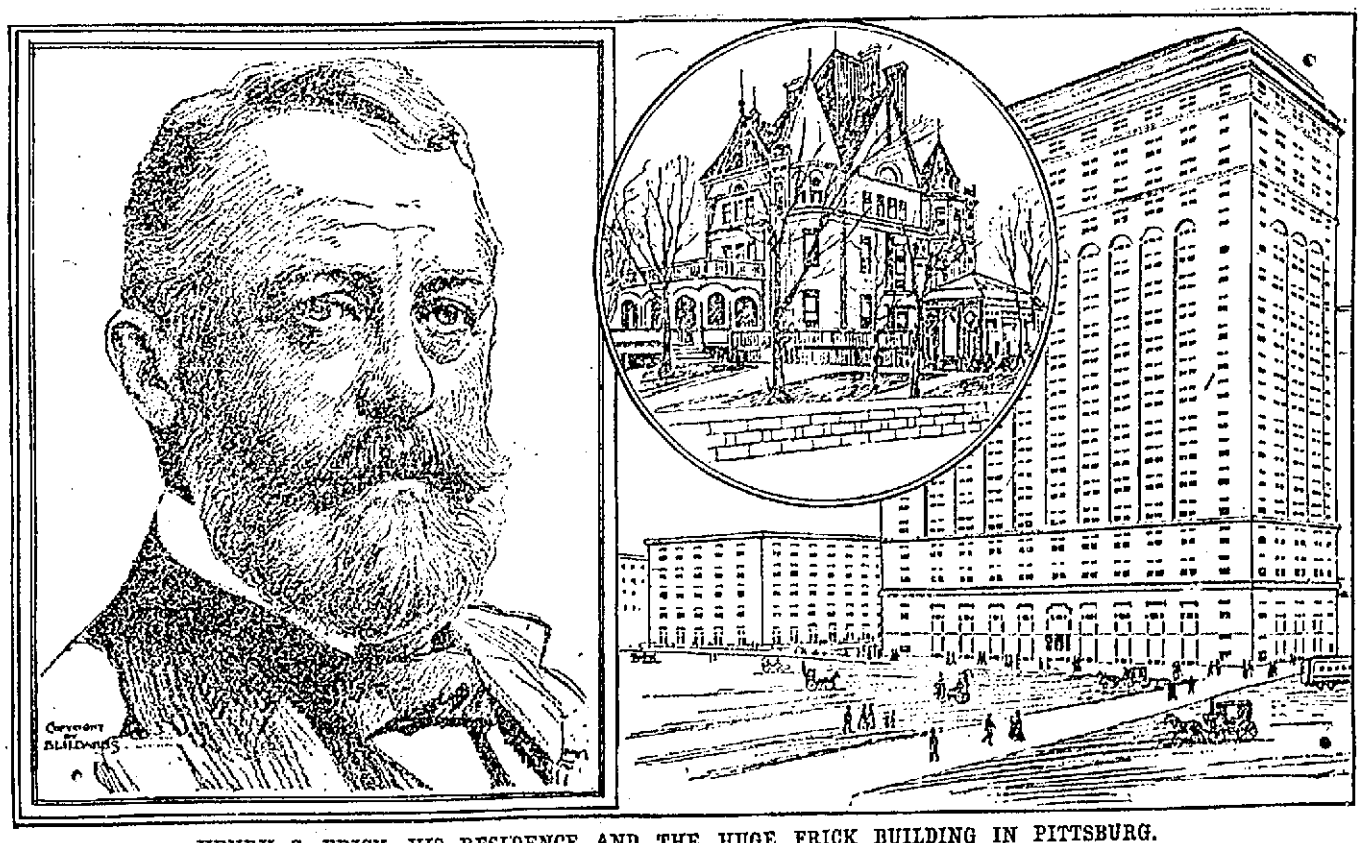

Young Frick had not been long at Bradford before he was able to purchase a small interest in some coal property, and he and the other owners built fifty coke ovens as an experiment. At that time the coke industry was at its very beginning in Bradford. Even the Connellsville coke field was of limited area. The value of the product was only beginning to be appreciated. With an insight remarkable for his years, Frick grasped the possibilities of the industry and from time to time added largely to his interests. Owing to reckless management and overproduction one of the largest coal properties in the town became involved and was obliged to shut down. Realizing that the depression was only temporary, Mr. Frick purchased the property at sheriff's sale and built hundreds of ovens to utilize the output. From this time on the success of the young operator was assured. The early and untimely collapse of his ventures was freely prophesied, but it did not come. Until 1873 he conducted the business in his own name and then took in two partners, the Fergusons, under the firm style of H. C. Frick & Co. Four years later it became the H. C. Frick Coke company, as it is at present.

At this point the Carnegies began to be identified with the Bradford coke producer. They had adopted the policy of owning or operating all material contributing to their finished product. To this end they became large purchasers of the stock of the reorganized coke company. When Thomas Carnegie died Mr. Frick was chosen to fill his place. His subsequent career with that mammoth aggregation, the Carnegie Steel company, is known to the world. In his ambition to make that amazing corporation what it is today he has probably labored more assiduously than any workman ever employed by the company.

The most critical and exacting period in the life of Henry Clay Frick was during the memorable occurrences at Homestead in 1892. It fell to his lot to be the corporation's spokesman, and as such he was exposed to all the antagonism that menaced the aggregation. He was shot and stabbed by the crazed anarchist Alexander Berghman, but succeeded in keeping the man at bay until help arrived.

Mr. Frick is known to his intimates as a rather reserved but most suave and agreeable companion. His domestic life is reputed to be a model of dignified and unostentatious existence. He is averse to any effort which is likely to direct public attention to the affairs of his household and has always shown great ingenuity in avoiding those who make the attempt to penetrate the seclusion of his charming home.

RUSSIANS SECURE GERMAN CAEWS

FRANKFORT, Germany, May 10.—Zeitung today says it has received advices from Hamburg to the effect that agents of the Russian government have completed arrangements through the society of German captains and officers and crews for transport ships which are to accompany the fifth division of the Russian second Pacific squadron to the far east. These crews, it is added, will proceed to Libau on the Baltic sea.

SAIGON, French Cochin-China, May 10.—The Russian cruiser Jemtchug and the Russian auxiliary cruiser Rion, belonging to Admiral Rojestvensky's squadron, arrived off Cape St. James near here, during the night of May 8, and left yesterday morning at the request of the governor of French Indo-China.

TACTICS CHANGE

Qualities of a Good Soldier Remain

SCHYLER, Neb., May 10.—Roosevelt's train stopped here a few minutes last night. The president spoke as follows:

"I cannot say how I've enjoyed passing through Nebraska today. I passed through much the same region two years ago and it is an ever fresh pleasure to see the progress that you have made in this great agricultural state, the way you have pushed the fertile the nJapanese warships and reached done with irrigation out in the western part of the state and what you are doing with the farm and ranch here. I have been glad to see the evidences of your material prosperity, but more than that, I have been particularly glad to see the type of man and woman that you have produced here in Nebraska. That is what really counts and that is the reason that the crop in which I am most interested is the crop of children. And for that reason I have been particularly pleased in passing through this state to see the great attention that you are paying to the schools, the great attention being paid to the boy or girl who is to be the citizen of 20 years hence. It is in civil life, as it is in military life. Weapons have changed since the civil war; tactics have changed but the qualities that make a good soldier have not changed. So it is with citizenship. The qualities that make a good citizen now are the qualities that made a good citizen in the days of Lincoln and in the days of Washington. In the first place you have got to have honesty. If you have not honesty, the abler you are the more dangerous you are, and honesty is not enough. Besides being honest and decent, you have got to be a game man, and then you have got to have the saving grace of common sense."

The meeting separated after singing a song ending with the refrain:

"Not from the emperor but from our own strength comes succor to us."

The song was sung to the music of Martin Luther's well known hymn:
